House Probers Eye Plush Setup

Private Officers School—Why?

WASHINGTON —(UPI)— House investigators set out Friday to determine why the government is running a $700,000-a-year private school for military officers at a fashionable apartment "within spitting distance of the Pentagon."

Rep. H. R. Gross (R., Iowa) said Dr. John C. Flanagan, head of the school, will be summoned for questioning March 23 along with Defense Department officials.

The congressman said he understood that Flanagan, a former Pittsburgh psychology professor, was receiving six per cent of a cost-plus contract to teach officers how to handle the military assistance program overseas.

Gross said the school was using retired high-ranking Army officers on its teaching and administrative staff.

"They are in effect being paid twice," Gross said, "because they receive a salary in addition to their regular retirement pay. If they are needed that bad to train officers, then I think they ought to be called into active duty."

The Defense Department said in reply that the Arlington Towers apartment was chosen for the school because "suitable facilities were not otherwise available." It added that employment of retired officers made "optimum use" of their experience.

It said salaries at the school ranged from an average $9,000 a year for professional employes to $4,000 for clerical help.

Gross said he believed the military should be training "its own people" in peacetime and not turn the task over to a private school located "within spitting distance" of the Pentagon and other big military installations.

Old Folks Home Burns; 4 Missing

AURORA, Ill. — (AP) — Four persons were missing after a fire destroyed a five-story home for the aged in downtown Aurora Friday. Nine persons were injured.

Ironically, workmen were installing a fire sprinkler system in the 101-year-old building when the fire broke out. They had finished the basement installation and were working on the first floor.

Several of the 97 inmates escaped the blaze by leaping from upper windows into life nets spread by firemen.

One of those who jumped for his life was critically hurt. Seven other residents were hospitalized for shock. The other injury case was a fire captain who fractured a leg in a 30-foot fall from a collapsing ladder.

The scene of the fire was Jennings Terrace, a brick and stucco landmark built in 1857 to serve as a Methodist Girls' seminary. It had been operated since as a non-profit, non-sectarian refuge for old people.

When the blaze started in a fourth floor room, there were 80 in the building. They occupied the first four floors. On the fifth floor were 17 men residents.

The missing four and seven of the injured residents were men trapped in their top floor quarters.

Unaccounted for after the fire were Alfred Fransen, 98, oldest resident of the home; Jasper Davis, 89; Charles Bartholomew, 78, and Ernest State, age unavailable.

New Stab by U.S.

Tax Indictment Hits Gangland Host

SYRACUSE, N. Y. —(AP)— Joseph Barbara, host to the notorious Apalachin gangland convention, was indicted Friday on a charge of evading payment of $14,600 in federal income taxes.

This was a new stab at the 53-year-old former beer-distributor, who has managed to evade questioning by the numerous investigators who have sought to learn the reason 60 hoodlums and friends convened Nov. 14, 1957, at Barbara's mansion in Apalachin, a small community near Binghamton, N. Y.

Barbara, whose family contends he is too ill with a heart ailment to face investigators, has refused to answer subpenas. This week, an Appellate Court in Albany upheld the validity of a subpena state police taped to the front of his mansion when they could not gain entrance.

Last month, Barbara's son, Joseph Jr., 23, was indicted in New York City on a charge of perjury. He was accused of lying to the state investigation commission when he said his father had been too ill to leave his home since the gang meeting. The commission said the elder Barbara had made trips and the son had accompanied him.

Delegates to the convention were said to have discussed such topics as racketeering in the coin-machine industry, gambling in Cuba and slicing up the rackets empire of Albert Anastasia, a gangdom kingpin who was shot to death in a New York City barbershop in October, 1957.

State police broke up the convention but most of the delegates would say only that they were visiting a sick friend.

Barbara lost his beer-distributing license after the convention. He also sold his bottling business. His palatial, hill-top home is for sale. But he and his family still live there — a shuttered existence behind stone walls.

Gradual Warming Trend Forecast

Cold in North Florida, cool in South Florida.

That's the weatherman's outlook for the state — although, we're in "a warming trend," he said Friday.

"There'll be scattered frost in North Florida, with temperatures probably in the mid-30s to low 40s Saturday night," Forecaster Philip Ackerman said.

But it'll be a sunny Saturday, and a few degrees warmer than Thursday or Friday.

Miamians will need light blankets for mid-50 degree temperatures Saturday night, Ackerman said.

"It should be a little warmer each day, and maybe by the end of the coming week we'll be back to above normal temperatures," he added.

Much of the eastern U.S., however, was digging itself out of a snowstorm that was blamed for at least 30 deaths. Many roads in New York, Pennsylvania, New England and New Jersey were blocked.

Eight persons died of heart attacks while shoveling snow and there were a number of weather-connected accident fatalities as snow fell amid high winds.

Marshall, Dulles Visited by Ike

At the hospital the President also conferred again with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. It was Eisenhower's eighth visit with Dulles since the secretary was found to have suffered a recurrence of cancer.

Marshall, former Army chief of staff, was transferred to Walter Reed earlier this week from an Army hospital at Fort Bragg, N.C.

Wild Train Rips Down Buildings

By Herald Wire Services

OLYMPIA, Wash. — Five cars of a runaway freight train crashed through the depot here Friday night, plowed across a busy street and destroyed two cafes, an automotive repair shop and a barber shop.

Police said at least one person was known to be dead and 17 others were injured.

Officers at the scene said there might be others dead or injured in the wreckage.

Police and firemen dug through the rubble, seeking other victims.

An eyewitness, G. H. Greiss, said he was eating dinner when he saw the string of freight cars racing down the street on a spur track that leads to the brick depot. He estimated the speed of the runaway at about 50 miles an hour.

Two cars were pushed inside the building housing the cafes and shops. One car was almost pushed out the other side of a building.

There were 15 cars in the string, 12 of them loaded with plywood.

A railroad official, who declined use of his name, said the runaway cars could have traveled as far as two miles before smashing into the depot.

He said they may have broken loose near Tumwater, south of here, and rolled downgrade all the way.

A gondola car and four box cars made up the runaway freight. The engine did not cross the street.

An emergency ambulance, fire and police services were called to the scene.

Trouble Is Ahead For Aid Request

By DAVID KRASLOW
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—The foreign aid program President Eisenhower submitted Friday to Congress is in trouble even before it gets off the ground.

It will take nothing short of a political miracle for Eisenhower to get all of the 3.9 billion dollars he asked Congress to provide for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1960.

The President asked for roughly the same amount last year and Congress whacked it about 600 million. It could happen again.

Some 370 million of that cut came in the military assistance and related "defense support" items. And there are firm indications that this is where the President again will take it on the chin.

Not that he wasn't warned. The tipoff came in a letter to him last August from eight members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The signers included Sens. William Fulbright (D., Ark.) present committee chairman; Mike Mansfield (D., Mont.), assistant majority leader; John Kennedy (D., Mass.), and Hubert Humphrey (D., Minn.).

The letter condemned the administration's military aid philosophy.

The committee members expressed "our concern that we may be pursuing a pattern of foreign aid drawn by force of habit rather than one adjusted

Ticker Tape For Lemus

Police estimated more than 150,000 persons lined the sidewalks of Lower Manhattan as a motorcade bore the President from Bowling Green to City Hall. Stock market tape and confetti poured from building windows.

Cheers and applause greeted Lemus, riding in an open car in bright sunshine with Robert C. Patterson, city commissioner of commerce.

Lemus flew here from Washington where he and President Eisenhower agreed to work toward economic integration of Central America and creation of a common market there.

Rules Out 'Fortress America'

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower submitted his $3,929,995,000 foreign aid program to the skeptical Democratic Congress Friday with a blunt warning that it may be boosted to meet the Soviet threat to Europe.

He specifically pointed to the Berlin crisis, declaring it could have "perilous consequences" if Russia refuses to back down on its demands. But he said foreign aid had played a big part in enabling the free world to stand firm "in these tense moments."

The President's program promptly ran into Democratic demands that it be cut. Senate Democratic Whip Mike Mansfield of Montana, a member of the powerful Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he thought it could be reduced "drastically," to about three billion.

Foreign Relations Chairman J. William Fulbright (D., Ark.) rapped Eisenhower for showing "little disposition to tailor the program realistically to meet changes in the world situation." He said the committee "will need to engage in considerable surgery if the bill is to fully serve the national interest."

Other Democratic leaders took a show-me attitude and called for an end to "waste and inefficiency" in the aid program. Rep. Wayne Hays (D., Ohio) challenged the President's reference to Berlin. He said "not a nickel" of the new money would help in that crisis.

The President sought about $1,600,000,000 in military aid and $2,330,000,000 in economic aid to help this country's allies counter the "broad and deep" Communist challenge in the fiscal year starting July 1.

But he said a special commission studying the aid program has indicated it will recommend an increase in military aid, primarily for weapons to North Atlantic Treaty Nations. He promised to send Congress further proposals after the commission submits a report, probably next week.

All indications were that the President would have to fight even harder for his aid program this year than he did in 1958 when he seized on every opportunity — including letters to influential citizens—to plug it.

But the President fired the first round in a message to Congress which scorned the "Fortress America" concept held by some of his critics.

The U.S., sitting alone, could become the wealthiest and mightiest nation on earth, he said, and "still lose the battle

Treat Marriage as Illness, Court Rules

She Quit to Wed: Gets Jobless Pay, Anyway

ALBANY, N.Y. — (AP) — A woman who quit her job to get married is entitled to unemployment insurance, the Court of Appeals says.

The state's highest tribunal, in a 5-2 decision, said a lower court was right in allowing benefits to Mrs. Keith I. Shaw of North Tonawanda.

Mrs. Shaw quit work as a clerk-typist at an Albany insurance company in July, 1956, saying she planned to be married and move to Western New York.

He employer contested her claim for unemployment insurance in court.

The appellate division decided 3-1 in Mrs. Shaw's favor, ruling that marriage "ought to be treated as illness or other events of important personal consequence to the worker."

State law provides that a person who leaves a job "for good cause" and intends to seek other employment is entitled to unemployment pay. Industrial groups contended the court's decision meant the state would be underwriting honeymoons.

About $200 in benefits was involved in Mrs. Shaw's case.

Ike Going on Air; Topic: Berlin Peril

Adenauer. Macmillan End Talks

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower will deliver a radio-television report to the people Monday night on the Berlin crisis and "the general security position of the U.S. and its allies." The White House announced Friday.

The announcement came shortly after the President told Congress in a special foreign aid message that the "tense" Berlin deadlock could have "perilous consequences" if Russia refused to back down on its demands.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President would speak from 9:30 to 10 p.m., EST., Monday over all radio and television networks. The prime evening hours assured him a maximum audience.

Hagerty described Eisenhower's address as "a report to the American people on the evolving Berlin situation and the general security position of the U.S. and its allies."

Besides discussing the immediate threat in Berlin, the President was expected to carry to the people his fight with congressional Democrats over the size of the armed forces. He has accused some Democrats of "hysterical" attitude toward recurring crisis.

The report also will be a prelude to the President's conferences at Camp David, Md., next weekend with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. The talks are scheduled to get underway Friday, the day after Macmillan arrives in Washington.

Macmillan concluded two days of talks Friday with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. They were said to have reached full agreement on how to cope with Russia's threatened attempt to force the Allies out of Berlin.

Adenauer had sought assurances that Britain would not agree to any Soviet plan that would leave Germany divided and West Germany defenseless against the Communists.

In Moscow, the official Soviet press burst loose with a barrage of charges that the West wanted to go to war to settle the Berlin issue while Russia was trying to negotiate a peaceful solution.

The West has proposed a foreign ministers conference on the problem. Russia has agreed, so long as Poland and Czechoslovakia are permitted to attend. However, Russia wants assurances a summit meeting will follow.

Russia also wants to limit the agenda of the foreign ministers conference to Berlin whereas the Allies want to tackle the overall question of German unification and an European security.

to current international realities."

They complained of a "serious distortion in the present relative importance attached to military and related aid on the one hand and technical and . . . economic development assistance on the other.

"Overemphasis on military assistance has tended unavoidably to involve the U.S. in situations in which our aid may have contributed to the maintenance in power of regimes which have lacked broad support within the countries we have assisted."

Then the warning:

"We write you at this time because we are aware that budgets for the mutual security program are prepared many months in advance."

It is clear that the President will have the roughest sort of time getting by Fulbright and company with his current request for over 2.4 billion dollars in military aid and defense support.

Fulbright confirmed this Friday with the remark that his committee "will need to engage in considerable surgery if the (aid) bill is to fully serve the national interest."

He accused the President of "ignoring" the letter sent him last August.

The President took indirect note in his foreign aid message of the Fulbright letter and mounting congressional criticism of world-wide military assistance.

"We do this not through choice but necessity," he said. "It is not in our nature to wish to spend our substance on weapons. We would like to see these outlays shifted to the economic benefit of our own nation and our friends abroad striving for economic progress."

Handling of the military aid program has been sharply criticized by other quarters in Congress and Comptroller General Joseph Campbell.

Congressional investigators and government auditors found that the U.S. has poured military hardware into underdeveloped countries that can't possibly absorb it.

The disappointment is certain to be expressed in terms of dollars.

Del Pino, denying a charge by Dr. Enrique C. Henriques — brother-in-law of former Cuban President Carlos Prio Socarras — that he is an agent of Dominican Dictator Rafael Trujillo, charged the new Cuban government is "dragging the people of Cuba into a war."

He said such a war "could kill thousands, just so Fidel can feel like a Bonaparte and Prio and Henriques can get even with Trujillo for old frustrations."

He said he would be glad to take up the challenge of Henriques to "appear before a North American judge and present the facts."

of the world" as that "fantastic conspiracy" — international communism—take over nation after nation.

"It is not the goal of the American people that the U.S. should be the richest nation in the graveyard of history," he said.

Pointing to the nations gobbled up by communism in the past few decades, he said the free world must convince those people as well as the uncommitted nations that it is possible to have both "bread and the ballot."

Eisenhower called on Americans to face up to our "harsh realities" confronting them in 1959. He listed them as:

1—The free world is confronted by well-equipped standing armies of more than 6,500,000 and 25,000 warplanes of the Soviet Union, Communist China and their satellites. These are supported by atomic weapons and missiles.

2—The world is in "a great epoch of seething change" which has seen 21 independent new nations emerge from colonial status in little more than a decade. These nations are fired with "zealous nationalism" which could be harmful unless properly channeled."

3—Communism has seized control in all or part of 17 countries within the past 40 years, and is determined to push on. It continues to push on masquerading as "the wave of the future."

4—"The military position and economic prosperity of the U.S. are interdependent with those of the free world."

Several members of congress said these were convincing arguments for continuing the aid program, although not necessarily on the scale sought by the president.

Call Red Bluff-- Taylor

Army Chief Says Firmness Needed

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor told Congress in testimony made public Friday night that he believed a "national determination" to go to war over Berlin, if necessary, would deter Russia from starting hostilities over the city.

The Army chief of staff, who recently gave the hitherto secret testimony to the Senate preparedness subcommittee, seemed to indicate that other members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff had discussed the matter and shared Taylor's view.

Taylor said he believed the best way to avoid war was to show Russia clearly that this country is ready to fight if necessary. He said the joint chiefs have plans to meet the Berlin crises and the Army has the strength — at home and abroad — to carry them out.

Taylor, whose testimony was heavily censored for security reasons, said the Army would go into any battle for Berlin with "the capability" to use nuclear weapons.

But he added that President Eisenhower would have the final voice on whether to use them.

Taylor also testified that if the total conventional military strength of Communist armies were thrown against the free world forces, the allies could not defend themselves if "we abstained from using nuclear weapons.

The Army chief also threw some cold water on the widely accepted notion that a general war fought with nuclear weapons would be over in a few days. He conceded the "decisive part" of the war might end quickly.

But he said "it might take 100 years to end the desolation and restore some form of order." He commented soberly that "there is no reason to believe that peace is going to ensue at once, except, perhaps, the peace of the dead."

Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D., Tex.), referring to a statement by Taylor that Berlin is "untenable" from a military standpoint, asked "what alternative do we have if the Communists are determined to use force?"

"In my judgment, the clear evidence of national determination to go to war if necessary for Berlin," Taylor replied. "The effect of such an attitude would deter the Soviets from having a final showdown at this time."

Taylor said that many top military leaders now regard the 1948-49 Berlin airlift as a mistake. The general said force should have been tried when the Russians blocked highways and other ground routes into Berlin.

"Instead we yielded to a challenge which may well have been a bluff," Taylor continued. "We will never know to what extent the U.S.S.R. would have gone to maintain the ground blockade by force."

House OKs It, 231-94

Orange-Coloring Bill Sent to Ike

By Herald Wire Services

WASHINGTON — The House voted Friday to allow Texas and Florida oranges to look like oranges — even if they have to be dyed.

With some good-natured bantering from California members, it sent to President Eisenhower a bill permitting Florida and Texas citrus growers to color their oranges artificially.

This is necessary, the House Interstate Commerce Committee said, because fully mature fruit from those areas "in many instances may be greenish and non-uniform in color."

The House passed the bill by a 231-94 vote. The Senate passed it unanimously last month.

House opponents claimed there was danger of toxicity resulting from the coloring. Otherwise, said Rep. James Delaney (D., N. Y.), a law permitting its use wouldn't be necessary.

Californians didn't object but commented that their oranges don't have to be colored.

The Florida and Texas citrus industry has been handicapped in recent weeks by not being able to follow its customary practice of coloring oranges. The Supreme Court, at the request of the Food and Drug Administration last fall, banned the use of coloring on oranges after Feb. 28. A dye called Red 32 had been used.

The bill sent to the President Friday permits the use of a new dye known as Red 2 with lower toxicity. Use of this dye has the approval of the Food and Drug Administration. The measure also gives approval (to continued use of Red 32 dye until next May 1 to cover the transition period the growers will need to switch from the old dye to the new.

The Florida citrus industry breathed a sigh of relief. For 13 days it had gone without shipping a single colored orange and the pinch was beginning to tighten.

Former Congressman J. Hardin Peterson Sr. of Lakeland said the bill was passed just in time "to prevent a very critical situation. In the last few days there has been a regreening of Valencias which would have created a resistance to sales that always comes with re-greened fruit."

2 Trapped Men Drown

SPARTANBURG, S. C. — (AP) — A flume gate gave way Friday and trapped two electricians working on a water turbine beneath the floor of the Startex Mills power generating plant at Berry Shoals. Both drowned. A foreman, above the floor, barely escaped.

The torrent of water, loosened when the 20-year-old gate broke, filled the power house and shot 75 feet into the air above it.

The victims were identified as Erneat Dillard, about 33, of the Hadden Heights section near here and Garvin Pace, about 45, of Lake Lure, N. C. Both were employed by the J. Frank Blakely Co. in Spartanburg.

Firms Split Over Union Contracts

News of a hot and cold running war among Dade's unionized plumbing firms leaked out Friday as an insurgent group of contractors claimed that it alone can negotiate a new contract with the Plumbers Union.

Presumably, if the dispute continues past the April 15 deadline on present union contracts, the plumbing battle could clog construction business here by overflowing into a union walkout.

Robert Schweitzer, president of the Metro Plumbing Contractors Association, triumphantly announced his group "now represents a majority of the union plumbing contractors and has become the industry's bargaining agent with the union."

But H. O. Lasseter, president of the rival Plumbing Industry Program, Inc., and a member of the old negotiating majority, declared — in equal triumph — that his "old line" group still has control.

Plumbers union officials, amused by the dissension among management factions, said they'll negotiate with both groups.

But both Lasseter and Schweitzer insisted the union "can only negotiate with the majority", and threatened to take the nose count to court.

Richmond Field Deal For Dade?

By CHARLES TAYLOR
Herald Staff Writer

Dade County, desperately needing new airport facilities to relieve its worsening airways traffic jam, Friday won all but positive assurance of getting the Navy's old Richmond Field in South Dade.

County Commissioner Arthur Patten, who went to Washington with Port Authority Director George McSherry and other commissioners seeking to acquire the Richmond base for the county, said the county also will probably be given the Navy's defunct Opa-locka facilities.

"I think I can safely say it is now just a matter of time before the Richmond base is turned over to us," said Patten.

The 2,000-acre base, located west of U.S. 1 between Homestead and Miami, was formerly a Navy blimp base. The University of Miami used some of the buildings now as an experiment station.

The Navy has agreed, Patten said, to declare the field "excess," then turn it over to the Defense Department for disposal. At the same time, the new Federal Aviation Agency has agreed to go to bat for Dade and ask the Defense Department to turn the field over to the county "for aeronautical purposes."

Patten said it would be used to replace county-operated Tamiami Airport as primarily a private and executive-type aircraft facility at first, then possibly be expanded for commercial use.

He said acquisition of the Opa-locka field would actually mean three separate facilities for the county — Opa-locka itself, Masters Field and Amelia Earhart Field.

The Navy already has declared the field surplus, Patten said, and its acquisition by Dade County is before a congressional subcommittee "as a routine matter."

"We were told there shouldn't be any trouble about it," said Patten.

He called the trip to Washington "most successful. We have gotten just about everything we sought."

Anastasia Search Turns to New Jersey

NEW YORK — (AP) — An inquiry into a woman's claim that she is Princess Anastasia, youngest daughter of Czar Nicholas II, has turned to New Jersey.

The woman, Mrs. Anna Anderson, lives in Bad Liebenzell, West Germany.

Representatives of the West German consulate here drove to the Cassville, N. J., home of Glen Botkin, son of the czar's personal physician, on the chance he might know of some way to establish identification.

They took with them questions prescribed by a Hamburg, West Germany, court, which has been studying the case for 15 months. The questions and answers were not made public.

The court of the West German state of Hesse contends Anastasia was killed with other members of the czar's family by the Communists in 1918 and that Mrs. Anderson is a former Polish farm laborer.

Skirts in Office? 2 Men Stalk Out

WILMONT, N. H. —(AP)— The two male members of the board of selectmen have resigned because a woman was elected to serve with them for the first time in this town's history.

Miss Donna Niles, 44-year-old WAC reserve major and jam distributor, has the board all to herself, but there was some legal question whether she had the power to transact town business.

"We resigned because they elected a woman and we did not feel we wanted to work with a woman," said Bernard M. Patten, 50, who resigned after eight years on the board. "We have nothing against Miss Niles," he added.

Ex-selectman Wayne B. Atwood, 30, agreed. "She is a fine woman and has worked hard. But I don't think in a small town a woman serving with two men on a board is the right thing," he added.

Miss Niles said it's "an odd situation." But she's sticking by her guns.

"I have every intention of serving," she said. "I feel I am qualified and see no reason to resign."

At Tuesday's town meeting, Miss Niles' name was the only one on the ballot for the post. She defeated write-in candidate John T. French, 88 to 41.

Blimey! Wot's the Bounder Up to Now?

Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

LONDON — There were red ears at Scotland Yard when Billy Hill — Britain's most famous hoodlum — agreed to help solve the 150,000 pound ($420,000) Docker jewel robbery.

Lady Docker, notorious for her ostentatious displays of wealth and a loud-mouthed row with the royal family of Monaco several years ago, had the fortune in jewels stolen from her Rolls Royce in Southampton Monday night.

Since then Scotland Yard has been ransacking the kingdom for them without success.

Wednesday Lady Docker announced that she would ask for the help of Hill, once known as "The King of the Underworld."

Billy says he is now going straight but admits that he still has connections.

After a four-hour meeting at the Dockers' Mayfair apartment, Billy emerged to tell the world that he had agreed to help recover one necklace and three brooches to which Lady Docker attaches sentimental value.

"She once gave me a break so I'm going to do a good turn for her," he announced. "She's always been kind to me. She's always treated me like a gentleman.

"I'll get those jewels back."

Bill usurped the prerogatives of Scotland Yard once before when he recovered a pair of gold spurs which had been stolen from Champion Jockey Gordon Richards.

It's unclear exactly what Billy really does for a living, if anything.

The underworld grapevine credits him with being the mastermind of the 260,000-pound mail robbery in London several years ago. At the time there were whispers of a gigantic payoff to explain the police failure to solve the crime.

Duke Skirts Storm

MANILA —(AP)— The royal yacht Britannia maneuvered in the South Pacific Friday in a valiant effort to keep Prince Philip out of the clutches of a tempestuous South Sea belle named Sally.

A tropical storm of that name was kicking up the ocean between Hong Kong and the Solomon Islands, next stop on the commonwealth tour by the husband of Queen Elizabeth.

The skipper said the ship was plunging through heavy seas, strong winds and rains but hoped to skirt the full force of the storm.

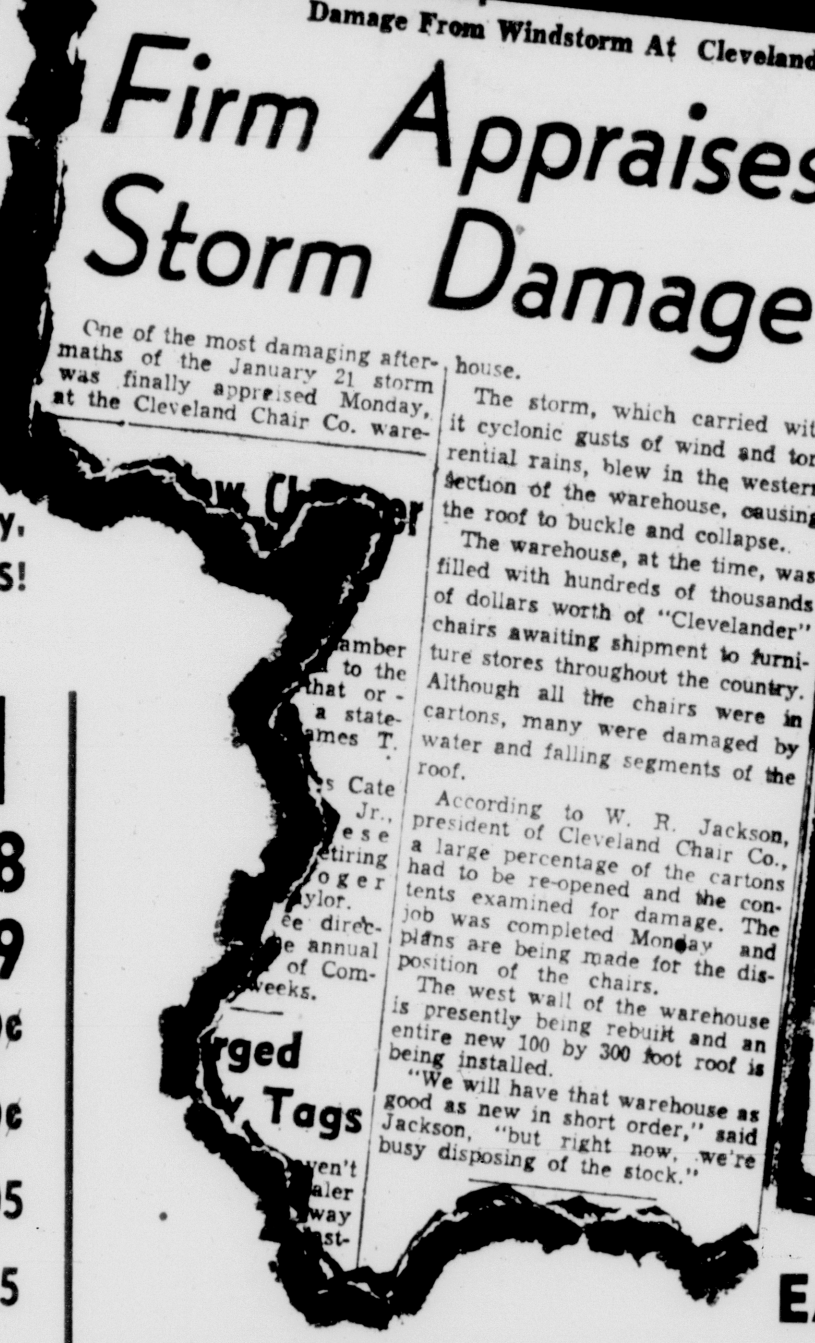
Damage From Windstorm At Cleveland Chair Company



Firm Appraises Storm Damage

The storm, which carried with it cyclonic gusts of wind and torrential rains, blew in the western section of the warehouse, causing the roof to buckle and collapse.

The warehouse, at the time, was filled with hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of "Clevelander" chairs awaiting shipment to furniture stores throughout the country. Although all the chairs were in cartons, many were damaged by water and falling segments of the roof.

According to W. R. Jackson, president of Cleveland Chair Co., a large percentage of the cartons had to be re-opened and the contents examined for damage. The job was completed Monday and plans are being made for the disposition of the chairs.

The west wall of the warehouse is presently being rebuilt and an entire new 100 by 300 foot roof is being installed.

"We will have that warehouse as good as new in short order," said Jackson, "but right now, we're busy disposing of the stock."

Gentlemen:

We accept your offer for the stock of furniture warehoused in our factories which was recently damaged by a tornado. Our insurance company has made their final adjustment and this stock is available for immediate shipment to you.

We have let contracts to re-build our factories and we must dispose of this stock immediately. Fortunately, most of the damage was to the building and not the stock so you will find most of this merchandise to be of perfect quality, much of it still in original factory cartons.

Your promptness in personally inspecting this stock and your willingness to accept shipment immediately led to our decision to sell you this furniture at a fraction of it's normal value, which will enable you to pass this great savings on to your Miami customers.

Your cooperation is greatly appreciated.

Very truly yours,

A Congressman Explains

'There's Nothing Wrong'

A NEW YORK congressman who is a veteran of 25 years in the House maintains eight political friends back home as "part-time workers" on his Washington office allowance of $38,479 a year.

In addition, four staff members of the congressional committee which he heads work in his Washington office "under my direction and where they are assigned"—sometimes back in Manhattan.

Although Mr. Buckley himself is creating a number of jobs of a public works category, he is perfectly open and candid about it. He explains further:

"There's nothing wrong with that. I've been doing it for about 20 years. None of the employes is a relative. They are all good Democrats, the kind of people I like to take care of."

IF THERE is "nothing wrong with that," there is of course nothing wrong with political spoilsmanship.

If there is nothing wrong with political spoilsmanship, then we assume that there is no issue whatever of morality in government.

We don't think, however, that these assumptions follow one another logically. A great many Americans have turned cold sober in their examination of the moral structure of our society. They are demanding, and rightly, the most conscientious performance of those who hold public office and dispense public funds.

LET US RECALL again that within the last nine months Congress itself adopted a Federal Code of Ethics of 10 points which, among other things, eschewed "special favors or benefits."

The code rings down on the phrase popularized by Charles Sumner: "Public office is a public trust."

This example leaping from the headlines is, of course, an exception to the rule that public office must not be employed to further personal political ends at the expense of the people. James M. Haswell of Our Washington Bureau, who checked on the work routine of congressional offices, found that sloth, nepotism and payroll padding "are relatively rare."

But exceptions do mortal damage to rules where public office in a government-by-the-people becomes an example to all the nation.

It is time for Congress to repair to the nearest mirror and take a long look at itself.

Milk: Supply And Demand

WHAT IS taking place in our South Florida milk market is simply the result of free enterprise. Some wholesalers have raised their price of half gallon containers from 48 to 51 cents. Some retailers who have been selling these containers at a loss for as low as 39 cents, to attract new customers, are expected to raise prices accordingly. This does not affect quart sales or home deliveries.

Once prices in this area were rigidly fixed by the Florida Milk Commission. The result was that the consumer paid relatively more and the producer got less. Benefits accrued to the distributor who often passed some along to retailers in illegal under-the-table rebates.

Dairymen kicked out the Milk Commission and set up a federal marketing agreement. Prices are now fixed for the producer according to feed and labor costs, plus other factors. After production, prices seek their own level.

Generally speaking the system has worked. Although the basic consumer price has changed little, bargain sales have been available for the astute shopper on a cash-carry or quantity basis. As long as the supply of pure milk is secure, the present fluctuation in one segment of the industry is a sign that natural forces of supply, demand and competition, not government regulation, prevail.

When Hoods 'Go Respectable'

PEOPLE are shocked, with good reason, at the latest disclosure before the special investigating committee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan. It is that two alleged racketeers are part owners of a firm holding subcontracts on more than half the missile bases being built around Chicago.

What can be done about it? Senator McClellan wants the Defense Department to blacklist the company—that is, give it no more contracts.

Even that amounts to locking the barn after the horse is gone. These subcontractors presumably made the best bid and are qualified to do the work. Most Americans, believing in fair play, are likely to say: "Well, it doesn't seem right, but if their construction business is strictly legitimate, they ought not to be persecuted because of past activities."

THEREIN LIES the larger issue. Many men with fortunes made by lawbreaking have gone into legitimate business. As the Crime Commission of Greater Miami has pointed out, they compete with law-abiding businessmen. And their ill-got wealth gives them a big advantage.

The time to stop this is before it starts—by making crime unprofitable. That is the duty of law enforcement officers employed by the taxpayers—police, prosecutors and judges.

If they do their job effectively, no underworld characters will be able to amass enough riches through lawbreaking to "go respectable."

The Parable Of Pork Chops

ASTUTE financial columnist Sylvia Porter says we do not have actual, serious inflation in our economy today. But what the Federal Reserve System and our economists do fear is a "psychology of inflation."

Perhaps it is just a "psychology," as they say. But a story by Robert E. Hoyt of Our Washington Bureau hits closer to home in simple language and illustration.

He used the example of a worker who invested $75 in a government savings bond 10 years ago. He gets back $100 today.

If he had bought pork chops with that $75 in 1949, the butcher would have wrapped up 112 pounds for him. Today his $100 will buy 113 pounds of pork chops.

And that's "psychology?"

In Search Of A City

ALL THE PROBLEMS caused by the sudden urbanization of pinewoods and pastures can be found in the south end of Broward County. They sprang up almost overnight, as did the houses side by side, row after row across the landscape.

That many families, living fairly close together, need garbage collection, fire and police protection, schools, traffic lights, bus service and other amenities of city life, for in reality they are urbanites. How can these be got? How can they be paid for?

In search of the answers, seven neighborhoods there have organized themselves into municipalities. An eighth is considering the step.

FLORIDA LAW, as it stands, offers several lures to incorporation, whether or not it is the best way to fulfill a neighborhood's needs. One, for example, is that a municipality immediately inherits the cigaret tax collected by the state within its city limits. Another is the right to collect utilities franchise taxes, occupational licenses and traffic fines.

These means of financing city-type services may appear tempting. They also aren't likely to yield enough money to meet the demands for services and improvements. So a municipality must tax real estate, too.

Under homestead exemption, a part of Florida's Constitution which probably never will be changed, the first $5,000 of value of an owner-occupied dwelling is tax-free. Modest homes thus pay little or no taxes. In cities made up almost entirely of small houses, families enjoying homestead exemption require most of the municipal services but may pay nothing toward the cost.

The Hollywood Sun-Tattler touched on some other difficulties last week:

"We had trouble enough with only three cities. There were differences in zoning, for example, that created serious problems along the contiguous boundaries of municipalities. Also, there were problems common to the three municipalities for which three different solutions had to be found.

"Now we'll have to have at least seven of everything — and possibly eight of everything.

"This just doesn't make good sense, especially in these days of spiraling costs.

"It would be better, we believe, if the people of South Broward looked toward consolidation rather than the creation of further divisions."

THAT IS the course chosen by the voters of Dade County when they set up Metropolitan Government nearly two years ago. And Metro still has a long way to go in bringing about the full efficiency and economy which people expect of it.

Perhaps South Broward, still growing fast, will find a solution while it has only seven or eight municipalities instead of the 26 forming a patchwork on the map of Dade County.

Editorial Background -- Fighting Inflation

Chile Pulling Out The Democratic Way

By BERT COLLIER
Herald Editorial Writer

SANTIAGO, Chile — This most democratic of South American nations has chosen the democratic way out of an economic morass that almost brought Chile to her knees. And it is big news to the United States, and to all who believe in the free way of life, that Chile is succeeding.

Collier

The peso, which dipped to a frightening 1,500 to the dollar only a few months ago, has steadied around 1,000, and is growing stronger daily. The government plans soon to establish a new monetary unit, the escudo, equal roughly to the U.S. dollar.

A spirit of optimism has replaced the despair which was general some months ago. People on the streets of this bustling city of 1,400,000 in the shadow of snow-topped Andean peaks tell you Chile has turned the economic corner and is on her way to solvency again.

* * *

CHIEF ARCHITECT of the new spirit is President Jorge Alessandri, the well-liked professional engineer who took office less than six months ago. Alessandri narrowly topped Communist-backed Salvador Allende in the September election, leading by about 30,000 votes out of more than 1,200,000 cast.

Three other candidates, of all shades of political opinion, polled over 400,000 votes, throwing the decision into the hands of the parliament.

Alessandri was selected by the senate and house of deputies, which might easily (and legally) have given the job to socialist Allende. Chilean business men heaved a sigh of relief.

* * *

SURROUNDING himself with young and strong leadership in which the rabble-rousing politician was notably absent, Alessandri issued firm instructions: Set Chile's economic house in order. His dictum is being carried out.

"We had hit bottom," said Patricio Huneeus Salas, undersecretary of state for transportation. "Almost ten per cent of our working force was unemployed. The peso was dropping every day. The new government had the choice of solving the problem in the socialist way—by discounting the future—or the classical method of paying our bills and encouraging foreign investments."

* * *

"THE AIM of our government is to stop inflation and give our people a steadier standard of living," said Mauricio Serrano, a well known rancher whose family has played a large role in Chilean affairs. Holding no official position other than board member of LAN, the Chilean national airline, Serrano is typical of the new force that is upholding Alessandri's hand.

"We are a true democracy," said Serrano. "Our leadership must produce results by democratic methods. A dictatorship might have been able to get things done faster, but we will follow our traditionally democratic way to raise our country to new standards of living."

* * *

BUT CHILE needs help. A mission is in Washington to get credits and loans. Chile is not asking for favors. A patronizing attitude on the part of the U.S. would be fatal.

"We don't want something for nothing," said Mauricio Yanquez, vice president and operating officer of LAN. (The President of Chile is ex-officio president of this national enterprise.)

Yanquez, a civil engineer who took his master's in aeronautical engineering at New York University, is another of those progressive well-trained professional men who are playing such a large role in Chile's recovery.

"We don't expect handouts from the U.S." said Yanquez. "We want foreign capital to invest in a favorable climate created by a secure government and a sound economy. We want industries which will provide jobs for our skilled and conscientious workers, use and develop our great natural resources, and take out a good return on the investment."

* * *

THAT IS the spirit in which Chile today is going places along a sound democratic path. But it was a narrow thing. Six months ago, as the skidding peso testified, it might just as easily have been heading for dictatorship or Communism.

Court Reform Is Ground Swell

By JOHN PENNEKAMP

SIXTEEN STATES, including Florida, this year will consider reorganizing their court systems.

The movement has become so pronounced nationally that the Judicature Society's Journal calls it a "ground swell."

In Florida the legislature will consider an imposing report prepared by the Judicial Council which has been studying the court system for five years.

Pennekamp

What the legislature approves then will go to the voters as an amendment to the Constitution.

In its first report the principal surviving recommendation coming out of the legislature established the state's three appellate court divisions two years ago.

The upcoming report would place control of Florida's court system in the hands of the State Supreme Court and also attempt to simplify the trial court system by reducing it to three levels.

The present Constitution establishes seven different kinds of trial courts and these have been expanded by the legislature to 13.

There are, the Council points out, nearly 200 judicial officers in the state.

* * *

SURE TO COME in for considerable argument are the facts that the Council:

1—Continues to call for an additional Circuit Court judge for each 50,000 of population, or fraction, in each district. Dade County now has 14 Circuit judges, could get as many as six more after the federal census is taken next year.

Since the 50,000 population rule was written in 1885 when transportation, communication and office methods were time-consuming a change to a quota based on work load has much popular support.

2—Continued also was the election of judges.

Because this involves campaigning and political considerations, many students of the situation have recommended reforms, such as examinations by competent committees, appointment by governors, and a vote of approval or disapproval after service of a year or so.

* * *

INCIDENTALLY, an examination of the salaries paid to judges with jurisdiction in Dade County alone totals $533,000 yearly. When the county's share of the salaries of the Supreme Court justices and of the Appeals judges is added, the total nears $700,000.

This is exclusive of the judges who are being paid by municipalities (Miami has $186,242 budgeted for its court this year) and of the attaches of all the courts, bailiffs, clerks, secretaries and others.

Dade County's 14 Circuit judges get $19,000 each for a total of $266,000.

The three judges of the Criminal Court of Record get $14,000 from the county, for a total of $52,000.

In the Civil Court of Record four judges get $15,000 each, a $60,000 total, with Judge David J. Heffernan, retired, getting the difference between the $15,000 and his pension for part time work.

* * *

THE TWO COUNTY judges get their $14,500 salaries from fees of their office as do the two Small Claims Court judges who get $10,000 each.

The Metropolitan Traffic Court's three present judges get $13,500 each from the county, total $40,500.

The salaries of the five justices of the peace total $32,500, and the two Domestic Relations and Juvenile Court judges get $14,000 each plus a car allowance of $75 a month.

An interesting aspect of the salary situation is that the Appeals judges, $21,500, and Circuit judges get more than the $17,500 salary of the justices of the Supreme Court.

That comes about because Dade County supplements the salaries of the Circuit judges by $5,500 and of the Appeals judges, whose jurisdiction includes Monroe County also, by $5,000.

Voice Of The People

School Teachers Are 'Free'

Editor The Herald: This is being written in reply to a letter signed, "Teacher, Key West," stating that free textbooks in public schools are an ill; that they incur hidden administrative costs; that all teachers are under some pressures from administrators; and that it is better to conform to more free everything handed out by schools — particularly more entertainment, dancing, and sports.

As a teacher in Key West for nearly four years, I would like to point out that the use of free textbooks has more positive points than negative. In the first instance, books are a necessity and they must be had. Secondly, parents pay for them via taxes. Thirdly, there are students and families who cannot afford to pay for books and the present set-up is a blessing for them.

The "hidden administrative costs" are still going to be present even if the state should ban free texts. Who would order, sell, select, collect, control, and pay for the texts in the schools? Someone would have to do the job, and they would have to be paid. Actually the present set-up is about as economical as you can get.

I don't know what "pressure from administrators" teachers are under in Key West, but I have not found any. I have discussed, disagreed, and argued my ideas, both at the county level and with my own principal. If I don't like something, I say so. Not once have I been pressured, but many times I have been thanked.

Lastly, just for the record, there is not a great deal of "free everything" being handed out in the Monroe County school system — particularly entertainment, dancing, and sports. These activities are not financed by tax monies, but are paid for by the people who want to attend such functions.

Editor The Herald: When I saw the latest picture of dear Mamie in your paper I felt so like crying. Age is something we must face and try to meet gracefully. Get With It, Man!

Long Way From Storeyville

Music is life; you put into music just what you see in life. That's what's going to be in the future. And music is coming just like this atomic age we're living in. And man's going to have to play something to survive. — Willie the Lion Smith

FROM THE red-velvet walled parlors of Storyville, the red-light district of old New Orleans, to the proper purlieus of Capitol Hill is a long — and a sad and happy— road, but jazz at long last has got it made. Man.

Armstrong

The patrons of the jazz bash being sponsored by the Congressional Circle of Friendship House start at the very top. From Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Mrs. Richard M. Nixon, Mrs. Earl Warren, Mrs. John Foster Dulles, and Speaker Sam Rayburn, the list runs on down through 22 ambassadors and their wives, the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and his wife, and seven cabinet members and their wives.

Chairman for the concert is Mrs. Richard Bolling, wife of the Democratic congressman from Missouri and a jazz buff from away back. "We wanted something new," says Mrs. Bolling. "The benefit circuit has been so over-done." Crazy.

Jazz is getting a month-long audition in the nation's capital. It started on Mar. 1, when Marshall Stearns, literature professor at Hunter College, discologist, and man-about-jazz for years, lectured at the National Gallery of Art. And all month the Library of Congress is exhibiting its "Seven Ages of Jazz," tracing the history of the new music. Like murder.

* * *

THE WASHINGTON jam session is supposed to demonstrate similarly the development of jazz, but the line-up of talent seems to be weighted on the side of the traditional, or what the bopsters and beatniks would call "moldy fig." Probably the big star is Willie the Lion Smith. Willie merely set down the beat for such hot piano virtuosi as Fletcher Henderson, Duke Ellington, Fats Waller and Count Basie.

Editor's note: The Washington Jazz Jubilee, a concert to raise funds for a settlement house on Capitol Hill, will be held in a District of Columbia hotel Monday evening.

Other stars in the integrated band will be Max Kaminsky on trumpet, Pee Wee Russell on clarinet, Bud Freeman on sax and Jo Jones on drums. In a nod to the modern, the spotlight will turn to the Japanese girl pianist, Toshiko, and the Charlie Byrd trio. Like Buster.

* * *

THE WASHINGTON do must represent some kind of apex of respectability for jazz. The road up from Funky Butt Hall in New Orleans to Washington's sedate Sheraton Park Hotel was circuitous, most of it by water — the Mississippi.

The journey was made within the lifetime of one man, Louis Armstrong, who played his way up on the riverboats when just 19. Some idea of the swift cultural conversion comes through when it's recalled that Satch will not be 59 until next Fourth of July.

Armstrong, regarded at least as highly abroad as he is here, has acted as official representative of the U.S. State Department, as have such other jazz good will ambassadors as Dizzy Gillespie and Benny Goodman. It's a shame that Louis Daniel (Pops) Armstrong won't be making the Washington scene, but it's highly appropriate that one of the sets will demonstrate his influence on the art. Look out, there. — RICHARD SPONG.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Ike Grasps Firm Controls In Foreign, Military Show

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy, the soap tycoon, had his mouth washed out the other day with some of his own product.

ANDERSON

He was summoned to the White House by President Eisenhower to explain a press conference comment that Russia couldn't launch a surprise attack in this day of electronic espionage.

"This is what our chiefs believe and what I believe," he told the press.

When Ike read this, he flew out of his chair spluttering expletives. But it was McElroy whose mouth was antisepticized next morning at the White House. He was accompanied by Gen. Nathan Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs whom McElroy had quoted.

The President sternly reminded them that an American delegation had spent the past few months arguing in Geneva that a surprise attack IS possible. This is the whole basis of the U. S. demand for international inspection of nuclear facilities.

Ike made it clear he didn't want his military chiefs contradicting his nuclear negotiators. McElroy meekly promised to guard his tongue more carefully until he goes back to manufacturing detergents in June.

NOTE —The President has taken more active command of foreign and military policy since Secretary of State Dulle's hospitalization. Formerly Ike attended top-level meetings more to be briefed than to make policy.

Now he dominates the discussion of foreign affairs. This has made him more touchy than usual over what appears in the press.

In the middle of a National Security Council debate whether to stop rotating troops home from Gergmany during the Berlin crisis, for example, he leaped out of his chair, slammed both fists on the table and shouted: "I don't want any publicity on this!"

* * *

THE APPOINTMENT of Ogden Reid, former publisher of the New York Herald Tribune, as ambassador to Israel has been described in a confidential Senate memo as a "lulu" put over on the State Department by the Republican National Committee.

FULBRIGHT

The memo was written by Carl Marcy, chief counsel of the Senate Foreign relations Committee, to Chairman William Fulbright of Arkansas.

In response, Fulbright has called for a crackdown on the practice of handing out ambassadorships as political plums. He wrote to the State Department demanding a complete report on the qualifications of future ambassadors and the reasons for selecting them. His letter pointedly mentioned Reid.

Marcy's memo, dated Feb. 5, was never meant for publication. However, this column has obtained a copy.

"Last night," he wrote, "I sent you a letter from the State Department informing (the committee) that the department expects soon to send the name of Ogden Reid, former publisher of The Herald Tribune, to be U. S. Ambassador to Israel.

"This undoubtedly is the individual whom one State Department officer recently referred to as a 'lulu' put over on the department by the National Committee."

NOTE — Reid has political ambitions in New York whose large Jewish population could be influenced by his appointment to Israel.

* * *

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER told GOP Congressional leaders the other day that he will not only veto Democratic appropriation bills if they spend too much but will come to Capitol Hill in person to deliver the first veto message.

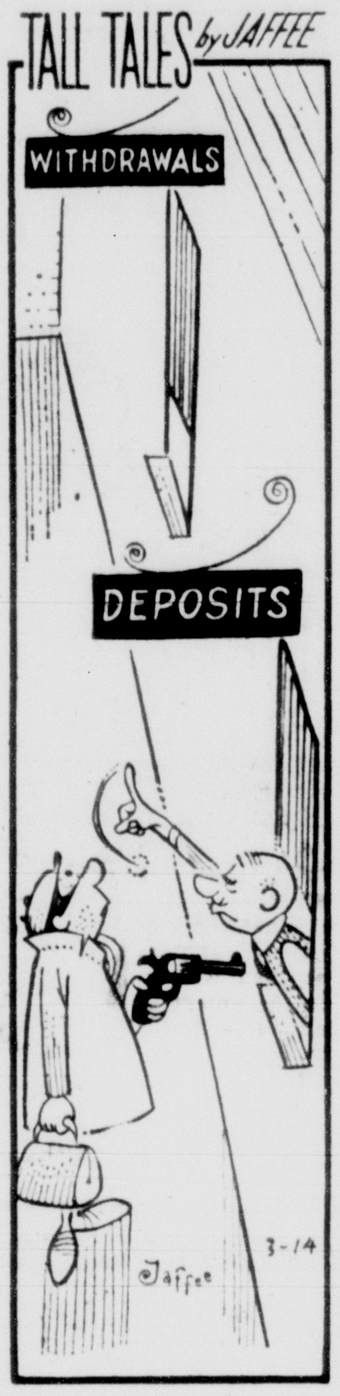
Meanwhile, Ike has asked for $8,700,000,000 extra money before the fiscal year runs out on June 30. This whopping deficiency appropriation will further upset this year's budget which most people have forgotten but which is already badly out of balance.

But it will keep sacrosanct next year's budget which Ike has talked so much about.

Democrats suspect that the extra $8,700,000,000, if voted now, would actually be spent during the next fiscal year so the upcoming, sacrosanct budget could continue to appear balanced.

Missouri's bulb-nosed Congressman Clarence Cannon, grizzled old Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, has put all the penny-pinchers on a special subcommittee to examine Ike's requests for extra money.

Result: Most of it won't be approved . . . Cannon's strategy is to force Ike to ask for the money again next year, thus unbalancing his own budget.



British See Caribbean Explosion

By WILLIAM H. STONEMAN
Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

LONDON — Britain's troubles in Central Africa and France's endless war against the Moslems of Algeria may soon be matched by trouble in the backyard of the United States itself, it is firmly believed here.

DUVALIER

British experts on Latin America are convinced that a war between the Castro regime in Cuba and the Trujillo dictatorship in the Dominican Republic is now definitely on the way and that the United States is almost certain to be involved.

Castro, they believe, using 100,000 Haitian emigres who are now living in Southeastern Cuba.

* * *

Once they had seized power and secured control on the high mountain area lying along the Haitian-Dominican border, Cuban reinforcements or "volunteers" could engage Trujillo's forces in open war.

Since the United States is committed to aid any Latin American country that is attacked, under the 1947 mutual defense pact, the British believe that the United States may be forced to intervene during round one of the fracas.

* * *

THE TIMES points out that "an explosion of this kind in the Caribbean could touch off fires elsewhere."

Among other things, it believes the United States may eventually have to intervene in the volcanic situation now existing between the pro-American Mexican regime and the increasingly anti-American regime in Guatemala.

Nicaragua, where the pro-American Somoza dictatorship is also threatened by revolt or intervention, is regarded as another possible scene of trouble.

6,500 Commies Jailed in India

NEW DELHI — (UPI) — More than 6,500 Communists have been jailed in western Punjab for armed resistance to new taxes, it was disclosed. The taxes were levied to finance a power dam.

The arrests were announced at Chandigarh, state capital, by Chief Minister Pratap Singh Kairon. He said the Communists hoped to take over control of the state government.

Controlled Pine Burning OK

A Cracker Viewpoint by Nixon Smiley

IT'S HARD TO DEFEND the practice of controlled burning of the woods used by forestry people to prevent destructive forest fires.

In a way it's like trying to convince even the most gullible that the reason an alligator goes into the water when it begins to rain is to keep from getting wet.

But the truth is that controlled burning has merit, as the practice has proven.

Destructive fires usually get started when everything is tinder dry. The tall grasses and pineland weeds burn with great fury.

But if the woods can be burned over when there is considerable moisture both in the soil and in the grass and other plants, the fire is less likely to be dangerous.

* * *

THE FEDERAL AND STATE forest services began the practice of controlled burning in earnest after destructive fires destroyed thousands of acres of valuable pulpwood and timber crops in North Florida and South Georgia during an unusually dry winter about six years ago.

Research already had been done to determine when was the best time to burn, and also to make comparative studies between areas where burning was controlled and areas where accidental fire had swept during dry periods.

But until forced by desperation the forestry people had been afraid to use controlled burning on a wide scale because of possible public reaction.

Even today, after the value of controlled burning should have proved its merit, there is opposition from the public, especially from people who believe that fire does great harm to wild life.

Those against controlled burning want the state to provide sufficient fire-fighting equipment to stop any wild fire that might get started.

But when fire gets a good start in pinewoods that haven't been burned over for several years, and the flames are aided by a brisk wind, it is difficult if not next to impossible to stop.

* * *

THERE IS AN ERRONEOUS belief that the woods never burned before the white man came, that the Indians set no fires and actually protected their hunting grounds from fire.

This is not at all true. The Indians began burning the woods in the fall just as soon as the grass was killed by frost or the woods were dry enough to burn.

Fires also were set by lightning, just as they are often set by lightning today.

* * *

THE RELATIONSHIP between pine forests and burning was not understood until within recent years. Now it is known that the great southern pine forests could not have existed without burning.

Without the protection of fire, the pines eventually would have been replaced by hardwood forests.

The Everglades National Park has provided some very enlightening knowledge about the origin of hardwood forests and how the maintenance of pine forests is dependent on fire.

In pineland areas that have been protected from fire during the past dozen years, it is evident that the pines eventually will be replaced by hardwood hammock growth.

Understory scrub growth already is beginning to crowd out the smaller pines. When the larger pines die there will be no sapling pines to take their places.

Only in the pineland areas of the park where controlled burning is practiced is there any possibility of maintaining the pines.

It is fortunate that this discovery was made soon enough. For the pine islands in the Everglades National Park one day will be the only place left where one may see the famous tough-wooded Dade County pine that once covered much of Southeast Florida.

Even the pines left in subdivisions eventually die, and, of course, they are being replaced by planting or reseeding.

In another 30 to 50 years most of the pines in Dade County will have disappeared.

In less than a century they are likely to be extinct in this area, except for the pine islands in the Everglades National Park, where the protected pines are dependent on fire for their existence.

WASHINGTON — A small, gray-haired, quick-witted, easy going dynamo who likes to refer to himself as "one of the laziest men alive" has nonetheless found sufficient energy to pilot two new states into the union.

O'BRIEN

Last summer Rep. Leo William O'Brien, Democrat from Albany, N.Y., did it with Alaska.

This week he did it again when the House completed congressional action on Hawaii and sent the bill to the White House.

In both cases, the passage of statehood measures that had been stalled by controversy for many years was made relatively easy by the intensive work of the New York congressman in his capacity as chairman of the House Interior Subcommittee on Territories.

The 58-year-old congressman says it all came about because "basically, I'm a lazy guy, and I figured that if we got rid of enough territories by making them states I wouldn't have so much work to do in my subcommittee."

But there are other, more serious motives, and one of them he relates with permissible sentimentality:

"I have five grandchildren," he says—"They're coming along faster than the states are — and when they read their history-books about the 49th and 50th states coming into the union they're going to have to give some thought to the old man."

* * *

THE STATEHOOD of these two long-hopeful territories became a personal challenge to O'Brien when he was first assigned to the territories subcommittee seven years ago.

The then chairman, now Sen. Clair Engle, Democrat of California, told him, "these are your babies."

"There was something about the way he said it," O'Brien recalls, "that sounded sort of like, 'nobody else wants to be bothered with 'em, so you worry about 'em.' I decided I'd see what I could do."

What he could do turned out to be the smartest move in the entire Alaska-Hawaii battle.

Instead of trying to link the two, as some members demanded, or instead of giving Hawaii first preference, as some others demanded, he decided to make Alaska the first order of business.

In some ways, he says, this was "leading with our weakest case," because the vast northern territory was much more sparsely populated and in a much less organized condition than Hawaii.

On the other hand, Hawaii was more controversial because some members of Congress feared that it was influenced too much by the leftwing International Longshoremen's Union.

So O'Brien tackled Alaska first, and when he got through last summer, Hawaii's battle was automatically more than half won.

Popular enthusiasm for Alaskan statehood throughout the country put on the finishing touches during the congressional recess last fall.

Now that Alaska and Hawaii are out of the way, he says, his subcommittee has jurisdiction over "Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, the Pacific Trust Territories, Palmyra Island and a couple of reefs."

He isn't planning statehood for any of them at the moment.

H-Bomb Dwarfed by Deadly Botulinus Bacillus

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — Sir Robert Watson-Watt, the cheerful little Scot who developed radar, has encouraging news for those who would do in the species.

"Eight ounces of botulinus bacillus, properly distributed, could kill all 2,800,000,000 inhabitants of the earth," rosy-jawed Sir Robert told us over one ounce of spiritus frumenti.

SIR ROBERT

We asked where we might pick up some, cheap.

"In any badly cooked pork, improperly canned foods, and not infrequently in oysters," said the man whose chief gift to science turned the tide of the Battle of Britain.

"I'm a bit sorry to say that about oysters. I find them delightful. But there it is, or rather, there it is on certain occasions.

"A yellow substance, this botulinus when reduced to its most lethal form. You know, I'm quite concerned about the ease with which we can now end this pleasant world.

"This looks like the most effective thing yet. It ranks over what I like to call the Big Boy's Bomb type of war—you know, the H-bomb and all that sort of thing. Very expensive and messy way to end the human race."

"Botulinus bacillus might be called the Cheap Boy's Poison. It would leave all the buildings standing.

"If there were any one left to occupy the area which had been hit by such a bacteria bomb, it would be safe to enter after 12 hours. At least, that's our best estimate."

* * *

HE SOUNDED as if consideration has been given to its use.

"Of course," Sir Robert said, surprised. "The Allies included it among their poison gas and germ warfare research and development during the war.

"There had been interest in it for 10 or 20 years, at least on our side, in fact ever since an entire family in Lochmarie, Northwest Scotland, was wiped out by a single meal. Bad can of salmon, as I recall.

"We had to assume the Nazis were doing similar work. So we let them know that we knew. We made up a quarter million vaccine shots against the stuff and leaked the information that all Canadian troops in the invasion force were being inoculated.

"They were not, certainly, but the leak had the desired effect. It said, in effect, that if we had a vaccine we must also have the bacillus itself. It said further, of course, that if they used theirs, we'd use ours."

THE FATHER of radar, though maintaining a commendable indifference to the potency of eight ounces of botulinus bacillus, grew mildly indignant about the sluggish progress of radar.

"Absolutely ridiculous that a field like LaGuardia here in New York should not have every radar protection," he said.

"I was stacked up over Toronto recently for so long, because the field lacked proper radar guidance equipment, that my flying time across the ocean was an hour and a half slower than Alcock and Brown, 1919.

"The collision of the Andrea Doria and the Stockholm was completely unforgivable.

"Bridge officers just don't practice radar navigation as they should. They do no radar plotting on paper, but rely on their memory of where the blip or image was last seen. Shocking neglect."

We asked Sir Robert, whose autobiography, "The Pulse of Radar," has just been printed by Dial Press, how he came to develop the miracle.

"No midnight oil was burned," he said apologetically. "The War Office people came to me mumbling something about inventing a death ray.

"Rubbish, I told them, but as a compromise I promised I could locate aircraft approaching invisibly as far as 50 miles away. Simple as that."

Three Words the Key

Hospitals Warned Of Legal Pitfalls

By JOY REESE SHAW
Herald Staff Writer

Lawyers can "put a monkey" on the back of hospitals with a trio of Latin words called Res Ipsa Loquitur.

So Miami Attorney Sam Powers told an audience of doctors, lawyers and hospital administrators Friday in a speech to an institute on hospital law.

The two day institute will wind-up today in McAllister Hotel where it has been sponsored by University of Miami Law School, Florida Hospital Association, and the Medico-Legal Committee of Florida Bar Association.

Res Ipsa Loquitur is a general rule of evidence which acts to require a hospital to show it does not have responsibility for causing an alleged injury or damage to a patient in its care.

The rule means "the thing speaks for itself." It allows a patient to take the legal position that he did not have the injury upon entering the hospital but had it afterward and does not attempt to spell out the whys and wherefores — passing the ball to the hospital.

Powers cited one case where the patient collected $12,000. She was a diabetic who came into the hospital unconscious and suffered hip burns from a hotwater bottle.

The plaintiff's attorneys established only that she did not have the burns upon entry to the hospital — and that the doctor had issued no instructions for heat applications.

It is possible for a patient to collect under such a rule, Powers said, but the trend is against it with the courts holding generally that a strong case must be made.

The attorney stressed that he holds no brief for doctors who seek defense of meritorious claims but cautioned against "opening of the door."

It is better to spend $3,750 to defend a $50 case than to throw open the door to a flood of illicit claims, he said.

He cited the case of a gin-drinker who took a hacksaw, cut off his leg cast and sued his doctor. The patient's lawyer offered to settle finally for $50. Instead, the doctor defended the case and won — though it had involved expenditure of $3,750.

Admitting that doctors and hospitals are accused of "a conspiracy of silence," Powers said they are accustomed to it and thick-skinned enough to accept it.

He told of conditions in a California city "where doctors testified against each other for $250." The situation got so bad, insurance companies pulled out, he recounted. He warned against the practice except in meritorious cases.

Suits originate for nearly every conceivable reason, he said.

There was the lady who collected after receiving X-ray burns when she went to have warts removed from her heel.

And there was the mental patient who was killed when another mentally disturbed patient cut his throat with a knife.

Whether the hospital is responsible in any individual case depends on circumstance, he pointed out.

Ballet Russe Fresh After Long Tour

The Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, which will give three performances in this area beginning tonight, spends six months out of every year touring the U.S. according to George Zoritch, premier danseur.

"No we don't get tired traveling," Zoritch said Friday. "In fact, I think the company is fresher and more spirited right now than it's ever been. It's in very good shape and still exuberant, even though we are now approaching the end of our tour."

The Ballet Russe will present two different programs for the genera public in Dade County Auditorium tonight and in Miami Beach Auditorium Sunday night.

Monday night the dancers will return to Dade County Auditorium to present a program for members of Civic Music Association in its subscription series.

Zoritch said "Ballet Imperial" and "Slavonic Dances," the principal new ballets the company is taking along this season, have been popular "across the country."

The dancer will teach classes today and Sunday at the Milenoff Ballet Studio, Coral Gables. He said he has taught dozens of classes during the current tour.

Medical Training Costs Hit

$30,000 a Year Against $3,000

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Political Writer

The cost of training a doctor at the University of Florida is staggering, compared with the taxpayer's ante at the University of Miami, Rep. Cliff Herrell said here Friday.

Taxpayers "have a bear by the tail" in the tremendous financing costs for the new School of Medicine at Florida, the Miami representative said.

"Compare the cost per student to the $3,000 a year which the state contributes to train future doctors at the University of Miami and you will see what I mean," the legislator said.

The Gainesville cost per student will run approximately $30,000, based on a Budget Commission recommended $9,162,000 appropriation for handling 150 new medical students during the next two years.

Cost includes operational expenses for the new health center—but expenses which would not have been needed had the state sent its medical students to already established schools like the University of Miami.

Former Dade Sen. R. B. Gautier had emphasized this point during the 1953 and 1955 sessions when the Legilsature authorized establishment of a University of Florida Medical School.

The main argument then was that Gainesville was too far distant from a major population center. Therefore it would require not only tremendous expenditures for hospital facilities but also would have to import top notch surgeon-consultants.

Herrell and other members of the present Dade delegation — Sen. Joe Eaton and Reps. George Hollahan and David Eldredge — appeared before the Downtown Miami Kiwanis club for a pre-legislative report at the Columbus Hotel.

All expressed hope that this year's session, beginning April 7, would be an economy one with no new taxes.

Herrell, who is chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said he felt all Florida lawmakers are aware they must economize or find that Florida is slipping to the verge of bankruptcy like Michigan.

He charged that the 1957 session had been guilty of "extremely careless spending" and that legislators had failed to provide a balanced budget.

This would permit each family to decide for itself whether to send its children to an integrated school. For those who refused, the state would provide financial assistance to educate the children in private schools.

Hollahan outlined the traffic safety program to be recommended to the legislators and said he would urge annual sessions of the lawmakers.

Eldredge, a freshman legislator, expressed hope that Florida would be able to continue its segregated schools "on the same basis as they now operate."

Hungarian Units Will Celebrate

Secrecy Shrouds Visit of Frigate

Herald Bureau

FORT LAUDERDALE — The Dominican Frigate Presidente Peynado docked at Port Everglades Friday morning in an atmosphere of secrecy that set off rumors about the passengers it might be carrying.

But Lt. Cmdr. Douglas Christy, naval laboratory head who greeted it, said he didn't see anyone like deposed Cuban President Fulgencio Batista or Juan Peron, ex-dictator in Argentina, aboard.

Port officials noted there was "something on the quiet" about the ship's arrival, and that it was well armed. Guns were out from under wraps, and depth charges were on deck.

Lt. Jose Ventura, executive officer, said the ship came here from Cuidad Trujillo and would return directly there. It is expected to be here two or three days.

Capt. David Hartt and Capt. Frank Ivera, the ship's commanding officer, went shopping in Miami Friday and returned with a number of television sets and radios.

Engineers said the station would provide for the rapid removal of flood waters, making about 208 square miles of tributary lands available for agricultural use.

Snow drifts as much as four feet deep on the highways prevented help from reaching the scene in time.

Gambler's Girl Labeled Liar

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — A Federal grand jury says Actress Liz Renay, ex-Gambler Mickey Cohen's girl friend, lied about Cohen's finances.

The jury, investigating Cohen's sources of income for possible income tax violations, indicted Miss Renay of five perjury counts. The indictment accuses her of falsely saying she arranged for a third party to make loans of $2,000 and $3,500 to Cohen, and that Cohen repaid them.

Miss Renay was booked by the U.S. marshal and released on $1,500 bail. Cohen served three years in federal prison after conviction of income tax evasion in 1952.

Rustlers Busy In Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY — (AP) — Fast transportation and fairly good cattle prices are making rustling a lucrative business in Oklahoma.

George Reid, executive secretary of the Oklahoma Cattlemen's Association, said that during the six-month period from July, 1958, through December, 1958, there were 807 cattle and calves reported stolen, strayed or missed.

"This represents about $160,000 to $200,000 worth of animals," he said.

Premier Reported Planning Legal Action

Government-Paid Workers Strike in Canada

VANCOUVER, B.C. —(AP)— A strike of 11,000 British Columbia civil servants has started, threatening to tie up many public services in the province. It was the first strike by government employes in Canadian history.

The British Columbia Government Employes Association ordered the strike in a demand for bargaining rights.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett's government refused immediate comment but newspapers reported it planned legal action, perhaps a move to abolish the employes association.

The Vancouver Province said the government plans to replace all workers who fail to report for work.

Reds Grab Two Japanese Boats

TOKYO —(AP)— The Russians reportedly seized two Japanese fishing boats and 32 crewmen between Japan's northernmost island, Hokkaido, and the Russian-held Kurile Islands.

The Japanese Coast Guard said Russian patrol boats arrested the Sensho Maru and Koryo Maru about 13 miles off Shikotan Island, largest of the Kuriles.

Russia has now seized five Japanese vessels and 33 fishermen this year. Last year the Soviets captured 547 Japanese and 79 boats but released 527 men and 49 boats.

Moscow radio in a Japanese language broadcast warned that any fishing boat within 12 miles of a Soviet coastline will be captured.

The violence followed the action by British Gov. Sir Arthur Benson banning the Zambia African National Congress as a "subversive and seditious organization." Leaders of the congress, which campaigns against white rule in Africa, were arrested.

Police cars, riot squad trucks and African police were called out.

Cypriots Start Giving Up Guns

NICOSIA, Cyprus —(AP)— EOKA, the Greek Cypriot underground, began surrendering the arms with which it won independence for Cyprus from the British.

Policemen who had been waiting more than 48 hours at a monastery near Nicosia were pulled from bed to receive two truckloads of Bren and Sten guns, rifles, shotguns, pistols, grenades, homemade bombs and several sacks of explosives.

They were delivered by two fiercely mustached EOKA drivers and a pretty teenage girl acting as quartermaster. All three refused to give their names or tell where they had come from.

The police made a careful inventory and gave the trio receipts. The EOKA drivers drove the trucks away, disappearing into the morning rush hour traffic.

We're Watching, Reds Complain

The journal Soviet Russia charged a U.S. Navy plane buzzed the Soviet trawler Alexander Mozhasky four times Feb. 18 off Japan and almost hit its mast.

Soviet seamen were quoted as denouncing what they called "brazen provocations" by American airmen.

The magazine said that other American planes kept the Mozhasky under day and night surveillance in the open Sea of Japan "hundreds of miles from shore."

Fun and Frolic Were Combined At 'Hen Party'

By HELEN WELLS
Herald Society Editor

Fun and frolic at a hen party was the luncheon Chauncey (Mrs. Abe) Lincoln gave on Friday at Charlotte Husted's new Beach Tower Hotel.

Mrs. Lincoln

Since Chauncey and Abe are still getting settled in their recently-purchased home in Miami Beach, her guests are staying at the Beach Towers.

Chauncey says she can't wait to get out of the house, since the carpenters are sawing and banging hammers at 8 o'clock in the morning.

Most of the guests were members of the Dames — excuse me, the name of the club is dames spelled backward Semad. And don't think that this is a frivolous organization. These gals get together and invest their money in gilt-edged stocks.

Mimi Tuthill has a wonderful antique shop in New York, in back of The Colony. She was the first one to introduce Italian plastic flowers to this country.

Chauncey was so good-looking in tan linen with yellow embroidered sweater. Charlotte, in lavender printed tapered pants, matched the decor of her cocktail lounge where the party was held — the lounge is called the cocktail party. It's so new that James Merrick Smith was still busying around adding finishing touches to the turquoise and dusty-pink decor.

Margaret Pentland came with her houseguest, pretty Martha (Jones) York who looks very much like our local Martha, Mrs. Newton Lummus. Mary Ann (Mrs. James L.) Knight in aqua plaid toreadors, Brenda Ateil, Marge (Mrs. Nate) Hunt, Edna (Mrs. Dick) Lackey, and Eleanor (Mrs. Cap) Earhart were more who were living it up. . .

'I'm Giving a Party'

One of the "old timers" in Miami, Mrs. Katherine Daly Highleyman, said this week, "I've broken down and am going to give a party. . ." She is today at her home on Poinciana Ave., in Coconut Grove.

The party is in honor of Mrs. Highleyman's daughter, Mrs. Raymond Harper, here for a visit from Princeton, N.J., and her other guests, Mrs. Lawrence Mead of New York and Mrs. J. Warren Davis also of Princeton.

Mrs. Davis has also visited Mrs. Elliott Shepherd at her home in Miami Beach. Mrs. Shepherd is a "dowager queen" of the Beach.

Prescription for Insomnia

Rx for victims of insomnia, says Gen. Omar Bradley, is to say over and over to yourself something which requires complete concentration and has been difficult to learn. "I never get all the way through the first time," he said.

Mrs. Bradley

The tall, white haired general, disclosed his "sleeping secret" at a small fun dinner party at La Bastille, when Bob Pentland president of La Bastille, entertained for him, his lady, Mary, and their hosts in Miami Beach, Helen and Leo De Orsey.

Incidentally, the general is a good, smooth dancer and Leo has rhythm in his bones. He and Helen are expecting two of the six grandchildren down from Washington for a visit with them.

Gertrude Embry was Bob's date and her houseguest, Anita Beckam of Dayton was squired by Barney Hines. The Bradleys' long time friends, Nina and Spratt Mangus were more in the party.

When Bob saw Marianne Reynolds on the dance floor, tossing her red mane like an impatient filly, he said he had taken her home from the UM dinner the night before. But when they reached her home in Bay Point, Marianne had forgoteten her key.

Whilst they were pounding on the door to arouse the servants, police came by and wanted to know what was up. The men in blue stayed until Marianne was safely in the house and Bob was on his way to his home in Hollywood Beach.

He says that he was spinning along when the patrol car drove up beside him and one of the policemen called out to him, "What a date! Bet you spent a fortune on that girl and she didn't even ask you in for a cup-er-coffee!" Bob vows this is a true story.

Fran Allison Visits in Miami
. . . she's friendly and unassuming

By BEATRICE WASHBURN
Herald Staff Writer

Celebrity Parade

Fran Allison isn't the shy little Dresden shepherdess type that you see on television.

In real life, at her suite at the Dupont Plaza, she is a tall, handsome girl and if the word wholesome hadn't been so overworked we would say that she was that, too.

The commentator of the late Kukla Fran and Ollie show, which ran for 10 years on television to the delight not only of children but of appreciative and sophisticated adults, is warm, out-going and completely modest and unassuming.

For years Fran has been the Aunt Fanny on the Don McNeill program and in between times she is the maitre de for R.C.A. Whirlpool Appliances, which she admits is practically a new profession for women.

"Of course you have to be sold on the things you sell," says Fran gaily, "and needless to say I am. Our house in Chicago is furnished with practically everything I plug, though we have yet to install a dishwasher."

The house in Chicago is on the exclusive north side, was formerly a coach house.

"I mean the house used to be used as a stable," she explained. "When we started remodelling, tearing down the stalls for walls we were showered with dry oats! Sometimes I think ghosts of dead horses haunt the place."

This may be the reason, she admits, that it's so hard to get television in her little home . . . A more probable reason is that the coach house is surrounded by tall buildings each with strong aerials of their own.

Miss Allison in civilian life is Mrs. Archie Levington. Her husband is a music publisher and is responsible for, among other things, the Chipmunk Song which practically swept the nation.

She Really Likes To Cook

CELEBRITIES who like cooking are few and far between but Fran is one who does. She is up and on the ball at 7:30, which doesn't give much scope for breakfast. Then straight on to her television program in Chicago which runs from 10 to 11. She has never had any stage experience.

"I'm not equipped for it," she says quietly. "Just a radio girl at heart, television is even better," says Fran. In the course of time nearly everyone of importance passes through Chicago and most of them have appeared on Fran's program.

Born in LaPorte City, Iowa —if you're from the Middle West you know it's near Waterloo — she went through high school and two years of college with occasional appearances on her brother's radio program.

But it was Buzz Tillstrom's puppet program, Kukla, Fran Ollie, that gave her the greatest enjoyment.

"It was 10 years of enchantment," she comments. "People said I didn't talk down to the puppets, but how could I? They seemed like real people. They were real people. Oliver J. Dragon, Ollie to his intimates, traveled with us back and forth from New York with one tooth in his head.

"We wore out four Ollies and three Kuklas and do you know, whenever we would break in a new puppet I was uneasy talking to them, just as though they had been new people I had never met."

Fran loves Chicago. To others it may seem the Windy City, the town the gangsters love, the place where you start out in the morning with a fur coat and end up in a gingham dress, but to her it's warm and kind and friendly.

"I've lived there so long that sometimes I feel as though I knew every taxi driver, every policeman, every clerk in the big shops. No, we don't go away in summer time. Why should we? Chicago, with it's great lake front and the fresh winds from thousands of miles of prairies, is summer resort enough for me."

Hobbies? She has a nephew and two nieces whom she adores, no pets, likes to read and collects cook books for fun.

She wonders if Kukla and Ollie will ever be revived. Right now they are packed away tenderly in a trunk.

"Surely we will reach the saturation point on crime, violence and westerns some day," she points out, "perhaps then the children will come back to us."

Handy Shelf

Pepper, salt and other seasonings used extensively in cooking should have a place for themselves right near the stove.

Instead of cluttering the stove top with jars and shakers, have a shelf installed at a convenient height on the wall behind the stove.

Put Pretty Jellied Glaze On Party Sandwiches

Daily Food Guide

Dainty sandwiches for a party can be prepared hours ahead if you give them a jellied glaze.

The glaze not only keeps the sandwiches fresh and moist in the refrigerator. It gives a glamorous sheen to the party tidbits.

JELLY GLAZED PARTY SANDWICHES

1½	cups water
8	whole black peppers
½	bay leaf
1	package lemon-flavored gelatin
½	teaspoon salt
4	tablespoons herb vinegar
20	to 24 small party sandwiches

Combine water, whole black peppers and bay leaf. Simmer, covered, for 10 minutes. Strain. Dissolve gelatin in hot, spiced liquid. Stir in salt and vinegar. Chill until slightly thickened.

Meanwhile cut fancy shapes from bread slices. Spread with whipped cream cheese and garnish with any of the following: caviar, tiny shrimp, pickle fans, thin vegetable slices, egg slices, smoked salmon or olives. Or spread rounds of bread with caviar and decorate with flower "petals" of bread spread with whipped cream cheese with a center of hard-cooked egg yolk.

Place sandwiches on cake rack. Spoon jelly glaze over each sandwich, allowing about 3 tablespoons glaze for each. Chill until glaze is firm. Makes 20 to 24 small sandwiches.

'Teach Us Nothing Can Hurt'

By JIM BISHOP

Go With God

"Labor is discovered to be the grand conqueror, enriching and building up nations more surely than the proudest battles," William Ellery Channing wrote. He added, "War will never yield but to the principles of universal justice and love, and these have no sure root but in the religion of Jesus Christ." Channing was born in 1780 in Newport, R.I., and educated at Harvard. He was ordained and installed as minister of the Federal Street Congregational Church in Boston at the age of 23, and served in its pulpit till his death 39 years later. He was a lucid writer as well as a great preacher and exercised a great influence on Ralph Waldo Emerson, Oliver Wendell Holmes, and William Cullen Bryant.

O God, animate us to cheerfulness. May we have a joyful sense of our blessings, learn to look on the bright circumstances of our lot, and maintain a perpetual contentedness under Thy allotments. Fortify our minds against disappointment and calamity.

Preserve us from despondency, from yielding to dejection. Teach us that no evil is intolerable but a guilty conscience, and that nothing can hurt us, if, with true loyalty of affection, we keep Thy commandments and take refuge in Thee; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Ask Your Wife for a Date And Forget About Divorce

By ANN LANDERS

ANN

DEAR ANN:

I am 43 and my wife is 40. We've been married 10 years. This is the third marriage for both of us. Our sons are nine, seven, five and two. My mother-in-law lives with us, thank the good Lord. She is wonderful to our boys, keeps the house clean and cooks all the meals.

My wife has a good job and likes to work. She says staying home would drive her nuts. I have no objection to her working, except she often goes out with men from the office "for a cocktail," and winds up eating dinner with a bunch, finally coming home around midnight.

She accuses me of stepping out, which is untrue. I take out women now and then, but only for business reasons. I never stay out late. In fact, I always manage to beat her home. Last week she found some strange earrings in the car and asked if I wanted a divorce. We need advice.

KOOLIE

Dear Koolie: Divorce will solve nothing for a pair of rounders like you. It sounds as if there's plenty to forgive and forget on both sides.

Since you both enjoy going out, why not go out together? Ask your wife for a date. Send her a flower. Pump some life into that gasping marriage. If you two chose each other after two flops there must have been a reason.

Maybe she wouldn't go cocktailing if she knew you'd be home after work. And maybe you wouldn't look for outside company if you knew she was available.

There are four good reasons to stay together. They are nine, seven, five and two. You owe these children more than room and board. This is the area in which you should work together to make your marriage solid and rewarding.

* * *

DEAR ANN:

I'm a boy 17 with a very guilty conscience. I went steady with a swell gal for six months. She was a drum majorette, and well liked by everybody.

We broke up three weeks ago because she said I was too "possessive" and she was missing out on lots of fun by not going with other fellows. Also I'm sure her folks didn't care for me too much.

Naturally I was hurt and wanted to get even, so I told a few of the guys some lies about her. (You can guess the kind.) I don't know for sure which one of the guys shot off his yap, but anyway she heard about it. Now she won't speak to me and she turns her head whenever I pass her in the hall. I feel slimy and want to clear her name. How can I do it?

LOWEST FORM OF LIFE

Dear Lowest — and you ARE just that! You can "clear her name" the same way you tried to tarnish it. Tell the guys you were lying and that you're sorry. The word will get back to her, and maybe she'll say "hello" when she sees you — which is more than you deserve.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Miami Herald enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

How to Make Ballet Skirt for Elephant

By MIKE MORGAN
Herald Staff Writer

What do you do when the prima ballerina, who happens to be an elephant, bursts out of her ballet skirt the night before the show opens?

This was the most difficult problem which ever confronted the Brooks Costuming Co. of New York in the 50 years James Stroock spent as head of the company which costumes 95 per cent of all Broadway productions and most all the television shows.

Stroock, costuming himself in a sun tan at the Americana Hotel, told about the time when his firm made the ballet skirts for the Ringling Bros' dancing elephants.

They were tailored out of net and mounted on heavy web belting . . . real heavy belting. Not exactly what the corps de ballet at the Metropolitan wears — but chic, and substantial if you're an elephant ballerina.

The night of the final dress rehearsal in New York the dancing elephants drank a lot of water — so much that they split the ballet costumes, web-belting and all.

Now not even an elephant ballet corps would essay a pas de deux, or even a pas de three in busted-out ballet skirts.

But if you repaired them allowing leeway for water logged elephants, the skirts would be too loose when the beasts were unwater logged.

"Boy — it was a headache," recalled Stroock.

They whipped the problem by getting hold of batches of inner tubes, split them and then vulcanized the tubes and mounted the net skirts on the rubber waistbands.

Just in time for the opening. Now the elephants could drink or not . . . the allway stretch costumes turned the trick.

For those who want to rent costumes, Brooks can give you anything from the cave age through the space age — and with detailed accuracy.

There are more than 200,000 costumes in the wardrobes — most of them made of excellent, top grade materials and fittings.

Stroock values the costume collection at four million dollars.

He adds to the collection over the years by repurchasing costumes from shows which close. Thus, many amateur performers may find themselves wearing the garments that were worn by theatrical greats in the same role.

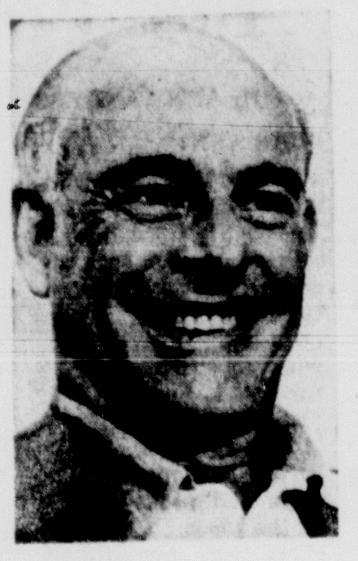
Average cost of costuming a Broadway musical is from $30,000 to $50,000 — but the most lavish in recent years was "The King and I," which took $125,000 for costumes.

And speaking of the accuracy of costumes for period pieces, the company maintains a reference library of 4,000 volumes, the largest of its kind in the world.

Most single expensive costume ever made by the company was not for a show, but for a woman attending a Beaux Arts Ball. It cost $12,500, looked something like a Christmas tree, and was encrusted with semi-precious stones.

Mr. Stroock's 200 tailors and seamstresses also turn out the most expensive rags ever worn.

One play required the cast to be clad mainly in rags. But what rags — 400 bucks each.



James Stroock
. . . has costly costumes

These rags were made of pure silk which were dyed, sprayed and rubbed by hand to give them a "raggy, ancient" look.

Stroock has more than a clothing interest in the shows. He generally invests a bit in almost every show he costumes.

Put $5,000 into "Oklahoma!" When the show tried out in Boston, Stroock was asked to come see the tryout and buy in for another $5,000.

"I went to see it. Was convinced that the show would be a flop and turned down the second $5,000. Man can I pick 'em!

"That first $5,000 that I had in brought me a return of $240,000; most I ever made on a show."

He'll Decide in Mid-Summer

Humphrey to Run? He's Not Sure Yet

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D., Minn.) said Friday he will decide by mid-summer whether to be an all-out candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960.

If he does decide to try actively for the nomination, he said in an interview, he will enter next year's Wisconsin presidential primary and others, primarily in the Midwest and on the West Coast.

But he stated emphatically he will not enter those state primaries where favorite-son candidates might seek to tie down state delegations to the convention. One such is California, where Gov. Edmund J. (Pat) Brown is expected to be entered.

Humphrey currently is mentioned as a possible Democratic presidential nominee next year along with many others. Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts, Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas, Adlai Stevenson and others figure in the speculation.

Asked about reports that he is seeking to block Kennedy in Wisconsin and other Midwest areas, Humphrey replied:

"I have a rule in my office that we are not against anyone. I do not believe in engaging in any movements to block anyone or to detract from the stature of anyone."

As to his own presidential plans, Humphrey insisted he has not made up his mind. He said his prime aim at this time is to seek reelection next year to a third six-year term in the Senate.

Humphrey said he has no organization set up to conduct a campaign for delegates to the Democratic National Convention, but said he has had offers from many persons in various states to get such a campaign rolling.

The Minnesota Legislature recently repealed the Minnesota presidential preference primary. Humphrey supporters say that it would have been helpful to the senator, if he should become a candidate, to have been able to enter his own state primary. However, it is believed he would have had the support of his own state delegation in any event.

"One of my good friends told me the other day that 'You are in it whether you want to be or not'," Humphrey said. "The only thing I can say to that at this point is that I am not saying."

He Jumped To Safety

A motorist whose car stalled on the tracks jumped to safety Friday a minute before his car was hit by a speeding train and knocked 640 feet from the 163rd St. crossing of the Florida East Coast Railway tracks.

The motorist, John Sampson, 58, of 1281 NE 211th St. was going home when the engine of his car quit as the crossing signals flashed and arm barricades came down.

With the train bearing down on him, Sampson quit the car and ran to safety and then watched helplessly to see his 1953 model car smashed into a total loss.

Auto Floor Is No Place For Hiding

Said the sheriff's deputy in West Palm Beach: "Why, hello, there."

Replied the Miami ex-con, "Oh, hello."

But it's difficult to retain your composure when a cop finds you hiding on the floor of a car, with what he strongly suspects are burglar tools.

So Deputy Jimmy Neeser marched Ralph Owen Stalvey, Jack Carl Hinton and Martin Frank Englander, all of Miami, off to jail.

The three, all of whom have records, were held for investigation.

The arrest came when Reeser stopped on Okeechobee Rd. near the turnpike to help Hinton and Englander, who told him they'd run out of gas.

Reeser noticed the car "shaking." Looking inside he found Stalvey, and made the arrests.

Cleans Revolver, Shoots Friend

Victorio Nieves, 30, of 152 NW Fourth St., finished cleaning his .38 caliber revolver, then pointed it at a friend and pulled the trigger.

"I didn't think it was still loaded," he told Miami Homicide Detective Mike Gonzales.

The shot put his friend, Lucido S. Carrero, 29, also of 152 NW Fourth St., in Jackson Memorial Hospital with a chest wound.

Carrero was in fair condition Friday.

Bolivia Calls Riots Red Work

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Bolivian government has told the U.S. that "a small minority of extremists influenced by international communism" were responsible for anti-American riots in La Paz March 2.

The State Department reported this Friday, saying the explanation was given by Bolivia's foreign minister, Victor Andrade.

The department said the Bolivian government expressed regret over the rioting which included stoning of the U.S. embassy.

The Bolivian demonstrators were protesting against a Time magazine article which quoted an unidentified American diplomat as suggesting that Bolivia and its problems be divided among its neighbors. The magazine described the suggestion as a "wisecrack."

In expressing regret, Andrade said the article "produced national indignation and public protest." However, he said, the acts of violence "went beyond this rightful indignation . . ."

This violence, he said, was the result of agitation of a small minority of Communist extremists "with the intent of damaging the traditional friendship between the peoples and government of Bolivia and the U.S.

"They did not," he said, "represent the feelings or the attitudes of the people and government of Bolivia.

The State Department making public Bolivia's explanation said:

"The department has recognized from the beginning, that the unforunate acts of violence did not represent the true feelings of the Bolivian government and people, just as the regretable magazine article in question in no way reflected the attitudes and policies of the people and government of the U. S. toward Bolivia."

British Readers Told Invalids Running U.S.

By WILLIAM H. STONEMAN
Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

LONDON — British newspaper readers are now being fed a diet of reports indicating that the U.S. is being run by a group of invalids.

Some papers handle the subject with kid gloves, others with a brutal lack of restraint. But all give the same net inpression: American leadership is at a low point because sick men are in charge.

The Times, in an editorial on the recent visit of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan to Moscow said: "Ultimately the voice of America will be the one that matters most. Just now it sounds a little uncertainly because age and sickness have overtaken America's leading statesmen."

The equally circumspect Economist, commenting on Macmillan's efforts to avoid a crisis over Berlin, remarked that "through fortuitous circumstances the British prime minister has been the only leading man of the Western Alliance able and willing to undertake this action at the moment."

Don Iddon, Washington correspondent of the arch-Tory Daily Mail, wrote after his return from Moscow: "Mr. Macmillan's visit to Russia, his journey to Europe, his forthcoming trip to Canada and the U.S. have shown Russia and the world that the British have seized the initiative. With two sick men in Washington, Macmillan is the Western leader and London has become again the capital of the West."

'Shocking' Floor Routs Firemen

Firemen felt the floor "tingling" as they fought an apartment house fire Friday at 2344 NW 30th St.

It forced the firemen back until the circuits were cut, he said. The fire destroyed a vacant apartment in the two-story frame structure.

Slaying Ends Argument

A young migrant farm laborer from Mississippi was fatally shot Friday in a Homestead rooming house argument with a fellow-worker, Metro police said.

Police said Joseph L. Townsend, 20, of Moorhead, Miss., was shot four times in the rooming house at 537 SW Sixth Ave., Homestead. He died about an hour later at James Archer Smith Hospital.

An area-wide search for the killer was ordered. Police said they know his identity but would not reveal it.

Witnesses said they heard Townsend and the other farm laborer arguing loudly in a room of the boarding house, then heard a shot. They reported rushing into the room in time to see Townsend's killer pump three more shots into Townsend as he slumped to the floor.

Film Offer Vanished, Judge Told

Damon Runyon Jr., told a federal judge Friday a movie company left uncertain the question of whether he would appear in a proposed film of the life of his famous father.

He was heard during a pretrial conference in his tax suit against the government. Runyon is seeking to require the Internal Revenue department to treat $21,770 received from Marshall Grant Pictures, Inc., as a capital gain, with taxes spread over a number of years.

He paid taxes on the sum, lumping it with his other income in filing an amended return in 1947, he contends.

On the stand briefly, he was questioned closely on his own role in the picture. The money was received as a result of an agreement giving the company exclusive option to produce the movie.

The film was never made, and the option has expired.

The internal Revenue Service has refused to alter its ruling that the sum was correctly counted as basic income for 1947.

Cuban Police Quiz Miamians

Two Miamians and two New York women were held by Cuban police in Havana Friday for questioning about alleged attempts to bring some 57,000 pesos into Cuba illegally.

Police said the money seized was in 1,000, 500 and 100-peso denominations.

Beliefs Should Be Reflected in Church Building, Experts Agree

What churches ought to know about new buildings and what architects who are designing those buildings ought to know about churches were the topics discussed by leaders from both fields in a conference here this week.

The session on church architecture — an extremely important subject in a booming area like Miami — was sposored by the Florida chapter of the American Institute of Architects.

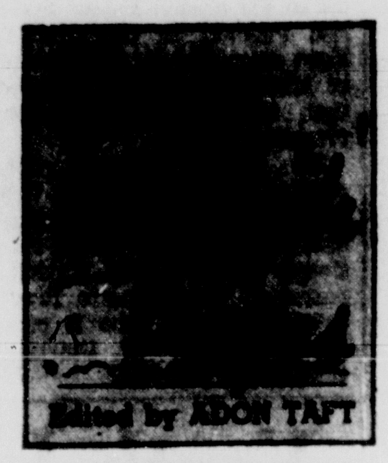
A film on the subject suggested that the architect ought to be in on the building project even before a site is selected in order that he might advise on the size of the property needed, suitable location for building purposes, and cost.

ADAMS

ABRAMOWITZ

Surveys to show the kind of community in which the building is to be erected, the economic and educational background of the members of the congregation, and the needs and desires of the congregation also are necessary before the correct building can be constructed, according to the film.

The move advocated the use of contemporary designs and materials.



A panel made up of the Rev. Lane Adams, Key Biscayne Presbyterian Church; Igor B. Polevitsky, architect; Rabbi Mayer Abramowitz, North Shore Jewish Center; Irvin Korach, architect; the Rev. F. P. Wood Jr., St. Columbia's Episcopal Church in Marathon; and Frank Watson, architect, then reviewed the movie and discussed building problems.

The Rev. Mr. Adams suggested that too often the theology of the church is not expressed in the design of the building, which he described as often too stark to portray the love of Christ and the warmth of Christian fellowship.

Polevitsky pointed out that a church should not be a monument, or social hall, or lecture hall, but a place where there is an atmosphere which promotes introspection and meditation.

POLEVITSKY

KORACH

Rabbi Abramowitz said the synagogue or church building should offer warmth, comfort and ease because it should be thought of as a dwelling place.

Korach listed the lack of a master plan as the biggest fault with churches which are unable to build all at once.

Fr. Wood attacked the emphasis on educational facilities and called for more attention to the worship function of the church which he said is promoted by a nostalgic feeling obtained by use of more traditional architecture.

Watson stressed the need for the architect to steep himself in the dogmas and traditions of a church in order to really express that church in a building.

The panel concluded that church building committees should not be made up of builders, but should represent a cross section of the congregation and that the architect should deal with only one spokesman for the church.

Polevitsky summed up by noting that many churches already have made some basic mistakes in their building programs, but that "physical mistakes can be rectified."

"The building doesn't make the church. You can have a good building and a poor church or a good church with a poor building. It's the spirit of the people which counts."

Prayer Key to Fund Raising For Building, Specialist Says

By STAN TAIT
Herald Special Writer

Prayer, not high-pressure salesmanship is the key to success in any church fund-raising drive.

That's the conviction of a man who specializes in church fund-raising, the Rev. Carl H. Sandgren of Minneapolis. The Rev. Mr. Sandgren is director of the Department of Church Architecture and Building Finance of the national Augustana Lutheran Church.

He has directed some 150 church funds appeals in the last seven years, and most of them have gone over the mark. He's in Miami to supervise a $60,000 appeal at Immanuel Lutheran Church at NW Fifth Ave. and Fourth St.

"Without deep, serious, soul-searching prayer, a fund appeal has little real value," says the Rev. Mr. Sandgren.

"Prayer must be the key that unlocks God's gifts of grace in the giving of funds as well as in all other matters in Christian life. When we pray together, then we will work together and give together."

But Pastor Sandgren believes a church fund appeal is far more than just collecting money to erect a building. He asks the congregation to "Think beyond the money goal."

Rev. Sandgren

"The greatest value of the fund appeal lies not in the building itself but in the redemption of persons brought about by the building."

He also thinks participation works wonders for the congregation. Accordingly, he recommends at least 20 per cent of the members participate in some way in the drive.

"It knits together a congregation like few things can. It is an opportunity to work for God. Members of the congregation who have not been particularly active often become alive with enthusiasm for their church. It gives them a new insight into Christianity.

"This is not a begging proposition," he emphasizes, "but an opportunity to serve."

Pastor Sandgren says there is no room for showoffs who want to make an impression with big donations. He insists the size of gifts be kept secret.

"I do not believe it is good from a Christian or stewardship point of view to announce gifts. I'd rather have less money give in the true Christian spirit."

Pastor Sandgren emphasizes that prayer alone is not enough. It requires hard work on the part of the congregation and a sound, business-like approach.

As in any other business venture, a careful study must first be made to determine the feasibility of the project, he says.

Is the new church really needed? How big should it be? Will the congregation support it? What is the best way to finance it? How much should the appeal fund be?

The answers to these and other details must be worked out before any plans can be made for the drive itself, Pastor Sandgren points out. And that's where his organization and others like it come in. They are experts in the matter. They can tell what is a realistic goal and what is pipe dreaming.

Church building has become big business in the United States, he says, and there are now 21 Protestant fund-raising advisory groups to aid churches of their denomination to grow. Some staffs even include professional fund-raisers.

The Rev. Mr. Sandgren will be in the pulpit at Immanuel Lutheran Church, the oldest church of the denomination in Miami, Sunday to kick-off the $60,000 fund-raising drive there.

Some 40 canvassers will be commissioned and then spend the afternoon contacting members of the congregation.

The church plans to build a $200,000 sanctuary on a recently acquired 1.6 acre tract at Brickell Ave. and SW 17th Rd.

Men To Hear Safety Director

"Christian on the Highway" will be the topic used by Jacob I. Jackson, executive director of the Dade County Citizens Safety Council, when he addresses the 6:30 p.m. Wednesday supper meeting of the Methodist Men at Bryan Memorial Methodist Church.

1st Unit Erection To Start

Ground for a $50,000 combination worship and educational unit for Central Boulevard Methodist Church will be broken Sunday.

The ceremony will take plane at 5 p.m. at the site, NW 12th Ave. at 99th St. It will be followed by a covered dish supper at the Van E. Blanton School and then the quarterly conference conducted by Dr. P. M. Boyd, district superintendent.

The new building will have an assembly hall seating 200 persons which will be used for worship services at first, a dining hall serving 100, and four classrooms.

The building will be designed so that a second story can be added later. It eventually will become a permanent social hall.

Homer Bain Jr. is the pastor of the 10-year-old congregation which now has 216 members and a Sunday school enrollment of 195.

Knights Slate Bishop

Bishop Coleman F. Carroll will celebrate the Mass and be the breakfast speaker for the annual corporate Communion Sunday of the four Knights of Columbus Councils in the Greater Miami area.

The Mass will be at St. Mary's Cathedral at 8 a.m. The breakfast will be at the Everglades Hotel, 244 Biscayne Blvd., at 9:30 a.m.

Participating councils are those from Miami, North Miami, Miami Beach and Coral Gables.

Bible Conference, Revival on Tap

A Bible conference and a revival campaign will start in two Miami area churches Sunday and a teaching mission will end at another.

The Rev. Sidney Cox, a member of the faculty at the Miami Bible Institute, will conduct the four-day Bible Conference at Sylvania Heights Baptist Church.

REV. COX

He is a former member of the extension staff of the famed Moody Bible Institute in Chicago and has been an evangelist and Bible conference teacher. He has written 300 gospel songs, including the popular "My Lord Knows the Way through the Wilderness."

The Rev. Mr. Cox will be leading a study of the book of Job in the 7:30 p.m. Sunday through Wednesday sessions.

The Rev. Ford R. Philpot, of Lexington, Ky., will be the evangelist for the week-long revival campaign opening Sunday at the Miami Springs Methodist Church. He has conducted 200 revivals in 25 states and now is producing a nationally televised religious program.

Services there will be at 7:30 nightly and at 10 a.m. Monday through Friday.

* * *

Father Dunston, of the Order of St. Francis, will complete his week's teaching mission at the Holy Cross Episcopal Church with 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. Sunday messages.

During the latter service, Miss Helen Grace Warner, president of the diocesan chapter, will present the charter to a new chapter of the Daughters of the King, an order of Episcopal women dedicated to prayer and service.

Youths, Men List Speakers

Clyde Atkins, an attorney and prominent lay churchman, will be the speaker for the 7 p.m. Sunday meeting of the Young Peoples Club of the Blessed Trinity Catholic Church in the Miami Springs Recreation Center.

And Jimmie Jones, lay leader of the Allapattah Methodist Church, will address the Men's Club of Wesley Methodist Church at its 8 a.m. Sunday breakfast.

Remarks on Religion

Out of Darkness, Light

By ADON TAFT
Herald Religion Editor

The lights had been turned off at the Coral Way Methodist Church and a congregation of 75 persons sat in hushed expectancy.

Quietly a man rose in the darkness and walked unhurriedly to the makeshift stage at the front of the church auditorium. Moments later, a woman rose, walked down the aisle and took her place on the platform. Four more people silently and one at a time followed suit.

"The play you are about to see cannot really be called a play. It is too real for that.

"In this play you will see Caiaphas, and Pilate, and soldiers and a cross; events now almost 2,000 years old.

"But also in this play, you will see yourself, and, laid before you and we who play the parts, the easy road to indifference.

"Do not be shocked by 'Christ in the Concrete City.' It is something that happened . . . and something that is happening even now."

Cast Earns Praise

So began the seventh performance last Sunday night of this first production of the drama department of the Greater Miami Council of Churches.

It is a different kind of play—not the usual use of sets and scenes. And it is an extremely effective kind of play, particularly in the way key thoughts are emphasized by group recitation and the way the audience feels a part of the whole thing.

The cast deserves praise and many fine audiences. Members include Betty Maradi, of the Coral Gables Congregational Church; Ruth Fink, Raleigh Mann and Jim Arroyo, of White Temple Methodist Church; Bob Reisinger, of Granada Presbyterian Church, and the Rev. Neil Wyrick, of Palmetto Presbyterian Church. The latter also directs the play.

The play will be given this Sunday night at White Temple Methodist Church. Other performances are slated for Granada Presbyterian Church and the Homestead Air Force Base. If you would like a performance in your church, just call the Greater Miami Council of Churches and a date will be arranged.

Lost in Bigness

And, talking about things that are different, Rabbi B. Leon Hurwitz, of Temple Pesach Tikvah in Coral Gables, has a different and refreshing outlook for these days on what constitutes success in the ministry.

He is one of those rare folks still around who do not judge the worth of something by its size or monetary value.

As a matter of fact, Rabbi Hurwitz is of the opinion that a church or synagogue should never be large in membership or seek large budgets.

When people ask him how big his congregation is, he replies, "You mean in depth? We're very deep."

And when they wonder at his aversion to large congregations, he asks, with his typical quick wit, "Do you want to be saved or to be lost?"

And I wonder if there isn't a serious message in that joking reply?

Homestead Slates Lenten Pageant

Three performances are slataed next week in Homestead for what is planned to be an annual, community-wide Lenten Passion Play.

Called "Behold Your King," the series of scenes and tableaux set to music will be presented at 8 p.m. Sunday, Tuesday and Thursday at the St. Andrews Lutheran Church, 1955 N. Krome Ave.

The pageant also will be given there March 22 and 28.

A cast of 50 will be used in the outdoor performance on a specially constructed stage with elaborate sets and costumes.

One of the highlights of the pageant will be the scene where the Christus hangs on the cross in full view for 12 minutes, according to the Rev. Harry E. Vensel, who is directing.

The pageant was a tradition with the Rev. Mr. Vensel at his church in New Kensington, Pa., where he served before coming here. He studied drama at Theil College.

Key roles in the three act production will be taken by Dennis Burdick, who will portray Jesus; Jack Trezona, as Pontius Pilate; Michael Shalenko, the centurion; Richard Fuchs, as Caiaphas; Marvin Kroll, as Annas; Kermit Goble, as Nicodemus; Robert Cox, as Simon Peter; David Osley, as Judas; and Joyce Bailey, as Mary.

Mae Cox will be soloist and Ruth Vensel the organist.

Council To Outline Program

Donald Swanson, new executive director of the Greater Miami Council of Churches, will be introduced to the church representatives to the council at a dinner at 7 p.m. Monday at the Miami Shores Presbyterian Church.

Dr. J. Calvin Rose, president of the council and host pastor, will outline the year's program for the delegates, and name members to committees suggested by the board.

Reports will be heard on radio and television activities and the plans for Easter services.

This will be the first full membership session of the council outside of a regular annual meeting.

'Glowing' Christ OB Feature

There'll be some new wrinkles to the annual Easter Sunrise Pageant in the Orange Bowl sponsored by the Greater Miami Ministerial Association, the author-director promised Friday.

To start off with, the pageant will begin before the dawn which traditionally signals the opening of action, disclosed the Rev. Neil Wyrick, pastor of the Palmetto Presbyterian Church who is producing the pageant. Starting time will be 5:25 a.m.

The rising of the sun will be figured in as a way to add drama to one of the scenes, he said.

Also, for the first time, there will be a night performance. It will begin at 9:25 p.m. and special lighting effects will be used to create a mood, according to the Rev. Mr. Wyrick.

Other innovations for this year's performance will include clothing that will glow which will be worn by the Christus after the resurrection and a natural garden for the Gethsemane scene.

WYRICK

The trial before Pilate has been added this year and the triumphant entry into Jerusalem has been dropped. The cast has grown to 70 performers.

A flash-back technique will be used in the production which will open with the scene of the crosses on Golgotha. There will be eight scenes altogether, two of them — the Last Supper and the trial before Pilate — on a revolving stage.

"There will be more emphasis this year on the resurrection scene," said the Rev. Mr. Wyrick. "It's this scene that makes the pageant a story with a message rather than just a story."

Youth Leader, Seminary Officials Head Speakers

A national youth leader, a pair of seminary executives and widely-known authority on prayer head the impressive list of guest speakers who will fill Greater Miami pulpits in the coming week.

The Rev. Dick Fulmer, secretary of the youth department of the Assemblies of God, will preach for the 7 p.m. Sunday service at Full Gospel Tabernacle. He was a California pastor before taking on his present leadership job.

* * *

The Rev. John N. McCormick, assistant to the dean of the Virginia Theological Seminary, will be the guest speaker for the 11 a.m. Sunday service at All Souls Episcopal Church in Miami Beach.

A former Marine officer who attended Kent School and Washington and Lee University before graduating from Virginia Seminary, the Rev. Mr. McCormick also will address the Men's Club dinner there at 6 p.m. Monday.

* * *

Dr. David White, vice president of the Union Theological Seminary in Matanzas, Cuba, will be the pulpit guest at White Temple Methodist Church for the annual Cuba Day service at 10:45 a.m. Sunday. He will report on church work in Cuba and receive an offering for the Rev. Ornan Iglesius, White Temple's Cuban pastor in Matanzas.

FULMER McCORMICK

The Rev. Rolan Brown, a Baptist minister from Chicago associated with the late Glenn Clark's "Camps Fathest Out" for prayer, will talk on prayer at Allapattah Methodist Church at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, 10 a.m. Thursday, 9 a.m. Friday and 9 a.m. next Saturday.

He also will speak to the Men's Club at Silver Palm Methodist Church in Princeton on Thursday evening and at the Coral Gables First Christian Church at 11 a.m. Friday.

* * *

Dr. T. Roland Philips, retired pastor of the Arlington Presbyterian Church in Baltimore, will preach for the 11 a.m. and 8 p.m. Sunday services at the Miami Beach Independent Presbyterian Church.

* * *

The Rev. Herbert Pugmire, representative of the missionary Far East Broadcasting Company, will be the speaker at the 8 p.m. Wednesday service.

* * *

Dr. Harry Stark, economics professor at the University of Miami, will be the pulpit guest for the 11 a.m. Sunday service at the First Unitarian Church.

* * *

Miss Clara Codd, a former officer of the international organization, will lecture at the 8 p.m. Sunday session of the Miami Theosophical Society.

* * *

Stephen A. Haboush, the native Galilean shepherd who has been heard in many local churches, will be the 7:30 p.m. Sunday pulpit guest at the Miami Shores Community Church and at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Christ Lutheran Church.

* * *

Arthur P. Wuth, a former radio executive from Denver, will be the speaker for the 8 p.m. Thursday lecture at the Miami Beach Auditorium sponsored by the Miami Beach First Church of Christ, Scientist.

* * *

The Rev. William R. Winterbottom, director of religious education at the Church-by-the Sea, will be speaker for the 11 a.m. Sunday service at the North Miami Congregational Church.

Garrett Resigns Pulpit

Dr. Willis E. Garrett has resigned as pastor of the Miami Beach Independent Presbyterian Church effective May 1.

He will organize the Community Bible Church, to meet temporarily in the auditorium of the Horace Mann Junior High School, when he leaves the Beach pulpit he has held for 13 years.

During his ministry in the Beach church, the missionary giving grew from $300 a year to a high of $91,000.

Dr. Garrett also serves as president of the Miami Bible Institute, board member of the South American Indian Mission, and council member of the World of Life Fellowship.

WHO ARE THESE MILLION MEN THEY CALL "KNIGHTS"?

Whether you are a Catholic or not, you should know the truth about the Knights of Columbus.

Is it, as sometimes rumored, a secret society with designs against our government? Do its members really take an oath to destroy non-Catholic political power?

If such rumors were true, the Knights of Columbus would not deserve the friendship and trust of non-Catholic citizens, which it invites and merits. Actually there is no more thoroughly patriotic organization than this fraternal order of Catholic men.

It is composed of plumbers and lawyers, farmers and doctors, business men and scientists—of Catholic men at every level of the social and economic scale. Some are rabidly partisan on political and public questions. They "choose up sides" with all the freedom of any other citizens.

The Knights of Columbus was formed in 1882, by a small group of the men of St. Mary's Church, New Haven, Connecticut. They had met, at the invitation of Father Michael J. McGivney, not to form a national fraternal society, but to "render mutual aid to the members of the parish and their families."

In the years that since have ensued, the Knights of Columbus has grown into a fraternal order of more than a million members, spread over the United States, Canada and other countries of the Western World. But its purpose of "mutual aid" . . . and its principles of charity, unity, fraternity and patriotism . . . remain unchanged after more than 70 years.

Millions of dollars have been spent by the order for the relief of victims of fire, flood and famine . . . for the support of Christian youth work . . . aid to Christian education. In both world wars, the Knights performed a service of ministering to the spiritual welfare and comfort of the armed forces regardless of creed, that brought sincerest thanks from a grateful nation.

Nearly one out of every six Knights served his country in World War II, and many laid down their lives.

Despite these and many other signal demonstrations of its principles of charity, unity, fraternity and patriotism, some people have the most absurd beliefs and suspicions about the Knights of Columbus, just as they do about the Catholic Church. Even today, misinformed people give publicity at times to a false alleged Knights of Columbus oath which has been proved to be fraudulent, and which scores of others have been forced publicly to admit is untrue.

This message . . . and others explaining Catholic beliefs and practices . . . are published by the Knights of Columbus so that our non-Catholic neighbors may judge us as we really are—not as we are often misrepresented to be. If you wish, we shall send you free, in a plain wrapper, an interesting pamphlet about this international society. And nobody will call on you. Write for Pamphlet No. KC-9.

On Tuesday the movie will be "Souls in Conflict," based on the lives of a jet pilot, an actress and a factory worker who were converted in Graham's London Crusade.

Wednesday "The Heart Is a Rebel" will be shown. It tells what happens in a business executive's home when his wife accepts Christ.

'Bell' Tinkled at Start But Rang Lustily Late

By JACK ANDERSON
Herald Radio-TV Editor

FOR AWHILE Thursday night Playhouse 90's two-part production on Channel 4 of Ernest Hemingway's "For Whom the Bell Tolls" appeared to be developing little more than a dramatic tinkle.

The opening scenes were fitful, the continuity was fragmentary, and we were all too aware that its Spanish mountainous setting was an acre of papier-mache scenery in a New York studio.

But as the minutes ticked by, A. E. Hotchner's adaptation of the Hemingway epic and a superb cast began to work the magic of theater.

By the end of the hour-and-a-half, we were emotionally caught up in the interplay of real people in a real situation.

Jason Robards Jr. is excellent as the American guerilla fighter bent on blowing up a bridge to cut off the advance of the Spanish fascist forces.

He has just the right ruggedness and embittered intensity of feeling for the role. Maria Schell is a believable Maria.

* * *

THE REAL TRIUMPH of Part I was Maureen Stapleton's. Although bearing no resemblance to the fat and ugly Pilar as Hemingway describes her, Miss Stapleton conveys the essence of her completely in a remarkably intelligent performance.

MAUREEN

ROBARDS

MARIA

It remains to be seen whether a week's separation in the two parts of the drama will spoil the production as a whole.

At least it has gotten off to an effective start.

Steel Hour Tendered Fans Seldom Seen Comedy Type

"THE SQUARE Egghead" on CBS' Steel Hour Wednesday night was a happy little romantic comedy.

We seldom see this sort of play on television. There seems to be some idea among TV producers that the comedy department is amply taken care of in series form, which it isn't.

"The Square Egghead" told the story of a hot-shot young salesman enrolled with other junior executives in a summer college course to brighten up their cultural outlook.

ANDERSON

June Lockhart portrayed the instructor who had to contend with these young business types who include one academic gold brick (Tom Ewell) more interested in play than Plato.

The play ends, of course, with teacher and student finding each other so mutually beguiling that they can live happily ever after.

It was nice to see Miss Lockhart away from her full-time assignment as dispenser of kibbles to Lassie. And the play was exactly tailored to Ewell's talents.

Nobody can better portray the would-be faun whose difficulty is that while his bottom half may be goat, the upper half is certified public accountant.

* * *

WKAT PRESIDENT Frank Katzentine has given in to the surprising (or was it so surprising?) volume of pleas for the return to his daily schedule of Don McNeill's Breakfast Club. The program was restored last Monday morning.

To demonstrate to WKAT that it has made no mistake, why don't you Breakfast Club fans send the station a card or a note? Address it to WKAT, 1759 Bay Rd., Miami Beach.

So many listeners holler about the quality of radio programming. It would encourage broadcasters to drop the tripe, if they could hear regularly from listeners approving of what is good.

* * *

MOTHERS and dads worried that junior may have his little mind scarred by the horror fare on television can relax. I found out the other day that these spooks and vampires are wasting their time on the tots. In the fright department, that is.

Little Kathy Marrone, the seven-year-old daughter of Ernie Marrone, one of our printers, is so nuts about M. T. Graves, the Sunday afternoon horror on Channel 7, she sent him a fan letter the other day.

Her dad let me see her laboriously shaped paeans of praise before he put the letter in the mail box. There was even a postscript of three sets of kisses for the television ghoul.

Two days later, the telephone rang in the Marrone home at 15341 NW 31st Ave. A voice like a shrill burlesque of Eleanor Roosevelt's asked for Kathy. It was her heeero.

Ernie told me Kathy was as petrified with joy as a teenager would be if she heard Elvis Presley whispering at her.

Now what's that again about TV's scaring the daylights out of the very young? The only thought that lingers with me about Kathy is that her taste had better improve. Ernie doesn't want a future son-in-law looking and sounding like M. T. Graves.

* * *

WTVJ'S Jackie Pierce telephoned the other day. She's been made the station's women's news editor and she's already sounding like Brenda Starr reporter.

Jackie says her assignment is to cover the distaff front with microphone and cameraman. Her news and interviews get daily exposure at noon on Channel 4.

WCKT (Ch. 7) is looking for a women's news editor, too. The station has auditioned a lot of candidates but nobody suitable has turned up yet. Or hadn't when this was written.

* * *

HERE AND THERE: WCKR is offering six free trips to Europe and 200 shortwave radios in a Crusade for Freedom contest. Deejays Don Franklin and Bob Perry are sparking the contest. Listeners are asked to write a 25-word "truth message" to be broadcast behind the Iron Curtain. Deadline is March 28 . . . WQAM's news director Paul Rust is helping out the Retail Merchants Association's campaign against shoplifting. Rust broadcast's who's been nabbed by police, why and where . . . NBC's George Gobel may be CBS' Gobel next fall. Lever Brothers, the soap syndicate, is dickering with ole Lonesome for a program as alternate to Jack Benny . . . Phil Silvers told Atlanta Constitution TV columnist Paul Jones he's giving up his Sgt. Bilko show as a weekly regular in May. He wants to do the show in a limited number of special presentations.

Persons and Programs

Audrey Meadows will sit in for Ed Murrow on CBS-TV's Person To Merson March 27—Murrow will be on a news assignment in England.

Janet Blair and John Raitt will take over the NBC-TV Dinah Shore spot on June 7 for 17 shows.

Dorothy Kirsten and Edie Adams also will be featured on some of the summer series.

NBC-TV's Today is planning a remote from Titusville, Pa., to commemorate the oil strike in that town 100 years ago.

Trash Dump Smoke Irks South Dade Folks

When This Dump Burns, Southwest Tempers Soar

. . . refrigerators are hazards to children, neighbors say

Owner Says Rules Obeyed

By PHIL FORTMAN
Herald Staff Writer

SOUTH DADE residents fumed Friday over smoke from a privately operated trash dump at SW 56th St. and 68th Ave.

They also were upset about the dump's junked refrigerators, which they said endanger youngsters who might crawl into them and suffocate.

Some of the refrigerators had broken locks but one was found that would latch, a check of the complaints showed.

"We've called the county and called the county. They say the situation will be investigated, but nothing ever happens," said Mrs. William Sistrunk, 6841 SW 49th St., a spokesman for protesting residential property owners.

Ben Harrington, the operator of the dump, said he is meeting all county requirements.

"What has happened is that these people bought cheap property near an industrially zoned section," Harrington said.

"There has been a dump here for nine years and before that it was zoned industrially as a lime crushing plant for 20 years. There were lime pits here 40 feet deep and we've filled them up."

Harrington said, "It is just a metter of months" before the dump would be completely filled and the property converted to other use.

"So there are a few people going to have to take a few headaches for awhile," Harrington said. "This dump serves over a third of the Southwest section."

"The smoke fills our houses and makes breathing difficult," Mrs. Sistrunk said. "When we moved here we all knew there was a dump there, but we were told five years ago it would soon be filled.

The county also once assured us there would be no more burning. That was shortly before the first of the year. But here we go again."

Expressway Poses Many Problems

North Miami Seeks Plan To Anticipate Headaches

By EDDIE GONG
Herald Staff Writer

NORTH MIAMI is busy with a master city plan — a plan that will be much in demand when the North-South expressway throws a score of traffic and economic problems into the laps of city fathers.

The expressway, tentatively routed through North Miami just east of NW Seventh Ave., promises to create these headaches:

CREATION of a "no man's land" of 60 homes bordered by businesses on NW Seventh Ave. and Sixth Ave. It could become a slum area.

TRAFFIC congestion at Seventh Ave. and NW 125th St., the only east-west artery that runs through the city, where an overpass is planned.

SPLITTING the city into east and west compartments resulting in possible isolation of Seventh Ave. businesses from the more populous east side of the city.

MORE POLICE to patrol ramps into the expressway.

"The problems created by the proposed expressway highlight how badly we need a comprehensive master plan," said City Manager Robert V. Youkey Friday.

The 32-year-old city manager of Dade's fifth largest municipality said the expressway problems came on the heels of the "natural problems brought on by phenomenal growth."

"Today we have a population of 29,000 and by 1980 we project that figure to be 41,000," said Youkey.

Youkey said the master plan will include provisions for more east-west arteries, as improved transit system, city beautification, new parks, revised zoning regulations and coordination of plans with Metro's future projects.

Homestead Area Casts Eye at Metro

By JOY WINANS
Herald Staff Writer

A committee of South Dade civic leaders has been formed to present the special problems of the area and the possible solution in the form of a master plan to the Metro Commission.

Jerry Carty, president of the HOMESTEAD-REDLANDS Chamber of Commerce and temporary chairman of the group, said Friday that the area is being overlooked.

"This part of the county has a wonderful opportunity to develop, but it needs help," said Carty.

He added that his group would ask consideration from Metro in its future planning.

Arterial roads, squaring-off of Homestead's boundaries and a cessation of "wildcat" zoning are among the many things to be sought, according to Carty.

A survey of what the town has to offer is being made and the results will be contained in a brochure which will be sent to businessmen all over the nation with the idea of interesting them sufficiently to encourage them to bring new industry to Homestead.

Survives Poisoner

Frisky Is Back; Man 'Sees' Again

By PHIL FORTMAN
Herald Staff Writer

Frisky, a pedigreed wire terrier who is the seeing eye of George Siess, a WEST MIAMI blind man, was "back from the dead" Friday after a bout with a dog poisoner.

"Someone who doesn't like dogs threw poisoned meat into the yard, so far as we can figure out," said Siess as Frisky, just back from the veterinarian, did a bouncy dance.

"It's as though he was back from the dead."

The veterinarian who pulled Frisky through said the dog survived "quite a big dose" of poison and that sometimes there is permanent damage to internal organs that doesn't show up until later.

But Frisky, who is leashed on a clothes line run in the backyard of the Siess home at 6442 SW 16th St. when not guiding his master on walks, has regained his old sparkle.

Siess is a retired Department of Justice employe who spent nearly 20 years with the Bureau of Prisons before he lost his sight in a freak New York subway accident.

His eye glasses were smashed as the train came to an abrupt stop. Slivers of glass affected the optic nerve. He became totally blind a month later.

Siess was a prison guard. Three of his prisoners offered him their eyes.

But the offers could not be accepted. It was not the eyes, but the nerves which were damaged.

Siess, 63, spends much of his time making small articles of furniture, and doing home repairs in his woodworking shop.

With his wife, Elizabeth, and 17-year-old son, Douglas, as his eyes, Seiss has even built his own underground lawn sprinkling system.

"I'm getting along all right," he said, patting his dog, "especially now that Frisky is back."

Pelle Named As Attorney

Michael A. Pelle has been named to the $15,000-a-year post of city attorney of NORTH MIAMI BEACH succeeding John W. Estes, it was announced Friday.

PELLE

Estes has resigned to run for council in the April 21 election.

Pelle is 37. He attended City College of New York and received his law degree from Brooklyn Law School. He was admitted to the New York Bar in 1948 and to the Florida Bar a year later when he moved to Dade County.

He ran for Circuit Judge against Judge George E. Holt in 1952 and is a probable candidate for the circuit bench in 1960. His home is at 19601 NW Fourth Ave., in unincorporated Dade.

Policeman's Suit to Be Heard Today

Circuit Judge Pat Cannon today will hear a CORAL GABLES police officer's suit against the city which Circuit Judge Vincent Giblin side-stepped because of his own suits against Coral Gables and a Coral Gables policeman.

Judge Giblin already had heard part of the suit when he became involved in a traffic argument that resulted in his filing suits against the city and Motorcycle Policeman Seymour Anderson.

It was filed by Sgt. Floyd V. Brasher, 49, who suffered a heart attack and claimed a full city pension. The city offered Brasher $107 a month less than his demand for 75 per cent of his $507 monthly salary, according to the suit.

Judge Giblin disqualified himself. Cannon took the case.

City Attorney Ted Semple asked Judge Cannon to disqualify himself because Cannon once was a motorcycle policeman and is a member of the Miami Police Benevolent Association.

Cannon declined and set the case for hearing at 10 a.m. today.

Gables City Hall Sets Style Show

Fur stoles will take the place of tax rolls at the CORAL GABLES city hall Tuesday at 8 p.m.

A fashion show will be staged by the retail merchants division of the Gables Chamber of Commerce on the west patio of the municipal building. Models will parade Easter fashions and there will also be a display of new automobiles.

'Pancake Day' Set March 28

Pancake Day will be sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of North Miami Beach, from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. March 28 at NE 17th Ave. and 163rd St.

Proceeds will go to underprivileged children of North Miami Beach. Tickets are on sale at North Miami Beach stores.

Small Cigars Smoke Out IRS

Dow-Jones, AP, UPI

The Internal Revenue Service has warned companies making small cigars to either stop the practice or expect a ruling that would make the miniature stogies subject to the cigarette duty.

The IRS believes the companies are trying to avoid the high cigarette tax by making so-called "small cigars" that are more like cigarettes.

The federal excise tax on small cigars is 75 cents per 1,000, on cigarettes $4 per 1,000.

Production of small cigars, as reported to the revenue service, has skyrocketed from a normal 4,826,035 last August to 80,843,059 in January.

NEW STOCK MARKET COLLAPSE JUST AHEAD?

Will YOU RECOGNIZE the Danger Signals When They Occur? It shouldn't take a genius to realize that stocks cannot keep going up in value forever! But it takes a lot more than guess work to determine exactly WHEN the turn will come. It could come at any point now. Wouldn't you like to be given advance warning?

To those few who understand it, the DOW THEORY has pointed out the right "BUY" and "SELL" stock signals nine out of ten times since its inception by Charles Dow, famed editor of one of America's leading financial publications, more than 60 years ago. No theory is infallible, of course, but you just can't afford to overlook the tremendous possibilities in a nation-wide investment service which can proudly say:

"We Have Guessed Right on Every Major Stock Market Move Since 1946!"

To enable you to make, at first hand, an honest appraisal of our kind of Investment Service, we would like to have you become a trial subscriber to our Dow Theory Forecast Weekly Investment Service for 4 weeks, merely for the cost of postage and handling ($1). This trial places you under no obligation to continue the service and you will receive a wide range of vital investment services, including Master Stock Lists, 30 Recommended Low-Priced Stocks, a Weekly Consensus of Other Stock Service Recommendations, Model Stock Portfolios and Special Growth Stocks. Also included are "3 NEW STOCKS TO BUY NOW," the promising result of our latest special studies. No salesman will call, and this offer is open to new trial subscribers only.

Rally By Rails Aids Averages

NEW YORK — (AP) — The stock market churned to another record high Friday on the heaviest volume in more than four months.

Selected issues both among the blue chips and more speculative stocks ran up gains of from 3 to 9 points or so.

For most key stocks, however, the advances were kept within a 1-point range and there was a wise assortment of losers. This kept the overall advance to moderate proportions.

Continued gains by electronics and other glamour stocks, a rally by rails and some big strides among utilities were the upside features. Airlines and drugs also advanced.

Motors declined in apparent depression over the news that the Ford Foundation plans to offer another 2,000,000 shares of Ford Motor stock to the public. Most chemicals and oils were off. Steels and nonferrous metals were mixed.

Among conspicuous gainers were Vick Chemical up 9, Thiokol 5¾, American Steel Foundries 5 7-8, Radio Corp. 4¼, Goodyear 3⅛ and American Telephone 3¾.

After the close the Federal Reserve Board proposed several changes in its rules governing the use of credit for buying stocks in order to prevent excessive use of credit.

Corporate bonds were higher in active trading.

Four More Years Voted for Draft

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The House gave final congressional approval to a bill extending the peacetime draft law for four years.

The measure, which subjects men 18 through 26 to two years of military service, now goes to President Eisenhower for his signature.

The House passed the bill by voice vote after accepting a Senate amendment to the version the House approved last month. There was no debate.

The Senate passed the bill Wednesday by a vote of 90 to 1 after Democratic leaders said it would show Russia "the U. S. means what it says" about standing firm in Berlin.

The Senate amendment accepted by the House provided authority for continued extra pay, at the rate of $100 to $250 monthly, to newly commissioned physicians and dentists, and $100 a month additional pay for veterinarians.

The Town Crier

BY Jack Bell

THERE was a story of tragedy in Friday's Herald. The women who've worked so valiantly for Cancer Institute at Miami voted to disband and re-form as Women's Cancer Corps. They did this so that in the future they can control the money they raise, giving when and where they choose.

BELL

It isn't good. No group of women possesses the knowledge necessary to screen hospital and research activities. Neither does any lay group of men. Furthermore, ladies, the only way to raise money succesfully is hitch your wagon to a star. You need a great, successful and popular institution to which you can point with such pride that the donor will believe you. The evidence is there, unquestioned.

Your new group won't have that institution. Because by your action you've created a public impression that's not good. This is unfair to a great institution headed by Dr. J. Ernest Ayre, who is world famous and has made the institute just as well known as himself. A few days ago one of your members said she doesn't care whether women in other nations get cancer-prevention help from our institute. She's interested in Miami women. I'm sure she's sorry she showed such unconcern for humanity.

Fund raising is one activity. Operation of an institution is another. At Variety Children's Hospital we've the best flock of gals in the world, but I'd quit if they demanded to spend the money as they see fit. They won't. And our board, which does watch expenditures, gets the best medical advice first. We do the same before we build or add facilities.

In United Cerebral Palsy there's another internal hullaballo, caused mostly because heads of the women's units want to help run things, and have their backers lined up. Were they to take over fund expenditures, U.C.P. probably will go the way of Cancer Institute at Miami—.

P.S. For five years I've been chairman of Committee of 1,000, which raises $100,000 to help with the charity load at Variety Children's hospital. We don't try to tell the board or the hospital director how to spend the money. That's their job.

Sad Farewell

The gang gathers at Doc Harty's drug store at 3 this afternoon, the last coffee-and-conversation. Progress has reared its ugly head and Doc's place is to become a memory. After all, filling stations are more important. Doc's place is — was, after today—520 NE 125th St., North Miami.

Doc had the store 12 years. He didn't gripe when the kids read his funny books and didn't buy. He didn't try to hustle his customers. Hundreds of youngsters hung around there through the years and kept coming for coffee and kibitzing.

Today they'll give Doc one last goodbye. And Mrs. E. May Avil, town clerk, will present him a scroll—which he'll not be able to hang on the drug store wall over the ice cream counter.

Busboy Bandit Captured

Kiss in His Eyes, Gun in His Pocket And Theft in Mind

By GENE MILLER
Herald Staff Writer

A busboy gunman with a kiss in his eyes and a gun in his pocket pulled a $500 stickup Friday in the crowded lobby of the Miami Beach Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Then, gangbuster-style, a retired Chicago cop commandeered a taxi, shouted "Follow that man!" and captured him at gunpoint two blocks away.

Harold W. Gibson, 28, a scrawny red-haired busboy at the Sea View Hotel, told police he cased four different Beach banks Friday morning trying to figure which would be the easiest to knock off.

At 2:45 p.m. he decided. He walked into the Beach Federal at 401 Lincoln Rd. and went up to a pretty red-haired teller, Judy Hayes, 24.

"He leaned over real close as if he were going to kiss me," she said.

"But he whispered, 'I have a gun in my pocket, a .22 caliber. I want $500.' "

Miss Hayes did a double-take. Then, politely, she said, "Certainly. What denomination?"

"Any way," he said.

When she slowly began counting out 100s, Gibson asked for 20s. So slower still, she started counting out 20s.

"Don't say a word for ten minutes," he said, turning.

Miss Hayes stepped on the alarm button and screamed, "Stop that man!"

Guard George Schell, 57, a former Chicago policeman who started to work there only five weeks ago, raced out a side door onto Lincoln Rd., and saw a man running.

"I stuck a gun in his ribs and said, 'Stay where you are or I'll let you have it,' " Schell said. Gibson stayed. Schell found the pistol and the money in his coat pocket.

They took the cab back to the bank. "I never did pay the cabbie," Schell said.

Gibson told Lt. A. H. (Red) Leonard and Emery Zerick that he at first wrapped his stolen gun in a big hand bandage, but that "looked stupid."

Why did he stick up the loan association?

"It was Friday the 13th. I was broke. I had 50 cents in my pocket. I knew I couldn't hold a job because I am a heavy beer drinker and I am undependable. I never get fired; I just don't show up."

$1-Hour Hotel Pay Base Asked

By DOM BONAFEDE
Herald Staff Writer

Union officials Friday demanded a $1-an-hour minimum wage for an estimated 20,000 hotel workers in Greater Miami.

Dave Herman, president of Local 255, Hotel Employes Union, announced the proposal prior to the opening of annual wage negotiations with more than 30 union hotels here.

Included in the demand is a 10 per cent increase for all hotel workers now receiving 91-cents-an-hour or more.

If the union is successful in its drive for higher wages, it will mean that hotel payrolls will almost double what they are now.

And if the hotel operators balk at the demand, it is almost certain to mean more labor trouble along the Gold Coast.

"All we are asking is the minimum set by federal law," commented Herman.

"Hotel workers are exempt from the minimum wage law — even though they're engaged in interstate commerce," he said.

Federal law stipulates that all workers engaged in interstate commerce must receive at least $1-an-hour except those specifically listed as exempt.

Herman said many waiters and waitresses now get 40 cents an hour, bellboys 30 cents and maids 75 cents.

Although Local 255 has only about 5,000 members, almost all hotel employes would fall under the new wage scale, since competing non-union hotels would be forced to fall in line.

Herman also reported Friday that the Robert Richter Hotel, strikebound since last Tuesday, had signed a union contract.

Shiver Returns With Medics' OK

Miami Commissioner Otis W. Shiver, back home from a four-day check-up at the Johns Hopkins clinic in Baltimore, reported Friday doctors had given him "a clean bill of health."

Shiver, who complained of stomach trouble and indigestion, said physicians found nothing wrong. They told him, Shiver said, his trouble could be caused by tension or nervousness.

Bookie Begins 90 Days in Jail

Bookie Morris Levitt, 45, surrendered before Criminal Court Judge Gene Williams Friday and began a 90-day jail sentence imposed July 11, 1958.

He had been arrested at 2452 SW 18th St. and was free under bond pending appeal. Circuit Judge Robert H. Anderson affirmed the Criminal court judgment.

But Look Out For Next Winter

Flu Bug Bypassed Us This Year

By MARCIE FEINGOLD
Herald Staff Writer

One-tenth as many Miamians got caught by the flu bug this year than did last year, the Dade County Health Department said Friday.

Dr. A. William Menzin reported that only 108 influenza-like virus cases have been reported this year, as compared with 1,085 for the same period last year.

The reasons for this happy escape, he said, are three-fold:

First, we built up a strong immunity to flu virus last year during the harrowing battle against the Oriental invader, Asian flu.

Second, "Influenza virus undergoes a mutation or change in form after every big epidemic," and it takes a long time — maybe a year or two — before it can strike in its new disguise.

Third, the fine weather we've been having (until recently) has kept our resistance to all kinds of virus high. Last year's poor weather had just the opposite effect.

While Asian flu is now a has-been among respectable diseases, having spread too far too fast, Dr. Menzin warned that a new kind of flu may find its way to Miami by next year.

"There was a heavy European flu epidemic which we were afraid might reach this country but we have managed to escape relatively untouched," he said.

"Some areas of upstate New York and other northern areas have reported minor outbreaks of the European bug, but nothing very serious," he added.

But while our natural immunization is on the wane, sinister flu families are busy slipping into new disguises, always confident of one thing: The flu will fly again.

Water Plan Unveiled

Metro Eying City's Setup

By LEO ADDE
Herald Staff Writer

Top Metro officials took a new approach Friday in their assault on the unregulated, often sky-high rates charged consumers by private water companies.

The officials plan to bring Miami's powerful, autonomous water board into the county government and give it powers to regulate rates.

Commissioner Robert Haverfield, who proposed the plan, won the endorsement Friday of County Manager O. W. Campbell and County Attorney Darrey A. Davis.

Davis and Budget Director Harry Toulmin dropped, temporarily at least, their proposal for a new Metro Utilities Department when it failed to win Davis' full support.

The Miami Water Board, created 18 years ago by special legislative act, operates the city's 50-million-dollar water and sewer system.

Davis said he felt that water rates regulated by a board within an agency with the Miami Water Board's experience would be sustained in any court challenge by the county's private water companies.

"The idea of setting up a new Metro department has worried me from the start," Davis said at a meeting in the county courthouse. "The county is in no position to start regulating rates until it has an agency that knows what it is talking about."

The Metro leaders said they planned to meet with top Miami officials March 20 to discuss the new plan.

Metro will also explore the possibility of buying the Miami water system and using it as the nucleus of a county-wide facility.

Controlling water rates charged by the 46 private companies servicing the county has concerned Metro officials since the new government took office.

Metro passed one water control ordinance, then repealed it when it was found to be impotent and unworkable.

"Anybody can still start a water company anytime and anyplace he wants to, and charge whatever he chooses," Campbell told the Friday meeting.

Private company rates are sometimes twice as much as those charged by municipally-owned and regulated systems.

He Wanted Jail Term-- He's Got It

Richard Leichtman, who "confessed" twice to a Miami liquor store robbery he didn't commit then said he ought to be jailed for "perjury," finally made it Friday.

Criminal Court Judge George E. Schulz sentenced him to three years in Florida State prison for stealing an automobile last Feb. 13, — which was just about a week after his release on the former charges.

At that time he told police who found him in a stolen car that he was implicated in the robbery.

But 120 jail days later, Public Defender Robert Koeppel learned that Leichtman was in a New Orleans jail on the date of the Miami robbery, July 28, 1958.

They Like Dade Road Bonds

Look Convinces Financial Group

Favorable Interest Expected

Most Amazed At Area Growth

By JOHN McDERMOTT
Herald Staff Writer

Northern financiers, cautious at the outset over investment potential here, changed their tune Friday after a first-hand look at the area and predicted Dade County will sell its road bonds at a good price.

"Each time I come here, I am amazed by what I see . . . I believe this bond issue will be successfully sold," was a typical comment from Wilbur M. Merritt of The First Boston Corp. of New York.

"I have a pretty good feeling that we have sold ourselves," commented usually reserved William D. Singer, South Florida member of the State Road Board. He helped brief the big money men from the North on what this area has to offer.

After hearing the comments, hope ran high among state and local officials that the investors will offer a favorable interest rate on 25 million dollars in bonds which will be sold next month to finance Dade's most pressing road needs.

Today, to climax their Florida tour, the 60 bankers, insurance company and investment house officials will make a bus inspection of Miami Beach and Miami — including the new 36th St. Causeway project and the route of planned expressways to International Airport and through downtown Miami.

Most of the money from the bonds, due to go on sale in Tallahassee April 9, is earmarked for the 36th St. Expressway.

At a luncheon today, the visitors will be addressed by McGregor Smith, board chairman of Florida Power and Light Co., and a member of the Governor's Advisory Committee on Industry.

The investors visited St. Petersburg, also getting ready for a bond sale, and Cape Canaveral before coming here.

At first the investors were cautious, even hesitant, remembering the "boom days" of the 1920s and the "bust" that followed. But after listening to road officials, they were talking up South Florida.

Singer, Wilbur Jones, the Inter-State Highway Highway Coordinator for Florida, Wilbur Smith, who designed the overall expressway plan, and other state officials outlined Dade's needs, aims and hopes at the briefing session at the Fontainebleau Hotel.

A typical reaction came from Delmont K. Pfeffer, of the First National City Bank of New York, who said:

"I never cease to marvel at the rate of growth here . . . The proposed project should be a good medium for investment . . . It is hard to believe what the figures say when you sit up there in New York and study the growth here."

Owner of 4 Barking Dogs Fined

Annoyed Neighbor A Police Lieutenant

His barking dogs annoyed a neighbor, so a Southwest section man was fined $25 in South Miami Metro Court Friday.

DIXON

The neighbor was a policeman.

And the ruling that a neighbor can haul you to court if your dogs bark came even though the other neighbors said the dogs didn't bother them.

Fined was Murry Woroner, whose neighbor in the area of SW 112th St. and 104th Ave. is Miami Police Lt. Paul Dixon.

They live on adjoining half-acre lots.

Judge John B. Turner Jr. said there was no alternative but to find Woroner guilty. Woroner refused Dixon's demand that the four show dogs be muzzled.

Other neighbors said they were not annoyed, and Woroner said he has moved the dogs' pen four times — away from Dixon's lots.

Woroner added that he is filing a complaint with the Miami police chief about Dixon driving a police car home each day, 17 miles outside Miami city limits. Lt. Dixon showed up at the South Miami court in a police car.

This, said Woroner, "bothers" him.

STEWART

Which may indicate that the sea of matrimony for Peter Andreas Gunnafsen, 43, and Luzelle Louise Milligan Gunnafsen, 61, was rough (at times) indeed.

Peter, bronzed skipper, hinted at this in his divorce suit filed Friday.

His spouse, who lives at 4546 Prairie Ave., Miami Beach, is addicted to habitual intemperance and extreme cruelty, he complained.

For instance, he claims:

Once she set her bed afire, and she cursed him for getting her wet while he was putting out the blaze.

The divorcee and widow were married June 15, 1957.

What Captain Gunnafsen had in mind in filing the suit in Dade Circuit Court, he allows, is temporary and permanent alimony, attorney fees and payment of the cost of the divorce.

He reckons she can afford it, saying her income is "more than $120,000 a year."

His, he adds, is somewhat less.

In fact, he points out in the suit, since his wife fired him, he has been without income.

She fired him Wednesday.

Car License Color OK, Date Wrong

While directing traffic at NE First Ave. and First St. one of the busiest corners in the city, Loboz spotted a license tag on an automobile which caused him to do a double-take.

There was one big difference. It was a 1957 tag.

Loboz hailed the car over to the curb and gave the driver, Willie Hilton Crossier, of 4520 NW 14th Ave., a ticket for driving with an improper tag.

Shrimp Tag Boils Up

The shrimp tagging project being carried out by the Marine Laboratory of the University of Miami produces some unusual results, officials reported Friday.

A shrimp tagged Feb. 5 in the Dry Tortugas off Key West turned up in the kitchen of Mrs. Patricia Muzsik of Bronx, N.Y. She returned the tag to the laboratory with the comment, "I had already boiled the shrimp before I found the tag."

'Fair Lady's' $10,700,000 Sets Record

STILL PLAYING to capacity plus standees, "My Fair Lady" starts on its 4th year at the Hellinger Theater next week . . . "Hellzapoppin'" "Oklahoma!" and "South Pacific" are the only other musicals to run over three years on our island . . . Just under 2,000,000 fortunates have paid $10,700,000 to see it . . . The largest gross ever for a stage attraction in New York, regardless of length of run . . . "Hellzapoppin'" had a $3.00 top, "Oklahoma" $4.00, "South Pacific $5.00, as opposed to "Fair Lady's" $7.00 tax excluded . . . Duplications of the show are selling out in London, Detroit, Melbourne, Stockholm and Guadalajara, Mexico . . . Columbia's record album by the original company has sold over $2,500,000 copies, an all time high. It has enriched Alan Jay Lerner (book and lyrics) and Frederick Loewe (music) by over $1,000,000.

Frederick Loewe
. . . music

* * *

SINCE its opening Eliza Doolittle has been sung by Julie Andrews, Sally Ann Howes, Pamela Charles, understudy Lola Fisher and Karen Sheperd . . . As understudy to an understudy, Miss Sheperd's hour struck on the night of August 12, '58, when Miss Fisher, substituting for vacationing Sally Ann Howes, was flattened by laryngitis . . . The string of Rolls-Royces occasionally parked near the stage door are vehicles of producer Herman Levin and authors Lerner and Loewe . . . Levin is also the owner of the racehorse Jesper.

Julie Andrews
. . . Eliza

* * *

OF THE 48 PRINCIPALS singers and dancers in the original company, 24 remain . . Only dancer Nancy Lynch and singer David Thomas have perfect attendance records . . . Electrician Fred Luzietti has been present at all of the show's 1247 performances but has seen none of them since his post is behind a switchboard in the fly gallery . . . Stockholm's copy of "My Fair Lady" was produced by Lars Schmidt, the husband of Ingrid Bergman, who also has Finnish, Danish and Norwegian rights . . . The George Bernard Shaw estate has received over $600,000 in royalties from London, New York and National companies, wile the estate of Gabriel Pascal, Hungarian who conceived the notion of a musical "Pygmalion" in 1951, has picked up $200,000.

* * *

Mrs. Winifred Naomi Wilson, credited with inspiring Eliza Doolittle in "Pygmalion," operated a flower shop in Covent Garden, the locale of the musical's first scene, for fifty years . . . On her death last October she left an estate of $865 . . . What's in a name? With Celeste Holm and Betty Furness in the cast, "My Fair Ladies" folded after 32 performances at the Hudson in 1941 . . . Alan Lerner wrote two of Harvard's "Hasty Pudding" shows and first met Frederick Loewe at the Lambs Club in '42 . . . Their first effort was "The Life of the Party," fashioned from "The Patsy," Barry Conner's farce which they wrote for a Detroit stock company.

* * *

"MI BELLA DAMA," the Spanish version of the hit, will tour Mexico and South America by plane . . . An engagement in Mexico City is doubtful because the ceiling price for stage attractions there is twelve pesos, 96 cents . . . On opening night at Her Majesty's in Melbourne, the theater's temperature was 94 and the players' makeup melted. Once the house lights wre dimmed, men in the white-tie audience removed their coats and sat in shirts and braces.

* * *

On March 17 the National Company (headed by Michael Evans and Diane Todd) will finish the second year with gross receipts of $7,900,000. The London company took in $2,025,000 since its opening last April 30 . . . It is sold out until February of 1960 at the Drury Lane, the largest and oldest theater in London's West End . . . Anne Rogers, who played Eliza for 91 weeks in the National company, withdrew on December 15th to have a baby . . . On May 1st she will replace Julie Andrews in London.

* * *

FROM the company's share of weekly $70,000 gross at the Hellinger, the management pays out $10,200 in royalties to authors Lerner and Loewe, director Moss Hart, estates of Shaw and Pascal, choreographer Hanya Holm, costume designer Cecil Beaton and scene designer Oliver Smith . . . Stage hands whack up $4,500 and musicians $3,600, while Equity members haul down $12,500 . . . Other expenses reduce the company's weekly profit to $16,000.

Film Birth Baby Has Bold Debut

Movie Review

"The Case of Dr. Laurent," at the Lincoln and Loew's 170th St. Theaters, is a film that will draw applause from some for its "progressiveness" in the areas of both medicine and cinema freedom — and in the next breath receive condemnation from as many others for the shocking boldness and public display of such a topic.

Its subject is "natural childbirth" and the use of techniques by which the pain and danger of child-bearing are eliminated or at least lessened.

There can be little quarrel with the discussion or dissemination of information on such a subject. But there are certain to be many who will contend that a questionable extreme is reached in story line and in screen realism when a mother about to give birth insists upon doing so before a jury of doctors who have indicted her doctor for lecturing on the advantages of "natural birth."

This reviewer is not suggesting that there is anything smutty or unclean about the function of childbirth. The human, male or female, should be made aware of all the beautiful facts of life and the motion picture might well be used (and is being) in informing them, via scenes which are handled as skillfully and casually as in "The Case of Dr. Laurent."

However, a public theater, open to anyone with the necessary dollar plus of admission, be they attracted by the marquee lure of Jean Gabin, who plays the doctor, by the genuine desire for knowledge, or by a possible deviate compulsion, is not the most ideal forum.

As a motion picture tale about the difficulties encountered by a progressive doctor who tries to break down the barriers of professional resistance and tradition or superstition, "The Case of Dr. Laurent" makes a good case.

We believe it could have been just as effective without the clinical climax of an actual birth on screen.

'Mating Game' Sure Fun for Film Fans

By GEORGE BOURKE
Herald Amusement Editor

IN BRIEF — Real fine fun in a film fit for all the family.

Movie Review

"The Mating Game," at the Olympia, Beach and Gables Theaters, is a Debbie Reynolds-Tony Randall miracle of mirth which is sheer joy unconfined. It's based on H. E. Bates' novel, "The Darling Buds of May" and this George Marshall - directed version abounds with as many chuckles, belly-laughs and moments of good feeling as did the printed matter.

The theater of operations is Paul Douglas' happy farmland home in Maryland, a spread which is coveted by neighbor Phil Ober on several counts— the prime one being that Douglas' trading activities of everything from horses to plumbing fixtures rubs his socially-conscious skin the wrong way.

Yup, there is a Ma and Pa Kettle touch, but it is concerned with an antiseptic "Kettle" family, a real middle-class, hard-working, and hard-playing collection of fine people, of which Debbie is the ripe and marriageable daughter.

The conflict starts when Ober "informs" that Douglas has never paid an income tax! Randall, a conservative career man in the Justice Department, is sent down to total up Douglas's liability, with interest and penalties.

He meets Debbie, is trapped escapes and is trapped again, before the end is reached. The proceedings are paved with real healthy laughs. The Technicolor production is like a breath of May.

Debbie Reynolds Tony Randall

. . . laughs and taxes

Miss Reynolds is a four-star click in a jeans-wearing bucolic role of the sort which fits her best, and Randall is a rollicking riot as the patient and harassed investigator who learns the facts of life and love on a farm.

Douglas gives quiet (?) strength to his role of the father-farmer; Una Merkel is the mother, and Fred Clark contributes another of his officious official roles as a sadistic tax fraud sleuth.

LIFE WITH LARRY THOMPSON

Meaningless Ultimatum

THE OTHER NIGHT we turned on the TV and all that came out of the machine was sound. There was no picture.

This was greeted with wails from the rest of the family, but with cheers from my corner.

I announced firmly that we were going to leave the set in its broken condition.

I said that in the first place I couldn't afford a new picture tube, if that is what was needed.

And I said that in the second place we were becoming slaves to TV and it was time for us to be emancipated.

What is more, I said, our children were spending too much time in front of TV, weakening their eyes when they should be outdoors playing leap frog, strengthening their muscles.

And what is even more, I said, the kind of programs they were watching were corrupting their little minds and would turn them into criminals.

★ ★ ★

ALL IN ALL, I SAID, this is a blessing and it may save our family from a fate worse than death. We can begin to think and read and play again.

No longer will I sit here like a dope looking at some jerky program or watching some old movie.

Instead, I will read great books or write a great book. And our children will engage in wholesome activities that will make them strong or will learn to read and write and become scholars.

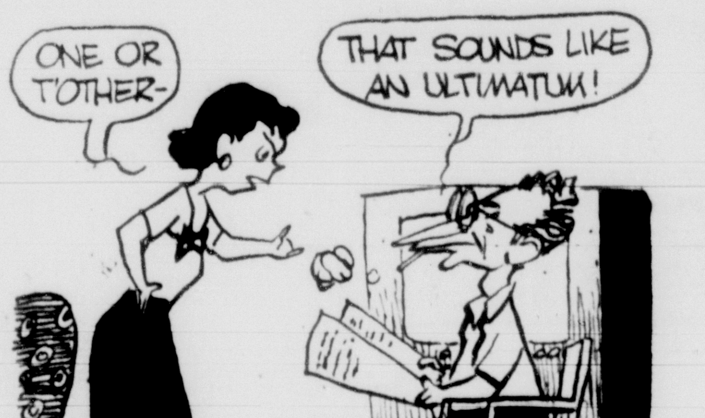
This sounded very good when I said it, and everyone listened to me with proper respect. It feels good to be the head of the house.

It was chilly and rainy the next morning. But I couldn't get in any extra sleep, although it was a fine morning to be in bed, because of the bedlam from the other part of the house.

I could hear my wife shouting: "Don't do that Carl!" and "No! No! Evellen!" and "Miriam! Stop that!" and I could hear Miriam crying that Carl had pulled her hair and I could hear Evellen crying that Carl was trying to take away her doll, and I could hear Carl shrieking that Miriam had knocked down his block house, and that Evellen had kicked him.

It didn't seem to be one fight, it seemed to be a series of fights, with no interludes. Between bouts, they had races during which they stormed through my bedroom with all the silence of a herd of buffalo.

I finally had to get up. When I came out of the bedroom I was met by a very indignant wife.



ONE OR T'OTHER-
THAT SOUNDS LIKE AN ULTIMATUM!

"You and your TV ideas!" she said. "Here I can't let them out of the house and this is the morning they have all the cartoons and their favorite programs, and what happens? Just look at this house!"

I peeked, but I didn't like to take a full look. It was a wreck, all right.

"You either get a new tube or you get a new wife!" the Good Woman said.

We got the TV fixed and the Westerns are coming in loud and clear again.

WHEN A READER asked for some eucalyptus seeds, I really thought we had our other readers stumped for once. I should have known better.

Ignacio Gomez, 2340 SW 27th Lane, says his father owns a small farm in Colombia, South America, where he has eucalyptus trees.

Ignacio says he will check on the rules about sending seeds from Colombia to the United States and hopes to have some coming this way soon.

Plus which Mrs. Charles H. Little, 3021 NW 159th St., Opa-locka, says she is writing her parents in San Jose, Calif., to collect some seeds and forward them.

A COPY OF THE BAUDETTE Region, published in Baudette, Minn., has been sent in by Mrs. Garland Krautsieder, 7611 Harding Ave., Miami Beach. She used to live there.

In the paper is an item reporting that Mrs. Mary Rowell cut short her annual visit to Fort Pierce because she couldn't take the winter's warm weather. The head on the story was "Too Hot in Florida."

The newspaper reported that temperatures in Mrs. Rowell's home town of Baudette that week ranged from 43 below zero to a high of 29 above. No wonder our Florida weather seemed hot to her.

Jack Kofoed Says

Judge's Roll of Dice Wasn't Exactly Legal

THEY ARRESTED this colored boy, Tommy Jackson, for shooting craps on a street corner. Remember the days in Dade and Broward counties when our fancy gambling casinos ran wide open? Well dressed ladies and gentlemen rolled dice in an atmosphere of luxury, instead of on a sidewalk.

Nobody went to jail . . . neither patrons nor old pros.

We have pari-mutuel wagering. It was sanctified and given a halo by the legislature, purely for profit. Any other kind, of which the state doesn't get a cut, is a devil with horns.

Even if he wanted to go, they wouldn't let Tommy Jackson into horse and dog tracks or jai alai frontons.

Most people like to gamble, and the only chance Tommy had was to shoot craps with his pals. So the police gobbled him up. They didn't write the law. They just enforce it.

In the course of time the young man appeared before Judge Mitchell Goldman. He said the cops had grabbed the wrong guy, but that's an old story. It isn't likely Tommy expected anyone to believe him.

Of course, if he had been a rich man, arrested while trying to make a point for a thousand bucks instead of loose change, he'd have had a high priced lawyer to represent him. Then, the case would have been taken seriously.

"You want to roll for the time I'm going to give you?" he asked.

"No, sir."

"Well, I'll do it for you," the judge said, spraying the dice before him. An ace and a deuce showed. "Thirty days. You're lucky. It could have been box cars." (That's two sixes in case you don't know.)

Theoretically, justice is the same for rich and poor. It's a nice theory, but often nothing more than that. Many big time gamblers in Our Town never spent a day behind bars.

I'd like to know a little more about Judge Goldman's action. If it is illegal for Tommy Jackson to shoot dice for a few pennies, why is it legal for a judge to do the same thing, with the days of a man's life at stake?

If the law says a convicted gambler can be given 30, 60, or whatnot days for his sins, does it specify the length of a sentence can be based on spots which come up on the ivory cubes?

A court is supposed to be a place of dignity as well as justice. What dignity is there in this kind of legal crap game?

Probably nobody but Tommy Jackson's family, and a few friends, will give a second thought to this incident. Neither America's number one gambler, Frank Costello, nor any of his big shot pals was ever given a shake like that when brought into court. But, what does it matter if it happened to a nobody like Tommy Jackson?

STOCKY, ADOLF ROTHMAN stood behind the cash register of his restaurant across the street from The Herald building. A man came in with a gun. Adolf made a move, and the man blasted him with lead, ripped the life out of him in a second.

Isey Bandrimer, who works in the Herald's mail room, risked death by grabbing the killer, and throwing him to the sidewalk. The stickup man's name was Jesse Pait.

He was convicted, sentenced to the electric chair.

The Supreme Court has ordered a new trial, because the prosecutor presented "closing arguments calculated to forestall a mercy recommendation by the jury."

Perhaps, it might be naive to mention that Pait and his gun offered no recommendation of mercy for kindly old Adolf.

NOTES ON A SHABBY CUFF:

The cocktail party fever still burns high. Morris Lansburgh gave one for Jerry Lewis at the Deauville last night, Wometco Theaters dittoed for Richard Zanuck, producer of "Compulsion," and his pretty wife, Lili Gentle, at the Eden Roc. Tomorrow Donald O'Connor and Sid Miller get martini treatment at the Fontainebleau.

Miami and Dania jai alai frontons will have the biggest season in history, fatter even than the record breaking one of last year . . . Horace Wade, Gulfstream's all around utility man, still one of the most helpful reasons for Jimmy Donn's success at the Broward County track.

Beach Councilman Bernard Frank is living in show business atmosphere. House guest Sid Silvers, golfing companion Milton Berle, and wife, lovely singer Marion Colby.

Art Nardin, Central Shopping Plaza VP, bought a half intrest in the two year old trotter, Circo, for 50 thousand bucks . . . Archie Turner, who's 80 years old and in St. Francis Hospital, played in the first night baseball game on record between the Bushwicks and Springfield, long before the major leagues took up the idea.

Legislature Increases New York Income Tax

ALBANY, N. Y. — (AP) — The Republican-controlled Legislature passed the trimmed two billion dollar version of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's budget and voted a 112-million dollar increase in income taxes.

The budget, highest in New York's history, was approved by comfortable margins in both Houses. A few Democrats and a handful of economy-minded Republicans cast the negative votes.

The vote on the income tax boost was close, however. The Assembly, which had staged a seven-day revolt against the GOP governor's fiscal plan, approved the bill 78-69. This was only two more than the absolute minimum required.

A dozen or so Republicans, representing the remnants of the Assembly rebellion that collapsed Monday night, voted against it.

Earlier, the Senate passed the tax bill 31-25, one more vote than needed.

Industrialists Chart Florida's Expansion

Natural Gas Aids State Growth

By JAMES RUSSELL
Herald Business Editor

TAMPA — The coming of natural gas to Florida is the most important industrial development in the state since the railroads and large power companies began operating here, a conference aimed at expanding Florida industry was told Friday.

RUSSELL

C. E. Stanley, chairman of the board of the Houston Corp., said completion of his company's 1,500-mile natural gas pipeline from West Texas to Miami in June will help bring in more industry and cut the costs of the state's present fuel consumers.

Stanley was one of a battery of speakers and panelists who joined here with some 200 persons from all over Florida to chart an industrial development course the state can follow as its population grows.

Proposals for dealing with Florida's dynamic industrial and population growth were numerous. They included these ideas:

ELIMINATE the tax on intangibles.

EXPAND "practical research" that can be applied to industry, particularly in the field of nuclear development.

STREAMLINE local governments—"like what is happening in Miami and Dade County" under the Metro system.

PLAN for future industrial development on a "do it yourself-basis" without any federal government help.

Harold Colee, executive vice president of the Florida Chamber of Commerce, said that unless the intangibles tax passed by the 1957 Legislature is repealed, it will hurt industrial growth.

H. R. Gonzalez, vice president of the Atlantic National Bank of Jacksonville, praised Dade County's metro government as a significant move toward "orderly development" of the proper conditions for industrialization.

Marshall Bennett, president of the Chicago chapter of the Society of Industrial Realtors, told the conference that a new industrial revolution is in the making and Florida is right in its path. He urged full cooperation between industry and land developers to speed the state's industrial growth.

Stanley, whose Houston Corp. is building the gas pipeline now inching its way into South Florida, said his firm will invest 132 million dollars in its Florida facilities. Other distributors of natural gas, he said, will either build new systems or expand present ones at a cost of 40 million.

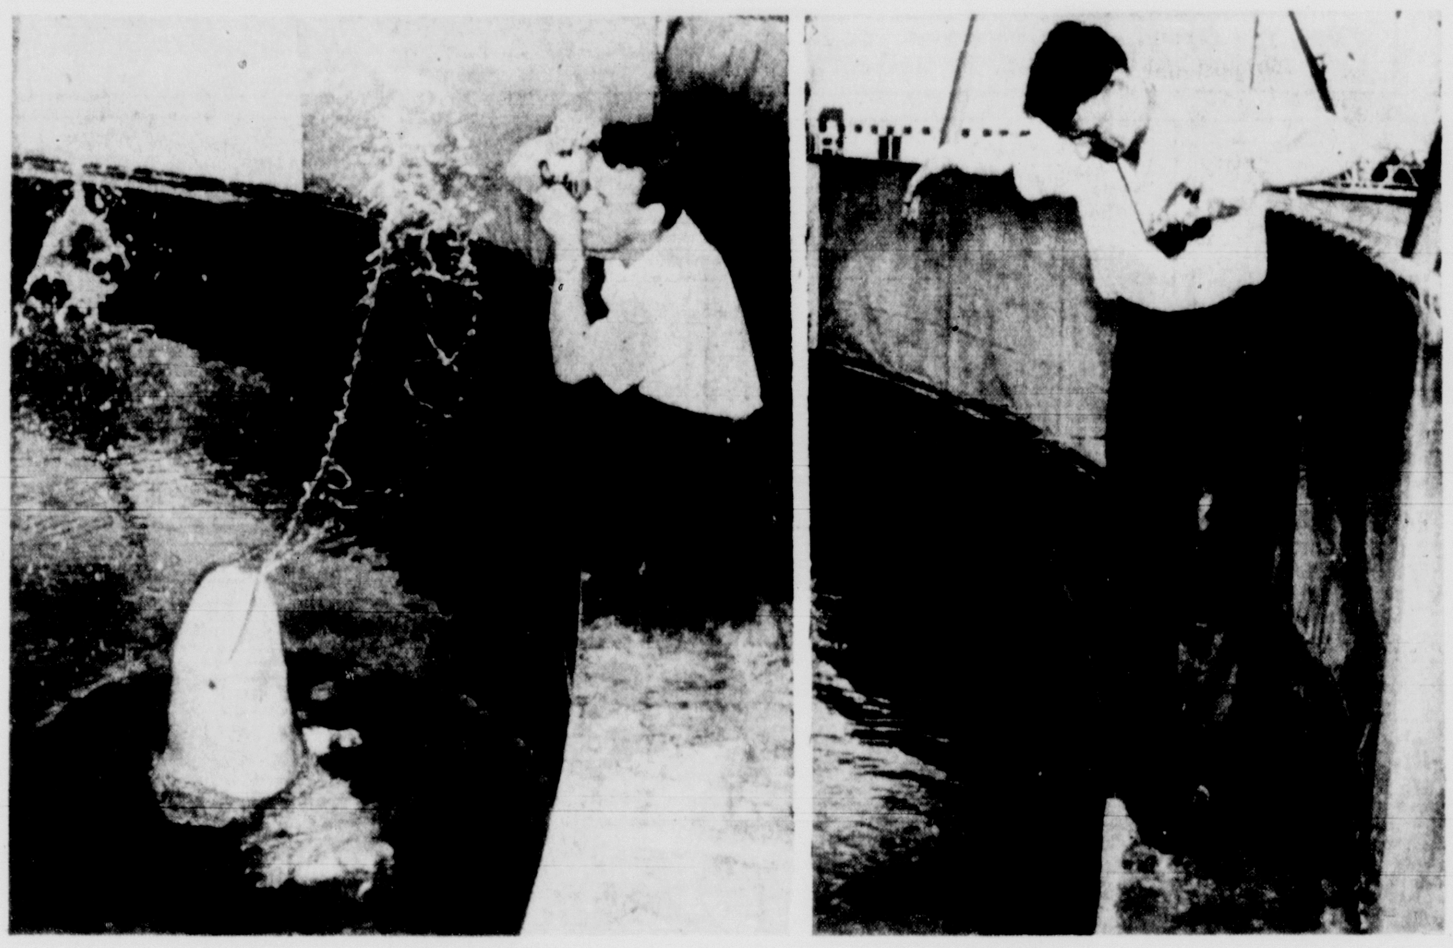
He said availability of natural gas will encourage new industries to come to Florida and will lead firms already in the state to expand.

Fuel will be cheaper, he said, because fuel oil producers are already cutting their prices to compete with the natural gas that is about to become available.

The first annual Florida Industrial Conference attracted industrial realtors, businessmen, governmental leaders and Chamber of Commerce officials. Dade County was represented by Metro Commissioner Charles Hall, Norvelle Sharpe, assistant director of the Dade Development Department, and Ed Keys, assistant director of the Miami-Dade County Chamber of Commerce.

The only real controversy the conference encountered centered around one speaker's contention that some railroads infringe on industrial realtors' territory by trying to handle sales of industrial sites themselves.

The conference chairman, Alfred T. Hearin of Tampa, spoke up and said there is full cooperation between railroads and realtors here. And the speaker who made the charge, LeRoy D. Owen of California, conceded that the non-cooperation is the exception rather than the rule.



Never Snub a Whale

Photographer Dan Tompkins says he didn't intend to snub this white whale while making pictures of others at Pacific Ocean Park in Santa Monica, Calif. The whale apparently thought otherwise. While Tompkins had his camera trained on some other whales undergoing training, the prima-donna type sneaked up and gave him a dousing. Tompkins hurried off to the cleaner's resolving never again to ignore a white whale, at least not in spouting distance.

We'll Rule Our Fleet French Cry

PARIS —(AP)— The French have told their NATO allies they intend to keep their Mediterranean fleet under French command in the event of war.

The decision—disclosed Friday night—appears to have more psychological than practical importance.

It was seen by some as a paper slap in the face to NATO: A show of persistent French discontent with France's role in the alliance and a lack of allied support for the French war against the Algerian rebels. The upbuilding of French prestige has been a major concern of the De Gaulle government.

Most of the French fleet is in the Mediterranean. But in combat strength, it is a poor third to the U.S. and British fleets. The most important striking force in the Mediterranean is the U.S. 6th Fleet.

Major units of the French fleet consist of two small battleships, the 39,000-ton Jean Bart, now a school ship, and the 38,000-ton Richelieu; five aircraft carriers, most of them not believed equipped to take jet planes; a helicopter carrier; five light cruisers; nine relatively small submarines; and a number of escort vessels.

Part of the French Navy is deployed in the Atlantic and part in the English Channel. Only a small percentage of the total fleet was formally committed to NATO in case of war, according to reliable sources.

A spokesman for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization said France informed the NATO permanent council of the decision Wednesday.

"It was hardly received with enthusiasm by the other 14 members of NATO," the spokesman said.

Aloha to You-All

Hawaii to Make Us A 'Northern' State

Will they be singing Dixie in Hawaii now?

Admittance of Hawaii as 50th state has knocked out one of Florida's braggin' points—that of being the Southernmost state.

That distinction goes now to Hawaii, which lies at 20 degrees latitude while South Florida sets along the 25 degree latitude line.

And there's some discussion about whether Florida can retain its title as the state with the mostest coastline — an honor which Alaska claims.

However, for those who quibble about these things —the World Almanac cites Alaska as having 4,750 miles of coastline, and Florida having 8,426 miles of shoreline.

The shoreline includes islands and keys — but it's Florida coastline too, isn't it? Or is it?

It's Tough to Take, But Key West Bows

Herald Bureau

KEY WEST — This city capitulated Friday its long-held boast as the "southernmost" city in the U.S.

Hawaii has it beat by several degrees latitude and the Hawaiian Islands are a cinch now to become the 50th state.

So Mayor Delio Cobo, when he confirmed his worst suspicions, conceded gracefully in a telegram to Honolulu's mayor.

"Congratulations to the southernmost city in the U.S. from Dr. Delio Cobo, mayor of Key West — formerly the southernmost city in the U.S.," he wired.

Other leading citizens who had not checked their latitude at first refused to believe the "southernmost" claim was irretrievably lost. "I suppose we'll have to add 'continental city' to keep our claim," said Kermit Lewin, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Key West, and most of the Florida Keys, is situated between 24 and 25 degrees north of the equator; Honolulu is 21 degrees 19 minutes north.

FBI Upheld In Seizure Of Jewels

By ARTHUR JOHNSEY
Herald Staff Writer

A federal judge Friday upheld the procedure by which FBI agents say they seized a case loaded with stolen jewels without a search warrant at a Fort Lauderdale store last May.

District Judge Emett C. Choate refused to suppress the seized jewelry as evidence or to dismiss the FBI's charges against two Miami Beach men of receiving the stolen jewels.

Action on the motion apparently cleared the way for an early trial of the case.

Oscar Slofsky, 48, and Jack Rapaport, 44, were arrested in the Cut Rate Gift Shop, 104 S. Andrews, after FBI agents said a case containing the jewels had been delivered there by Railway Express.

The FBI said it was addressed simply to the Cut Rate Gift Shop.

FBI agents testified they had no search warrant—but that one agent was in the shop posing as a customer and talking with Rapaport when Slofsky took the leather jewelry case from the express man.

Agent Vincent Stacey told Judge Choate he had been briefed as to the kind of package that would be delivered.

When Slofsky signed for it Stacey passed the word to other agents and an arrest warrant was made out by U.S. Commissioner Roger Davis in Miami, Stacey said.

Reported Murder Plot

Doctor Arrested In Paris Scandal

The New York Times Service

PARIS—The somewhat dormant Lacaze affair was back on the front pages of the French press Friday with the arrest and reported indictment of Dr. Maurice Lacour, one of the principals.

Dr. Maurice Lacour
. . . ready for jail

Although no official announcement was made, the French press assumed that Dr. Lacour, friend and personal physician of wealthy Mrs. Domenica Walter, had been officially accused of attempting to organize the murder of Mrs. Walter's 24-year-old stepson, Jean-Pierre Guillaume.

A warrant was issued for Dr. Lacour but he appeared voluntarily at the office of the examining magistrate at the Palace of Justice.

After going quietly through a side door, to the distress of a score of photographers massed at the main entrance, Lacour appeared shortly afterward handcuffed and flanked by detectives. He carried a leather bag with toilet articles, thermos bottles and some clothing, indicating he had been expecting his imprisonment.

Two parallel intrigues, both directed against young Guillaume, have now received official recognition through indictments.

The case first broke into public view in January with the indictment of Jean Lacaze, brother of Mrs. Walter and director of the Zellidja Copper Mines in Morocco. Mrs. Walter is the widow of the founder of mining company.

Lacaze was charged with attempting to disgrace Mrs. Walter's stepson by paying a Paris call-girl to accuse him of procuring.

Another plot against Guillaume had been denounced to officials a year ago but had remained secret. Since January, however, public controversy had ensued between Dr. Lacour and former resistance leader and restaurant owner Camille Rayon. Rayon said Lacour had offered him money to kill Guillaume but instead he had told Guillaume about it.

After remaining discreetly silent in Morocco, both Lacour and Mrs. Walter returned to Paris in February to deny the charges.

A few days ago they filed suit against Rayon for defamation. Lacour had admitted meeting Rayon but has insisted it was merely in connection with property that Mrs. Walter wished to buy on the French Riviera. The arrest of Lacour made it obvious that officials chose to believe Rayon.

Police and newsmen stood close watch on Lacour's and Mrs. Walter's houses in Paris throughout the night. Among the interested onlookers was Jean-Pierre Guillaume, who has been a press photographer, among other things, and was carrying a camera.

Alleged plots against him were said to be meant to remove him as heir to Mrs. Walter's fortune, fruit of Mrs. Walter's first marriage to a noted Paris art dealer, Paul Guillaume, and of her second marriage to the late Jean Walter. Young Guillaume was said to have been considered a ne'er-do-well in the family.

The mass-circulation daily France-Soir raised the legal point by asking whether a charge of attempted murder could be made if not even a start had been made in bringing off the murder. The paper said that up to now French jurisprudence had answered the question negatively.

Mamie to Get Second Diploma

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower will receive her second honorary degree today with President Eisenhower as a spectator.

The First Lady will get an honorary doctor of laws degree at St. Joseph's College, a Roman Catholic school for women at Emmitsburg, Md. In 1946, she received an honorary degree from the Colorado Women's College at Denver.

Damascus Mob Roars At Kassem

DAMASCUS, U.A.R. —(UPI) — Marching in the funeral cortege of an Iraqi army officer Friday an estimated half million persons carried U.A.R. flags and shouted anti-Kassem epithets.

"Kassem is a traitor," screamed the demonstrators.

"God's curses befall on traitors! Down with Kassem!" the crowds roared as they filled the historic Omayad mosque, where the body of Iraqi Capt. Mohammed Said Shehab was taken from the military hospital.

Shehab, on the staff of Revolt Leader Col. Abdul Wahab Shawaf, was wounded in the fighting near Mosul, Iraq but escaped across the border into Syria, where he later died.

The public funeral given him Friday in the famous mosque was a gesture of defiance and contempt of Kassem's regime. It was another move in a war of words between Iraq and the U.A.R., which began when President Gamal Abdel Nasser two days ago denounced both Kassem and world communism.

At the services Friday, Sheikh Abdul Raouf Aboutouk charged that Kassem was anti-Islam and warned him: "So long as you continue following this deviationist policy you will be liquidated."

He advised Kassem to "return to his senses" and follow the path to Arab unity.

Throughout both the Egyptian and Syrian regions of the U.A.R. requiem services were held for the "martyrs" who died fighting the government in the short-lived Iraqi revolt.

A Cairo newspaper, Al Ahran, said a "large number" of rebel tribesmen still were battling government forces in the mountain forests of northern Iraq. The information was attributed to Iraqi refugees streaming into Syria.

Rail Retirement Pay Hike OKd

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The House Commerce Committee Friday approved a bill authorizing a 10 per cent increase in retirement pay for railroad workers.

The bill also provides a graduated increase in retirement tax rates on employers and workers from the present 6¼ per cent up to 7¼, beginning in 1962. It would increase from $350 to $400 a month the amount of an employe's pay that would be subject to tax.

The effective date of the act would be the first day of the first calendar month 45 days after its enactment.

Ol' Police Swing Puts Down Indian Uprising

Crazy When Mounties Got There, Man

BRANTFORD, Ont. — (UPI) — Canadian Mounties put down an Indian uprising Friday when the redskins were caught with their tomahawks down listening to rock 'n' roll records.

Sixty Royal Canadian Mounted Police, armed with riot sticks and riding crops, swooped down on the Six Nations' council house on the 6,000-Indian reservation at nearby Oswekan to throw out a week-old revolutionary government set up by hereditary chiefs over an elected council.

One Mountie was almost scalped with a chair and 12 Indians were injured. Four redskins were hauled off to jail.

The Indians, who were sitting around listening to rock 'n' roll records when the attack came, were taken by surprise. Irving Logan, chief of the revolutionaries' police force, sounded the alarm.

"We need help, any help from anybody," he called. "Tell the Russians to come here."

Logan charged the Mounties injured three women, one of them his mother, with clubs.

The dispute centered over the revolution which the hereditary chiefs staged last week in ousting an elected council of the Six Nation Confederacy set up in 1925 by the federal government through an order-in-council.

The hereditary chiefs, backed by a group known as the Warriors, forced the elected council to vacate the council building in a bloodless coup. Then they set up their own police force and arrested George Beaver, an Indian teacher hired by the federal government, for criticizing their move.

EXPLORE YOUR MIND

Girls, Glasses

TRUE ☐ FALSE ☐

By S. M. DUVALL and EVELAN M. DUVALL, Ph.Ds

False. Some girls wear, not only glasses, but clothes and hair styles that make them particularly unattractive. But we usually overlook those things and blame the glasses. A lack of appeal may be due to a girl's entire appearance or to the "cold potato" attitude with which she treats men. Girls who are attractive and friendly (glasses or not) rarely lack for male attention.

When leaders fail, others will take over.
Yes ——— No ———

Yes, says Psychologist R. R. Heyns. He reports an experiment at the University of Michigan in which leaders were assigned to discussion groups. These leaders deliberately "fell down on the job" so that the responses of the groups could be studied. The experimenters found that in such cases, some other member of the group, not designated as a leader would step into the gap and "rescue" the group. Have you ever seen this happen?

Yes ——— No ———

No, according to at least one intensive psychological comparison. Thirty American women students were matched with 20 foreign women students. Both groups were given careful psychological examinations of several kinds. Neither group was more worried than the other. The American students, however, definitely had more drive, especially after failure, and were more willing to strive for high standards.

BARNUM SAID
"THERE'S A FOOL BORN EVERY MINUTE"
NOT SO—YOU!

Miamians have learned to depend on folks at "Waco" for we believe our customers want the unvarnished facts!

UP TO 100 MILES PER GALLON?

Fantastic claims about gas mileage and affiliated savings are the football of the motor trade. True, a Canadian DID achieve an official 101 miles per gallon on his Morris Minor sedan and a Miamian won an official Daytona economy rally at 70.44 miles per gallon in a similar Morris in traffic. But what can YOU get, driving every day — we say conservatively over 40 miles per gallon. Mr. John Bennet did 45 (m.p.g.) in New York City rush hour traffic! So don't you be fooled and don't buy just gas economy for Morris offers sound solid economy through good engineering without sacrifice of comfort. With Morris you even have trunk space and a water cooled power plant that doesn't bake you out in summer heat — and more too — See Us!

HERE'S that hard to find 1956 PACKARD "400" HARDTOP and it's in Aristocrat condition. From it's gleaming front bumper through the striking triple tone Dover white and Caribbean coral factory paint finish it's a standout (head and shoulders) from the crowd. The factory original interior is gorgeous including the two tone leather door panels, orthopedic designed seats with genuine silver thread in the upholstery and thick pile floor carpeting that would do justice to your living room.

Of course there's all the equipment TORSION LEVEL SUSPENSION on all 4 wheels (no other automobile has it yet) POWER STEERING, POWER BRAKES, 4 WAY POWER SEAT, POWER WINDOWS, PUSH BUTTON, TWIN ULTRAMATIC drive, the big SELECTRONIC radio that finds it's own stations automatically with dual front and rear seat speakers clock, directional signals, dual thermostat controlled heating and fresh air systems, E.Z. eye Solex tinted glass, safety padded dashboard and General tubeless white wall tires.

This is a magnificent creation and will sell to the person who drives it. Here's How—

Since we began our "Free Gas Courtesy Card" Plan with the purchase of an ENGLISH FORD it has come to our attention that a great deal of misinformation has reached the public about how the plan works. We have therefore compiled the following list of questions that you might ask and we have answered each one in order to give you the true facts on the "Free Gas" Plan.

Q. When and How do I receive the free gas?

A. You receive a Courtesy Card immediately which is good at over 200 stations in Dade County.

Q. How do you figure "1 Year's Supply?"

A. By using an average mileage of 10,000 and arriving at a total of 333 gallons.

Q. Do I pay any more for the car on the Free Gas Campaign?

A. No. All factory prices are the same at all dealers as required by the Federal Price labeling law.

Q. Must I buy any "EXTRAS?"

A. No.

Q. Does the Free Gas plan apply to all models?

A. Yes, there are no gimmicks or restrictions on this plan.

Q. May I choose my brand of gas?

A. Yes. You may choose any brand of regular gas and the station.

Q. Must I use all the Gas within one year?

A. No. If you do not use this much within a year your courtesy card is valid until all the gas has been used.

Q. Am I limited to a certain amount each week?

A. No. You may use as much or as little as you wish.

Q. If I move or go on Vacation do I still receive my free gas?

A. Yes. We can arrange to supply you free gas anywhere in the United States.

Calling All Fat Baseball Fans For Healthy Hints From Enos

ST. PETERSBURG — Enos Slaughter, who'll be 43 on April 27, is the oldest and most cooperative of the Yankees. I made that discovery while waiting for Casey Stengel at Huggins Field where the Yankees practice even when they're playing at Lang Field.

Elston Howard

Publicist Bob Fishel was very apologetic about it. Manager Stengel has suffered another attack of the rash and medication had been applied to his arms and legs. Casey could not make his appearance until the applications had dried. Stengel had attributed his earlier rash outbreaks to Frank Lane of Cleveland visiting the Yankees.

There was plenty to keep one occupied as the Yankees went through routine training — starting at 10 a.m. Watching 'em, I was reminded of what Manager Paul Richards told me the other day—that the Yankees pay more attention to fundamentals than any club in the American League.

Another interlude was chatting with Elston Howard, hero of the 1958 World Series, who hopes that he'll do most of his playing behind the plate.

"I came to the big leagues as a catcher, and that's what I'd like to do," Howard confided. "But of course, it's up to Stengel."

Asked if he thinks the Yankees will repeat for the pennant, Howard implied an affirmative answer with the reply, "I think we'll be stronger at a lot of positions."

Enos Slaughter

It was then I noted that Slaughter had taken one of his few breaks in the training routine. Enos was agreeable to using this time out for a few questions.

Enos, who did preliminary conditioning by working on his farm near Roxboro, N.C., offered some advice helpful to all fat people—me, too—in seeking a healthy life.

It calls for skipping fried chicken, and keeping your eyes on the scales. Slaughter reported for spring training weighing only 184 pounds, four less than he weighed with the Cardinals back in 1938.

Farmer's Life A Healthy One

"YOU'VE GOTTA keep your weight down, whether you're an athlete, or a business man," said Slaughter, who contended his winters on the farm have helped him.

The average person would find using an axe to clear undergrowth too strenous. Enos took that kind of work in stride, but he recommends walking as the best exercise the average person can take.

Next most healthy thing is watching your diet, which should call for elimination of all fried foods, plus few, if any, sweets.

Early rising is another contributor to good health, says Slaughter, who usually has breakfast by 6:30 a.m. Even during the baseball season and following night games, Slaughter finds it difficult remaining in bed after 7 a.m.

"My breakfast usually consists of two eggs, sausage, and one piece of whole wheat toast," Slaughter said in discussing his winter eating habits.

"For lunch I have only a couple of glasses of buttermilk. Dinner consists of broiled game, chicken, or a steak. I like a good salad along with a green vegetable of some kind. When I indulge in dessert, it's jello. I love cake and pie, but you've gotta skip it if you want to keep your weight down."

No Older Than You Feel

MANY MARVEL at Slaughter playing baseball on the verge of his 43rd birthday, but he thinks nothing of it.

STENGEL

TY COBB

"You're no older than you feel, and I feel great," Slaughter confided. "Honest, this spring, I haven't been sore at all, except in my back leg muscles."

How many games will Slaughter play? His answer was as many as Stengel needs him. Last year he batted .304 in 77 games, many of them only as a pinch hitter.

"Casey played me in quite a few games last year," Slaughter mused. "He started using me in May and I got a lot of clutch hits, including four home runs. The club was sputtering then, and I was happy my hitting got it back to winning."

Slaughter was asked if he was playing in the exhibition game that day against Milwaukee.

"We don't know who's playing until Casey posts the lineup," said Slaughter. "I don't guess so, because I'm hitting with the second squad." (Slaughter did start against the Braves).

* * *

What Stengel Thinks of Slaughter

STENGEL finally came out. He did not mention his rash, other than to apologize for being late. He plunged into a discussion of his team. I got a new insight into why the Yankees keep winning, but that'll be the subject for another day.

A magazine writer, who's authoring a piece about Slaughter, inquired if the Yankees will keep Enos all season.

"I couldn't answer that honestly," said Stengel. "Suppose I was to come up with a guy like Ty Cobb."

Casey did volunteer why he likes to have Slaughter.

"If I call on Enos to pinch hit, he jumps up and grabs a bat," said Stengel. "Some of the other fellows yawn three times before they start to the plate."

7 Outsiders Challenge

Amerigo, Vertex Duel in Appleton

By RUSS HARRIS
Herald Turf Writer

Amerigo and Vertex, two of the favorites for the $100,000 added Gulfstream Park Handicap, clash today at the Hallandale oval in the Appleton Handicap.

The Appleton, last major stepping stone to the hundred grander, carries a purse of $15,000 added and is at a mile and one eighth. The Gulfstream Handicap will be run a week from today at a mile and one quarter.

Vertex will be ridden by Sam Boulmetis, who guided him to five victories in eight starts and earnings of $134,257 last year.

Amerigo, owned by Mrs. Tilyou Christopher of Miami, displayed splendid form in winning last Saturday's Magic City Handicap at a mile and 70 yards. He picks up two pounds from that triumph, packing 117 today.

Ordinarily a front - running colt, Amerigo was rated off the pace by Bill Hartack and came from behind to score in the Magic City. Hartack who has ridden the English-bred colt twice and won both times, will be in the irons again this afternoon.

Seven "outsiders" will be seeking to upset Vertex and Amerigo. They are Belleau Chief, 113 pounds and Steve Brooks; Nasco, 111 and John Ruane; Grey Monarch, 114 and John Sellers; Better Bee, 117 and John Choquette; Ajaccio, 111 and Raul Bustamante; Noureddin, 118 and Chris Rogers; and Bill's Sky Boy, 108 and Walter Blum.

Noureddin rates as the chief threat to the top two. The four-year-old colt was third in last year's Kentucky Derby, beaten only one length by Tim Tam, but was sidelined by injuries after finishing fifth in the Preakness.

The Crabgrass Stable horse raced well in his 1959 debut last Monday after being idle for eight months.

The stretch-running Grey Monarch also must be considered dangerous. He showed improvement in his last outing, finishing full of run while second to Ben Lomond at a mile and 70 yards.

Fletcher Hot

Southwest's Nine Downs Edison, 4-1

Joe Fletcher stopped Miami Edison on two hits Friday as Southwest High posted an eight-inning 4-1 baseball victory at the losers' diamond.

It was the first victory for Southwest, 10-0 loser to Miami High and 11-0 loser to Edison in previous games.

Al Pelino was Southwest's batting leader. He hit a solo homer in the fourth and joined Ron Cochran, Jack Hammon and Roger Carstons with eighth-inning singles.

Fletcher gave up doubles to Maurice Boley and Joe Taylor. The left-hander struck out two and walked three. Loser Gene Wells gave up eight hits, struck out 14 and walked three.

Miami High combined solid hitting by Catcher John Stutz and good relief pitching by Bob Ward for a 7-2 baseball victory over Curley at Miami Field.

Stutz led the Stingarees' six-hit attack with a triple and single. Ward replaced Eric Wanderon in the second and gave up only one hit.

Southwest Wins, 57-49, Meets Ponce

By RAY CRAWFORD
Herald Sports Writer

GAINESVILLE — Starting in a hurry, Southwest's hustling Eagles whipped Williston, 57-49, Friday night and will shoot for the state Class B basketball championship today against Ponce de Leon.

Hitting on five of their first six field goal attempts, the Eagles jumped to a 20-12 first quarter lead. Richie Weber, Jay Tobin and Chris Lefferts, as usual, were the ringleaders.

Lefferts wound up high with 17 points, Weber had 16, and Tobin 14.

Williston's Bruce Peterson, 6-6 rebounding monster, bagged game honors with 23 points. He fouled out midway in the fourth quarter.

After taking an early lead, Southwest had to fight off several late spurts by the Devils. However, the best Williston could do was pull within four points in the fourth quarter.

Southwest led at halftime, 30-25, and at the end of the third period, 44-36.

It was sweet revenge for Coach Gene Jupin's Eagles, as Williston is the team that knocked them out of last year's meet in the opening round.

Jupin used only five players. Besides Lefferts, Tobin and Weber, the Dorris brothers — George and Brainard saw action all the way.

Southwest is favored to beat Ponce de Leon, a northwest Florida school, in their 4:15 tital clash. Ponce de Leon had a 10-11 season record.

Pompano Rumbles On

GAINESVILLE — Unbeaten Pompano Beach and high-scoring Daytona Seabreeze rumbled into the finals of the Class A State High School Basketball Tournament here Friday, setting up the division's best playoff in recent years.

Pompano pummeled Graceville, 83-49, in the afternoon, then Seabreeze made its rout of Haines City just as complete in the evening, frolicking to an 84-46 victory.

Religion Gives Herb Confidence

TUCSON, Ariz. — (AP) — Herb Score, maimed for nearly two baseball seasons, still regards himself as a fortunate young man. He says he's got a saint on his side.

"I think I'm lucky just to be playing in the big leagues," the Cleveland lefthander said. "If God is willing, I'll keep playing. If not, I won't. But I'm certainly not disgruntled."

Stings Win, Tackle Tampa For AA Crown

By RAY CRAWFORD
Herald Sports Writer

GAINESVILLE—Crafty Miami High shackled Pensacola's Tigers with a full-court press and a slow, deliberate offense for a 53-46 victory here Friday to move into the Class AA State High School Basketball finals.

Thus, Coach Vince Schaefer bids tonight for his sixth — and the school's 11th — state basketball championship.

The Stingarees' opponent will be Tampa Hillsborough, which brushed past Ft. Lauderdale Stranahan, 69-65, with a hot-shooting finish. Game time is 8:45 p.m. The Terriers, who were late in 'jelling', finished seventh in the Western Conference with an overall record of 12-10.

The Stings used a zone defense in the first quarter, falling behind, 11-10. Then, when Joe Champman and Billy Jackson started shooting long ones over the zone to boost Pensacola to a 20-14 lead, Miami High switched to a tight man-for-man.

Pensacola regained the lead three times thereafter, 30-28, 35-33 and 40-38. The Stings took the lead for good, 42-40, on a jump shot by Paterson and moved out, 45-41, going into the final period.

In the last eight minutes, the Stings played what appeared to be a freeze—but was in reality a sly way of padding the score. Each time Pensacola's defense lapsed, Buddy Coleman, Paterson or Somerindyke drove in for a layup.

Schaefer pulled out all the stops. He had substitutes shuttling in and out reminiscent of the old two-platoon football days.

And all the subs came through. Late in the game, little Dennis Moses had fans roaring with his dribbling antics. George Nowicki did a fine job of spelling Center Dave Austin.

The Stings held Pensacola's 6-5 George Beischer to six points and high-flying 6-3 Forward Bob But to only two field goals. Chapman wound up high for the Tigers with 15.

Sharp Louisville Peels Kentucky In NCAA Shocker

EVANSTON, Ill — (AP) — Defending Champion Kentucky was knocked out of the NCAA basketball tournament by underdog Louisville, 76-61, in the first round of the Mideast Regional Playoff here Friday night.

Louisville's Cardinals, who came into the tourney with an unimpressive 17-10 record, overcame a 15-point first half deficit to ruin Kentucky's bid for a fifth NCAA crown.

Trailing 36-28 at halftime, Louisville came up with a terrific display of pressure shooting by Harold Andrews, Don Goldstein and Roger Tieman to cut down the Wildcats.

Goldstein led the Cardinals with 19 points, 10 in the second half. Andrews had 13 in the second half.

The Wildcats, seeking to become the only team ever to win the NCAA title twice in successive years, held a 27-12 lead midway in the first half.

But with the second half only five minutes old, hot shooting (45 per cent) Louisville nudged ahead, 48-46. Then the Cardinals spurted ahead to 57-47, and Kentucky was finished.

The Wildcats, who had a 23-1 record entering the tourney, got only 10 points from their star, Johnny Cox, before he fouled out near the end of the game.

Prep Big Ten Strictly Grid League Now

GAINESVILLE — The Big Ten Conference became a "football only" conference here Friday morning as athletic directors voted unanimously to drop basketball and spring sports.

"We felt there was no need for conference competition in those sports since the State High School Activities Association provides championship tournaments for those," said Barney Searcy, Jacksonville Landon head coach.

"The Big Ten will continue to be a powerful football conference and there will be no lessening of rivalry," added Searcy, one of the loop's veteran coaches.

The athletic directors also voted Ottis Mooney of Miami High president and Haywood Fowle of Edison vice president.

North Miami was unanimously approved for membership, filling one of the vacancies created when Orlando's Boone and Edgewater and West Palm Beach dropped out at the end of the last football season.

Miami High was named basketball champion for the 1958-59 campaign. The Stings' only two loop losses were to Edison. Jacksonville Jackson was runnerup with losses only to Miami High, Orlando Boone and Jacksonville Lee.

The Big Ten is down to nine schools, fewest number in its history. Members are Miami High, Edison, Jackson, Coral Gables North Miami, Lakeland, Jacksonville Jackson, Lee and Landon.

Flaherty to Return To Races at Daytona

Sports Roundup

Pat Flaherty, 1956 Indianapolis 500-mile champion who has been away from the tracks for three years with injuries, returns to big car racing next month.

In a surprise announcement Friday, John Zink of Tulsa said Flaherty would drive his Heater Special in the two 100-mile events at Daytona Beach April 4.

Flaherty was severly injured Aug. 18, 1956 — only shortly after winning the Indianapolis 500—when his car was wrecked in a 100-miler at Springfield, Ill. He has not raced since.

Flaherty's Daytona car will be the same racer Miami's Jim Rathmann gunned to a 500-mile world record in Monza, Italy last year. Rathmann averaged better than 166 miles per hour over the tricky 2.6-mile Italian track.

WEALTHY turfwoman Elizabeth Arden Graham, owner of Maine Chance Farm, had the tip of a finger bitten off while petting her handicap star, Jewel's Reward, Thursday, it was learned Friday.

Mrs. Graham was stroking the horse's nose in the Santa Anita stable area when it snapped and nipped off the tip of her right index finger. She was treated at a hospital, then caught a plane to her New York home.

IF AL CERVI quits as coach of the Philadelphia Warriors, the job probably will go to Neil Johnston, star center for the National Basketball Association club.

Cervi is not expected to say for sure whether he wants out until April 15. But both he and Warrior Owner Eddie Gottlieb are unhappy over the club's last place NBA finish.

O'Dell Sharp As Baltimore Dumps Reds

TAMPA —(AP)— Baltimore's Orioles made free with veteran hurler Brooks Lawrence and Rookie Elio Cuellar for 11 hits Friday breezing to a 6-2 exhibition triumph over Cincinnati.

Starter Lawrence, who took the loss, was roughed up in the first five innings yielding six hits, five walks and four runs.

Catcher Ed Bailey accounted for both Redleg runs, singling in the first marker in the second inning and banging a home run in the seventh.

Digger O'Dell, who held the Reds under his thumb through the first six innings, took the victory.

Cards Shatter Phillies' Streak

ST. PETERSBURG — (AP) — Don Blasingame's double with two out in the eighth drove in the winning runs as the St. Louis Cardinals broke a three-game Philadelphia winning streak, 5-3.

The Redbirds trailed 3-2 until Blasingame came through against righthander Jack Meyer, following a single by Charley James and a double by Chuck Essegian. An insurance run came across on a single by Bob Boyer, rookie outfielder.

The Phillies were held to five hits, all off starter Don Choate, but bunched three with a walk in the first inning for two runs. Then they used Richie Ashburn's single, a fielder's choice, an error and Ed Bouchee's sacrifice fly to break a 2-2 tie in the fifth.

Mantle Homers As Yanks Roll

LAKELAND — (AP) — The New York Yankees, sparked by Mickey Mantle's eighth inning home run, crushed the Detroit Tigers, 14-8, Friday at Henley Field.

Bill Skowron, Elston Howard, Norm Siebern and Bobby Richardson also hit home runs for the defending world champions, who ranked three Tiger pitchers for 18 hits.

The Yankees took over in the eighth inning, scoring five times on six hits as Mantle and Howard cracked home runs and Jerry Lumpe contributed a double. New York added three more runs in the ninth.

Cashing in on starter Bob Turley's wildness, the Tigers got a six-run led for Jim Bunning after three innings.

Paul Foytack, who relieved Bunning, was the victim of New York's eighth inning splurge and took the defeat.

Malkmus Stars In Nats' Game

ORLANDO — (AP) — Secondbaseman Bob Malkmus tripled and homered as he led the Bill Jurges All-Stars to a 4-1 victory over Ellis Clary's Beavers in a Washington Senators intrasquad game Friday.

A three-run first inning outburst at the expense of rookie pitcher Jim Kaat settled the issue.

Braves Get Only Two Hits

BRADENTON —(AP)— The Milwaukee Braves were held to two hits Friday while the Chicago White Sox were bruising two Milwaukee hurlers for 10 in winning a 7-1 decision from the National League champions.

Veteran Early Wynn and Rookies Rudolpho Arias and Claude Raymond baffled the Braves, while Juan Pizzaro and Bob Trowbridge were having nothing but trouble with Sox batsmen. Only bright spot for Milwaukee was three innings of no-hit ball by rookie Jerry Nelson.

The White Sox roughed up Trowbridge from the start, but didn't start counting until the third, when four runs got across. Pizzaro gave up a run in each of the innings he worked, including a homer by Al Smith in the fith.

Banks' Blasts Scuttle Giants

MESA, Ariz. — (AP) — Ernie Banks, the National League's Most Valuable Player and the majors' home run king last year with 47, slammed a pair of three-run homers Friday to lead the Chicago Cubs to a 16-12 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

Banks smashed his first in the first and, after the Giants had gone ahead, 12-10, keyed a four-run rally in the bottom of the sixth with another three-run drive.

The Giants collected 17 hits, including homers by Willie Kirkland, Leon Wagner and Roger McCardell in the loss.

It was the third straight defeat for the Pirates, who aided Kansas City with four errors.

Rookie Righthander Ken Johnson and lefties Rip Coleman and George Brunet held the Pirates to eight hits. Johnson received credit for the victory. Gibbon was the loser.

72 Candidates Report Today

'Rawest' UM Grid Squad Opens Drills for 'Toughest' Schedule

By LUTHER EVANS
Herald Sports Writer

University of Miami's 72-candidate football squad begins 20 days of spring practice at 2:30 this afternoon.

As Coach Andy Gustafson puts it:

"We must try and get the rawest squad we've had in years ready to play the roughest schedule in university history."

"That," says Gustafson, "means every minute is precious.

"We'll start individual hitting within the first hour of work and get into full-team scrimmaging by the third day."

To prepare the athletes physically for such rigorous work, Trainer Dave Wike has had them undergoing special (and NCAA-approved) conditioning drills for the past month.

Today's turnout will include 12 seniors, 19 juniors and 41 sophomores — most rookies ever to report for off-season labors.

Returning from the squad that was licked in eight of 10 games last season are 13 letter winners, including seven linemen and six backs.

Among absentees will the UM's two heftiest linemen of 1958, substitute tackles Ray Lardani (230) and Frank Nodoline (225).

Lardani flunked out of school and Nodoline decided to transfer to a smaller college.

Also gone via the low academic route is Jim Stevens, the fullback who was going to make fans forget Don Bosseler.

Making their practice field debuts as UM assistants today will be Henry (Hank) Stram, former Notre Dame backfield coach, and Tom O'Boyle, veteran line coach acquired from Duke.

Toiling with the linemen will be Walk Kichefski, new assistant head coach, Armand Vari and O'Boyle.

There'll be no more two-platoon coaching, a huge failure last fall. Each assistant will coach both offenses and defense.

What Gustafson calls "a herculean teaching job" will find practically a complete new attack being installed, featuring pro-type line splits, slot backs and wide sets.

Which sophomores are expected to provide the acutely needed help?

4 Bouts Added To Monday Card

Four preliminary bouts Friday were added to Monday night's boxing program at Bayfront Park Auditorium.

A six-round welter scrap on the card, which features Ed Beattie and Billy Orais, will send Willie Giles against Bobby Monroe.

In a trio of four-rounders, Dwaine Simpson meets Joey Clements, John Pugh opposes Tiger Flowers, and Billy Maples tangles with Willie Finney.

Suggs Ties Wiffi Smith At Augusta

AUGUSTA, Ga. —(AP)— Louise Suggs staged a garrison finish Friday and pulled into a tie with Wiffi Smith at the midway mark of the 20th women's Titleholders golf tournament.

The Sea Island, Ga., swinger, who started the day tied for fourth, birdied the last three holes to overhaul the freckle-faced Miss Smith. Miss Suggs had 78-73—151, Miss Smith 75-76—151.

The $5,000 tournament is being played over the rolling, 6,302-yard Augusta Country Club course, where par is 36-36—72.

Fay Crocker, a consistent money winner from Montevideo Uruguay, fired her second straight 76, dropping from second place into a tie for third at 152 with Mickey Wright of San Diego, Calif. Miss Wright shot a 75, even women's par. Joyce Ziske of Milwaukee and Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., each carded a 76 and tied at 154. Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., and Marilynn Smith of Wichita, Kan., were next at 156.

Defending champion Beverly Hanson of Indio, Calif., took an 80 for 159 and sentimental favorite Patty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill., an 80 for 161. Miss Berg has won this event seven times.

Juveniles In Stake Windup

With Mar Dilly and Geemarie heading the cast, eight fleet juvenile greyhounds battle it out tonight in the finals of the $5,000 Futurity Stakes at the Hollywood Kennel club. The event will be run over the Hollywood course as the 10th offering.

Although Mar Dilly and Geemarie, who drew the No. 8 and No. 7 boxes, respectively, will be hot favorites, their task isn't a particularly easy one.

Quill and Speedy Special are tabbed as the most likely upsetters, with a couple of fast breakers — Rock City and Belly Laugh — conceded some kind of a chance if any trouble develops behind them.

Two women owners each qualified two dogs for the finals. Joan Hunt has Quill and Belly Laugh, while Mrs. Lillian Ryan will be represented by Speedy Special and Mr. Morrison.

UM Golfers Face Gator Team Here

University of Miami's golf team takes on the University of Florida, state intercollegiate champions, today on the Miami Biltmore links at 1 p.m.

The Gators recently captured the state tournament at Ocala, winning both the team and individual crowns. Frank Beard, who took the individual title, and Tommy Aaron, who won the crown last year, will lead the Gators.

UM golfers are Dick Guardiola, John Sjoostrom, Gil Buckingham, Jim Peace and Larry Soloman. One other player will be selected by Coach Bill Heuson from the quartet of Paul Levack, Robert McConnell, Roger Eberhardt and Dick Cohen.

UM'S BASEBALL team opens its season out of town today, clashing with Jacksonville University in a doubleheader.

Vic Stenson, ace hurler last year, will pitch the first game with a new young star, John Lewis, slated to pitch the second.

Harney Tops At Pensacola

PENSACOLA — (AP) — Lean Paul Harney, 29-year-old distance hitter from Worcester, Mass., fired a seven-under-par 65 Friday as he took the 36-hole lead in the $15,000 Pensacola Open with a total of 134, 10 under par.

Harney had two eagles. He dropped a six-footer for the first on the sixth hole and sank a 25-footer from off the green for the other on the eighth.

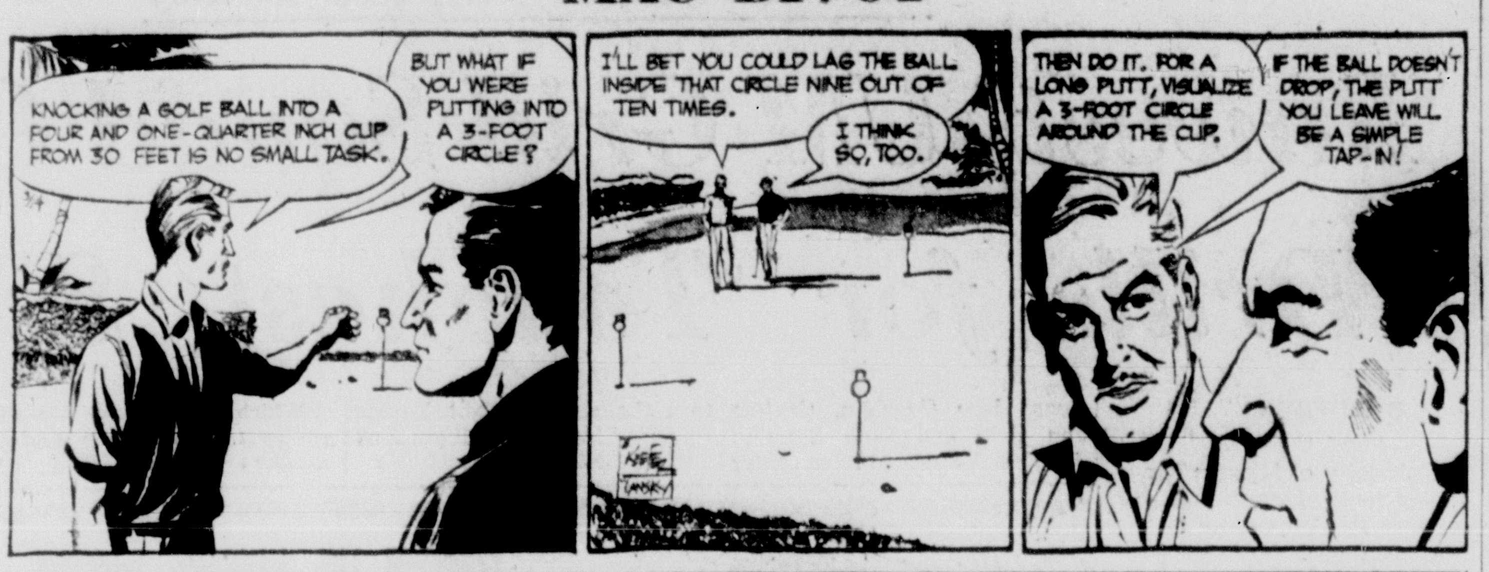
MAC DIVOT



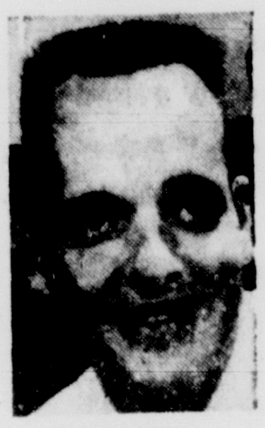
KNOCKING A GOLF BALL INTO A FOUR AND ONE-QUARTER INCH CUP FROM 30 FEET IS NO SMALL TASK.
BUT WHAT IF YOU WERE PUTTING INTO A 3-FOOT CIRCLE?
I'LL BET YOU COULD LAG THE BALL INSIDE THAT CIRCLE NINE OUT OF TEN TIMES.
I THINK SO, TOO.
THEN DO IT. FOR A LONG PUTT, VISUALIZE A 3-FOOT CIRCLE AROUND THE CUP.
IF THE BALL DOESN'T DROP, THE PUTT YOU LEAVE WILL BE A SIMPLE TAP-IN!

Plug Casting Pays Off

Schang's 91-Pound Tarpon 'Record' for Government Cut

By VIC DUNAWAY
Herald Fishing Editor

A 91 lb., 4-oz. tarpon taken this week in Government Cut by Dr. Don Schang of Coral Gables may well be a "record" for plug casting in the Cut.



DUNAWAY

Quite a few larger tarpon have been taken on plug gear down on the shallow flats of Florida Bay, and the official record in the Herald-sponsored Metropolitan Miami Fishing Tournament is Gerry Coughlan's 160½-lb. giant of 1950. However, Government Cut confronts the light-tackle tarpon angler with a staggering array of problems, and it is indeed a rare feat to catch a really big fish there on one-hand tackle.

Hooked tarpon in the Cut seldom jump very much. With plenty of deep water to roam, they generally make for the depths and defy you to do anything about it with light line. And if you should succeed in tiring a big tarpon on flimsy gear, sharks are apt to take it away from you.

Dr. Schang and his fishing partner, Dr. Dave Bleser, have caught and released many smaller tarpon in the cut, but this was their first one of trophy size.

Dr. Bleser says they have good luck on "the whole range of Mirrolures" and also on bucktails.

Anybody Want to Go Fishing?

WHILE FISHING in the Gulfstream recently, John Paswick was surprised to see "five big fellows in a 15-foot outboard about eight miles from the nearest shore."

In addition to safety and comfort factors, Paswick fretted about the sight for another reason: He was alone in his own 21-foot skiff, simply because he could not find anyone to go out with him.

"All my friends," he says, "are afraid of water."

Paswick advises that he can always take a couple of fellows with him on a fishing trip. He says, "It would be a pleasure to locate a good partner to take along."

Anyone interested in going out on a share-the-cost basis can contact Paswick at 380 Alton Road, Miami Beach.

Last Call for Hog Barbecue

LAST CALL for the Everglades Conservation Club's public wild hog barbecue Sunday. There will be plenty of food and fun for everybody at a cost of $1.50, or 75 cents for children. Go 60 miles west on U.S. 41, turn left at Monroe Station, and continue a half-mile to the club grounds. It starts at 10 a.m., lasts through the day.

A new event this year is an archery turkey shoot. Members of the North Dade Archery Club will conduct the shoot in two sections. Inexperienced archers will cut loose at a 20-yard target, and anyone may enter. Expert bowmen will aim at the target 40 yards away.

Many Miamians in Panama

THE SURGE of anglers from Miami to Panama's Pacific shore continues full blast. Counting down at present are Charlie and Bob Elliot, Lew Koehler and Frank Eyman, who leave March 16 . . . Walter Huhn brought back two potential Rod and Reel Club records from his recent Panama excursion — a 10-lb. African pompano on 4-lb. spin, and a 37-lb. snapper in the 20-lb. line class . . . Puerto Rico publicists are tooting horns about the island's 16th world record, this one a 73½-lb. Allison tuna caught on 20-lb. line by Victor Domenech. The tuna, landed Jan. 25, has just been verified by the IGFA.

Long Prelim Card Slated

One of the longest Miami Beach preliminary cards in eight years was completed Friday when Promoter Chris Dundee announced the signing of welterweights Rocky Mortell of Chicago and Josh Thomas of Orlando.

The eight round semi-windup contest completed a teeeim card that will feature 28 rounds of boxing in addition to the 10-round main event matching Rudy Sawyer of New York and Kid Fichique of Havana.

Two eight-round contests signed previously will match Willie Mack, Jacksonville light-heavy, with Freddie Blades of Fort Lauderdale and Charlie Titone, Miami Beach lightweight, with Hilton Smith of Tampa.

Johns After 2nd Straight

Bobby Johns of Miami will be out to make it two straight victories during the seven-event program of sportsman-modified stock car racing at the Hollywood Speedway which gets under way at 8:15 tonight.

Johns, who captured last week's feature event by beating out Red Farmer and Roddy Perry, will be driving his favorite sportsman model—the same car that he piloted at Daytona and Darlington.

Other point winners who will be out to stop Johns from extending his winning streak will be Ernie Reeves, Fred Sweikert, Whitey Hoben and Al Ford.

In the novice division, Bill Hess will be gunning for a track record of five consecutive feature wins. Hess has been unbeatable at the Broward track since he started competing late in January. Last Saturday night he scored a grand slam by taking both ends of the heats and winning the 20-lap finale.

MHS Relay Title Taken By Edison

By DICK EVANS
Herald Sports Writer

Darkhorse Miami Edison Friday night at Moore Park won the Miami High Relays despite not entering two of the 15 events.

"We only dressed 19 boys," said a surprised Edison Coach Tom Collins. "I didn't think we had a chance when I couldn't enter teams in the shuttle and two-mile relays."

Nevertheless, Edison won five events, including four ten-point relays, to edge defending state champion Coral Gables, 56 9-10 to 47½.

Southwest took third with 45½ points, South Broward fourth with 44 and defending Relays champ Fort Lauderdale fifth with 42 3-5. Lauderdale's chances were dampened on the first running event, the shuttle relay, when its runner was caught leaving the mark too quickly and disqualified.

Trailing the leaders were: North Miami (40 3-5), Miami High (30½), Miami Jackson (20), West Palm Beach (10), South Dade (5) and Miami Beach (5). Failing to score were Key West, Curley Palmetto and Norland.

It was a chilly night for the fans, but the athletes were "warm" for the season's first big meet.

Coral Gables strongboy Frank Lasky broke Carl Vereen's six-year-old shot put record with a mighty heave of 55 feet, one inch. The 220-pounder only reported for track Monday. He had been playing basketball.

Edison's crack relay unit of Mike Hernandez, Frank Sherrill, Alan Hineman and Bob Curry broke one record (44.9 in the 440 relay) and won a second event (the 880 relay).

Southwest's two-mile relay of Andy Reddish, Charles McCurdy, Jim McCarthy and Lou Elick broke the third and final record. They posted 8:46.1 to knock almost two seconds off Edison's 1956 standard.

South Broward speedster Alan Wright was the leading scorer with 12½ points. Running with a taped left thigh and sore right heel, Wright beat nemesis Hugh MacMillan (WPB) by two yards in a 10.1 century and took the broad jump. He decided to skip the 180-yard low hurdles.

Miami's Desjardins Wins for Yale

Kahn and Frohman Tie at Westview

Mrs. Arthur Kahn and Mrs. Harry Frohman each shot a net 40½ Friday to tie for top honors in the T and F tournament staged by the Westview Women's Golf Association. Mrs. F. Cohen was third with a net 41.

Southwest Swimmers Sweep

Southwest High's swimming teams posted a pair of victories Friday night over McArthur of Hollywood, whipping the visiting Mustang boys, 54-32 and the girls, 64-22.

Diana Dilling paced the Southwest girls with wins in the 100 butterfly (1:33.1) and the 200 individual medley (3:17.8).

Among the boys, Southwest's Robert Lee was the big scorer, also sweeping to triumphs in the 100 butterfly (1:15.8) and the 200 individual medley (2:39).

Pioneers Split In Swim Meet

In the girls competition, however, Pine Crest won just as easily, 66-29.

Stobs Shatters State Record

FORT LAUDERDALE — Miami Edison's boys out-swam Stranahan, 62-33, Friday night but the big news was made by Shirley Stobs competing for the Raider girls' losing cause.

The talented 16-year-old established a state record of 4:49.6 for the 400-yard freestyle, more than 10 seconds under the previous mark. She also won the 100-yard butterfly, but otherwise it was all Stranahan, which won 56-39.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Yama Bahama's snappy, stinging left jabs proved the difference Friday night as the battler from the Bahamas soundly whipped favored Willie Greaves of Canada in a televised 10-rounder. Greaves weighed 160¼; Bahama, 153½.

Yama's left, operating like a pneumatic drill, peppered the strong, heavier Canadian middleweight champion from Edmonton throughout the fight. But it was especially effective in the first half of the bristling scrap. It was in those first five rounds that the 26-year-old Bahama, who now lives in Miami, sewed up the fight.

All three officials had Bahama ahead. Referee Artie Mercante saw the margin 6-4 in rounds, Judge Artie Aidello had it, 7-3, and Judge Leo Birnbaum 8-2. The AP card had Bahama in front, 7-3.

The 23-year-old Canadian forced the fight all the way, but it was Yama who did most of the scoring. He met the husky Wilfie's rushes with well-timed jabs and fast left-right combinations.

Greaves was so intent on hammering Bahama's body that several of his punches strayed low. He was warned twice in the sixth round for foul blows and the referee took the round from him. Bahama appeared to have won the round, anyway.

Greves' best rounds were the fourth, seventh and eighth. Otherwise it was mostly Bahama. His jabs quickly reddened Greaves' fair skin and bruised the 7-5 favorite around the eyes. There were no knockdowns but a ten-punch flurry by Bahama in the fading seconds of the last round almost floored the tired, still-pressing Greaves.

SANDYS JOY engaged ANY MORN at once from outside, wore down that one on entering stretch and while continuing wide she just lasted over EVENING TIME. Latter unhurried early, cut to inside entering stretch to make her belated bid and was getting to winner. BETTY LINN raced wide and finished with good courage. HAPPY PRINCESS lacked all her former speed in a dull effort.

Lucky Race Friday: Two Daily Doubles

By JOE McLAUGHLIN
Herald Turf Editor

Friday the 13th unlucky? Not at Gulfstream Park, where a dead heat in the first race produced two daily double payoffs.

Roscoe T. O'Neil's Game Style, ridden by Ismael Valenzuela, and Mrs. L. H. Hunt's Greek Count, Steve Brooks up, crossed the finish line on even terms in the opener. Both O'Neil and Mrs. Hunt are Miamians.

Long Sword, $21.90, annexed the second.

Game style, an outsider in the wagering, paid $11.20 even with the dead heat. The division of the money also affected Greek Count's return, which was $4.80.

The Game Style to Long Sword double paid $196.50; Greek Count to Long Sword was worth $88.80.

There was more to O'Neil's Friday the 13th story. His 2-year-old Edney, ridden by Charley Burr, won the third to return $81.50, $30.70 and $11.10 across the board.

It was the third start for the filly, who previously finished 19th and 14th. Friday she beat Cape Canaveral, with Confuse third, on a 33-second clocking for the three furlongs.

St. Pete Sail Draws 32

ST. PETERSBURG — (AP) — Crews of 32 of the world's finest craft made eleventh hour repairs and adjustments Friday in preparation for today's start of the 26th annual St. Petersburg-Havana Yacht Race.

The sleek craft leave the starting line at noon today for the 284-mile run to Cuba. The race is returning to its regular course after being cut short last year because of the Cuban revolution. Then it ended in Miami.

Race officials received 39 entries, but withdrawals trimmed the field to 32. There may be one or two last-minute entries before the race begins.

The 67-foot Lobo De Mar, the world's largest cutter, Friday was named scratch boat for the race with a handicap rating of 59.0. The Lobo De Mar has been entered by the Havana, Cuba, yacht club.

Basilio Posts Bond For Title Go

Basilio, who took the crown from Robinson Sept. 23, 1957, only to lose it back to him March 25, 1958, appeared personally before the new chairman of the commission, Gen. Melvin Krulewich.

There has been talk that the National Boxing Enterprises, successor to the International Boxing Club, would sponsor a fight this summer between Basilio and Robinson.

Demonstration

Baghdad crowds carry a portrait of Kamel Kazangi in a massive funeral procession staged for the pro-government spokesman. Supporters of Iraq Premier Abdel Karim Kassem claim that Kazangi, organizer of a government-approved peace rally this week in Mosul, was assassinated by rebel army forces in the rebel-held northern Iraq city.

House Probers Eye Plush Setup

Private Officers School—Why?

WASHINGTON —(UPI)— House investigators set out Friday to determine why the government is running a $700,000-a-year private school for military officers at a fashionable apartment "within spitting distance of the Pentagon."

Rep. H. R. Gross (R., Iowa) said Dr. John C. Flanagan, head of the school, will be summoned for questioning March 23 along with Defense Department officials.

The congressman said he understood that Flanagan, a former Pittsburgh psychology professor, was receiving six per cent of a cost-plus contract to teach officers how to handle the military assistance program overseas.

Gross said the school was using retired high-ranking Army officers on its teaching and administrative staff.

"They are in effect being paid twice," Gross said, "because they receive a salary in addition to their regular retirement pay. If they are needed that bad to train officers, then I think they ought to be called into active duty."

The Defense Department said in reply that the Arlington Towers apartment was chosen for the school because "suitable facilities were not otherwise available." It added that employment of retired officers made "optimum use" of their experience.

It said salaries at the school ranged from an average $9,000 a year for professional employes to $4,000 for clerical help.

Gross said he believed the military should be training "its own people" in peacetime and not turn the task over to a private school located "within spitting distance" of the Pentagon and other big military installations.

Damascus Mob Roars At Kassem

DAMASCUS, U.A.R. —(UPI) — Marching in the funeral cortege of an Iraqi army officer Friday an estimated half million persons carried U.A.R. flags and shouted anti-Kassem epithets.

"Kassem is a traitor," screamed the demonstrators.

"God's curses befall on traitors! Down with Kassem!" the crowds roared as they filled the historic Omayad mosque, where the body of Iraqi Capt. Mohammed Said Shehab was taken from the military hospital.

Shehab, on the staff of Revolt Leader Col. Abdul Wahab Shawaf, was wounded in the fighting near Mosul, Irqa. but escaped across the border into Syria, where he later died.

The public funeral given him Friday in the famous mosque was a gesture of defiance and contempt of Kassem's regime. It was another move in a war of words between Iraq and the U.A.R., which began when President Gamal Abdel Nasser two days ago denounced both Kassem and world communism.

At the services Friday, Sheikh Abdul Raouf Aboutouk charged that Kassem was anti-Islam and warned him: "So long as you continue following this deviationist policy you will be liquidated."

He advised Kassem to "return to his senses" and follow the path to Arab unity.

Throughout both the Egyptian and Syrian regions of the U.A.R. requiem services were held for the "martyrs" who died fighting the government in the short-lived Iraqi revolt.

A Cairo newspaper, Al Ahran, said a "large number" of rebel tribesmen still were battling government forces in the mountain forests of northern Iraq. The information was attributed to Iraqi refugees streaming into Syria.

New Stab by U.S.

Tax Indictment Hits Gangland Host

SYRACUSE, N. Y. —(AP)— Joseph Barbara, host to the notorious Apalachin gangland convention, was indicted Friday on a charge of evading payment of $14,600 in federal income taxes.

This was a new stab at the 53-year-old former beer-distributor, who has managed to evade questioning by the numerous investigators who have sought to learn the reason 60 hoodlums and friends convened Nov. 14, 1957, at Barbara's mansion in Apalachin, a small community near Binghamton, N. Y.

Barbara, whose family contends he is too ill with a heart ailment to face investigators, has refused to answer subpenas. This week, an Appellate Court in Albany upheld the validity of a subpena state police taped to the front of his mansion when they could not gain entrance.

Last month, Barbara's son, Joseph Jr., 23, was indicted in New York City on a charge of perjury. He was accused of lying to the state investigation commission when he said his father had been too ill to leave his home since the gang meeting. The commission said the elder Barbara had made trips and the son had accompanied him.

Joseph Barbara
. . . 'too ill' to serve

Delegates to the convention were said to have discussed such topics as racketeering in the coin-machine industry, gambling in Cuba and slicing up the rackets empire of Albert Anastasia, a gangdom kingpin who was shot to death in a New York City barbershop in October 1957.

State police broke up the convention but most of the delegates would say only that they were visiting a sick friend.

Barbara lost his beer-distributing license after the convention. He also sold his bottling business. His palatial, hill-top home is for sale. But he and his family still live there — a shuttered existence behind stone walls.

It's Cold Upstate, Cool Here

Gradual Warming Trend Forecast

Cold in North Florida, cool in South Florida.

That's the weatherman's outlook for the state — although we're in "a warming trend," he said Friday.

"There'll be scattered frost in North Florida, with temperatures probably in the mid-30s to low 40s Saturday night," Forecaster Philip Ackerman said.

But it'll be a sunny Saturday, and a few degrees warmer than Thursday or Friday.

Miamians will need light blankets for mid-50 degree temperatures Saturday night, Ackerman said.

"It should be a little warmer each day, and maybe by the end of the coming week we'll be back to above normal temperatures," he added.

Much of the eastern U.S., however, was digging itself out of a snowstorm that was blamed for at least 30 deaths. Many roads in New York, Pennsylvania, New England and New Jersey were blocked.

Eight persons died of heart attacks while shoveling snow and there were a number of weather-connected accident fatalities as snow fell amid high winds.

Our High Only 66, But Albany Had 28

Most Florida temperatures stayed in the low 60s Friday with Miami recording a 66. Both Cross City and Tallahassee hit the freezing mark, 32 degrees, for the low.

Aid Plan Triggers Battle

Ike Asks 4 Billion —May Want More

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Where Aid Money Would Go

$1,600,000,000 for sending U.S. allies military supplies and training aid — "A minimum figure," he said, "necessary to prevent serious deterioration of our collective defense system."

835 million dollars for defense support — that is, help in maintaining allies' defense establishments. More than two-thirds of this would go to Turkey, Viet Nam, Formosa and Korea.

272 millions for special assistance funds in such fields as health and education.

700 millions for the Development Loan Fund.

200 millions for meeting emergencies which might arise in the Middle East and elsewhere.

112 millions for such purposes as the U.N.'s Children's Fund and the U. S.-sponsored Atoms-for-Peace Program.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Rules Out 'Fortress America'

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower submitted his $3,929,995,000 foreign aid program to the skeptical Democratic Congress Friday with a blunt warning that it may be boosted to meet the Soviet threat to Europe.

He specifically pointed to the Berlin crisis, declaring it could have "perilous consequences" if Russia refuses to back down on its demands. But he said foreign aid had played a big part in enabling the free world to stand firm "in these tense moments."

The President's program promptly ran into Democratic demands that it be cut. Senate Democratic Whip Mike Mansfield of Montana, a member of the powerful Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he thought it could be reduced "drastically," to about three billion.

Foreign Relations Chairman J. William Fulbright (D., Ark.) rapped Eisenhower to meet changes in the world situation." He said the committee "will need to engage in considerable surgery if the bill is to fully serve the national interest."

Other Democratic Leaders took a show-me attitude and called for an end to "waste and inefficiency" in the aid program. Rep. Wayne Hays (D., Ohio) challenged the President's reference to Berlin. He said "not a nickel" of the new money would help in that crisis."

The President sought about $1,600,000,000 in military aid and $2,330,000,000 in economic aid to help this country's allies counter the "broad and deep" Communist challenge in the fiscal year starting July 1.

But he said a special commission studying the aid program has indicated it will recommend an increase in military aid, primarily for weapons to North Atlantic Treaty Nations. He promised to send Congress further proposals after the commission submits a report, probably next week.

All indications were that the President would have to fight even harder for his aid program this year than he did in 1958 when he sized on every opportunity — including letters to influential citizens—to plug it.

But the President fired the first round in a message to Congress which scorned the "Fortress America" concept held by some of his critics.

The U.S., sitting alone, could become the wealthiest and mightiest nation on earth, he said, and "still lose the battle

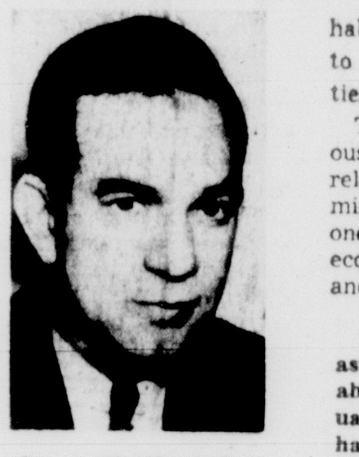
Ike's Program in Trouble Before It Gets Off Ground

By DAVID KRASLOW
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The foreign aid program President Eisenhower submitted Friday to Congress is in trouble even before it gets off the ground.

It will take nothing short of a political miracle for Eisenhower to get all of the 3.9 billion dollars he asked Congress to provide for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1960.

The President asked for roughly the same amount last year and Congress whacked it about 600 million. It could happen again.



Sen. Fulbright
. . . heads opposition

Some 370 million of that cut came in the military assistance and related "defense support" items. And there are firm indications that this is where the President again will take it on the chin.

Not that he wasn't warned. The tipoff came in a letter to him last August from eight members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The signers included Sens. William Fulbright (D., Ark.) present committee chairman; Mike Mansfield (D., Mont.), assistant majority leader; John Kennedy (D., Mass.), and Hubert Humphrey (D., Minn.).

The letter condemned the administration's military aid philosophy.

The committee members expressed "our concern that we may be pursuing a pattern of foreign aid drawn by force of habit rather than one adjusted to current international realities."

They complained of a "serious distortion in the present relative importance attached to military and related aid on the one hand and technical and . . . economic development assistance on the other.

"Overemphasis on military assistance has tended unavoidably to involve the U.S. in situations in which our aid may have contributed to the maintenance in power of regimes which have lacked broad support within the countries we have assisted.

Then the warning:

"We write you at this time because we are aware that budgets for the mutual security program are prepared many months in advance."

It is clear that the President will have the roughest sort of time getting by Fulbright and company with his current request for over 2.4 billion dollars

Postman's Faithful Dog Dies

The Sun Sets on Midnight

ALBERT LEA, Minn. —(AP)— An old, limping black Labrador named Midnight followed Postman Al Fligge on his route for the last time.

"We were planning to retire about the same time," said the veteran mailman, "but old Midnight beat me to it."

Midnight was a spry, playful two-year-old when he and Fligge first met in 1948. "He kept coming over to the relay box on the corner and I kept petting him," Fligge recalled.

Before long the dog, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Engel, was accompanying Fligge faithfully on his rounds. A strong bond grew between them. Midnight whined and brooded whenever Fligge was ill and needed a substitute.

A few weeks ago it became apparent that the dog could not live much longer. Unable to negotiate steps and unsure of his feet, Midnight stumbled to the ground often, hitting his chin.

Mrs. Engel wanted the dog at home this last day. But he fussed and moaned when the door closed behind Fligge. Mrs. Engel opened it and let the dog out. "That was what he wanted," she said.

Midnight stumbled down the front steps and tried to hurry after Fligge. The mailman stopped and waited patiently for him. Together they moved off down the street.

Midnight was dead a few hours later.

Ticker Tape For Lemus

NEW YORK—(AP)—New York Friday hailed President Jose Maria Lemus of El Salvador with a Broadway ticker tape parade.

Police estimated more than 150,000 persons lined the sidewalks of Lower Manhattan as a motorcade bore the President from Bowling Green to City Hall. Stock market tapes and confetti poured from building windows.

Cheers and applause greeted Lemus, riding in an open car in bright sunshine with Robert C. Patterson, city commissioner of commerce.

Lemus flew here from Washington where he and President Eisenhower agreed to work toward economic integration of Central America and creation of a common market there.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Eisenhower Friday visited Gen. George C. Marshall, his old army chief, at Walter Reed Army Hospital.

At the hospital the President also conferred again with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. It was Eisenhower's eighth visit with Dulles since the secretary was found to have suffered a recurrence of cancer.

Marshall, former Army chief of staff, was transferred to Walter Reed earlier this week from an Army hospital at Fort Bragg, N.C.

Treat Marriage as Illness, Court Rules

She Quit to Wed; Gets Jobless Pay, Anyway

ALBANY, N.Y. — (AP) — A woman who quit her job to get married is entitled to unemployment insurance, the Court of Appeals says.

The state's highest tribunal, in a 5-2 decision, said a lower court was right in allowing benefits to Mrs. Keith I. Shaw of North Tonawanda.

Mrs. Shaw quit work as a clerk-typist at an Albany insurance company in July, 1956, saying she planned to be married and move to Western New York.

He employer contested her claim for unemployment insurance in court.

The appellate division decided 3-1 in Mrs. Shaw's favor, ruling that marriage "ought to be 'treated as illness or other events of important personal consequence to the worker."

State law provides that a person who leaves a job "for good cause" and intends to seek other employment is entitled to unemployment pay. Industrial groups contended the court's decision meant the state would be underwriting honeymoons.

About $200 in benefits was involved in Mrs. Shaw's case.

Ike Going on Air; Topic: Berlin Peril

Adenauer, Macmillan End Talks

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eiswnhower will deliver a radio-television report to the people Monday night on the Berlin crisis and "the general security position of the U.S. and its allies." The White House announced Friday.

The announcement came shortly after the President told Congress in a special foreign aid message that the "tense" Berlin deadlock could have "perilous consequences" if Russia refused to back down on its demands.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President would speak from 9:30 to 10 p.m., EST., Monday over all radio and television networks. The prime evening hours assured him a maximum audience.

Hagerty described Eisenhower's address as "a report to the American people on the evolving Berlin situation and the general security position of the U.S. and its allies."

Besides discussing the immediate threat in Berlin, the President was expected to carry to the people his fight with congressional Democrats over the size of the armed forces. He has accused some Democrats of "hysterical" attitude toward recurring crisis.

The report also will be a prelude to the President's conferences at Camp David, Md., next weekend with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. The talks are scheduled to get underway Friday, the day after Macmillan arrives in Washington.

Macmillan concluded two days of talks Friday with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. They were said to have reached full agreement on how to cope with Russia's threatened attempt to force the Allies out of Berlin.

Adenauer had sought assurances that Britain would not agree to any Soviet plan that would leave Germany divided and West Germany defenseless against the Communists.

In Moscow, the official Soviet press burst loose with a barrage of charges that the West wanted to go to war to settle the Berlin issue while Russia was trying to negotiate a peaceful solution.

The West has proposed a foreign ministers conference on the problem. Russia has agreed, so long as Poland and Czechoslovakia are permitted to attend. However, Russia wants assurances a summit meeting will follow.

Russia also wants to limit the agenda of the foreign ministers conference to Berlin whereas the Allies want to tackle the overall question of German unification and an European security.

Adequate Now, Senator Says

Johnson Convinced Of U.S. Strength

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D., Tex.) said Friday that secret testimony by top military leaders indicates this country "has adequate plans and strength to support and execute the foreign policy of the U.S."

The Senate leader did not mention the Berlin crisis as such but stressed that he was speaking of the present.

"But now and on down the road are two different things," he said.

Johnson's comments came as he left a closed-door session of the Senate preparedness subcommittee at which Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations, had been questioned for two and a half hours.

Earlier this week the watchdog defense group had questioned Army and Air Force leaders about details of their requests in relation to the new Eisenhower defense budget.

Johnson said each of the career military leaders made it clear that some things they asked had not been granted.

He said his group is seeking to learn if there are "adequate plans, programs and strength to support the nation's foreign policy." He has emphasized throughout that the inquiry is directed at the future as well as the current situation.

Johnson said that this will be a subject of major debate in the Democratic Congress this session and there may be some increases.

He noted that most large increases by Congress last year had been impounded with some of the funds released only recently.

Earlier, Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D., Wash.), a member of the preparedness subcommittee, said both Adm. Burke and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, has testified they could use more funds.

Jackson said it probably would take 250 to 300 million dollars additional to increase the Army to 925,000, the figure Taylor wants. The present administration aim is a cut to 870,000 by July.

He said that Adm. Burke wants more Navy funds for research and development and an antisubmarine warfare unit.

Civil War Vet Weaker

At the age of 112, John Salling, one of the nation's two surviving veterans of the Civil War, battled Friday against pneumonia and his condition was listed as serious.

Dr. John Mural, director of the clinic here where the old mountaineer was taken Thursday, said Salling has weakened slightly.

Dr. Munan said the aged veteran of the Confederacy was placed under an oxygen tent and was being fed intraveniously.

Castro Calls For Mourning

HAVANA, Cuba. —(AP)— Fidel Castro's government proclaimed a day of mourning Friday for the 23 students killed in an unsuccessful attempt to assassinate President Fulgencio Batista March 13, 1957.

The assassins got into the Presidential Palace and almost to the door of Batista's office before guards shot them down. Provisional President Manuel Urrutia unveiled a memorial plaque on the spot.

Five more ex-army men, including three officers, were shot by revolutionary firing squads.

of the world" as that "fantastic conspiracy" — international communism—take over nation after nation.

"It is not the goal of the American people that the U.S. should be the richest nation in the graveyard of history," he said.

Pointing to the nations gobbled up by communism in the past few decades, he said the free world must convince those people as well as the uncommitted nations that it is possible to have both "bread and the ballot."

Eisenhower called on Americans to face up to our "harsh realities" confronting them in 1959. He listed them as:

1—The free world is confronted by well-equipped standing armies of more than 6,500,000 and 25,000 warplanes of the Soviet Union, Communist China and their satellites. These are supported by atomic weapons and missiles.

2—The world is in "a great epoch of seething change" which has seen 21 independent new nations emerge from colonial status in little more than a decade. These nations are fired with "zealous nationalism" which could be harmful unless properly channeled."

3—Communism has seized control in all or part of 17 countries within the past 40 years, and is determined to push on. It continues to push on masquerading as "the wave of the future."

4—"The military position and economic prosperity of the U.S. are interdependent with those of the free world."

Several members of congress said these were convincing arguments for continuing the aid program, although not necessarily on the scale sought by the president.

The 24-year-old concert pianist had been in the Hospital for Special Surgery since Feb. 23. He underwent an operation Feb. 27 for an abscess on the middle right finger.

"No nerves were affected, but my finger feels numb — there is no feeling in it," he told newsmen as he boarded a Trans World Airlines plane at Idlewild Airport. He believes that trimming the nail caused the infection.

in military aid and defense support.

Fulbright confirmed this Friday with the remark that his committee "will need to engage in considerable surgery if the (aid) bill is to fully serve the national interest."

He accused the President of "ignoring" the letter sent him last August.

The President took indirect note in his foreign aid message of the Fulbright letter and mounting congressional criticism of world-wide military assistance.

"We do this not through choice but necessity," he said. "It is not in our nature to wish to spend our substance on weapons. We would like to see these outlays shifted to the economic benefit of our own nation and our friends abroad striving for economic progress."

Handling of the military aid program has been sharply criticized by other quarters in Congress and Comptroller General Joseph Campbell.

Congressional investigators and government auditors found that the U.S. has poured military hardware into underdeveloped countries that can't possibly absorb it.

The disappointment is certain to be expressed in terms of dollars.

The Town Crier

BY Jack Bell

THERE was a story of tragedy in Friday's Herald. The women who've worked so valiantly for Cancer Institute at Miami voted to disband and re-form as Women's Cancer Corps. They did this so that in the future they can control the money they raise, giving when and where they choose.

BELL

It isn't good. No group of women possesses the knowledge necessary to screen hospital and research activities. Neither does any lay group of men. Furthermore, ladies, the only way to raise money succesfully is hitch your wagon to a star. You need a great, successful and popular institution to which you can point with such pride that the donor will believe you. The evidence is there, unquestioned.

Your new group won't have that institution. Because by your action you've created a public impression that's not good. This is unfair to a great institution headed by Dr. J. Ernest Ayre, who is world famous and has made the institute just as well known as himself. A few days ago one of your members said she doesn't care whether women in other nations get cancer-prevention help from our institute. She's interested in Miami women. I'm sure she's sorry she showed such unconcern for humanity.

Fund raising is one activity. Operation of an institution is another. At Variety Children's Hospital we've the best flock of gals in the world, but I'd quit if they demanded to spend the money as they see fit. They won't. And our board, which does watch expenditures, gets the best medical advice first. We do the same before we build or add facilities.

In United Cerebral Palsy there's another internal hullaballo, caused mostly because heads of the women's units want to help run things, and have their backers lined up. Were they to take over fund expenditures, U.C.P. probably will go the way of Cancer Institute at Miami—.

P.S. For five years I've been chairman of Committee of 1,000, which raises $100,000 to help with the charity load at Variety Children's hospital. We don't try to tell the board or the hospital director how to spend the money. That's their job.

Drowned Guide Found

By Herald Wire Services

PALATKA — The body of a fishing guide was found in huge Lake George some 25 miles south of here Friday and sheriff's deputies sought to locate two other men who left with him Thursday on a fishing trip.

The party's boat was found submerged except for the bow. The name of the guide was given only as Allison.

The County Sheriff's Department said dragging operations in Lake George began early Friday after the fishing cruiser was found below Welaka, some 30 miles south of here, about a mile from what is known as Rocky Point.

Rescue at Sea

JACKSONVILLE —(UPI)— The Coast Guard Friday reported the rescue of five persons from a crippled, 25-foot cabin cruiser some 11 miles off the Atlantic Coast.

The stranded victims were J. S. Wells of Jacksonville and four members of his family, who were returning from a fishing trip early Wednesday night when an engine caught fire.

Wells hailed the tug Linden when his other engine began misfiring and his ship-to-shore radiophone failed to operate.

The Linden radioed the captain of the port's office and stood by until a 40-foot Coast Guard pilot boat arrived and took the cruiser in tow.

Virginia Talks

RICHMOND, Va. — (AP) — Ralph Odum, an assistant attorney general of Florida, conferred with Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. and Attorney General A. S. Harrison Jr. at the State Capitol Friday on school integration problems.

Odum told a reporter his talks with the two Virginia officials were general in nature. He said the talks were prompted by the expectation Florida's Legislature soon will consider some form of pupil preference and tuition grant legislation.

Earlier in the week an Alabama legislative committee visited Richmond for similar talks with Virgina officials.

Pastor Wounded

MILTON — (AP) — Sheriff Bart D. Broxson said a dispute between two factions in the Milton Free Will Holiness Church resulted in the wounding of the pastor.

Rev. Olen Taylor was shot in the leg late Thursday when he went to the church to put locks on the door. He was given hospital treatment and released.

Charged with intent to commit second degree murder and placed under $1,000 bond was Calvin Glover, 65. Broxson said Glover was putting up a barbed wire fence around the church when Taylor arrived.

First Farmer

Second place award went to Billie Hill of Jasper. Thomas J. Fletcher of Live Oak was given the third place award.

Young Delegates

TALLAHASSEE —(AP)— Delegates to the YMCA's Youth Legislature chose Ken Kelley, Jacksonville 17-year-old, as governor Friday and plunged into debate on make-believe bills.

Among the measures considered by the youngsters was the perennial favorite of youth legislatures, extending the right to vote to 18-year-olds.

One bill was a measure to establish three school systems in Florida—white, Negro and integrated. Another would have established a $10 penalty for failure to vote.

Drainage Contracts Awarded

JACKSONVILLE — (AP) — Two contracts amounting to nearly 2½ million dollars were awarded Friday by Army Engineers for construction designed to keep the waters of the Everglades in check during floods and protect Southern Florida from drought.

Col. Paul D. Troxler, district engineer, said the Jefferson Construction Co. of Miami, received a $1,998,448 contract for construction of a pumping station on the Miami Canal just south of the Broward-Palm Beach County line and 42 miles south of Lake Okeechobee.

Engineers said the station would provide for the rapid removal of flood waters, making about 208 square miles of tributary lands available for agricultural use.

A contract was awarded several months ago for the pumping machinery. The station will have four units rated at about 1,040 cubic feet a second.

Another contract amounting to $376,485 went to James P. Cross of New Iberia, La., for construction of a levee 8.7 miles long in North Broward County.

The section is the initial portion of Levee 38. Other sections will be completed later.

The pumping station and levee will be part of the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control project.

Collins Urges Fruit Ad Tax Extension

WINTER HAVEN —(UPI)— Gov. LeRoy Collins Friday urged the citrus industry to seek extension of its advertising tax and to continue its efforts to improve fruit quality.

The governor, speaking at the governor's luncheon at the Florida citrus exposition, addressed some 450 leaders of Florida agriculture and members of governmental agricultural agencies.

He said, "Common sense dictates that you continue your efforts in the Legislature and through the Citrus Commission and in your own plants to stirve for continuous improvement of quality."

Industrialists Chart Florida's Expansion

Natural Gas Aids State Growth

By JAMES RUSSELL
Herald Business Editor

TAMPA — The coming of natural gas to Florida is the most important industrial development in the state since the railroads and large power companies began operating here, a conference aimed at expanding Florida industry was told Friday.

RUSSELL

C. E. Stanley, chairman of the board of the Houston Corp., said completion of his company's 1,500-mile natural gas pipeline from West Texas to Miami in June will help bring in more industry and cut the costs of the state's present fuel consumers.

Stanley was one of a battery of speakers and panelists who joined here with some 200 persons from all over Florida to chart an industrial development course the state can follow as its population grows.

Proposals for dealing with Florida's dynamic industrial and population growth were numerous. They included these ideas:

ELIMINATE the tax on intangibles.

EXPAND "practical research" that can be applied to industry, particularly in the field of nuclear development.

STREAMLINE local governments—"like what is happening in Miami and Dade County" under the Metro system.

PLAN for future industrial development on a "do it yourself-basis" without any federal government help.

Harold Colee, executive vice president of the Florida Chamber of Commerce, said that unless the intangibles tax passed by the 1957 Legislature is repealed, it will hurt industrial growth.

H. R. Gonzalez, vice president of the Atlantic National Bank of Jacksonville, praised Dade County's metro government as a significant move toward "orderly development" of the proper conditions for industrialization.

Marshall Bennett, president of the Chicago chapter of the Society of Industrial Realtors, told the conference that a new industrial revolution is in the making and Florida is right in its path. He urged full cooperation between industry and land developers to speed the state's industrial growth.

Stanley, whose Houston Corp. is building the gas pipeline now inching its way into South Florida, said his firm will invest 132 million dollars in its Florida facilities. Other distributors of natural gas, he said, will either build new systems or expand present ones at a cost of 40 million.

He said availability of natuural gas will encourage new industries to come to Florida and will lead firms already in the state to expand.

Fuel will be cheaper, he said, because fuel oil producers are already cutting their prices to compete with the natural gas that is about to become available.

The first annual Florida Industrial Conference attracted industrial realtors, businessmen, governmental leaders and Chamber of Commerce officials. Dade County was represented by Metro Commissioner Charles Hall, Norvelle Sharpe, assistant director of the Dade Development Department, and Ed Keys, assistant director of the Miami-Dade County Chamber of Commerce.

The only real controversy the conference encountered centered around one speaker's contention that some railroads infringe on industrial realtors' territory by trying to handle sales of industrial sites themselves.

The conference chairman, Alfred T. Hearin of Tampa, spoke up and said there is full cooperation between railroads and realtors here. And the speaker who made the charge, LeRoy D. Owen of California, conceded that the non-cooperation is the exception rather than the rule.

Investors Like Our Looks

By JOHN McDERMOTT
Herald Staff Writer

The nation's big money men looked over Greater Miami's economy Friday.

They usually know a good thing when they see it.

They liked what they saw.

As a result, hopes are running high that the bankers will offer a favorable interest rate on 25 million dollars in bonds which will be sold next month to finance Dade's most pressing road needs.

The group has already visited Cape Canaveral and St. Petersburg.

They were cautious, even hesitant, at the outset. They remembered the "boom days" of the 1920's and the "bust" which followed.

But what they saw now was something which impressed them, for the most part, as economically solid.

Even usually reserved William D. Singer, South Florida member of the State Road Board, was almost jubilant over reactions of the bankers, insurance men and financiers who came here from the North to inspect Florida's economy.

"I have a pretty good feeling that we have sold ourselves," Singer commented following a detailed briefing of the visitors at the Fontainebleau Hotel.

Today, as a climax to their Florida tour, the financiers will take a bus-ride inspection of Miami Beach and Miami, including the new 36th St. Causeway project and the route of the planned expressways to Miami International Airport and through downtown Miami.

Typical reactions were these:

DELMONT K. PFEFFER of the First National City Bank of New York: "I never cease to marvel at the rate of growth here . . . The proposed project should be a good medium for investment.

"To us who remember the 1927-29 boom and collapse, we like to be reassured. It is hard to believe what the figures say when you sit up there in New York and study the growth here."

WILBUR M. MERRITT of The First Boston Corp. of New York: "Each time I come here, I am amazed by what I see . . . I believe this bond issue will be successfully sold."

DAVID T. MIRALIA of Kuhn, Loeb, & Co. of New York: "This looks like an extremely sound bond issue because it has gas tax money pledged to support it. Were the bonds backed by the tolls alone, most of us probably wouldn't buy 10 cents worth of them.

"That gas tax money behind them — that's the guts. Your people who planned this bond sale used sound judgment."

State Bar Steps Up Drive to Purge Ranks

Asks Disbarment Of Four Attorneys

TALLAHASSEE —(UPI)— The Florida Bar Friday stepped up its drive to strictly police the legal profession, sending four disbarment cases to the Supreme Court.

The Bar filed a complaint recommending disbarment of Lakeland Attorney Olen W. Cheshire on charges he converted a client's funds to his own use and testified falsely during the investigation. Cheshire has 30 days to ask the court to review the judgment.

Attorneys William B. Dawson III, Jacksonville; Clarence Brown, Fort Walton Beach, and Elmer O. Roberts, Fort Lauderdale, appeared before the court personally to urge reversal of bar recommendations they be disbarred.

Elmer O. Roberts
. . . urges reversal

Jacksonville Lawyer Neal D. Evans Jr., who argued for Dawson as he looked on from the sidelines, denied Dawson paid a "professional runner" to solicit business for him.

Evans said Jacksonville Photographer Charles W. Griffen Jr. mentioned Dawson to several people merely because he had a high regard for his legal talent.

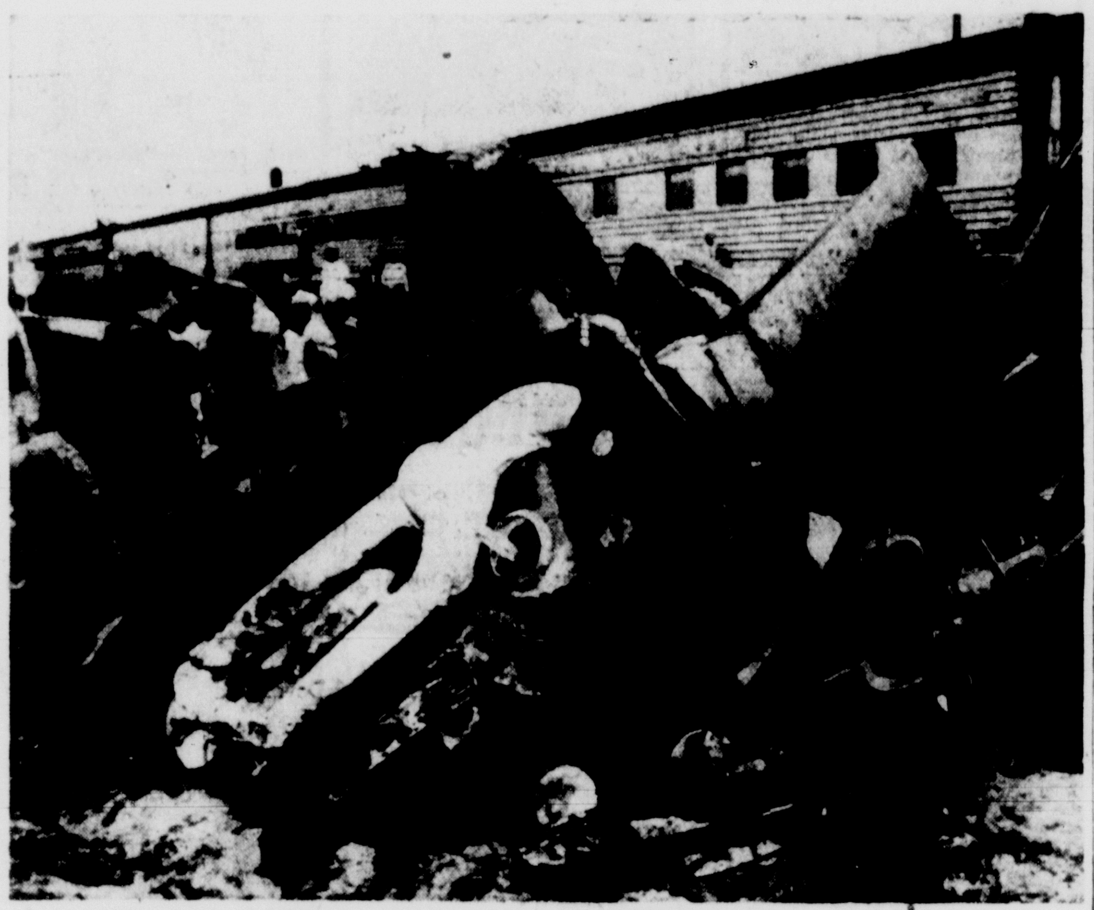
But Bar Attorney Mark Hulsey Jr., Jacksonville, said Griffen was on the lawyer's payroll and, according to the testimony of one witness, allegedly received $8,000 as his share on an $80,000 damage judgment Dawson won for a client.

Griffen and Dawson denied this, claiming the only payments Griffen received were for investigations and photographs of accidents he took for Dawson.

Hulsey said Dawson, 34, made $70,000 in the four-year period following his start in legal practice and his annual earnings since ranged up to $65,000. Evans said Dawson made money because he worked days, nights and weekends.

Brown, who argued his own case, admitted he had been slow in handing over to clients funds he got from settlements and law suits, but said it was because he was under a mental strain as a result of domestic troubles. He said he paid every cent he owed when the matter was called to his attention.

"I have learned my lesson and if you will let me off with probation, I will lean over backwards," Brown told the court. But Bar Attorney Marshall R. Cassedy, Tallahassee, insisted Brown be disbarred. He said the attorney did not pay the money until called on the carpet by his local bar grievance committee. In some instances, he said, this was nine months after the money was due.



Chip Shot

When a Florida East Coast passenger train hit this truck at a Delray Beach grade crossing, witnesses said the vehicle soared through the air like "an eight iron shot." Police taped off 112 feet it flew after impact. The driver, W. J. Downing, who leaped just before the crash, said the truck stalled. Passengers on 15-car train waited several hours for a replacement engine.

Taxpayers Have 'Bear by the Tail'

UF Med School's High Expenses Draw Fire of Dade Legislator

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Political Writer

TAXPAYERS "have a bear by the tail" in the tremendous financing costs for the new Medical School at the University of Florida, Rep. Cliff Herrell of Miami said Friday.

"Compare the cost per student to the $3,000 a year which the state contributes to train future doctors at the University of Miami and you will see what I mean," the legislator said.

The Gainesville cost per student will run approximately $30,000, based on a Budget Commission recommended $9,162,000 appropriation for handling 150 new medical students during the next two years.

Cost includes operational expenses for the new health center—but expenses which would not have been needed had the state sent its medical students to already established schools like the University of Miami.

The main argument then was that Gainesville was too far distant from a major population center. Therefore it would require not only tremendous expenditures for hospital facilities but also would have to import top notch surgeon-consultants.

Herrell and other members of the present Dade delegation — Sen. Joe Eaton and Reps. George Hollahan and David Eldredge — appeared before the Downtown Miami Kiwanis club for a pre-legislative report at the Columbus hotel.

All expressed hope that this year's session, beginning April 7, would be an economy one with no new taxes.

Herrell, who is chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said he felt all Florida lawmakers are aware they must economize or find that Florida is slipping to the verge of bankruptcy like Michigan.

He charged that the 1957 session had been guilty of "extremely careless spending" and that legislators had failed to provide a balanced budget.

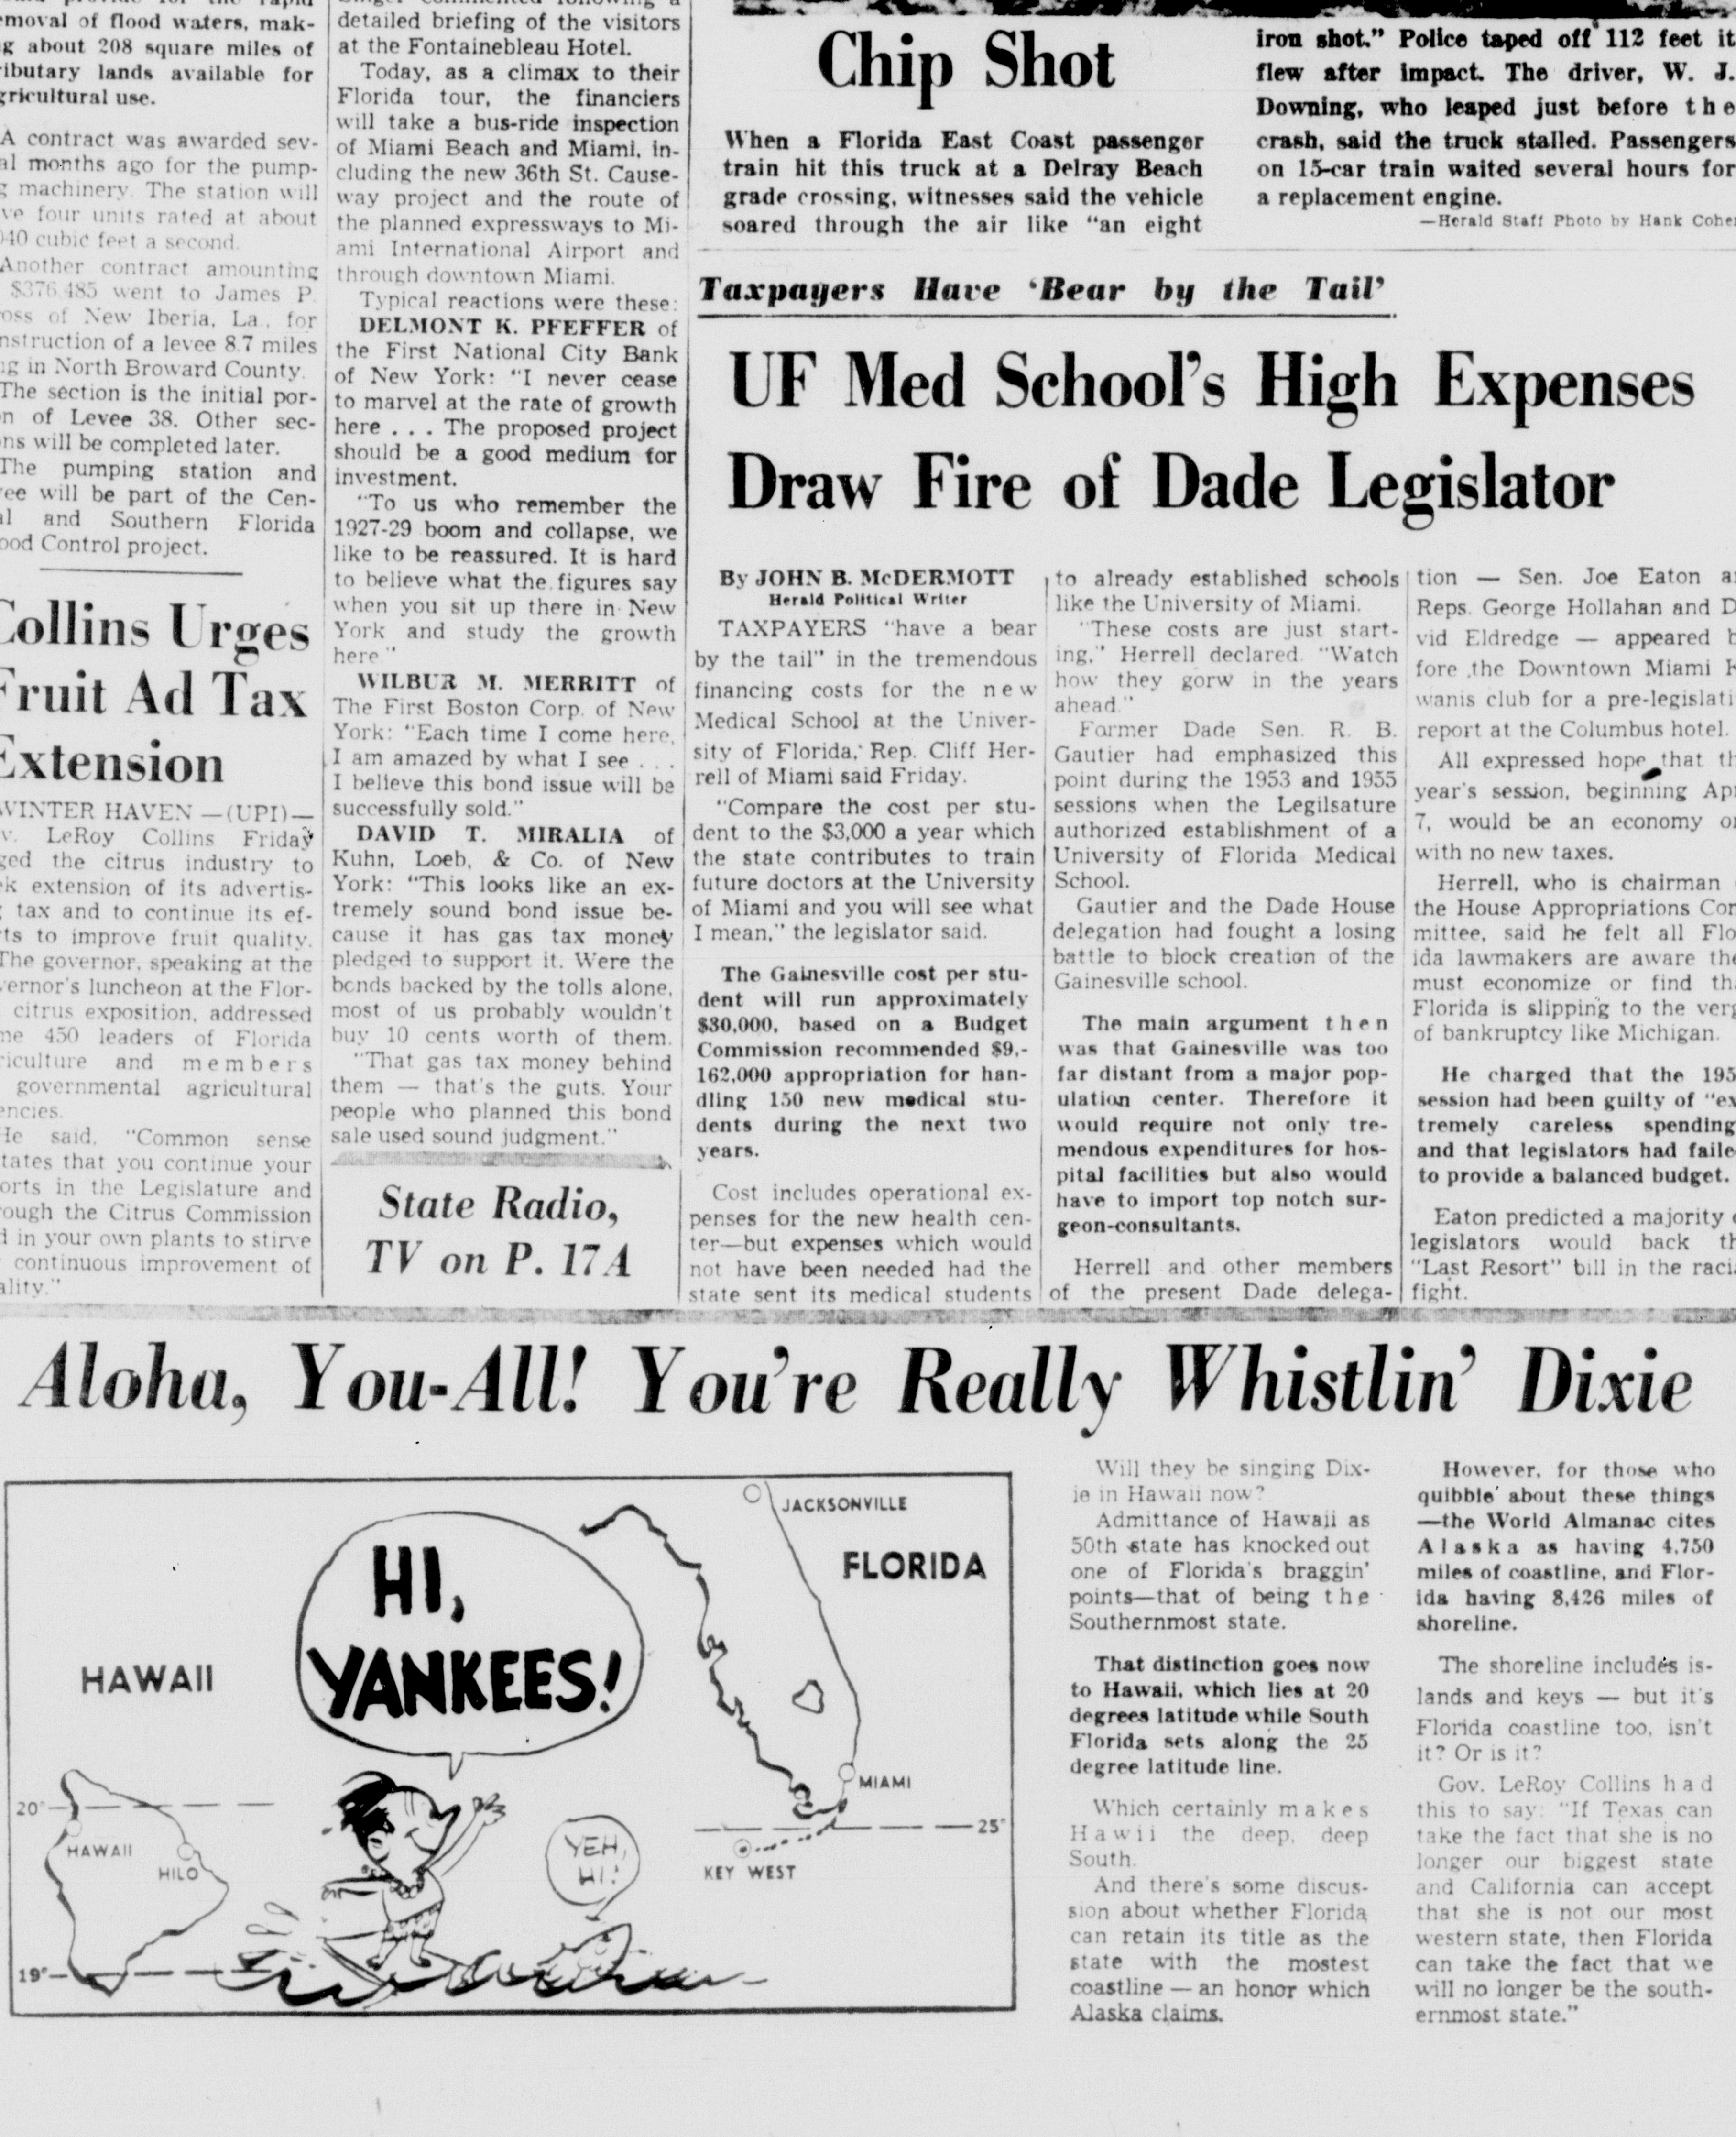
Aloha, You-All! You're Really Whistlin' Dixie



Will they be singing Dixie in Hawaii now?

Admittance of Hawaii as 50th state has knocked out one of Florida's braggin' points—that of being the Southernmost state.

That distinction goes now to Hawaii, which lies at 20 degrees latitude while South Florida sets along the 25 degree latitude line.

And there's some discussion about whether Florida can retain its title as the state with the mostest coastline — an honor which Alaska claims.

However, for those who quibble about these things —the World Almanac cites Alaska as having 4,750 miles of coastline, and Florida having 8,426 miles of shoreline.

The shoreline includes islands and keys — but it's Florida coastline too, isn't it? Or is it?

Gov. LeRoy Collins had this to say: "If Texas can take the fact that she is no longer our biggest state and California can accept that she is not our most western state, then Florida can take the fact that we will no longer be the southernmost state."

Milk Price Fixing to Go?

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — The Florida Milk Commission Friday voted 4-3 to seek legislation next month outlawing retail price fixing.

The commission retains permissive authority to set prices under the law, but voted two years ago to take off all controls except those regulating prices paid to farmers.

Chairman J. Brailey Odham of Sanford, who pushed through the vote, said he was afraid unless retail controls were outlawed by the Legislature, some future commission would reinstate them.

2 Missing Women Are Found

FORT MYERS — Marooned two days and nights on an island by high winds and seas, two women sports fishing enthusiasts returned home safe and sound Friday in their own small powerboat.

The women, Mrs. Ned Hills and Mrs. Helen Horne of Fort Myers Beach who fish together constantly, were forced ashore Wednesday by rising winds and waves on one of the many small gulf islands in the area, taking refuge in an untenanted fishing camp, making meals off the fish they had caught and from staples stored in the camphouse.

A general alarm and search of the area by the Coast Guard and local authorities ended almost before it started when the women ran out of the camphouse to signal a low-flying search plane that they were safe and could come home under their own power when weather permitted.

Large said Stock has been turned over to the county for prosecution.

Death and Riots Punctuate Africa's Freedom Demands

NEW YORK — (AP) — Africa today has one common denominator: a restless urge for freedom sweeping the Dark Continent in quick, often violent, strokes.

Two years ago, Ghana won its freedom from England. Last year Guinea declared its independence from France while a dozen other French territories received autonomous status within the French Union.

Following riots that left 34 dead in its capital city of Leopoldville, the Belgian Congo received a guarantee from Belgium of voting rights this year and independence in the future.

The most critical area today is in Nyasaland and the Rhodesias, which make up the Central African Federation.

Six years ago Britain placed Nyasaland in the federation with Northern and Southern Rhodesia. Nyasaland does not look favorably toward the federation because Southern Rhodesia's white population dominates the federation's politics.

Rioting broke out in Nyasaland when the powerful Negro political body — the African National Congress — met and demanded an end to white rule and a dissolution of the federation.

In Southern Rhodesia, Prime Minister Sir Edgar Whitehead, fearing the rioting would spread from Nyasaland into his state, declared a state of emergency and sent troops to quell the riots.

The key figure in the African Nationalist movement in Nyasaland is Dr. Hastings Banda a British-educated physician who returned to his native Nyasaland only last year after 41 years of self-imposed exile. He is bent on freeing his people.

His followers call the shrill-voiced Banda their "savior, liberator, messiah." Banda's expressed aim is to bring an end to the federation linking Rhodesia and Nyasaland and form a federation that would include Nyasaland, Tanganyika, Uganda, and parts of Northern Rhodesia, Mozambique and the Belgian Congo.

Banda has been successful in awakening Nyasaland to the idea of indepenence. He says independence will only come by agitation. After the Nyasaland riots, Banda said: "Nyasaland is now awake. Whether I am dead, alive or in jail, Nyasaland is aware."

Nyasaland is about the size of New York state in area with a population of three million Negroes and 6,000 whites. What policy England will take toward the independence drive hasn't been announced. She has been more concerned of late with settling the difficult Cyprus problem.

It is not only in Nyasaland that violence has occurred of late. Most of Africa's turbulence today, however, is connected with its politics.

An outbreak at Segou, in French Sudan, left three killed and 40 injured when rival political factions battled. In the Congo Republic capital city of Brazzaville, inter-tribal clashes left 120 dead and 300 injured.

At Durban, Union of South Africa, police battled striking Negro dock workers. An Italian district commissioner at Mogadiscio in the Italian-administered U.N. trusteeship of Somalia was stabbed.

Twenty-two African women were injured when police armed with clubs encountered 2,000 African women demonstrating near Pretoria, South Africa. Such demonstrations protesting the extension to females of a law requiring Africans to carry passes have been frequent in South Africa in recent weeks.

Many trace the unrest in African colonies south of the Sahara desert to the All-African People's Conference in Ghana last year when delegates mapped a campaign to rid the continent of colonial rule.

His Answer to Bullying

Bearded Sophomore Shoots Upperclassman

GOLDEN, Colo. — (UPI) — A sophomore at Colorado School of Mines, who broke the tradition that only seniors may grow beards, shot an upperclassman in the stomach, Sheriff Art Wermuth said.

Wermuth put Alexander Forbes Bissett II of Golden in the Jefferson County jail

His victim, Phillip Howell, 22, of Golden, was taken to St. Luke's Hospital in Denver. Doctors said he was in satisfactory condition.

Sheriff Wermuth said Bissett was told by upperclassmen Wednesday to shave his beard. He ignored them.

He put a .22-calibre pistol in his pocket when he went to a class in the mathematics building Thursday afternoon, Wermuth said. After class, a group of seniors gathered round Bissett and again told him to shear his whiskers.

Bissett replied by displaying his pistol to the 30 students around him. One said he didn't think it was loaded. Bissett fired two shots into the ground and then walked unmolested to his car.

But the upperclassmen surrounded his automobile, blocking Bissett's departure. The sophomore fired a shot more or less at random, Sheriff Wermuth said, and it struck Howell in the abdomen.

Bissett still has his beard.

Presses Will Roll Again In Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio — (AP) — The presses start rolling tonight, and The Columbus Dispatch and Citizen will make their first appearance Sunday since a strike by 70 pressmen crippled publication 15 days ago.

The Ohio State Journal, which does not have a Sunday edition, will publish Monday morning.

The settlement was reached by the publishers and Columbus Web Pressmen's Union, Local 15.

Negotiations broke off Feb. 25 after 11 weeks of unsuccessful bargaining. The pressmen struck the following night. Negotiations resumed March 5.

Federal mediators said the new 26-month contract, which replaces one that expired Dec. 31, provides the same wage package that the publishers offered at the outset.

Pressmen will receive a general increase, retroactive to Jan. 1, of $4 per week for the first year of the contract; an additional $2 weekly starting next Jan. 1, and another $2, starting July 1, 1960.

Under the old agreement, pressmen made $118.18 a week for a 37½-hour day trick, and $123.18 for a 35-hour night shift.

Piccadilly Soon Will Disappear

LONDON — (UPI) — Piccadilly Circus, London's famed circle with its flashing neon signs and Edwardian buildings ringing the statue of Eros, will be converted into a rectangular, skyscraper-bordered plaza under a building plan announced.

Under the face-lifting program announced by the London county council, the place where Britons celebrate victories and get boisterously drunk on New Year's will be unrecognizable by 1965.

All that will remain will be the slender statue of Eros, the Greek god of Love.

Flying 'Monsters' In Europe

By DAVID M. NICHOL
Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

BITBURG, Germany — The biggest and fastest operational fighter aircraft on the European mainland has made its initial bow at the U.S. Air Force base here in Bitburg.

NICHOL

The plane is the F102A, which the Air Force describes as the "Delta Dagger" and the pilots call more familiarly the "Deuce."

U.S. officials say there is no direct connection between these new arrivals to the European skies and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's manacing demands about Berlin.

This view is supported by the fact that so far there are only 12 of these thunderous monsters in the hands of the 525th Fighter Squadron. Eventually, however, the 102s are scheduled to replace the famous Sabre series throughout the whole of the 86th Fighter Interceptor Wing.

The 102s have been in squadron service in the U.S. since 1956. They are as big as a World War II medium bomber, fly faster than sound on the level, and cost 2.25 million dollars each, including one million dollars worth of electronic "magic."

In a sense the appearance of these aircraft in Germany represents the "return of a native." The Delta, or triangular wing, which is its distinguishing feature, was conceived by German designers during the World War II.

Before that, of course, it was produced "in series" by several generations of school boys who folded sheets of paper to make flying darts, but the designers were slow to follow this lead.

The Nazi collapse cut short the development of the Delta wing in Germany, but Allied scientific teams discovered the work which had been done and have continued it both in the U.S. and in Britain.

Representatives of Convair and Hughes Aircraft Co., which build the 102, were at pains here to point out their debt to the Germans. German newspapermen and German officials were among the visitors at the first public showing here.

Introduction of the new aircraft also has produced a sizzling rivalry among the fliers.

"We think of the pilot as the general manager of a multi-million dollar business," one of the company officials said, "and of the crew chief as the factory superintendent."

This may be true as far as the company is concerned, but it doesn't reflect the thinking of the fliers.

They feel themselves to be direct descendants of the gallant and legendary fighter pilots of much earlier wars. They are scornful and patronizing about "fighter-bombers," and anything else that can't catch them.

In a few short weeks here the 102 pilots have acquired swagger sticks to set them off from the rest, and a rousing squadron song.

House Probers Eye Plush Setup

Private Officers School—Why?

WASHINGTON —(UPI)— House investigators set out Friday to determine why the government is running a $700,000-a-year private school for military officers at a fashionable apartment "within spitting distance of the Pentagon."

Rep. H. R. Gross (R., Iowa) said Dr. John C. Flanagan, head of the school, will be summoned for questioning March 23 along with Defense Department officials.

The congressman said he understood that Flanagan, a former Pittsburgh psychology professor, was receiving six per cent of a cost-plus contract to teach officers how to handle the military assistance program overseas.

Gross said the school was using retired high-ranking Army officers on its teaching and administrative staff.

"They are in effect being paid twice," Gross said, "because they receive a salary in addition to their regular retirement pay. If they are needed that bad to train officers, then I think they ought to be called into active duty."

The Defense Department said in reply that the Arlington Towers apartment was chosen for the school because "suitable facilities were not otherwise available." It added that employment of retired officers made "optimum use" of their experience.

It said salaries at the school ranged from an average $9,000 a year for professional employes to $4,000 for clerical help.

Gross said he believed the military should be training "its own people" in peacetime and not turn the task over to a private school located "within spitting distance" of the Pentagon and other big military installations.

Old Folks Home Burns; 4 Missing

AURORA, Ill. — (AP) — Four persons were missing after a fire destroyed a five-story home for the aged in downtown Aurora Friday. Nine persons were injured.

Ironically, workmen were installing a fire sprinkler system in the 101-year-old building when the fire broke out. They had finished the basement installation and were working on the first floor.

Several of the 97 inmates escaped the blaze by leaping from upper windows into life nets spread by firemen.

One of those who jumped for his life was critically hurt. Seven other residents were hospitalized for shock. The other injury case was a fire captain who fractured a leg in a 30-foot fall from a collapsing ladder.

The scene of the fire was Jennings Terrace, a brick and stucco landmark built in 1857 to serve as a Methodist Girls' seminary. It had been operated since as a non-profit, non-sectarian refuge for old people.

When the blaze started in a fourth floor room, there were 80 in the building. They occupied the first four floors. On the fifth floor were 17 men residents.

The missing four and seven of the injured residents were men trapped in their top floor quarters.

Unaccounted for after the fire were Alfred Fransen, 98, oldest resident of the home; Jasper Davis, 89; Charles Bartholomew, 78, and Ernest State, age unavailable.

New Stab by U.S.

Tax Indictment Hits Gangland Host

SYRACUSE, N. Y. —(AP)— Joseph Barbara, host to the notorious Apalachin gangland convention, was indicted Friday on a charge of evading payment of $14,600 in federal income taxes.

Joseph Barbara
. . . 'too ill' to serve

This was a new stab at the 53-year-old former beer-distributor, who has managed to evade questioning by the numerous investigators who have sought to learn the reason 60 hoodlums and friends convened Nov. 14, 1957, at Barbara's mansion in Apalachin, a small community near Binghamton, N.Y.

Barbara, whose family contends he is too ill with a heart ailment to face investigators, has refused to answer subpenas. This week, an Appellate Court in Albany upheld the validity of a subpena state police taped to the front of his mansion when they could not gain entrance.

Last month, Barbara's son, Joseph Jr., 23, was indicted in New York City on a charge of perjury. He was accused of lying to the state investigation commission when he said his father had been too ill to leave his home since the gang meeting. The commission said the elder Barbara had made trips and the son had accompanied him.

Delegates to the convention were said to have discussed such topics as racketeering in the coin-machine industry, gambling in Cuba and slicing up the rackets empire of Albert Anastasia, a gangdom kingpin who was shot to death in a New York City barbershop in October, 1957.

State police broke up the convention but most of the delegates would say only that they were visiting a sick friend.

Barbara lost his beer-distributing license after the convention. He also sold his bottling business. His palatial, hill-top home is for sale. But he and his family still live there — a shuttered existence behind stone walls.

Gradual Warming Trend Forecast

Cold in North Florida, cool in South Florida.

That's the weatherman's outlook for the state — although we're in "a warming trend," he said Friday.

"There'll be scattered frost in North Florida, with temperatures probably in the mid-30s to low 40s Saturday night," Forecaster Philip Ackerman said.

But it'll be a sunny Saturday, and a few degrees warmer than Thursday or Friday.

Miamians will need light blankets for mid-50 degree temperatures Saturday night, Ackerman said.

"It should be a little warmer each day, and maybe by the end of the coming week we'll be back to above normal temperatures," he added.

Much of the eastern U.S., however, was digging itself out of a snowstorm that was blamed for at least 30 deaths. Many roads in New York, Pennsylvania, New England and New Jersey were blocked.

Eight persons died of heart attacks while shoveling snow and there were a number of weather-connected accident fatalities as snow fell amid high winds.

At the hospital the President also conferred again with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. It was Eisenhower's eighth visit with Dulles since the secretary was found to have suffered a recurrence of cancer.

Marshall, former Army chief of staff, was transferred to Walter Reed earlier this week from an Army hospital at Fort Bragg, N.C.

Citrus Dye Bill OKd; Sent to Ike

Other State News, 1B, 1C

By Herald Wire Services

WASHINGTON — The house voted Friday to allow Texas and Florida oranges to look like oranges — even if they have to be dyed.

With some good-natured bantering from California members, it sent to President Eisenhower a bill permitting Florida and Texas citrus growers to color their oranges artificially.

This is necessary, the House Interstate Commerce Committee said, because fully mature fruit from those areas "in many instances may be greenish and non-uniform in color."

The House passed the bill by a 231-94 vote. The senate passed it unanimously last month.

House opponents claimed there was danger of toxicity resulting from the coloring. Otherwise, said Rep. James Delaney (D., N. Y.), a law permitting its use wouldn't be necessary.

Californians didn't object but commented that their oranges don't have to be colored.

The Florida and Texas citrus industry has been handicapped in recent weeks by not being able to follow its customary practice of coloring oranges. The Supreme Court, at the request of the Food and Drug Administration last fall, banned the use of coloring on oranges after Feb. 28. A dye called Red 32 had been used.

The bill sent to the President Friday permits the use of a new dye known as Red 2 with lower toxicity. Use of this dye has the approval of the Food and Drug Administration. The measure also gives approval (to continued use of Red 32 dye until next May 1 to cover the transition period the growers will need to switch from the old dye to the new.

The Florida citrus industry breathed a sigh of relief. For 13 days it had gone without shipping a single colored orange and the pinch was beginning to tighten.

Former Congressman J. Hardin Peterson Sr. of Lakeland said the bill was passed just in time "to prevent a very critical situation. In the last few days there has been a regreening of Valencias which would have created a resistance to sales that always comes with re-greened fruit."

Trouble Is Ahead For Aid Request

By DAVID KRASLOW
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—The foreign aid program President Eisenhower submitted Friday to Congress is in trouble even before it gets off the ground.

It will take nothing short of a political miracle for Eisenhower to get all of the 3.9 billion dollars he asked Congress to provide for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1960.

The President asked for roughly the same amount last year and Congress whacked it about 600 million. It could happen again.

Some 370 million of that cut came in the military assistance and related "defense support" items. And there are firm indications that this is where the President again will take it on the chin.

Not that he wasn't warned. The tipoff came in a letter to him last August from eight members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The signers included Sens. William Fulbright (D., Ark.) present committee chairman; Mike Mansfield (D., Mont.), assistant majority leader; John Kennedy (D., Mass.), and Hubert Humphrey (D., Minn.).

The letter condemned the administration's military aid philosophy.

The committee members expressed "our concern that we may be pursuing a pattern of foreign aid drawn by force of habit rather than one adjusted

Ticker Tape For Lemus

NEW YORK—(AP)—New York Friday hailed President Jose Maria Lemus of El Salvador with a Broadway ticker tape parade.

Police estimated more than 150,000 persons lined the sidewalks of Lower Manhattan as a motorcade bore the President from Bowling Green to City Hall. Stock market tape and confetti poured from building windows.

Cheers and applause greeted Lemus, riding in an open car in bright sunshine with Robert C. Patterson, city commissioner of commerce.

Lemus flew here from Washington where he and President Eisenhower agreed to work toward economic integration of Central America and creation of a common market there.

Rules Out 'Fortress America'

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower submitted his $3,929,995,000 foreign aid program to the skeptical Democratic Congress Friday with a blunt warning that it may be boosted to meet the Soviet threat to Europe.

He specifically pointed to the Berlin crisis, declaring it could have "perilous consequences" if Russia refuses to back down on its demands. But he said foreign aid had played a big part in enabling the free world to stand firm "in these tense moments."

The President's program promptly ran into Democratic demands that it be cut. Senate Democratic Whip Mike Mansfield of Montana, a member of the powerful Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he thought it could be reduced "drastically," to about three billion.

Foreign Relations Chairman J. William Fulbright (D., Ark.) rapped Eisenhower for showing "little disposition to tailor the program realistically to meet changes in the world situation." He said the committee "will need to engage in considerable surgery if the bill is to fully serve the national interest."

Other Democratic leaders took a show-me attitude and called for an end to "waste and inefficiency" in the aid program. Rep. Wayne Hays (D, Ohio) challenged the President's reference to Berlin. He said "not a nickel" of the new money would help in that crisis.

The President sought about $1,600,000,000 in military aid and $2,330,000,000 in economic aid to help this country's allies counter the "broad and deep" Communist challenge in the fiscal year starting July 1.

But he said a special commission studying the aid program has indicated it will recommend an increase in military aid, primarily for weapons to North Atlantic Treaty Nations. He promised to send Congress further proposals after the commission submits a report, probably next week.

All indications were that the President would have to fight even harder for his aid program this year than he did in 1958 when he seized on every opportunity — including letters to influential citizens—to plug it.

But the President fired the first round in a message to Congress which scorned the "Fortress America" concept held by some of his critics.

The U.S., sitting alone, could become the wealthiest and mightiest nation on earth, he said, and "still lose the battle

Treat Marriage as Illness, Court Rules

She Quit to Wed; Gets Jobless Pay, Anyway

ALBANY, N.Y. — (AP) — A woman who quit her job to get married is entitled to unemployment insurance, the Court of Appeals says.

The state's highest tribunal, in a 5-2 decision, said a lower court was right in allowing benefits to Mrs. Keith I. Shaw of North Tonawanda.

Mrs. Shaw quit work as a clerk-typist at an Albany insurance company in July, 1956, saying she planned to be married and move to Western New York.

Her employer contested her claim for unemployment insurance in court.

The appellate division decided 3-1 in Mrs. Shaw's favor, ruling that marriage "ought to be treated as illness or other events of important personal consequence to the worker."

State law provides that a person who leaves a job "for good cause" and intends to seek other employment is entitled to unemployment pay. Industrial groups contended the court's decision meant the state would be underwriting honeymoons.

About $200 in benefits was involved in Mrs. Shaw's case.

Adenauer, Macmillan End Talks

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eiswnhower will deliver a radio-television report to the people Monday night on the Berlin crisis and "the general security position of the U.S. and its allies," The White House announced Friday.

The announcement came shortly after the President told Congress in a special foreign aid message that the "tense" Berlin deadlock could have "perilous consequences" if Russia refused to back down on its demands.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President would speak from 9:30 to 10 p.m., EST., Monday over all radio and television networks. The prime evening hours assured him a maximum audience.

Hagerty described Eisenhower's address as "a report to the American people on the evolving Berlin situation and the general security position of the U.S. and its allies."

Besides discussing the immediate threat in Berlin, the President was expected to carry to the people his fight with congressional Democrats over the size of the armed forces. He has accused some Democrats of "hysterical" attitude toward recurring crisis.

The report also will be a prelude to the President's conferences at Camp David, Md., next weekend with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. The talks are scheduled to get underway Friday, the day after Macmillan arrives in Washington.

Macmillan concluded two days of talks Friday with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. They were said to have reached full agreement on how to cope with Russia's threatened attempt to force the Allies out of Berlin.

Adenauer had sought assurances that Britain would not agree to any Soviet plan that would leave Germany divided and West Germany defenseless against the Communists.

In Moscow, the official Soviet press burst loose with a barrage of charges that the West wanted to go to war to settle the Berlin issue while Russia was trying to negotiate a peaceful solution.

The West has proposed a foreign ministers conference on the problem. Russia has agreed, so long as Poland and Czechoslovakia are permitted to attend. However, Russia wants assurances a summit meeting will follow.

Russia also wants to limit the agenda of the foreign ministers conference to Berlin whereas the Allies want to tackle the overall question of German unification and an European security.

to current international realities."

They complained of a "serious distortion in the present relative importance attached to military and related aid on the one hand and technical and . . . economic development assistance on the other.

"Overemphasis on military assistance has tended unavoidably to involve the U.S. in situations in which our aid may have contributed to the maintenance in power of regimes which have lacked broad support within the countries we have assisted."

Then the warning:

"We write you at this time because we are aware that budgets for the mutual security program are prepared many months in advance."

It is clear that the President will have the roughest sort of time getting by Fulbright and company with his current request for over 2.4 billion dollars in military aid and defense support.

Fulbright confirmed this Friday with the remark that his committee "will need to engage in considerable surgery if the (aid) bill is to fully serve the national interest."

He accused the President of "ignoring" the letter sent him last August.

The President took indirect note in his foreign aid message of the Fulbright letter and mounting congressional criticism of world-wide military assistance.

"We do this not through choice but necessity," he said. "It is not in our nature to wish to spend our substance on weapons. We would like to see these outlays shifted to the economic benefit of our own nation and our friends abroad striving for economic progress."

Handling of the military aid program has been sharply criticized by other quarters in Congress and Comptroller General Joseph Campbell.

Congressional investigators and government auditors found that the U.S. has poured military hardware into underdeveloped countries that can't possibly absorb it.

The disappointment is certain to be expressed in terms of dollars.

2 Trapped Men Drown

SPARTANBURG, S. C. — (AP) — A flume gate gave way Friday and trapped two electricians working on a water turbine beneath the floor of the Startex Mills power generating plant at Berry Shoals. Both drowned. A foreman, above the floor, barely escaped.

The torrent of water, loosened when the 20-year-old gate broke, filled the power house and shot 75 feet into the air above it.

The victims were identified as Erneat Dillard, about 33, of the Hadden Heights section near here and Garvin Pace, about 45, of Lake Lure, N. C. Both were employed by the J. Frank Blakely Co. in Spartanburg.

of the world" as that "fantastic conspiracy" — international communism—take over nation after nation.

"It is not the goal of the American people that the U.S. should be the richest nation in the graveyard of history," he said.

Pointing to the nations gobbled up by communism in the past few decades, he said the free world must convince those people as well as the uncommitted nations that it is possible to have both "bread and the ballot."

Eisenhower called on Americans to face up to our "harsh realities" confronting them in 1959. He listed them as:

1—The free world is confronted by well-equipped standing armies of more than 6,500,000 and 25,000 warplanes of the Soviet Union, Communist China and their satellites. These are supported by atomic weapons and missiles.

2—The world is in "a great epoch of seething change" which has seen 21 independent new nations emerge from colonial status in little more than a decade. These nations are fired with "zealous nationalism" which could be harmful unless properly channeled."

3—Communism has seized control in all or part of 17 countries within the past 40 years, and is determined to push on. It continues to push on masquerading as "the wave of the future."

4—"The military position and economic prosperity of the U.S. are interdependent with those of the free world."

Several members of congress said these were convincing arguments for continuing the aid program, although not necessarily on the scale sought by the president.

The 24-year-old concert pianist had been in the Hospital for Special Surgery since Feb. 23. He underwent an operation Feb. 27 for an abscess on the middle right finger.

"No nerves were affected, but my finger feels numb — there is no feeling in it," he told newsmen as he boarded a Trans World Airlines plane at Idlewild Airport. He believes that trimming the nail caused the infection.

Call Red Bluff--Taylor

Army Chief Says Firmness Needed

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor told Congress in testimony made public Friday night that he believed a "national determination" to go to war over Berlin, if necessary, would deter Russia from starting hostilities over the city.

The Army chief of staff, who recently gave the hitherto secret testimony to the Senate preparedness subcommittee, seemed to indicate that other members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff had discussed the matter and shared Taylor's view.

Taylor said he believed the best way to avoid war was to show Russia clearly that this country is ready to fight if necessary. He said the joint chiefs have plans to meet the Berlin crises and the Army has the strength — at home and abroad — to carry them out.

Taylor, whose testimony was heavily censored for security reasons, said the Army would go into any battle for Berlin with "the capability" to use nuclear weapons.

But he added that President Eisenhower would have the final voice on whether to use them.

Taylor also testified that if the total conventional military strength of Communist armies were thrown against the free world forces, the allies could not defend themselves if "we abstained from using nuclear weapons.

The Army chief also threw some cold water on the widely accepted notion that a general war fought with nuclear weapons would be over in a few days. He conceded the "decisive part" of the war might end quickly.

But he said "it might take 100 years to end the desolation and restore some form of order." He commented soberly that "there is no reason to believe that peace is going to ensue at once, except, perhaps, the peace of the dead."

Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D., Tex.), referring to a statement by Taylor that Berlin is "untenable" from a military standpoint, asked "what alternative do we have if the Communists are determined to use force?"

"In my judgment, the clear evidence of national determination to go to war if necessary for Berlin," Taylor replied. "The effect of such an attitude would deter the Soviets from having a final showdown at this time."

Taylor said that many top military leaders now regard the 1948-49 Berlin airlift as a mistake. The general said force should have been tried when the Russians blocked highways and other ground routes into Berlin.

"Instead we yielded to a challenge which may well have been a bluff," Taylor continued. "We will never know to what extent the U.S.S.R. would have gone to maintain the ground blockade by force."

Postman Al Fligge Says Goodby to Midnight
. . . a few hours before the faithful dog died

Only Death Stayed Faithful Courier

"We were planning to retire about the same time," said the veteran mailman, "but old Midnight beat me to it."

Midnight was a spry, playful two-year-old when he and Fligge first met in 1948. "He kept coming over to the relay box on the corner and I kept petting him," Fligge recalled.

Before long the dog, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Engel, was accompanying Fligge faithfully on his rounds. A strong bond grew between them. Midnight whined and brooded whenever Fligge was ill and needed a substitute.

A few weeks ago it became apparent that the dog could not live much longer. Unable to negotiate steps and unsure of his feet, Midnight stumbled to the ground often, hitting his chin.

Mrs. Engel wanted the dog at home this last day. But he fussed and moaned when the door closed behind Fligge. Mrs. Engel opened it and let the dog out. "That was what he wanted," she said.

Midnight stumbled down the front steps and tried to hurry after Fligge. The mailman stopped and waited patiently for him. Together they moved off down the street.

Midnight died a few hours later.

Tot Beater Gets Lesson

LINCOLN, England — (UPI) — Fellow prisoners were so angered at the short sentence given Patrick J. O'Sullivan for beating his six-year-old daughter they beat him so badly he was sent to the prison hospital, it was disclosed.

O'Sullivan was sentenced to two months for causing grievous bodily harm to his daughter, Norah.

Inmates of a London prison seized him while he was en route to the prison chapel, dragged him into the lavatory and mauled him thoroughly. He suffered concussion, shock, a split upper lip and scalp wounds.

One prisoner, irked at O'Sullivan's perpetual smile, was said to have muttered. "We'll put that smile on the other side of his face."

The Town Crier

BY Jack Bell

THERE was a story of tragedy in Friday's Herald. The women who've worked so valiantly for Cancer Institute at Miami voted to disband and re-form as Women's Cancer Corps. They did this so that in the future they can control the money they raise, giving when and where they choose.

BELL

It isn't good. No group of women possesses the knowledge necessary to screen hospital and research activities. Neither does any lay group of men. Furthermore, ladies, the only way to raise money succesfully is hitch your wagon to a star. You need a great, successful and popular institution to which you can point with such pride that the donor will believe you. The evidence is there, unquestioned.

Your new group won't have that institution. Because by your action you've created a public impression that's not good. This is unfair to a great institution headed by Dr. J. Ernest Ayre, who is world famous and has made the institute just as well known as himself. A few days ago one of your members said she doesn't care whether women in other nations get cancer-prevention help from our institute. She's interested in Miami women. I'm sure she's sorry she showed such unconcern for humanity.

Fund raising is one activity. Operation of an institution is another. At Variety Children's Hospital we've the best flock of gals in the world, but I'd quit if they demanded to spend the money as they see fit. They won't. And our board, which does watch expenditures, gets the best medical advice first. We do the same before we build or add facilities.

In United Cerebral Palsy there's another internal hullaballo, caused mostly because heads of the women's units want to help run things, and have their backers lined up. Were they to take over fund expenditures, U.C.P. probably will go the way of Cancer Institute at Miami—.

P.S. For five years I've been chairman of Committee of 1,000, which raises $100,000 to help with the charity load at Variety Children's hospital. We don't try to tell the board or the hospital director how to spend the money. That's their job.

Rural Project Pays Off

By BILL BUNGE
Melbourne Bureau Chief

BUNGE

MELBOURNE — Hard work by resident volunteers and $600 raised through community fish frys are giving the kids — and adults, too — in the big Grant - Micco rural area some top-notch recreation facilities.

Marshall Richards, postmaster of unincorporated Grant, is the spirit behind this project, according to Ralph Carter, county recreation director. "This program is an example of what rural areas can do to help themselves," Carter said.

In the past, residents of that area depended on Melbourne, 10 miles to the north, to provide recreation and entertainment. Now these folks will be able to find a lot to do right at home.

They have used volunteer labor, plus considerable donated material, to turn an abandoned 39-year-old school house into a youth and community center. The building has a kitchen, new rest rooms, and is still getting more work done to it.

Only equipment in the center thus far is a record player, but more is expected to be installed.

Around the center building will go a baseball field and playground. And down at the river a boat ramp is under construction.

"When people build their own recreation facilities, we know darned well they'll use them," Carter commented. "These people here probably have started something that should spread throughout all the rural sections of Brevard."

Eligible members used to live in the Western New York area that is bounded by Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Lockport, Lancaster, Elma, East Aurora and Hamburg.

Break Seen

People in the mortgage and real estate fields expect a break in the tight Federal Housing Authority controls placed on Brevard residents connected with military activity.

Up to now, FHA rules have been working against missile workers looking for substantial low-cost homes. But more FHA commitments, under which houses can be purchased by defense workers are seen on the way here.

These should help out until some of the recently announced multi-million dollar housing developments can be started and homes ready for sale.

Negro School Site Is Eyed by Board

By DAN BROWN
Cocoa Bureau Chief

COCOA — Brevard School Board member Jack Crockett said Friday possible replacement has been found for a Negro school site which is the center of a storm.

Crockett and a fellow board member, Mrs. Elsie Laroche of Merritt Island, learned of the possible site during a Friday afternoon huddle with officials of Cocoa and Rockledge.

The site, he said, might replace one in nearby Rockledge. The Rockledge site became a storm center last week when the Rockledge City Council refused a building permit for the school because it was to go up in a "white area."

Crockett declined to disclose the exact location of the possible replacement on the grounds that "if the owner gets wind of it, he'll jack the price up."

But the school board member said the possible site is "within the Cocoa Negro section (which it will serve) . . . and near an existing Negro school."

He and Cocoa Mayor Gary Bennett said the proposed site has some Negro homes on it, but Bennett said it could be "cleared off."

All participants in the Friday meeting toured the site Friday afternoon, Bennett and Crockett said, but neither said who suggested the possible site. "We don't want to get into (the controversy), but we'll do all we can to help, Bennett said.

The two also said the tour covered another possible site which was rejected "because it was just plain impossible," Crockett said.

Rockledge voters started the school site storm last week by heaping objections to the school on their City Council and its school board.

Councilmen led by Council Chairman R. L. Murrell refused a building permit after hearing the arguments, and Mayor J. W. Wilkins subsequently said his city felt "there's no reason why it should have the school."

He argued only "22 Negroes live in Rockledge." About 3,000 Negroes live in Cocoa, according to Bennett's estimate.

The Rockledge site is the Cocoa-Rockledge line just west of the Florida East Coast Railway tracks. The southernmost homes of Cocoa's Negro section are within a few yards of it.

Construction of a Negro elementary school is a "great need," Crockett said.

He pointed out Friday that the existing Negro school in Cocoa has 816 pupils. It was designed for 240, he said.

The new school planned by the Brevard School Board will be a 26-classroom plant exactly like the county's new white elementary schools.

A contract for its construction has already been awarded to Ken Smith of Daytona Beach.

Extension of Tax On Citrus Urged

WINTER HAVEN — (UPI) — Gov. LeRoy Collins Friday urged the citrus industry to seek extension of its advertising tax and to continue its efforts to improve fruit quality.

The governor, speaking at the governor's luncheon at the Florida citrus exposition, addressed some 450 leaders of Florida agriculture and members of governmental agricultural agencies.

He said, "Common sense dictates that you continue your efforts in the Legislature and through the Citrus Commission and in your own plants to strive for continuous improvement of quality."

He added, "This is not the time to slacken and regress in our advertising and promotional efforts. These efforts were largely responsible for the fact that consumers continue buying citrus in heavy volume despite higher prices."

The installation of a cobalt irradiator at the University of Florida, Collins said, "will give Florida agricultural scientists the means for developing new methods for altering plants and animals so they can be grown more profitably, with effective disease resistance mutations."

He called the Citrus Commission "an important guiding factor in the industry for 23 years (and) more clearly than ever before proved its value to the industry last winter."

Florida Citrus Mutual, the big growers cooperative, is "a truly outstanding organization" Collins said. He added that during last winter it did much "to prevent panic during the freezes by getting facts, analyzing them and spreading sound information."

Sen. Stuart Symington (D., Mo.) had been scheduled to deliver the main address, but he was detained in Washington.

Also present were Florida Sens. Spessard Holland and George Smathers.

To Ease Cape Traffic

SRD To Wrap Up Brevard Highway Needs in Package

Officials Get Data In 10 Days

By BILL BUNGE
Melbourne Bureau Chief

MELBOURNE — The State Road Department is going to wrap up all of its highway plans for easing the Air Force Missile Test Center traffic jam into one package and present it to Brevard County officials within 10 days, County Commission Chairman Max K. Rodes reported Friday.

Rodes said this will include the Cape Canaveral Causeway; four-lane State Road 401, from State Road 520 in Cocoa northward, and the resurfacing of State Road A1A, between the Patrick Air Force Base south gate and State Road 516 at Indialantic.

The county official said this policy was agreed upon during a session between SRD, Brevard County and Air Force officials at DeLand. A 30-day time limit originally was discussed, but the state officials said "they could give us the program in 10 days" for county inspection, Rodes said.

In presenting Brevard's request for future work, Rodes said only two projects were listed. These included working toward completion of U.S. 1 four-laning and SRD acceptance of a proposed alignment for constructing a causeway across the Banana River to A1A on Merritt Island.

This causeway is expected to help ease the traffic problem around the Cape Canaveral area.

No right-of-way has as yet been dedicated for this Cape causeway over the river, but "the Canaveral Port Authority has promised to give the necessary easements if the SRD would accept the project as part of its primary road program," said Rodes.

State officials were told that Brevard plans on giving up all 1959 secondary road projects if this would help the SRD improve the county's primary roads. Such a plan would release $188,000 for primary road construction. The SRD is committed to four-lane U.S. 1, but lacks right-of-way.

State Rep. James H. Pruitt of Eau Gallie said Friday that both Gov. LeRoy Collins and Joe Grotegut, SRD chairman, are shooting at "four-laning U.S. 1 through Brevard — including two dangerous bridges at Eau Gallie — within the next two years. The governor's term ends at that time.

"The state has been working on a Brevard road program," Rodes said, "but there is nothing definite on the projects at this time. We were promised at DeLand that the SRD would come up with a firm program for the county within 10 days."

2nd Group Looking at A Merger

MELBOURNE — Interest in area governmental consolidation in South Brevard County appears to be picking up as a second group is being formed to study and promote the idea.

Neill Johnson, prominent civic leader and retired businessman, has been picked to head a five-man committee to organize a citizens committee on consolidation.

Other members of Johnson's group are William S. Fenner, Laco Rhodes, John F. Turner Sr., and Harvey Huggins.

"We hope for early and definite action in the field of area consolidation," Johnson said.

Another group of citizens recently started a study on consolidation, too. That committee is headed by Hal Gettings, and also comprised prominent business and civil leaders from South Brevard.

Dr. Selim McArthur (right) shows Dr. Hollis Potter one of a vast collection of rare books on ships which he recently donated to the Martin County Library at Stuart. The life-time collection covers the history of sailing ships from Egyptians, Romans and Phoenicians to the American Clipper. The collection will be kept in glass cases, but will be available to the public on request, said Robert Hamilton, librarian.

On Plea of Technical Error

Housing Project Protest Hearing Date Postponed

By GENE BURNETT
Herald Correspondent

TITUSVILLE — A temporary injunction hearing to halt the construction of a white and Negro low-cost federal housing project in Eau Gallie was dismissed on a technicality by Circuit Judge Volie A. Williams Friday when defense attorneys claimed they were improperly served.

However, the technicality was invoked by County Attorney Wm. G. Akridge due to "insufficient" time to prepare the case and a hearing date was reset for Mar. 26, at 10 a.m.

Akridge said the service made by the law firm of Roth and Roth, Orlando, on Lloyd W. Ramshur, executive director of the Brevard County Housing Authority, gave the county "only a day and a half" to prepare the case.

The suit is being brought by a group of white residents in Sunwood Park and Sunset Hills two subdivisions which adjoin the project at the southwest corner. The northeast side of the development has Negro residents. The project itself will contain duplexes for 14 Negro families and 10 white families and the plaintiffs claim that it will devaluate their property and that the site is zoned only for single family dwellings.

In granting the dismissal motion, Judge Williams told attorneys the notice should have been served on the authority chairman, Gen. Ellerbe W. Carter, Titusville, instead of Ramshur, an "employe," and on the mayor of Eau Gallie, Milton McGrath, instead of City Attorney Clark Maxwell.

According to Ramshur, the authority had been notified May 14, 1957 by Maxwell that the project was zoned for multiple-family housing. An agreement for construction of the $240,751 project was entered with United Builders last Nov. 25 and on Dec. 8, the order to proceed with construction was signed.

The completion date is June 5 and, according to Project Architect Ralph Spice, Daytona Beach, delay beyond June 5 would result in penalties of "at least $36 a day."

Police Capture Mystery Sniper

FORT PIERCE — Fort Pierce police Thursday solved the case of a downtown shooter, with the arrest of Eugene Harriel, 20, of 521 N. 14th St., charged with destroying private property on two counts, and discharging firearms in the city limits.

Harriel, an employe of a store on Orange Avenue, had been taking shots from a window.

He has broken three plate glass windows of stores across the street, with BB shot.

He told officers he did not mean to hit anyone and did not realize the shot would glance off the walls.

The police have been working on the case since the first complaints began coming in about a month ago.

Second FEC Stop Sought

EAU GALLIE — City officials are attempting to have a second Florida East Coast Railroad mail train make daily stops here so residents can have an afternoon mail delivery.

If the second Miami-Jacksonville train would stop during the early afternonn, Postmaster D. J. (Bo) Jones reported, mail would be received in time for the additional delivery.

Grand Jury Action Due In Slayings

Herald Service

TITUSVILLE — Two murder indictments may be returned Monday when the Brevard County Grand Jury goes into session for the spring term of Circuit Court.

Neil J. Rich, 30-year-old Eau Gallie construction foreman, is free on $5,000 bond after coroner's jury returned a charge of second degree murder in the shotgun slaying of his wife, Wanda, 26, at their Eau Gallie home last Oct. 28.

Shelley Williams, 50, of Cocoa, is being held on a first degree murder charge for the butcher knife slaying of his sister, Minnie C. Cornell, last Feb. 8. Williams confessed to slashing his sister's throat in their Cocoa home after a quarrel.

These will be the principle cases on the grand jury's list Monday.

A venire list of 48 citizens has been summoned to make up the 18-man jury which will be impaneled by Circuit Judge Vassar Carlton.

Judge Carlton will sound the spring term docket the following day, Tuesday, and trials should begin Monday, March 23.

'Bell' Tinkled at Start But Rang Lustily Late

By JACK ANDERSON
Herald Radio-TV Editor

FOR AWHILE Thursday night Playhouse 90's two-part production on Channel 4 of Ernest Hemingway's "For Whom the Bell Tolls" appeared to be developing little more than a dramatic tinkle.

The opening scenes were fitful, the continuity was fragmentary, and we were all too aware that its Spanish mountainous setting was an acre of papier-mache scenery in a New York studio.

But as the minutes ticked by, A. E. Hotchner's adaptation of the Hemingway epic and a superb cast began to work the magic of theater.

By the end of the hour-and-a-half, we were emotionally caught up in the interplay of real people in a real situation.

Jason Robards Jr. is excellent as the American guerilla fighter bent on blowing up a bridge to cut off the advance of the Spanish fascist forces.

He has just the right ruggedness and embittered intensity of feeling for the role. Maria Schell is a believable Maria.

* * *

THE REAL TRIUMPH of Part I was Maureen Stapleton's. Although bearing no resemblance to the fat and ugly Pilar as Hemingway describes her, Miss Stapleton conveys the essence of her completely in a remarkably intelligent performance.

It remains to be seen whether a week's separation in the two parts of the drama will spoil the production as a whole.

At least it has gotten off to an effective start.

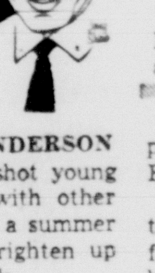
Steel Hour Tendered Fans Seldom Seen Comedy Type

"THE SQUARE Egghead" on CBS' Steel Hour Wednesday night was a happy little romantic comedy.



We seldom see this sort of play on television. There seems to be some idea among TV producers that the comedy department is amply taken care of in series form, which it isn't.

"The Square Egghead" told ANDERSON the story of a hot-shot young salesman enrolled with other junior executives in a summer college course to brighten up their cultural outlook.

June Lockhart portrayed the instructor who had to contend with these young business types who include one academic gold brick (Tom Ewell) more interested in play than Plato.

The play ends, of course, with teacher and student finding each other so mutually beguiling that they can live happily ever after.

It was nice to see Miss Lockhart away from her full-time assignment as dispenser of kibbles to Lassie. And the play was exactly tailored to Ewell's talents.

Nobody can better portray the would-be faun whose difficulty is that while his bottom half may be goat, the upper half is certified public accountant.

WKAT PRESIDENT Frank Katzentine has given in to the surprising (or was it so surprising?) volume of pleas for the return to his daily schedule of Don McNeill's Breakfast Club. The program was restored last Monday morning.

To demonstrate to WKAT that it has made no mistake, why don't you Breakfast Club fans send the station a card or a note? Address it to WKAT, 1759 Bay Rd., Miami Beach.

So many listeners holler about the quality of radio programming. It would encourage broadcasters to drop the tripe, if they could hear regularly from listeners approving of what is good.

* * *

MOTHERS and dads worried that junior may have his little mind scarred by the horror fare on television can relax. I found out the other day that these spooks and vampires are wasting their time on the tots. In the fright department, that is.

Little Kathy Marrone, the seven-year-old daughter of Ernie Marrone, one of our printers, is so nuts about M. T. Graves, the Sunday afternoon horror on Channel 7, she sent him a fan letter the other day.

Her dad let me see her laboriously shaped paeans of praise before he put the letter in the mail box. There was even a postscript of three sets of kisses for the television ghoul.

Two days later, the telephone rang in the Marrone home at 15341 NW 31st Ave. A voice like a shrill burlesque of Eleanor Roosevelt's asked for Kathy. It was her heeero.

Ernie told me Kathy was as petrified with joy as a teenager would be if she heard Elvis Presley whispering at her.

Now what's that again about TV's scaring the daylights out of the very young? The only thought that lingers with me about Kathy is that her taste had better improve. Ernie doesn't want a future son-in-law looking and sounding like M. T. Graves.

* * *

WTVJ'S Jackie Pierce telephoned the other day. She's been made the station's women's news editor and she's already sounding like Brenda Starr reporter.

Jackie says her assignment is to cover the distaff front with microphone and cameraman. Her news and interviews get daily exposure at noon on Channel 4.

WCKT (Ch. 7) is looking for a women's news editor, too. The station has auditioned a lot of candidates but nobody suitable has turned up yet. Or hadn't when this was written.

* * *

HERE AND THERE: WCKR is offering six free trips to Europe and 200 short-wave radios in a Crusade for Freedom contest. Deejays Don Franklin and Bob Perry are sparking the contest. Listeners are asked to write a 25-word "truth message" to be broadcast behind the Iron Curtain. Deadline is March 28 . . . WQAM's news director Paul Rust is helping out the Retail Merchants Association's campaign against shoplifting. Rust broadcast's who's been nabbed by police, why and where . . . NBC's George Gobel may be CBS' Gobel next fall. Lever Brothers, the soap syndicate, is dickering with ole Lonesome for a program as alternate to Jack Benny . . . Phil Silvers told Atlanta Constitution TV columnist Paul Jones he's giving up his Sgt. Bilko show as a weekly regular in May. He wants to do the show in a limited number of special presentations.

Persons and Programs

Audrey Meadows will sit in for Ed Murrow on CBS-TV's Person To Merson March 27—Murrow will be on a news assignment in England.

Janet Blair and John Raitt will take over the NBC-TV Dinah Shore spot on June 7 for 17 shows.

Dorothy Kirsten and Edie Adams also will be featured on some of the summer series.

NBC-TV's Today is planning a remote from Titusville, Pa., to commemorate the oil strike in that town 100 years ago.

State Jobless Payments Drop

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — February jobless payments dropped a half million dollars under January's reflecting improved business conditions following the recession, Industrial Commission Chairman James T. Vocelle said Friday.

Vocelle said he was heartened that unemployment benefits increased in only three areas of the state, Fort Pierce, Fort Myers and Sanford. These increases were only slight, ranging from $192 at Sanford to $743 at Fort Pierce.

Mayor Urges Reward Plan

TAMPA — (UPI) — Mayor Nick Nuccio sought Friday a legislative measure which would allow the city to offer rewards up to $25,000 in connection with capital offenses.

Nuccio acted after private citizens raised $11,000 reward money for information leading to the conviction of the killer of Bernardo (Bennie) Lazzara, who was ambushed at his home early Monday.

Nuccio told City Attorney Ralph Marsicano to draw up a bill for submission to the 1959 legislature giving the city the authority to offer the money.

Cuba Provides Watermelon

JACKSONVILLE — (UPI) — What's a watermelon convention without a watermelon?

The annual state watermelon growers and distributors Association convention opened Friday, but officials were unable to find a ripe melon in the state.

However, Delta Airlines came to the rescue — much to the embarrassment of association officials. The air lines flew in six excellent specimens — from Cuba, not south Florida.

Industrialists Chart Florida's Expansion

Natural Gas Aids State Growth

By JAMES RUSSELL
Herald Business Editor

RUSSELL

TAMPA — The coming of natural gas to Florida is the most important industrial development in the state since the railroads and large power companies began operating here, a conference aimed at expanding Florida industry was told Friday.

C. E. Stanley, chairman of the board of the Houston Corp., said completion of his company's 1,500-mile natural gas pipeline from West Texas to Miami in June will help bring in more industry and cut the costs of the state's present fuel consumers.

Stanley was one of a battery of speakers and panelists who joined here with some 200 persons from all over Florida to chart an industrial development course the state can follow as its population grows.

Proposals for dealing with Florida's dynamic industrial and population growth were numerous. They included these ideas:

ELIMINATE the tax on intangibles.

EXPAND "practical research" that can be applied to industry, particularly in the field of nuclear development.

STREAMLINE local governments—"like what is happening in Miami and Dade County" under the Metro system.

PLAN for future industrial development on a "do it yourself-basis" without any federal government help.

Harold Colee, executive vice president of the Florida Chamber of Commerce, said that unless the intangibles tax passed by the 1957 Legislature is repealed, it will hurt industrial growth.

H. R. Gonzalez, vice president of the Atlantic National Bank of Jacksonville, praised Dade County's metro government as a significant move toward "orderly development" of the proper conditions for industrialization.

Marshall Bennett, president of the Chicago chapter of the Society of Industrial Realtors, told the conference that a new industrial revolution is in the making and Florida is right in its path. He urged full cooperation between industry and land developers to speed the state's industrial growth.

Stanley, whose Houston Corp. is building the gas pipeline now inching its way into South Florida, said his firm will invest 132 million dollars in its Florida facilities. Other distributors of natural gas, he said, will either build new systems or expand present ones at a cost of 40 million.

He said availability of natural gas will encourage new industries to come to Florida and will lead firms already in the state to expand.

Fuel will be cheaper, he said, because fuel oil producers are already cutting their prices to compete with the natural gas that is about to become available.

The first annual Florida Industrial Conference attracted industrial realtors, businessmen, governmental leaders and Chamber of Commerce officials. Dade County was represented by Metro Commissioner Charles Hall, Norvelle Sharpe, assistant director of the Dade Development Department, and Ed Keys, assistant director of the Miami-Dade County Chamber of Commerce.

The only real controversy the conference encountered centered around one speaker's contention that some railroads infringe on industrial realtors' territory by trying to handle sales of industrial sites themselves.

The conference chairman, Alfred T. Hearin of Tampa, spoke up and said there is full cooperation between railroads and realtors here. And the speaker who made the charge, LeRoy D. Owen of California, conceded that the non-cooperation is the exception rather than the rule.

Investors Like Our Looks

By JOHN McDERMOTT
Herald Staff Writer

The nation's big money men looked over Greater Miami's economy Friday.

They usually know a good thing when they see it.

They liked what they saw.

As a result, hopes are running high that the bankers will offer a favorable interest rate on 25 million dollars in bonds which will be sold next month to finance Dade's most pressing road needs.

The group has already visited Cape Canaveral and St. Petersburg.

They were cautious, even hesitant, at the outset. They remembered the "boom days" of the 1920's and the "bust" which followed.

But what they saw now was something which impressed them, for the most part, as economically solid.

Even usually reserved William D. Singer, South Florida member of the State Road Board, was almost jubilant over reactions of the bankers, insurance men and financiers who came here from the North to inspect Florida's economy.

"I have a pretty good feeling that we have sold ourselves," Singer commented following a detailed briefing of the visitors at the Fontainebleau Hotel.

Today, as a climax to their Florida tour, the financiers will take a bus-ride inspection of Miami Beach and Miami, including the new 36th St. Causeway project and the route of the planned expressways to Miami International Airport and through downtown Miami.

Typical reactions were these:

DELMONT K. PFEFFER of the First National City Bank of New York: "I never cease to marvel at the rate of growth here . . . The proposed project should be a good medium for investment.

"To us who remember the 1927-29 boom and collapse, we like to be reassured. It is hard to believe what the figures say when you sit up there in New York and study the growth here."

WILBUR M. MERRITT of The First Boston Corp. of New York: "Each time I come here, I am amazed by what I see . . . I believe this bond issue will be successfully sold."

DAVID T. MIRALIA of Kuhn, Loeb, & Co. of New York: "This looks like an extremely sound bond issue because it has gas tax money pledged to support it. Were the bonds backed by the tolls alone, most of us probably wouldn't buy 10 cents worth of them.

"That gas tax money behind them — that's the guts. Your people who planned this bond sale used sound judgment."

Union Snubbed

ANDALUSIA, Ala. —(UPI)—A move by the United Garment Workers, AFL-CIO, to organize employes at the Crestview, Fla. plant of the Alabama Textile Products Corp. has proved fruitless, it was learned Friday.

In a secret election, conducted by the National Labor Relations Board Thursday, the Alatex employes at Crestview opposed union representation by a 3-1 majority.

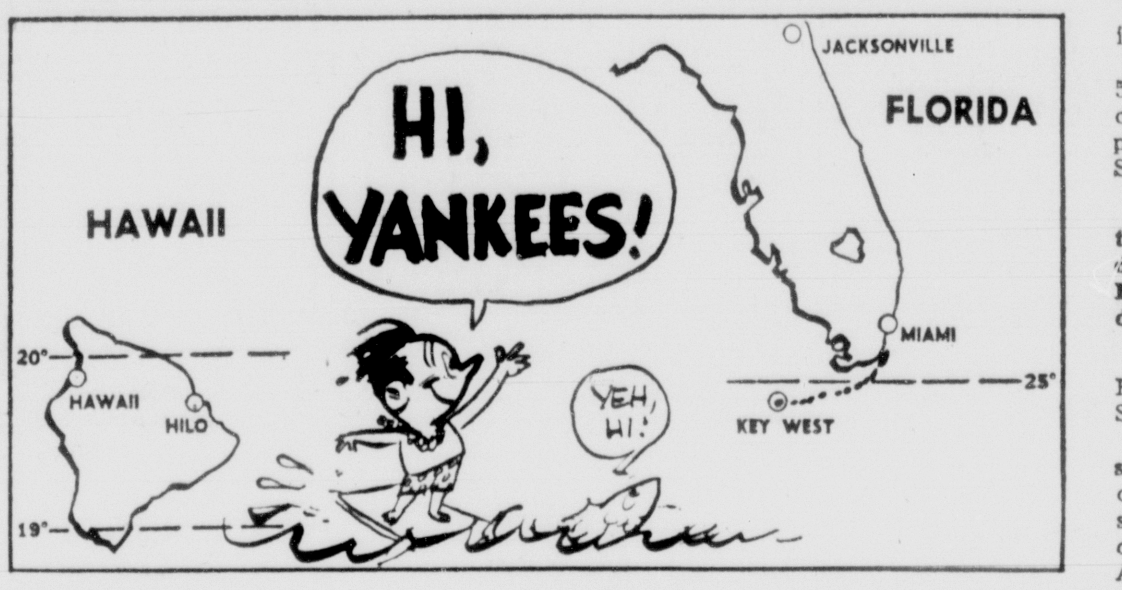
In a election Wednesday, the Andalusia plants opposed union recognition by a vote of 926 to 411.

Beach Job.

HALLANDALE — William E. Chatlos, owner of the former Boheme Club in Hallandale, has agreed to join the city in financing cost of groins on the beach, City Manager Ralph L. Smith said. The commission is expected to award low bid of $9,828 to Smith Foundation Co. of Miami for seven groins, including four for the Chatlos property.

Aloha, You-All! You're Really Whistlin' Dixie



Will they be singing Dixie in Hawaii now?

Admittance of Hawaii as 50th state has knocked out one of Florida's braggin' points—that of being the Southernmost state.

That distinction goes now to Hawaii, which lies at 20 degrees latitude while South Florida sets along the 25 degree latitude line.

And there's some discussion about whether Florida can retain its title as the state with the mostest coastline — an honor which Alaska claims.

However, for those who quibble about these things —the World Almanac cites Alaska as having 4,750 miles of coastline, and Florida having 8,426 miles of shoreline.

The shoreline includes islands and keys — but it's Florida coastline too, isn't it? Or is it?

Gov. LeRoy Collins had this to say: "If Texas can take the fact that she is no longer our biggest state and California can accept that she is not our most western state, then Florida can take the fact that we will no longer be the southernmost state."

Fisherman Missing on Lake Orange

Drowned Guide Is Found; Search on for 2 Others

By Herald Wire Services

PALATKA — The body of a fishing guide was found in huge Lake George some 25 miles south of here Friday and sheriff's deputies sought to locate two other men who left with him Thursday on a fishing trip.

The party's boat was found submerged except for the bow.

The name of the guide was given only as Allison.

The County Sheriff's Department said dragging operations in Lake George began early Friday after the fishing cruiser was found below Welaka, some 30 miles south of here, about a mile from what is known as Rocky Point.

Rescue at Sea

JACKSONVILLE —(UPI)— The Coast Guard Friday reported the rescue of five persons from a crippled, 25-foot cabin cruiser some 11 miles off the Atlantic Coast.

The stranded victims were J. S. Wells of Jacksonville and four members of his family, who were returning from a fishing trip early Wednesday night when an engine caught fire.

Wells hailed the tug Linden when his other engine began misfiring and his ship-to-shore radiophone failed to operate.

The Linden radioed the captain of the port's office and stood by until a 40-foot Coast Guard pilot boat arrived and took the cruiser in tow.

Virginia Talks

RICHMOND, Va. — (AP) — Ralph Odum, an assistant attorney general of Florida, conferred with Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. and Attorney General A. S. Harrison Jr. at the State Capitol Friday on school integration problems.

Odum told a reporter his talks with the two Virginia officials were general in nature. He said the talks were prompted by the expectation Florida's Legislature soon will consider some form of pupil preference and tuition grant legislation.

Earlier in the week an Alabama legislative committee visited Richmond for similar talks with Virgina officials.

Pastor Wounded

MILTON — (AP) — Sheriff Bart D. Broxson said a dispute between two factions in the Milton Free Will Holiness Church resulted in the wounding of the pastor.

Rev. Olen Taylor was shot in the leg late Thursday when he went to the church to put locks on the door. He was given hospital treatment and released.

Charged with intent to commit second degree murder and placed under $1,000 bond was Calvin Glover, 65. Broxson said Glover was putting up a barbed wire fence around the church when Taylor arrived.

First Farmer

Second place award went to Billie Hill of Jasper. Thomas J. Fletcher of Live Oak was given the third place award.

Young Delegates

TALLAHASSEE —(AP)— Delegates to the YMCA's Youth Legislature chose Ken Kelley, Jacksonville 17-year-old, as governor Friday and plunged into debate on make-believe bills.

Among the measures considered by the youngsters was the perennial favorite of youth legislatures, extending the right to vote to 18-year-olds.

One bill was a measure to establish three school systems in Florida—white, Negro and integrated. Another would have established a $10 penalty for failure to vote.

UF Med School's High Expenses Hit

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Political Writer

TAXPAYERS "have a bear by the tail" in the tremendous financing costs for the new Medical School at the University of Florida, Rep. Cliff Herrell of Miami said Friday.

"Compare the cost per student to the $3,000 a year which the state contributes to train future doctors at the University of Miami and you will see what I mean," the legislator said.

The Gainesville cost per student will run approximately $30,000, based on a Budget Commission recommended $9,162,000 appropriation for handling 150 new medical students during the next two years.

Cost includes operational expenses for the new health center—but expenses which would not have been needed had the state sent its medical students to already established schools like the University of Miami.

Former Dade Sen. R. B. Gautier had emphasized this point during the 1953 and 1955 sessions when the Legilsature authorized establishment of a University of Florida Medical School.

The main argument then was that Gainesville was too far distant from a major population center. Therefore it would require not only tremendous expenditures for hospital facilities but also would have to import top notch surgeon-consultants.

Herrell and other members of the present Dade delegation — Sen. Joe Eaton and Reps. George Hollahan and David Eldredge — appeared before the Downtown Miami Kiwanis club for a pre-legislative report at the Columbus hotel.

All expressed hope that this year's session, beginning April 7, would be an economy one with no new taxes.

Herrell, who is chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said he felt all Florida lawmakers are aware they must economize or find that Florida is slipping to the verge of bankruptcy like Michigan.

He charged that the 1957 session had been guilty of "extremely careless spending" and that legislators had failed to provide a balanced budget.

Commission To Ban Milk Price Fix?

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — The Florida Milk Commission Friday voted 4-3 to seek legislation next month outlawing retail price fixing.

The commission retains permissive authority to set prices under the law, but voted two years ago to take off all controls except those regulating prices paid to farmers.

Chairman J. Brailey Odham of Sanford, who pushed through the vote, said he was afraid unless retail controls were outlawed by the Legislature, some future commission would reinstate them.

Odham has been a long-time foe of any kind of retail price controls.

Board of Health representative Robert Carter cast his vote with the prevailing side to break a 3-3 deadlock on the proposal. Carter was not present at last month's meeting when the first vote was taken.

However, Carter explained he was not absolutely opposed to any form of retail controls. He said he favored some minimum floor under retail prices to prevent small distributors from being forced out of business by the major companies.

"But I'm voting for this now," he said, "because I think it should be out of the law."

Drainage Contracts Awarded

JACKSONVILLE — (AP) — Two contracts amounting to nearly 2½ million dollars were awarded Friday by Army Engineers for construction designed to keep the waters of the Everglades in check during floods and protect Southern Florida from drought.

Col. Paul D. Troxler, district engineer, said the Jefferson Construction Co. of Miami, received a $1,998,448 contract for construction of a pumping station on the Miami Canal just south of the Broward-Palm Beach County line and 42 miles south of Lake Okeechobee.

Engineers said the station would provide for the rapid removal of flood waters, making about 208 square miles of tributary lands available for agricultural use.

A contract was awarded several months ago for the pumping machinery. The station will have four units rated at about 1,040 cubic feet a second.

Another contract amounting to $376,485 went to James P. Cross of New Iberia, La., for construction of a levee 8.7 miles long in North Broward County.

The section is the initial portion of Levee 38. Other sections will be completed later.

The pumping station and levee will be part of the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control project.

State Bar Steps Up Purge Drive

TALLAHASSEE —(UPI)— The Florida Bar Friday stepped up its drive to strictly police the legal profession, sending four disbarment cases to the Supreme Court.

The Bar filed a complaint recommending disbarment of Lakeland Attorney Olen W. Cheshire on charges he converted a client's funds to his own use and testified falsely during the investigation. Cheshire has 30 days to ask the court to review the judgment.

Attorneys William B. Dawson III, Jacksonville; Clarence Brown, Fort Walton Beach, and Elmer O. Roberts, Fort Lauderdale, appeared before the court personally to urge reversal of bar recommendations they be disbarred.

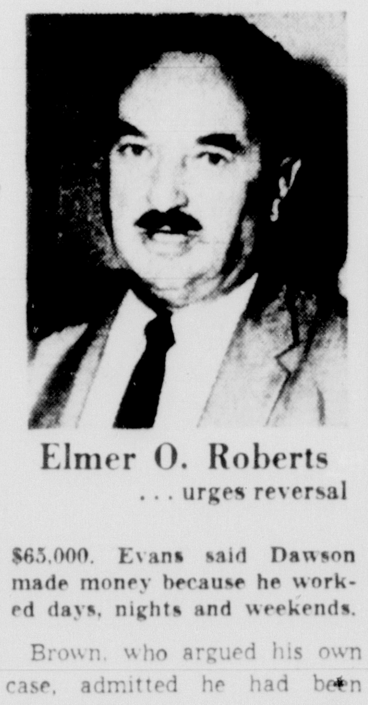
Jacksonville Lawyer Neal D. Evans Jr., who argued for Dawson as he looked on from the sidelines, denied Dawson paid a "professional runner" to solicit business for him.

Evans said Jacksonville Photographer Charles W. Griffen Jr. mentioned Dawson to several people merely because he had a high regard for his legal talent.

But Bar Attorney Mark Hulsey Jr., Jacksonville, said Griffen was on the lawyer's payroll and, according to the testimony of one witness, allegedly received $8,000 as his share on an $80,000 damage judgment Dawson won for a client.

Griffen and Dawson denied this, claiming the only payments Griffen received were for investigations and photographs of accidents he took for Dawson.

Hulsey said Dawson, 34, made $70,000 in the four-year period following his start in legal practice, and his annual earnings since ranged up to $65,000. Evans said Dawson made money because he worked days, nights and weekends.



Elmer O. Roberts

Brown, who argued his own case, admitted he had been slow in handing over to clients funds he got from settlements and law suits, but said it was because he was under a mental strain as a result of domestic troubles. He said he paid every cent he owed when the matter was called to his attention.

Inmate, 80, Leaps to Escape From Burning Home for Aged
. . . Ezra Stiles suffered broken back

Old Folks Home Burns; 4 Missing

AURORA, Ill. — (AP) — Four persons were missing after a fire destroyed a five-story home for the aged in downtown Aurora Friday. Nine persons were injured.

Ironically, workmen were installing a fire sprinkler system in the 101-year-old building when the fire broke out. They had finished the basement installation and were working on the first floor.

Several of the 97 inmates escaped the blaze by leaping from upper windows into life nets spread by firemen.

One of those who jumped for his life was critically hurt. Seven other residents were hospitalized for shock. The other injury case was a fire captain who fractured a leg in a 30-foot fall from a collapsing ladder.

The scene of the fire was Jennings Terrace, a brick and stucco landmark built in 1857 to serve as a Methodist Girls' seminary. It had been operated since as a non-profit, non-sectarian refuge for old people.

When the blaze started in a fourth floor room, there were 80 in the building. They occupied the first four floors. On the fifth floor were 17 men residents.

The missing four and seven of the injured residents were men trapped in their top floor quarters.

Unaccounted for after the fire were Alfred Fransen, 98, oldest resident of the home; Jasper Davis, 89; Charles Bartholomew, 78, and Ernest State, age unavailable.

New Stab by U.S.

Tax Indictment Hits Gangland Host

SYRACUSE, N. Y. —(AP)— Joseph Barbara, host to the notorious Apalachin gangland convention, was indicted Friday on a charge of evading payment of $14,600 in federal income taxes.

This was a new stab at the 53-year-old former beer-distributor, who has managed to evade questioning by the numerous investigators who have sought to learn the reason 60 hoodlums and friends convened Nov. 14, 1957, at Barbara's mansion in Apalachin, a small community near Binghamton, N.Y.

[illegible]a, whose family conten[illegible]e is too ill with a heart ailment to face investigators, has refused to answer subpenas. This week, an Appellate Court in Albany upheld the validity of a subpena state police taped to the front of his mansion when they could not gain entrance.

Last month, Barbara's son, Joseph Jr., 23, was indicted in New York City on a charge of perjury. He was accused of lying to the state investigation commission when he said his father had been too ill to leave his home since the gang meeting. The commission said the elder Barbara had made trips and the son had accompanied him.

Delegates to the convention were said to have discussed such topics as racketeering in the coin-machine industry, gambling in Cuba and slicing up the rackets empire of Albert Anastasia, a gangdom kingpin who was shot to death in a New York City barbershop in October, 1957.

State police broke up the convention but most of the delegates would say only that they were visiting a sick friend.

Barbara lost his beer-distributing license after the convention. He also sold his bottling business. His palatial, hill-top home is for sale. But he and his family still live there — a shuttered existence behind stone walls.

House Probers Eye Plush Setup

Private Officers School—Why?

WASHINGTON —(UPI)— House investigators set out Friday to determine why the government is running a $700,000-a-year private school for military officers at a fashionable apartment "within spitting distance of the Pentagon."

Rep. H. R. Gross (R., Iowa) said Dr. John C. Flanagan, head of the school, will be summoned for questioning March 23 along with Defense Department officials.

Gross is a member of the House manpower utilization subcommittee investigating the school.

The congressman said he understood that Flanagan, a former Pittsburgh psychology professor, was receiving six per cent of a cost-plus contract to teach officers how to handle the military assistance program overseas.

Gross said the school was using retired high-ranking Army officers on its teaching and administrative staff.

"They are in effect being paid twice," Gross said, "because they receive a salary in addition to their regular retirement pay. If they are needed that bad to train officers, then I think they ought to be called into active duty."

The Defense Department said in reply that the Arlington Towers apartment was chosen for the school because "suitable facilities were not otherwise available." It added that employment of retired officers made "optimum use" of their experience.

It said salaries at the school ranged from an average $9,000 a year for professional employes to $4,000 for clerical help.

Gross said he believed the military should be training "its own people" in peacetime and not turn the task over to a private school located "within spitting distance" of the Pentagon and other big military installations.

It's Cold Upstate, Cool Here

Gradual Warming Trend Forecast

Cold in North Florida, cool in South Florida.

That's the weatherman's outlook for the state — although we're in "a warming trend," he said Friday.

"There'll be scattered frost in North Florida, with temperatures probably in the mid-30s to low 40s Saturday night," Forecaster Philip Ackerman said.

But it'll be a sunny Saturday, and a few degrees warmer than Thursday or Friday.

Miamians will need light blankets for mid-50 degree temperatures Saturday night, Ackerman said.

"It should be a little warmer each day, and maybe by the end of the coming week we'll be back to above normal temperatures," he added.

Much of the eastern U.S., however, was digging itself out of a snowstorm that was blamed for at least 30 deaths. Many roads in New York, Pennsylvania, New England and New Jersey were blocked.

Eight persons died of heart attacks while shoveling snow and there were a number of weather-connected accident fatalities as snow fell amid high winds.

Marshall, Dulles Visited by Ike

At the hospital the President also conferred again with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. It was Eisenhower's eighth visit with Dulles since the secretary was found to have suffered a recurrence of cancer.

Marshall, former Army chief of staff, was transferred to Walter Reed earlier this week from an Army hospital at Fort Bragg, N.C.

Citrus Dye Bill OKd; Sent to Ike

Other State News, 1B, 1C

By Herald Wire Services

WASHINGTON — The house voted Friday to allow Texas and Florida oranges to look like oranges — even if they have to be dyed.

With some good-natured bantering from California members, it sent to President Eisenhower a bill permitting Florida and Texas citrus growers to color their oranges artificially.

This is necessary, the House Interstate Commerce Committee said, because fully mature fruit from those areas "in many instances may be greenish and non-uniform in color."

The House passed the bill by a 231-94 vote. The senate passed it unanimously last month.

House opponents claimed there was danger of toxicity resulting from the coloring. Otherwise, said Rep. James Delaney (D., N. Y.), a law permitting its use wouldn't be necessary.

Californians didn't object but commented that their oranges don't have to be colored.

The Florida and Texas citrus industry has been handicapped in recent weeks by not being able to follow its customary practice of coloring oranges. The Supreme Court, at the request of the Food and Drug Administration last fall, banned the use of coloring on oranges after Feb. 28. A dye called Red 32 had been used.

The bill sent to the President Friday permits the use of a new dye known as Red 2 with lower toxicity. Use of this dye has the approval of the Food and Drug Administration. The measure also gives approval (to continued use of Red 32 dye until next May 1 to cover the transition period the growers will need to switch from the old dye to the new.

The Florida citrus industry breathed a sigh of relief. For 13 days it had gone without shipping a single colored orange and the pinch was beginning to tighten.

Former Congressman J. Hardin Peterson Sr. of Lakeland said the bill was passed just in time "to prevent a very critical situation. In the last few days there has been a re-greening of Valencias which would have created a resistance to sales that always comes with re-greened fruit."

Here's Breakdown On Aid Outlays

$1,600,000,000 for sending U.S. allies military supplies and training aid—"A minimum figure," he said, "necessary to prevent serious deterioration of our collective defense system."

835 MILLION DOLLARS for defense support—that is, help in maintaining allies' defense establishments. More than two-thirds of this would go to Turkey, Viet Nam, Formosa and Korea.

272 MILLIONS for special assistance funds in such fields as health and education.

211 MILLIONS for technical cooperation.

700 MILLIONS for the Development Loan Fund.

112 MILLIONS for such purposes as the U.N.'s Children Fund and the U.S.-sponsored Atoms-for-Peace Program.

Trouble Is Ahead For Aid Request

By DAVID KRASLOW
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—The foreign aid program President Eisenhower submitted Friday to Congress is in trouble even before it gets off the ground.

It will take nothing short of a political miracle for Eisenhower to get all of the 3.9 billion dollars he asked Congress to provide for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1960.

The President asked for roughly the same amount last year and Congress whacked it about 600 million. It could happen again.

Some 370 million of that cut came in the military assistance and related "defense support" items. And there are firm indications that this is where the President again will take it on the chin.

Not that he wasn't warned. The tipoff came in a letter to him last August from eight members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The signers included Sens. William Fulbright (D., Ark.) present committee chairman; Mike Mansfield (D., Mont.), assistant majority leader; John Kennedy (D., Mass.), and Hubert Humphrey (D., Minn.).

The letter condemned the administration's military aid philosophy.

The committee members expressed "our concern that we may be pursuing a pattern of foreign aid drawn by force of habit rather than one adjusted

Ticker Tape For Lemus

NEW YORK—(AP)—New York Friday hailed President Jose Maria Lemus of El Salvador with a Broadway ticker tape parade.

Police estimated more than 150,000 persons lined the sidewalks of Lower Manhattan as a motorcade bore the President from Bowling Green to City Hall. Stock market tape and confetti poured from building windows.

Cheers and applause greeted Lemus, riding in an open car in bright sunshine with Robert C. Patterson, city commissioner of commerce.

Lemus flew here from Washington where he and President Eisenhower agreed to work toward economic integration of Central America and creation of a common market there.

Rules Out 'Fortress America'

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower submitted his $3,929,995,000 foreign aid program to the skeptical Democratic Congress Friday with a blunt warning that it may be boosted to meet the Soviet threat to Europe.

He specifically pointed to the Berlin crisis, declaring it could have "perilous consequences" if Russia refuses to back down on its demands. But he said foreign aid had played a big part in enabling the free world to stand firm "in these tense moments."

The President's program promptly ran into Democratic demands that it be cut. Senate Democratic Whip Mike Mansfield of Montana, a member of the powerful Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he thought it could be reduced "drastically," to about three billion.

Foreign Relations Chairman J. William Fulbright (D., Ark.) rapped Eisenhower for showing "little disposition to tailor the program realistically to meet changes in the world situation." He said the committee "will need to engage in considerable surgery if the bill is to fully serve the national interest."

Other Democratic leaders took a show-me attitude and called for an end to "waste and inefficiency" in the aid program. Rep. Wayne Hays (D., Ohio) challenged the President's reference to Berlin. He said "not a nickel" of the new money would help in that crisis.

The President sought about $1,600,000,000 in military aid and $2,330,000,000 in economic aid to help this country's allies counter the "broad and deep" Communist challenge in the fiscal year starting July 1.

But he said a special commission studying the aid program has indicated it will recommend an increase in military aid, primarily for weapons to North Atlantic Treaty Nations. He promised to send Congress further proposals after the commission submits a report, probably next week.

All indications were that the President would have to fight even harder for his aid program this year than he did in 1958 when he seized on every opportunity — including letters to influential citizens—to plug it.

But the President fired the first round in a message to Congress which scorned the "Fortress America" concept held by some of his critics.

The U.S., sitting alone, could become the wealthiest and mightiest nation on earth, he said, and "still lose the battle

Treat Marriage as Illness, Court Rules

She Quit to Wed; Gets Jobless Pay, Anyway

ALBANY, N.Y. — (AP) — A woman who quit her job to get married is entitled to unemployment insurance, the Court of Appeals says.

The state's highest tribunal, in a 5-2 decision, said a lower court was right in allowing benefits to Mrs. Keith I. Shaw of North Tonawanda.

Mrs. Shaw quit work as a clerk-typist at an Albany insurance company in July, 1956, saying she planned to be married and move to Western New York.

He employer contested her claim for unemployment insurance in court.

The appellate division decided 3-1 in Mrs. Shaw's favor, ruling that marriage "ought to be treated as illness or other events of important personal consequence to the worker."

State law provides that a person who leaves a job "for good cause" and intends to seek other employment is entitled to unemployment pay. Industrial groups contended the court's decision meant the state would be underwriting honeymoons.

About $200 in benefits was involved in Mrs. Shaw's case.

Ike Going on Air; Topic: Berlin Peril

Adenauer, Macmillan End Talks

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eiswnhower will deliver a radio-television report to the people Monday night on the Berlin crisis and "the general security position of the U.S. and its allies," The White House announced Friday.

The announcement came shortly after the President told Congress in a special foreign aid message that the "tense" Berlin deadlock could have "perilous consequences" if Russia refused to back down on its demands.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President would speak from 9:30 to 10 p.m., EST., Monday over all radio and television networks. The prime evening hours assured him a maximum audience.

Hagerty described Eisenhower's address as "a report to the American people on the evolving Berlin situation and the general security position of the U.S. and its allies."

Besides discussing the immediate threat in Berlin, the President was expected to carry to the people his fight with congressional Democrats over the size of the armed forces. He has accused some Democrats of "hysterical" attitude toward recurring crisis.

The report also will be a prelude to the President's conferences at Camp David, Md., next weekend with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. The talks are scheduled to get underway Friday, the day after Macmillan arrives in Washington.

Macmillan concluded two days of talks Friday with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. They were said to have reached full agreement on how to cope with Russia's threatened attempt to force the Allies out of Berlin.

Adenauer had sought assurances that Britain would not agree to any Soviet plan that would leave Germany divided and West Germany defenseless against the Communists.

In Moscow, the official Soviet press burst loose with a barrage of charges that the West wanted to go to war to settle the Berlin issue while Russia was trying to negotiate a peaceful solution.

The West has proposed a foreign ministers conference on the problem. Russia has agreed, so long as Poland and Czechoslovakia are permitted to attend. However, Russia wants assurances a summit meeting will follow.

Russia also wants to limit the agenda of the foreign ministers conference to Berlin whereas the Allies want to tackle the overall question of German unification and an European security.

Ike's Aid Request Faces Rough Going

to current international realities."

They complained of a "serious distortion in the present relative importance attached to military and related aid on the one hand and technical and . . . economic development assistance on the other.

"Overemphasis on military assistance has tended unavoidably to involve the U.S. in situations in which our aid may have contributed to the maintenance in power of regimes which have lacked broad support within the countries we have assisted."

Then the warning:

"We write you at this time because we are aware that budgets for the mutual security program are prepared many months in advance."

It is clear that the President will have the roughest sort of time getting by Fulbright and company with his current request for over 2.4 billion dollars in military aid and defense support.

Fulbright confirmed this Friday with the remark that his committee "will need to engage in considerable surgery if the (aid) bill is to fully serve the national interest."

He accused the President of "ignoring" the letter sent him last August.

The President took indirect note in his foreign aid message of the Fulbright letter and mounting congressional criticism of world-wide military assistance.

"We do this not through choice but necessity," he said. "It is not in our nature to wish to spend our substance on weapons. We would like to see these outlays shifted to the economic benefit of our own nation and our friends abroad striving for economic progress."

Handling of the military aid program has been sharply criticized by other quarters in Congress and Comptroller General Joseph Campbell.

Congressional investigators and government auditors found that the U.S. has poured military hardware into underdeveloped countries that can't possibly absorb it.

The disappointment is certain to be expressed in terms of dollars.

2 Trapped Men Drown

SPARTANBURG, S. C. — (AP) — A flume gate gave way Friday and trapped two electricians working on a water turbine beneath the floor of the Startex Mills power generating plant at Berry Shoals. Both drowned. A foreman, above the floor, barely escaped.

The torrent of water, loosened when the 20-year-old gate broke, filled the power house and shot 75 feet into the air above it.

The victims were identified as Erneat Dillard, about 33, of the Hadden Heights section near here and Garvin Pace, about 45, of Lake Lure, N. C. Both were employed by the J. Frank Blakely Co. in Spartanburg.

of the world" as that "fantastic conspiracy" — international communism—take over nation after nation.

"It is not the goal of the American people that the U.S. should be the richest nation in the graveyard of history," he said.

Pointing to the nations gobbled up by communism in the past few decades, he said the free world must convince those people as well as the uncommitted nations that it is possible to have both "bread and the ballot."

Eisenhower called on Americans to face up to our "harsh realities" confronting them in 1959. He listed them as:

1—The free world is confronted by well-equipped standing armies of more than 6,500,000 and 25,000 warplanes of the Soviet Union, Communist China and their satellites. These are supported by atomic weapons and missiles.

2—The world is in "a great epoch of seething change" which has seen 21 independent new nations emerge from colonial status in little more than a decade. These nations are fired with "zealous nationalism" which could be harmful unless properly channeled."

3—Communism has seized control in all or part of 17 countries within the past 40 years, and is determined to push on. It continues to push on masquerading as "the wave of the future."

4—"The military position and economic prosperity of the U.S. are interdependent with those of the free world."

Several members of congress said these were convincing arguments for continuing the aid program, although not necessarily on the scale sought by the president.

Van Cliburn Off to Arizona

The 24-year-old concert pianist had been in the Hospital for Special Surgery since Feb. 23. He underwent an operation Feb. 27 for an abscess on the middle right finger.

"No nerves were affected, but my finger feels numb — there is no feeling in it," he told newsmen as he boarded a Trans World Airlines plane at Idlewild Airport. He believes that trimming the nail caused the infection.

Call Red Bluff-- Taylor

Army Chief Says Firmness Needed

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor told Congress in testimony made public Friday night that he believed a "national determination" to go to war over Berlin, if necessary, would deter Russia from starting hostilities over the city.

The Army chief of staff, who recently gave the hitherto secret testimony to the Senate preparedness subcommittee, seemed to indicate that other members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff had discussed the matter and shared Taylor's view.

Taylor said he believed the best way to avoid war was to show Russia clearly that this country is ready to fight if necessary. He said the joint chiefs have plans to meet the Berlin crises and the Army has the strength — at home and abroad — to carry them out.

Taylor, whose testimony was heavily censored for security reasons, said the Army would go into any battle for Berlin with "the capability" to use nuclear weapons.

But he added that President Eisenhower would have the final voice on whether to use them.

Taylor also testified that if the total conventional military strength of Communist armies were thrown against the free world forces, the allies could not defend themselves if "we abstained from using nuclear weapons.

The Army chief also threw some cold water on the widely accepted notion that a general war fought with nuclear weapons would be over in a few days. He conceded the "decisive part" of the war might end quickly.

But he said "it might take 100 years to end the desolation and restore some form of order." He commented soberly that "there is no reason to believe that peace is going to ensue at once, except, perhaps, the peace of the dead."

Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D., Tex.), referring to a statement by Taylor that Berlin is "untenable" from a military standpoint, asked "what alternative do we have if the Communists are determined to use force?"

"In my judgment, the clear evidence of national determination to go to war if necessary for Berlin," Taylor replied, "The effect of such an attitude would deter the Soviets from having a final showdown at this time."

Taylor said that many top military leaders now regard the 1948-49 Berlin airlift as a mistake. The general said force should have been tried when the Russians blocked highways and other ground routes into Berlin.

"Instead we yielded to a challenge which may well have been a bluff," Taylor continued. "We will never know to what extent the U.S.S.R. would have gone to maintain the ground blockade by force."

Postman Al Fligge Says Goodby to Midnight
... a few hours before the faithful dog died

Only Death Stayed Faithful Courier

ALBERT LEA, Minn. —(AP)— An old, limping black Labrador named Midnight followed Postman Al Fligge on his route for the last time.

"We were planning to retire about the same time," said the veteran mailman, "but old Midnight beat me to it."

Midnight was a spry, playful two-year-old when he and Fligge first met in 1948. "He kept coming over to the relay box on the corner and I kept petting him," Fligge recalled.

Before long the dog, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Engel, was accompanying Fligge faithfully on his rounds. A strong bond grew between them. Midnight whined and brooded whenever Fligge was ill and needed a substitute.

A few weeks ago it became apparent that the dog could not live much longer. Unable to negotiate steps and unsure of his feet, Midnight stumbled to the ground often, hitting his chin.

Mrs. Engel wanted the dog at home this last day. But he fussed and moaned when the door closed behind Fligge. Mrs. Engel opened it and let the dog out. "That was what he wanted," she said.

Midnight stumbled down the front steps and tried to hurry after Fligge. The mailman stopped and waited patiently for him. Together they moved off down the street.

Midnight died a few hours later.

Tot Beater Gets Lesson

LINCOLN, England — (UPI) — Fellow prisoners were so angered at the short sentence given Patrick J. O'Sullivan for beating his six-year-old daughter they beat him so badly he was sent to the prison hospital, it was disclosed.

O'Sullivan was sentenced to two months for causing grievous bodily harm to his daughter, Norah.

Inmates of a London prison seized him while he was en route to the prison chapel, dragged him into the lavatory and mauled him thoroughly. He suffered concussion, shock, a split upper lip and scalp wounds.

One prisoner, irked at O'Sullivan's perpetual smile, was said to have muttered, "We'll put that smile on the other side of his face."

The Town Crier

BY Jack Bell

THERE was a story of tragedy in Friday's Herald. The women who've worked so valiantly for Cancer Institute at Miami voted to disband and re-form as Women's Cancer Corps. They did this so that in the future they can control the money they raise, giving when and where they choose.

BELL

It isn't good. No group of women possesses the knowledge necessary to screen hospital and research activities. Neither does any lay group of men. Furthermore, ladies, the only way to raise money succesfully is hitch your wagon to a star. You need a great, successful and popular institution to which you can point with such pride that the donor will believe you. The evidence is there, unquestioned.

Your new group won't have that institution. Because by your action you've created a public impression that's not good. This is unfair to a great institution headed by Dr. J. Ernest Ayre, who is world famous and has made the institute just as well known as himself. A few days ago one of your members said she doesn't care whether women in other nations get cancer-prevention help from our institute. She's interested in Miami women. I'm sure she's sorry she showed such unconcern for humanity.

Fund raising is one activity. Operation of an institution is another. At Variety Children's Hospital we've the best flock of gals in the world, but I'd quit if they demanded to spend the money as they see fit. They won't. And our board, which does watch expenditures, gets the best medical advice first. We do the same before we build or add facilities.

In United Cerebral Palsy there's another internal hullaballo, caused mostly because heads of the women's units want to help run things, and have their backers lined up. Were they to take over fund expenditures, U.C.P. probably will go the way of Cancer Institute at Miami—.

P.S. For five years I've been chairman of Committee of 1,000, which raises $100,000 to help with the charity load at Variety Children's hospital. We don't try to tell the board or the hospital director how to spend the money. That's their job.

Key West Yields as Southernmost City

Delio Cobo
. . . yields title

Mayor Concedes In Wire

(See Story on Page 1C)

Herald Bureau

KEY WEST — This city capitulated Friday its long-held boast as the "southernmost" city in the U.S.

Hawaii has it beat by several degrees latitude and the Hawaiian Islands are a cinch now to become the 50th state.

So Mayor Delio Cobo, when he confirmed his worst suspicions, conceded gracefully in a telegram to Honolulu's mayor.

"Congratulations to the southernmost city in the U.S. from Dr. Delio Cobo, mayor of Key West — formerly the southernmost city in the U.S.," he wired.

Other leading citizens who had not checked their latitude at first refused to believe the "southernmost" claim was irretrievably lost. "I suppose we'll have to add 'continental city' to keep our claim," said Kermit Lewin, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Key West, and most of the Florida Keys, is situated between 24 and 25 degrees north of the equator; Honolulu is 21 degrees 19 minutes north.

Too late this geographical fact came to the attention of publisher Norman Artman, whose Key West Citizen calls itself "Southernmost Newspaper in the U.S." Artman said Friday, good-naturedly, "If we'd have known that, we would have been against statehood for Hawaii."

Like Key West, Honolulu is a Navy town — known for the largest naval installation in the world, Pearl Harbor. It has no other similarities except being situated on an ocean, (Pacific, that is) for Hawaii's volcanic islands rise 2,000 to 3,100 feet above sea level and Honolulu's population is nearly ten times this city's.

Roads Benefit Colliers

By TOM MORGAN
Naples Bureau Chief

MORGAN

THERE'S A very persistent rumor that Collier County road construction benefits Collier-owned lands — and it's basically true according to J. D. Smedley's 1958 Collier Land Ownership Atlas published in DeLand.

The first eight projects on the county's new nine-item priority list for secondary roads for the coming year run through areas entirely or partially Collier-owned.

And that's also true of last year's secondary priorities and primary construction program except for the Naples and East Naples Tamiami Trail four-laning.

This year's priority nine project is from the Fort Myers-Immokalee Rd. south three miles to Corkscrew community, almost entirely through Atlantic Land and Improvement Co. land.

It is the only current road project not planned through land owned outright by Barron Collier Jr. and the Collier Development Corp., land checkerboarded by them (that is they own alternating square miles); land in which they have from a third to a half interes , or land they sold within the past six years and on which they still have mortgages or oil rights.

And priority nine is just for the record. The first four priorities call for spending $10,000 more then the available $730,000 and not counting maintenance and right of way purchase costs.

* * *

An Old Story

ROAD PROJECTS of past years were similarly placed.

The Immokalee-Naples Road goes through land that is nearly half owned by Collier. The $645,000 Chokoloskee Causeway runs along Collier land and areas (all water) of the Internal Improvement Fund. Marco Rd. goes principally through Collier land.

Before someone flies to the courts seeking justice, let's look a little further. There's almost no place in Collier County outside Naples where a road would not go through land of the Colliers.

Barron Collier Jr. owns 105,769 acres in fractional sections and 805 more square miles — 515,200 acres — in whole sections. Collier Development Corp. has 12,803 acres and the estate of Miles Collier only 160 acres.

* * *

Diminishing

THAT'S A total 633,932 acres or 991 square miles of the 2,042 square miles in the county. And it's considerably less than the 900,000 acres the late Barron G. Collier originally bought. He had 1,406 acres when he founded the county, or over two thirds of its area.

His heirs in 1953 sold 275,931 acres to the Gerry brothers for 4 million dollars (including 20,000 Lee County acres), but that was more than 30 years after the original purchase. The founding Collier gave 6,444 acres for Collier-Seminole State Park and his heirs made a 32,000 acre gift to Everglades National Park.

It seems it would be hard to build a road in the county without benefitting the Colliers — and with the proposed full value tax roll they will have to bear an even greater proportion of county costs — but not of roads for they come out of gas tax funds.

Juveniles Fear-Ring Broken Up

Herald Bureau

KEY WEST — Forced membership through fear and possibly promiscuous sexual activities appear to be the operating bylaws of an apparently disciplined gang of teenagers exposed by the police Friday.

Preliminary investigation by police disclosed that five boys and possibly more were part of the gang operating principally at Harris Elementary School, where they are students. They range in age from 12 to 15 and called themselves "The Black Scorpions."

Two of the boys — the apparent chief, 15, and one of his lieutenants, 12 — were placed in the county jail, but released to their parents late Friday by juvenile authorities.

Police Investigator Harry Sawyer turned up evidence that the youths frequently met at several favorite locations in Key West and adjoining Stock Island.

A 12-year-old girl told the investigator that at one such meeting she was forced to pull her dress over her head and remover her underwear.

She was told that if she tried to quit the gang, "she would be picked up and sent to Cuba."

With the cooperation of school authorities, Sawyer found a number of notes and obscene material in the possession of the presumed leader, a 15-year-old sixth grader.

The notes, mostly written in Spanish, established regulations for the operation of the gang and fixed penalties for backsliders.

One note read: "Everybody has to obey (leader's name). If you don't, you will be sent to Cuba."

Another ruled that "women meet with captains on Tuesdays and Fridays. Those who fail to appear, 30 cents fine. Those who fail to pay will be reported to you know who."

One note established that each group would consist of five children. "You have to respect the orders of the chief and captains," it ordered.

One boy, 12, also admitted writing some of the notes. He told police he did it under threat from the older ring leader.

Ask Key West Ideas

Citizen Advisors Elect Edward Knight, Dion

By HARRY CAICEDO
Key West Bureau Chief

KEY WEST — The new Citizens Capital Improvement and Development Advisory Commission Friday night hammered out in general terms what its function is to be and how it will operate.

With 13 of 15 appointees present at an organizational meeting, the group elected Edward Knight as chairman and Robert Dion secretary.

After an hour of discussion, it was decided that the group would formulate some ideas of its own with the help of suggestions from the general public before holding public hearings and drafting recommendations for the city commission.

The commission called on the public to submit all ideas it may have on improvements for Key West to the secretary, in writing, addressed to Improvements, Box 1488, Key West.

It also called on City Manager Dave King to make available to the commission all plans, specifications for the original improvement program developed by the city and now rejected.

A motion presented by Sam Silberman concerning repeal of the city's present utility tax sparked conflicting opinions early in the meeting.

After some discussion and objections being voiced — particularly by Melvin Levitt of the Monroe County Taxpayers Association — the group decided to table Silberman's motion.

Cukes In, Tomato Crop Good

Growers Recouping Losses

Herald Bureau

GROWERS STILL hurting from last year's disastrous winter are making pretty good returns now on a "do or die year" reports T. H. Rivers, Immokalee Farmer's Market manager.

"It's a very good year for what we've kad," said Rivers, "but the acreage is a little down after the disaster last year."

Alternating freezing cold and drowning rains pushed many growers' backs to the wall last winter as crop after crop was set out only to die within a few days.

Rivers said the "spring deal now is "cukes" with the cucumbers being harvested for two more weeks. A "fairly good little crop of tomatoes" will mature in 10 days or two weeks.

Watermelons are doing well and should be ready about April 1.

"The winds of the last day or two haven't helped," Rivers admitted, "but it's nothing disastrous and prices have been good."

Second Week Boosts Fund

PLEDGES AND cash on hand have pushed the Naples United Fund drive past the halfway mark near the end of its second week.

The fund's headquarters reported $21,348 received and a pledge of $6,500 "in the mail" for a total of $27,848 Friday. The drive goal is $46,178 or more than double last year's goal.

The drive has had to be extended due to slow returns. It was originally planned for one week only.

Voting on Chief Asked by Fired Naples Officer

Petitioner Would Be Candidate

Herald Bureau

NAPLES — A petition seeking a charter revision to make the city police chief's job elective is being circulated by Stan Loncon, former city police sergeant and an admitted candidate for chief. The petition will be presented direct to Rep. J. L. Walker when complete, Loncon said.

The Naples chief is presently appointed by the mayor and confirmed by the Council but Loncon said the change would make the chief "not ruled by the Council but elected by the people and not dictated to."

"This way he would do the job as he sees fit, the same as the sheriff's department," Loncon declared. "The people would put their own man in."

Loncon admitted he would be a candidate for the post if it became elective.

The ranking officer in the department, under the chief, Loncon was dismissed last year for insubordination. He asked for a public hearing on the dismissal but refused to accept a time and date set by the Council. Naples has no civil service system and hearings for dismissed employees are not mandatory.

Loncon had previously organized and led for several years the city schools' prize-winning safety patrol which he took on trips to the National Safety Patrol meeting in Washington, D.C.

A proposal for an elected police chief was considered but rejected by a Citizens Charter Committee meeting on Monday. Neighboring Fort Myers had an elected police chief for four years and an elected town marshal for 27 years but the chief's office is now appointive.

Bank to Build 16-Story Office

TAMPA — (AP) — Tampa banker George B. Howell announced Friday his Marine Bank and Trust Co., will construct a three million dollar, 16-story building downtown. It would be the city's tallest building.

At the same time First Federal Savings and Loan Association announced it has bought the present Marine Bank building for $500,000 and will occupy it when the new Marine Bank structure is completed.

Howell said it is hoped ground can be broken for the new bank on June 1. He estimated it would take 18 to 20 months to complete.

Adm. Rosso Due Today

Chief Chaplain To Tour Base

Herald Bureau

KEY WEST—Rear Adm. George A. Rosso, Navy Chief of Chaplains, arrives today for a four-day visit. It is the admiral's first visit to the area.

Rear Adm. Rosso
. . . in first Key West visit

During his stay, Adm. Rosso will review the work of the eight chaplains assigned to commands within the Naval installation here.

Chaplain Rosso is a priest of the Roman Catholic Church and is the second Regular Navy chaplain who, while on active duty, has been elevated to the rank of Monsignor. He was made a domestic prelate in 1957.

The churchman was commissioned in the Navy's Chaplain Corps in March, 1937. His 20-year career has included varied assignments at sea and ashore. He was designated Chief of Chaplains and Director, Chaplains Division, Bureau of Naval Personnel, last June.

His visit to Key West constitutes the first time a Chief of Chaplains has come to the area.

Base Gets First DE Overhaul

Herald Bureau

KEY WEST — For the first time in the history of the Naval Station here, a destroyer escort type vessel is being overhauled locally.

The USS Peterson is the first destroyer escort to receive yard availability in Key West. The job will take approximately 12 weeks and cost about $350,000, Capt. Henry R. Wier, commanding officer of the Naval Station, announced.

Handling of the truck to keel checkup anticipates a bigger operation for the Naval Station's Ships Department, which is responsible for such work.

Captain Wier said it is planned that in the future one destroyer-type vessel will be overhauled at the local shipyard each quarter. Formally such vessels went to other ports for overhsuls.

Capt. Weir's recent announcement that authorization had been received to hire an additional 50 employes in the Ships Department until Nov. 1959 was based partly on the anticipated overhaul of the Peterson.

The vessel, commanded by Lt. Cmdr. M. G. Tremaine, is a unit of Destroyer Division 601. It has been assigned to the Key West area since September, 1957.

Sailor, 18, Freed In Morals Case

KEY WEST — Justice of the Peace Roy Hamlin Friday dismissed morals charges against Gary D. Kammerude, 18, after the youth's alleged victim refused to testify at a preliminary hearing.

The victim, a 15-year-old girl, originally complained to authorities that Kammerdue assaulted her Feb. 18. Kammerude, a sailor assigned to the Naval Annex here, pleaded not guilty.

Truck Accident Halts Train

NAPLES — The Atlantic Coast Line's West Coast Champion was delayed about 10 minutes at the Naples-Immokalee Rd.-Naples Park area, when a truck swerved to miss the train at a crossing and hit a pole.

The pole dropped and dented a coach. No one was injured. The northbound train was about 15 minutes out of Naples when the mishap occurred Wednesday morning.

2 Missing Women Are Found

FORT MYERS — Marooned two days and nights on an island by high winds and seas, two women sports fishing enthusiasts returned home safe and sound Friday in their own small powerboat.

The women, Mrs. Ned Hills and Mrs. Helen Horne of Fort Myers Beach who fish together constantly, were forced ashore Wednesday by rising winds and waves on one of the many small gulf islands in the area, taking refuge in an untenanted fishing camp, making meals off the fish they had caught and from staples stored in the camphouse.

A general alarm and search of the area by the Coast Guard and local authorities ended almost before it started when the women ran out of the camphouse to signal a low-flying search plane that they were safe and could come home under their own power when weather permitted.

Courthouse Job Given For $25,995

KEY WEST — The CBS Construction Co. was awarded a contract Friday to repair damages done to the Monroe County Courthouse in a fire last Sunday. The firm's low bid was for $25,995.

Final estimates of just what portion of this amount the county will have to pay due to depreciation on the building have not been made yet, County Commissioner Clayrence Higgs said. But the bulk of the sum will come out of the insurance on the building, he added.

Repair works are expected to begin as soon as possible, Higgs said, possibly today. CBS' bid includes repairing the damaged tower clock, but not other courthouse equipment ruined in the fire.

Two other Key West contractors bid on the repair job, M. E. Bennett, $26,616.95 and Nu-Age Construction Co., $37,625.

House Probers Eye Plush Setup

Private Officers School—Why?

WASHINGTON —(UPI)— House investigators set out Friday to determine why the government is running a $700,000-a-year private school for military officers at a fashionable apartment "within spitting distance of the Pentagon."

Rep. H. R. Gross (R., Iowa) said Dr. John C. Flanagan, head of the school, will be summoned for questioning March 23 along with Defense Department officials.

Gross is a member of the House manpower utilization subcommittee investigating the school.

The congressman said he understood that Flanagan, a former Pittsburgh psychology professor, was receiving six per cent of a cost-plus contract to teach officers how to handle the military assistance program overseas.

Gross said the school was using retired high-ranking Army officers on its teaching and administrative staff.

"They are in effect being paid twice," Gross said, "because they receive a salary in addition to their regular retirement pay. If they are needed that bad to train officers, then I think they ought to be called into active duty."

The Defense Department said in reply that the Arlington Towers apartment was chosen for the school because "suitable facilities were not otherwise available." It added that employment of retired officers made "optimum use" of their experience.

It said salaries at the school ranged from an average $9,000 a year for professional employes to $4,000 for clerical help.

Gross said he believed the military should be training "its own people" in peacetime and not turn the task over to a private school located "within spitting distance" of the Pentagon and other big military installations.

Old Folks Home Burns; 4 Missing

AURORA, Ill. — (AP) — Four persons were missing after a fire destroyed a five-story home for the aged in downtown Aurora Friday. Nine persons were injured.

Ironically, workmen were installing a fire sprinkler system in the 101-year-old building when the fire broke out. They had finished the basement installation and were working on the first floor.

Several of the 97 inmates escaped the blaze by leaping from upper windows into life nets spread by firemen.

One of those who jumped for his life was critically hurt. Seven other residents were hospitalized for shock. The other injury case was a fire captain who fractured a leg in a 30-foot fall from a collapsing ladder.

The scene of the fire was Jennings Terrace, a brick and stucco landmark built in 1857 to serve as a Methodist Girls' seminary. It had been operated since as a non-profit, non-sectarian refuge for old people.

When the blaze started in a fourth floor room, there were 80 in the building. They occupied the first four floors. On the fifth floor were 17 men residents.

The missing four and seven of the injured residents were men trapped in their top floor quarters.

Unaccounted for after the fire were Alfred Fransen, 98, oldest resident of the home; Jasper Davis, 89; Charles Bartholomew, 78, and Ernest State, age unavailable.

New Stab by U.S.

Tax Indictment Hits Gangland Host

SYRACUSE, N. Y. —(AP)— Joseph Barbara, host to the notorious Apalachin gangland convention, was indicted Friday on a charge of evading payment of $14,600 in federal income taxes.

This was a new stab at the 53-year-old former beer-distributor, who has managed to evade questioning by the numerous investigators who have sought to learn the reason 60 hoodlums and friends convened Nov. 14, 1957, at Barbara's mansion in Apalachin, a small community near Binghamton, N. Y.

Barbara, whose family contends he is too ill with a heart ailment to face investigators, has refused to answer subpenas. This week, an Appellate Court in Albany upheld the validity of a subpena state police taped to the front of his mansion when they could not gain entrance.

Last month, Barbara's son, Joseph Jr., 23, was indicted in New York City on a charge of perjury. He was accused of lying to the state investigation commission when he said his father had been too ill to leave his home since the gang meeting. The commission said the elder Barbara had made trips and the son had accompanied him.

Delegates to the convention were said to have discussed such topics as racketeering in the coin-machine industry, gambling in Cuba and slicing up the rackets empire of Albert Anastasia, a gangdom kingpin who was shot to death in a New York City barbershop in October, 1957.

State police broke up the convention but most of the delegates would say only that they were visiting a sick friend.

Barbara lost his beer-distributing license after the convention. He also sold his bottling business. His palatial, hill-top home is for sale. But he and his family still live there — a shuttered existence behind stone walls.

Gradual Warming Trend Forecast

Cold in North Florida, cool in South Florida.

That's the weatherman's outlook for the state — although we're in "a warming trend," he said Friday.

"There'll be scattered frost in North Florida, with temperatures probably in the mid-30s to low 40s Saturday night," Forecaster Philip Ackerman said.

But it'll be a sunny Saturday, and a few degrees warmer than Thursday or Friday.

Miamians will need light blankets for mid-50 degree temperatures Saturday night, Ackerman said.

"It should be a little warmer each day, and maybe by the end of the coming week we'll be back to above normal temperatures," he added.

Much of the eastern U.S., however, was digging itself out of a snowstorm that was blamed for at least 30 deaths. Many roads in New York, Pennsylvania, New England and New Jersey were blocked.

Eight persons died of heart attacks while shoveling snow and there were a number of weather-connected accident fatalities as snow fell amid high winds.

At the hospital the President also conferred again with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. It was Eisenhower's eighth visit with Dulles since the secretary was found to have suffered a recurrence of cancer.

Marshall, former Army chief of staff, was transferred to Walter Reed earlier this week from an Army hospital at Fort Bragg, N.C.

FORT LAUDERDALE — Another major airline, Northwest, Orient, has applied for permission to serve Broward County.

John May, district sales manager in Miami, said application was made to the Civil Aeronautics Board Friday afternoon with "early approval" requested.

The action followed a study of several weeks which showed a need for service between Broward County and the cities served by Northwest, May said.

He said detailed flight plans have not yet been formulated, but that the airline hopes to begin service this summer.

Northwest has seven flights from Miami daily to Tampa, St. Petersburg, Chicago, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Seattle and Portland, Ore.

It also offers daily service to Tokyo, Honolulu and Alaska. The line flies DC7C's and DC6B's and will put prop-jets in service this summer and straight jets in service next spring.

Northeast and Mackey Air lines are now operating at Broward International, and Aerovias Q has signed a lease to provide service to Cuba.

National and Eastern Air Lines have been granted authority to set up operations, said Lee Wagener, airport manager.

Applications are pending from Delta and Southern, the latter for local service. Mackey is asking for permission to extend service to Orlando and Atlanta.

Trouble Is Ahead For Aid Request

By DAVID KRASLOW
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—The foreign aid program President Eisenhower submitted Friday to Congress is in trouble even before it gets off the ground.

It will take nothing short of a political miracle for Eisenhower to get all of the 3.9 billion dollars he asked Congress to provide for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1960.

The President asked for roughly the same amount last year and Congress whacked it about 600 million. It could happen again.

Some 370 million of that cut came in the military assistance and related "defense support" items. And there are firm indications that this is where the President again will take it on the chin.

Not that he wasn't warned. The tipoff came in a letter to him last August from eight members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The signers included Sens. William Fulbright (D., Ark.) present committee chairman; Mike Mansfield (D., Mont.), assistant majority leader; John Kennedy (D., Mass.), and Hubert Humphrey (D., Minn.).

The letter condemned the administration's military aid philosophy.

The committee members expressed "our concern that we may be pursuing a pattern of foreign aid drawn by force of habit rather than one adjusted

Ticker Tape For Lemus

NEW YORK—(AP)—New York Friday hailed President Jose Maria Lemus of El Salvador with a Broadway ticker tape parade.

Police estimated more than 150,000 persons lined the sidewalks of Lower Manhattan as a motorcade bore the President from Bowling Green to City Hall. Stock market tape and confetti poured from building windows.

Cheers and applause greeted Lemus, riding in an open car in bright sunshine with Robert C. Patterson, city commissioner of commerce.

Lemus flew here from Washington where he and President Eisenhower agreed to work toward economic integration of Central America and creation of a common market there.

Rules Out 'Fortress America'

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower submitted his $3,929,995,000 foreign aid program to the skeptical Democratic Congress Friday with a blunt warning that it may be boosted to meet the Soviet threat to Europe.

He specifically pointed to the Berlin crisis, declaring it could have "perilous consequences" if Russia refuses to back down on its demands. But he said foreign aid had played a big part in enabling the free world to stand firm "in these tense moments."

The President's program promptly ran into Democratic demands that it be cut. Senate Democratic Whip Mike Mansfield of Montana, a member of the powerful Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he thought it could be reduced "drastically," to about three billion.

Foreign Relations Chairman J. William Fulbright (D., Ark.) rapped Eisenhower for showing "little disposition to tailor the program realistically to meet changes in the world situation." He said the committee "will need to engage in considerable surgery if the bill is to fully serve the national interest."

Other Democratic leaders took a show-me attitude and called for an end to "waste and inefficiency" in the aid program. Rep. Wayne Hays (D., Ohio) challenged the President's reference to Berlin. He said "not a nickel" of the new money would help in that crisis.

The President sought about $1,600,000,000 in military aid and $2,330,000,000 in economic aid to help this country's allies counter the "broad and deep" Communist challenge in the fiscal year starting July 1.

But he said a special commission studying the aid program has indicated it will recommend an increase in military aid, primarily for weapons to North Atlantic Treaty Nations. He promised to send Congress further proposals after the commission submits a report, probably next week.

All indications were that the President would have to fight even harder for his aid program this year than he did in 1958 when he seized on every opportunity — including letters to influential citizens—to plug it.

But the President fired the first round in a message to Congress which scorned the "Fortress America" concept held by some of his critics.

The U.S., sitting alone, could become the wealthiest and mightiest nation on earth, he said, and "still lose the battle

Treat Marriage as Illness, Court Rules

She Quit to Wed; Gets Jobless Pay, Anyway

ALBANY, N.Y. — (AP) — A woman who quit her job to get married is entitled to unemployment insurance, the Court of Appeals says.

The state's highest tribunal, in a 5-2 decision, said a lower court was right in allowing benefits to Mrs. Keith I. Shaw of North Tonawanda.

Mrs. Shaw quit work as a clerk-typist at an Albany insurance company in July, 1956, saying she planned to be married and move to Western New York.

He employer contested her claim for unemployment insurance in court

The appellate division decided 3-1 in Mrs. Shaw's favor, ruling that marriage "ought to be treated as illness or other events of important personal consequence to the worker."

State law provides that a person who leaves a job "for good cause" and intends to seek other employment is entitled to unemployment pay. Industrial groups contended the court's decision meant the state would be underwriting honeymoons.

About $200 in benefits was involved in Mrs. Shaw's case.

Ike Going on Air; Topic: Berlin Peril

Adenauer, Macmillan End Talks

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eiswnhower will deliver a radio-television report to the people Monday night on the Berlin crisis and "the general security position of the U.S. and its allies." The White House announced Friday.

The announcement came shortly after the President told Congress in a special foreign aid message that the "tense" Berlin deadlock could have "perilous consequences" if Russia refused to back down on its demands.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President would speak from 9:30 to 10 p.m., EST., Monday over all radio and television networks. The prime evening hours assured him a maximum audience.

Hagerty described Eisenhower's address as "a report to the American people on the evolving Berlin situation and the general security position of the U.S. and its allies."

Besides discussing the immediate threat in Berlin, the President was expected to carry to the people his fight with congressional Democrats over the size of the armed forces. He has accused some Democrats of "hysterical" attitude toward recurring crisis.

The report also will be a prelude to the President's conferences at Camp David, Md., next weekend with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. The talks are scheduled to get underway Friday, the day after Macmillan arrives in Washington.

Macmillan concluded two days of talks Friday with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. They were said to have reached full agreement on how to cope with Russia's threatened attempt to force the Allies out of Berlin.

Adenauer had sought assurances that Britain would not agree to any Soviet plan that would leave Germany divided and West Germany defenseless against the Communists.

In Moscow, the official Soviet press burst loose with a barrage of charges that the West wanted to go to war to settle the Berlin issue while Russia was trying to negotiate a peaceful solution.

The West has proposed a foreign ministers conference on the problem. Russia has agreed, so long as Poland and Czechoslovakia are permitted to attend. However, Russia wants assurances a summit meeting will follow.

Russia also wants to limit the agenda of the foreign ministers conference to Berlin whereas the Allies want to tackle the overall question of German unification and an European security.

to current international realities."

They complained of a "serious distortion in the present relative importance attached to military and related aid on the one hand and technical and . . . economic development assistance on the other.

"Overemphasis on military assistance has tended unavoidably to involve the U.S. in situations in which our aid may have contributed to the maintenance in power of regimes which have lacked broad support within the countries we have assisted."

Then the warning:

"We write you at this time because we are aware that budgets for the mutual security program are prepared many months in advance."

It is clear that the President will have the roughest sort of time getting by Fulbright and company with his current request for over 2.4 billion dollars in military aid and defense support.

Fulbright confirmed this Friday with the remark that his committee "will need to engage in considerable surgery if the (aid) bill is to fully serve the national interest."

He accused the President of "ignoring" the letter sent him last August.

The President took indirect note in his foreign aid message of the Fulbright letter and mounting congressional criticism of world-wide military assistance.

"We do this not through choice but necessity," he said. "It is not in our nature to wish to spend our substance on weapons. We would like to see these outlays shifted to the economic benefit of our own nation and our friends abroad striving for economic progress."

Handling of the military aid program has been sharply criticized by other quarters in Congress and Comptroller General Joseph Campbell.

Congressional investigators and government auditors found that the U.S. has poured military hardware into underdeveloped countries that can't possibly absorb it.

The disappointment is certain to be expressed in terms of dollars.

2 Trapped Men Drown

SPARTANBURG, S. C. — (AP) — A flume gate gave way Friday and trapped two electricians working on a water turbine beneath the floor of the Startex Mills power generating plant at Berry Shoals. Both drowned. A foreman, above the floor, barely escaped.

The torrent of water, loosened when the 20-year-old gate broke, filled the power house and shot 75 feet into the air above it.

The victims were identified as Erneat Dillard, about 33, of the Hadden Heights section near here and Garvin Pace, about 45, of Lake Lure, N. C. Both were employed by the J. Frank Blakely Co. in Spartanburg.

of the world" as that "fantastic conspiracy" — international communism—take over nation after nation.

"It is not the goal of the American people that the U.S. should be the richest nation in the graveyard of history," he said.

Pointing to the nations gobbled up by communism in the past few decades, he said the free world must convince those people as well as the uncommitted nations that it is possible to have both "bread and the ballot."

Eisenhower called on Americans to face up to our "harsh realities" confronting them in 1959. He listed them as:

1—The free world is confronted by well-equipped standing armies of more than 6,500,000 and 25,000 warplanes of the Soviet Union, Communist China and their satellites. These are supported by atomic weapons and missiles.

2—The world is in "a great epoch of seething change" which has seen 21 independent new nations emerge from colonial status in little more than a decade. These nations are fired with "zealous nationalism" which could be harmful unless properly channeled."

3—Communism has seized control in all or part of 17 countries within the past 40 years, and is determined to push on. It continues to push on masquerading as "the wave of the future."

4—"The military position and economic prosperity of the U.S. are interdependent with those of the free world."

Several members of congress said these were convincing arguments for continuing the aid program, although not necessarily on the scale sought by the president.

Call Red Bluff -- Taylor

Army Chief Says Firmness Needed

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor told Congress in testimony made public Friday night that he believed a "national determination" to go to war over Berlin, if necessary, would deter Russia from starting hostilities over the city.

The Army chief of staff, who recently gave the hitherto secret testimony to the Senate preparedness subcommittee, seemed to indicate that other members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff had discussed the matter and shared Taylor's view.

Taylor said he believed the best way to avoid war was to show Russia clearly that this country is ready to fight if necessary. He said the joint chiefs have plans to meet the Berlin crises and the Army has the strength — at home and abroad — to carry them out.

Taylor, whose testimony was heavily censored for security reasons, said the Army would go into any battle for Berlin with "the capability" to use nuclear weapons.

But he added that President Eisenhower would have the final voice on whether to use them.

Taylor also testified that if the total conventional military strength of Communist armies were thrown against the free world forces, the allies could not defend themselves if "we abstained from using nuclear weapons.

The Army chief also threw some cold water on the widely accepted notion that a general war fought with nuclear weapons would be over in a few days. He conceded the "decisive part" of the war might end quickly.

But he said "it might take 100 years to end the desolation and restore some form of order." He commented soberly that "there is no reason to believe that peace is going to ensue at once, except, perhaps, the peace of the dead."

Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D., Tex.), referring to a statement by Taylor that Berlin is "untenable" from a military standpoint, asked "what alternative do we have if the Communists are determined to use force?"

"In my judgment, the clear evidence of national determination to go to war if necessary for Berlin," Taylor replied. "The effect of such an attitude would deter the Soviets from having a final showdown at this time."

Taylor said that many top military leaders now regard the 1948-49 Berlin airlift as a mistake. The general said force should have been tried when the Russians blocked highways and other ground routes into Berlin.

"Instead we yielded to a challenge which may well have been a bluff," Taylor continued. "We will never know to what extent the U.S.S.R. would have gone to maintain the ground blockade by force."

Postman Al Fligge Says Goodby to Midnight
. . . a few hours before the faithful dog died

Only Death Stayed Faithful Courier

ALBERT LEA, Minn. —(AP)— An old, limping black Labrador named Midnight followed Postman Al Fligge on his route for the last time.

"We were planning to retire about the same time," said the veteran mailman, "but old Midnight beat me to it."

Midnight was a spry, playful two-year-old when he and Fligge first met in 1948. "He kept coming over to the relay box on the corner and I kept petting him," Fligge recalled.

Before long the dog, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Engel, was accompanying Fligge faithfully on his rounds. A strong bond grew between them. Midnight whined and brooded whenever Fligge was ill and needed a substitute.

A few weeks ago it became apparent that the dog could not live much longer. Unable to negotiate steps and unsure of his feet, Midnight stumbled to the ground often, hitting his chin.

Mrs. Engel wanted the dog at home this last day. But he fussed and moaned when the door closed behind Fligge. Mrs. Engel opened it and let the dog out. "That was what he wanted," she said.

Midnight stumbled down the front steps and tried to hurry after Fligge. The mailman stopped and waited patiently for him. Together they moved off down the street.

Midnight died a few hours later.

The Town Crier

BY Jack Bell

THERE was a story of tragedy in Friday's Herald. The women who've worked so valiantly for Cancer Institute at Miami voted to disband and re-form as Women's Cancer Corps. They did this so that in the future they can control the money they raise, giving when and where they choose.

BELL

It isn't good. No group of women possesses the knowledge necessary to screen hospital and research activities. Neither does any lay group of men. Furthermore, ladies, the only way to raise money succesfully is hitch your wagon to a star. You need a great, successful and popular institution to which you can point with such pride that the donor will believe you. The evidence is there, unquestioned.

Your new group won't have that institution. Because by your action you've created a public impression that's not good. This is unfair to a great institution headed by Dr. J. Ernest Ayre, who is world famous and has made the institute just as well known as himself. A few days ago one of your members said she doesn't care whether women in other nations get cancer-prevention help from our institute. She's interested in Miami women. I'm sure she's sorry she showed such unconcern for humanity.

Fund raising is one activity. Operation of an institution is another. At Variety Children's Hospital we've the best flock of gals in the world, but I'd quit if they demanded to spend the money as they see fit. They won't. And our board, which does watch expenditures, gets the best medical advice first. We do the same before we build or add facilities.

In United Cerebral Palsy there's another internal hullaballo, caused mostly because heads of the women's units want to help run things, and have their backers lined up. Were they to take over fund expenditures, U.C.P. probably will go the way of Cancer Institute at Miami—.

P.S. For five years I've been chairman of Committee of 1,000, which raises $100,000 to help with the charity load at Variety Children's hospital. We don't try to tell the board or the hospital director how to spend the money. That's their job.

The crew of the USS Boston lined up smartly Friday when the nation's top guided missile cruiser docked at Port Everglades for a liberty stop. The sixth naval vessel to bear the name, the Boston is armed with the supersonic Terrier anti-aircraft missile. This missile can destroy planes under all weather conditions and at longer ranges than conventional gunfire. It is the flagship of Rear Adm. Charles B. During World War II the Boston earned 10 battle stars for participation in the Marshall Islands, Philippines, Iwo Jima and Okinawa campaigns.

IT MUST BE APPARENT now that one or more big-time theft rings are operating among us, concentrating on fur and jewel burglaries. These are not amateurs: They're real pros, who know what they're looking for and how and when to get it. This should be a hint to people of means, some of whom are notoriously careless, to hide their valuables carefully and guard them closely.

Hollywood's Report Good Example

THE WEEKLY "REPORT TO THE PEOPLE" by Hollywood City Manager J. W. Watson is something that Broward's other municipalities could well emulate.

It goes out to a cross section of the citizens—obviously it would be too expensive to send it to all—and includes such intelligence as this, samples from the current issue:

"Preliminary discussions on right of way requirements for proposed Sheridan St. bridge scheduled for March 18 . . . Hollywood has greatest number of fringe benefits of any municipality in the area, provides employes with a maximum of 50 working days' sick leave, longevity pay as a bar to stagnation, bonus vacation days for safety and courtesy awards, eight paid holidays, two weeks' vacation . . . City now has eight major contracts under way. New Westside fire station just getting started, has piles driven and batter boards set, is five per cent completed . . ."

Port Tax's Days Are Numbered

MANY PEOPLE THINK that if Port Everglades is doing so well business-wise, it should become self-supporting and lift the ad valorem taxes which it levies. There are moreover, individuals who contend that whatever laws require it to lay taxes can be circumvented without too much trouble and its income used to make up the tax loss.

Ted Cabot, the port's attorney, took a look at the legal aspect of the subject recently, in response to an inquiry, and doubts that this is true.

As he interprets the situation, the port is required to lay taxes to pay off its bonds. Theoretically, the bonds could be paid off with surplus revenue, but legally that's not permissible. Any surplus funds acquired from the operation of the port must be placed in a building fund.

The tax is steadily being lowered, however, and will disappear eventually, if the port business continues to increase . . .

'Queenie's' Cat's Gone

FORT LAUDERDALE — Patrolman Leo Callahan has taken on a hunt during his off-duty hours. He's got his heart in it but, policeman or no, he needs help.

Object of his search is a kitten belonging to five-year-old "Queenie" Callahan. The tiger-striped and white kitty walked off this week, just after the Callahans moved into a new home at 2820 SW Fourth Pl.

Callahan spent all morning Thursday trudging from door to door in the new neighborhood, spurred on by his daughter's heartbreak. But no kitten.

The 10-week-old cat, whose name is Fuzzy, was a gift to Queenie to help her recover from a tonsillectomy. Fuzzy has three black dots on its nose.

Seminoles To Get 10 Homes

By TOM VINCIGUERRA
Herald Staff Writer

DANIA SEMINOLE RESERVATION — Bids have been awarded for construction of the first 10 homes in a modern Seminole community rising west of the turnpike here.

H. D. Bryan Construction Co. of Fort Lauderdale will start work next week, according to Virgil Harrington, federal Indian agent here.

The homes, priced from $8,000 to $10,000, are being financed under a credit revolving fund administered for Seminoles by the Bureau of Indian Affairs in Washington. Two more home loan applications are pending, Harrington said.

The Seminoles have set aside 40 acres of their 460-acre reservation for the new community. Already up are four frame homes, which are undergoing repairs.

Roads have been cleared under supervision of bureau engineers.

A proposed community center got a big boost recently with a $4,500 contribution from the Friends of the Seminoles in Fort Lauderdale for showers and washrooms. A recreation building and swimming pool also are planned.

FORT LAUDERDALE — The City Commission election shaped up as a 16-man race Friday as the period for candidates to file drew to a close.

Five men added their names — Thomas A. Hackett, 2640 NE 27th Way; Chris Marsden, 1239 SW 19th Ave.; Carl Rehard, 618 SW Fifth Ave.; Stanley Whitlatch, 1131 SW Seventh St., and P. G. Wilson, 1033 NE Fourth Ave.

Hackett ran unsuccessfully as a Republican candiate for the State House of Representatives; Rehard is making his fourth attempt for a city commission seat, and Whitlatch narrowly lost out to E. H. Johns in the last race.

Marsden is a newcomer to politics, as is Wilson, though Wilson has long made his voice heard in civic affairs through the North Lauderdale Improvement Association.

The other candidates are Mayor John V. Russell, commissioners Porter Reynolds, Edward Johns and Robert Childers; and C. Edward Born Jr., Owen B. McManus, Julian B. (Bud) Goodwin, James Leavitt, Robert Serge, Robert Stephens and Nathaniel Wilkerson.

Baines Ponders Court Transcript

Baines, Acquitted, Thanks Prosecutor

By PETER LAINE
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — Donald (Porky) Baines woke from 12 hours sleep Friday night and thanked his week-long prosecutor for being a gentleman.

The freed nightspot owner referred to Wallace Allbritton, assistant county solicitor, who had pressed the state's charge of receiving stolen property against him.

At 1:15 a.m. Friday the six-man Criminal Court jury declared the defendant not guilty. Baines said later he was happy Allbritton didn't win, but added:

"I want to thank him. I asked if he could stay off the subject of the boy we're trying to adopt, and he did.

"I feel like a 10-ton truck's been taken off my back."

The jury went to consider its verdict at 5:05 p.m. Thursday. Most of its eight-hour deliberation was spent rehearing police testimony.

Baines was accused of receiving a stolen white mink cape. He said he bought it from Chris di Bona, but did not learn it was hot until two months later.

He said he then asked di Bona: "Why did you do a thing like that to me when I've got everything to lose . . . my boy . . . my business."

Defense attorney Ray Sandstrom hammered home the same argument in his closing speech to the jury. There was reasonable doubt also about the ownership and identification of the fur, he declared.

Police officers testified that Baines admitted after his arrest that he knew the cape was stolen when he bought it. Baines denied this.

"Five officers must have perjured themselves on the stand for Baines to be innocent," Allbritton told the jury.

County Solicitor Tom Coker said he was "extremely discouraged" over the verdict, but added: "I'm not being critical of the jury."

Another trial for Baines on a similar charge was postponed last week until April 20. Coker said: "I know of no reason why it won't go forward."

Calf Lost To Rustlers

DANIA — A case of cattle rustling at a family dairy farm west of here was reported to the Sheriff's Office Friday.

Stevens Dairy, 5225 SW 21st Ave., reported a brown and black calf weighing 250 pounds was stolen from an outside pen sometime Thursday night.

"We found tracks where the calf was pulled from the pen to the road," said Mrs. William Stevens Jr., wife of the manager.

"It's the first I've heard of any rustling for about a year," she said. "It was the best calf we had."

The calf has been weaned and is fed powdered milk.

'59 Permit Total at $4 Million

By RICK TUTTLE
Hollywood Bureau Chief

WEST HOLLYWOOD—Bank deposits in West Hollywood show a gain of more than $2 million in less than three months, graphically pointing up West Hollywood's substantial growth, Banker Henry Perry said Friday.

"Our deposits as of Thursday totaled $11,844,000 as compared to the $9,570,549 total of Dec. 31, 1958," Perry said.

He said the bank has opened 1,000 new accounts since the first of the year.

George H. Meyer, manager of the Hollywood Federal Savings and Loan Association branch here, said the branch has $3,335,000 in 2,600 savings accounts. It opened last June.

His mortgage department is serving 1,100 residents and covers $5,410,000, Meyer said.

"Our growth has been very good," he said. "The average savings account totals $1,208."

Perry said the average Miami account was about $1,000.

The statements came at a meeting of local businessmen as the result of a story in The Herald Thursday. The meeting was in Perry's office.

The 1958 building permit total was $20,073,700 and included 2,283 residential units. For the first two months of this year building permits were issued for nearly $4 million worth of construction representing a predominance of single-family dwellings.

Developer Sam Rizzo of Miami is planning to build 4,500 low-priced homes and a 50-acre shopping center west of the turnpike.

Other Dade developers are moving in to meet the demand for medium and low-priced housing.

Here is what those attending Friday's meeting had to say:

Henry Briggs, owner of the Waffle Shoppe:

"Projections indicate our population will be a half-million by 1966. Broward and Dade Counties are pushing together here. Business has an awful lot to look forward to here."

"There is practically no turnover of stores in the West Hollywood Shopping Plaza. My business is good. I am building an addition now.

"Merchants report increases in retail purchases from 30 per cent to a thousand per cent."

Attorney Harvey Ford, who presented the businessmen's case:

"The lease on the one store that is going out of business has been purchased already. As soon as the store closes another merchant will open it again. There are no stores standing empty. When I moved out here a year and a half ago I had to convert part of an apartment house for my offices.

"We don't have statistics on the professional people, but we understand their businesses are flourishing."

He said many stores had doubled in size.

Martin Harari, owner of Philmar Hardware:

"Business is very good. Within the next year or so I expect to at least double my sales. We are becoming more and more a shopping hub for South Broward and North Dade."

James Magee of Magee Sand Co.:

"Business has been real good all winter. I have actually had to turn away accounts or begin expansion. And the trade here is year-round, not seasonal."

Steve Coar, owner of Coar's Service Station:

"The overall picture is healthy. You can't judge the whole area by a few businesses that fold up."

HOLLYWOOD — This city's eighth annual Irish Fair will "blast off" today with the firing of a 60-foot rocket.

"It won't leave the ground but you'll think it is with all the spouting and roaring of its engines," said Pat Heneghan, city recreation director.

He estimated 8,000 persons with view the Air Force Liberty Stinger which is being sent here from Warner Robins, Ga.

The "count down" is set for 10:25 a.m. in Young Circle.

The four-day fair officially opens at 10 a.m. with a presentation of colors, introduction of dignitaries, and a parade from the bandshell to the launching pad.

Among events scheduled for the opening day is an appearance by singer Julius La Rosa. He's to be at the circle at mid-afternoon.

A highlight of the opening day's activities will be the presentation of an Irish musical, "Killarney," at 8 p.m. It will be directed by Miss Eileen Wall, a former New York choreographer.

Music and special events will be continuous today. Approximately 475 ribbons, 34 trophies and 70 certificates will be awarded in competitive events over the four days.

'Teach Us Nothing Can Hurt'

By JIM BISHOP

"Labor is discovered to be the grand conqueror, enriching and building up nations more surely than the proudest battles," William Ellery Channing wrote. He added, "War will never yield but to the principles of universal justice and love, and these have no sure root but in the religion of Jesus Christ." Channing was born in 1780 in Newport, R.I., and educated at Harvard. He was ordained and installed as minister of the Federal Street Congregational Church in Boston at the age of 23, and served in its pulpit till his death 39 years later. He was a lucid writer as well as a great preacher and exercised a great influence on Ralph Waldo Emerson, Oliver Wendell Holmes, and William Cullen Bryant.

Go With God

O God, animate us to cheerfulness. May we have a joyful sense of our blessings, learn to look on the bright circumstances of our lot, and maintain a perpetual contentedness under Thy allotments. Fortify our minds against disappointment and calamity.

Preserve us from despondency, from yielding to dejection. Teach us that no evil is intolerable but a guilty conscience, and that nothing can hurt us, if, with true loyalty of affection, we keep Thy commandments and take refuge in Thee; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Ask Your Wife for a Date And Forget About Divorce

By ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN:

I am 43 and my wife is 40. We've been married 10 years. This is the third marriage for both of us. Our sons are nine, seven, five and two. My mother-in-law lives with us, thank the good Lord. She is wonderful to our boys, keeps the house clean and cooks all the meals.

ANN

My wife has a good job and likes to work. She says staying home would drive her nuts. I have no objection to her working, except she often goes out with men from the office "for a cocktail," and winds up eating dinner with a bunch, finally coming home around midnight.

She accuses me of stepping out, which is untrue. I take out women now and then, but only for business reasons. I never stay out late. In fact, I always manage to beat her home. Last week she found some strange earrings in the car and asked if I wanted a divorce. We need advice.

KOOLIE

Dear Koolie: Divorce will solve nothing for a pair of rounders like you. It sounds as if there's plenty to forgive and forget on both sides.

Since you both enjoy going out, why not go out together? Ask your wife for a date. Send her a flower. Pump some life into that gasping marriage. If you two chose each other after two flops there must have been a reason.

Maybe she wouldn't go cocktailing if she knew you'd be home after work. And maybe you wouldn't look for outside company if you knew she was available.

There are four good reasons to stay together. They are nine, seven, five and two. You owe these children more than room and board. This is the area in which you should work together to make your marriage solid and rewarding.

* * *

DEAR ANN:

I'm a boy 17 with a very guilty conscience. I went steady with a swell gal for six months. She was a drum majorette, and well liked by everybody.

We broke up three weeks ago because she said I was too "possessive" and she was missing out on lots of fun by not going with other fellows. Also I'm sure her folks didn't care for me too much.

Naturally I was hurt and wanted to get even, so I told a few of the guys some lies about her. (You can guess the kind.) I don't know for sure which one of the guys shot off his yap, but anyway she heard about it. Now she won't speak to me and she turns her head whenever I pass her in the hall. I feel slimy and want to clear her name. How can I do it?

LOWEST FORM OF LIFE

Dear Lowest — and you ARE just that! You can "clear her name" the same way you tried to tarnish it. Tell the guys you were lying and that you're sorry. The word will get back to her, and maybe she'll say "hello" when she sees you — which is more than you deserve.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Miami Herald enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Warship's Arrival Veiled in Mystery

Covers Are Off Weapons

By PETER LAINE
And PAT MANGAN
Herald Staff Writers

FORT LAUDERDALE — The Dominican Frigate Presidente Peynado docked at Port Everglades Friday morning in an atmosphere of secrecy that set off rumors about the passengers it might be carrying.

But Lt. Cmdr. Douglas Christy, naval laboratory head who greeted it, said he didn't see anyone like deposed Cuban President Fulgencio Batista or Juan Peron, ex-dictator in Argentina, aboard.

Port officials noted there was "something on the quiet" about the ship's arrival, and that it was well armed. Guns were out from under wraps, and depth charges were on deck.

"I observed nothing unusual," said Christy. "We had a letter from the Navy Department yesterday saying it was probably coming."

The frigate, a sister ship to the well-known Angelita, is reported to be here for fuel, to buy spare parts and "recreation for the men," according to the officer of the day who said his name is George, but declined to say what his surname is.

Late Friday none of the 140 men aboard had been given leave.

Lt. Jose Ventura, executive officer, said the ship came here from Cuidad Trujillo and would return directly there. It is expected to be here two or three days.

Capt. David Hartt and Capt. Frank Ivera, the ship's commanding officer, went shopping in Miami Friday and returned with a number of television sets and radios.

Coffee Tosser Hunt Pushed

POMPANO BEACH — City police were looking Friday for a man accused of throwing a cup of hot coffee on a restaurant owner.

Jon Crump, owner of a restaurant at the Pompano State Farmers Market, swore out a warrant charging Joseph Raines, 34, a customer, with assault and battery. Crump told police Raines threw the coffee during an argument over food prices.

Dimes Drive

COCOA — The 1959 March of Dimes raised $21,525 in Brevard County, drive officials announced Friday.

182 Patients In 172-Bed Hospital in Hollywood

Memorial Hospital in HOLLYWOOD was packed tight Friday as officials squeezed a record 182 patients into rooms and halls.

Hospital officials had hoped the situation would ease after Thursday's 177-patient load, the previous record.

A screening committee of staff doctors, activated when beds are scarce, has been selecting only the "critically ill" for admittance, said Joseph McAloon, administrator of the 173-bed hospital.

"We can't account for the sudden spurt of major illness," a hospital spokesman said. About 10 patients were in halls Friday. Rooms were jammed.

AROUND BROWARD

Traditionally, February is the busiest month for the hospital. "We're running late when we should be starting to slack off," McAloon said.

Engineer Quits

He had been head of the Engineering Department since October 1956.

"I feel the new job offers more opportunities," White said. "We'll have a hard time finding someone to replace him," said City Manager Joseph W. Watson.

Fire Probed

Clyde Thompson, 40, of 2634 Johnson St., HOLLYWOOD, sought for questioning in connection with a fire that destroyed a HALLANDALE furniture store he managed, was charged Friday with violating probation.

Thompson, whose probation stemmed from a 1957 robbery, showed up Thursday after being missing since Tuesday without authority, said Parole Supervisor Franklin McKain. He quoted Thompson as saying he hid out in the Dania mangrove swamp "to do some thinking."

Meanwhile, Deputy State Fire Marshal A. M. Willis said investigation of the furniture store fire at 801 Pembroke Rd. is continuing "under suspicion of arson." Investigators said Thompson had refused a lie detector test in connection with the blaze.

Broward Deaths

Randolph J. Roshirt, Ex-Detroiter, Dies

FORT LAUDERDALE — Randolph Joseph Roshirt, vice president of Aluminum Industries Inc., Cincinnati, died at his home here Friday. He was 65.

Mr. Roshirt, who came here four years ago from Detroit, lived at 2418 SE 13th St., Laguna Isle.

He had been executive vice president and a director of Bohn Aluminum and Brass Corp. and during World War II he served on an advisory committee to the War Production Board, the Office of Price Stabilization and the National Production Association.

He was a member of the Detroit Board of Commerce, the Association of Automotive Engineers and Pier 66 Yacht Club.

The funeral will be Monday at 11 a.m. at Fannin Chapel, with entombment in Lauderdale Memorial Gardens mausoleum.

He is survived by his wife, Louise, and a son, Robert, of Fort Lauderdale; a daughter, Mrs. Edward Davis Sacks of Washington, D.C., and two brothers, James and Eugene of Detroit.

Patsy Potalivo

FORT LAUDERDALE—Requiem mass will be said today at 10 a.m. at St. Anthony's Catholic Church for Patsy Potalivo, 70, who died Thursday at a hospital in Coral Gables. Jewels Search Upheld

FBI Backed In Theft Case

By ARTHUR JOHNSEY
Herald Staff Writer

A federal judge Friday upheld the procedure by which FBI agents say they seized a case loaded with stolen jewels without a search warrant at a Fort Lauderdale store last May.

District Judge Emett C. Choate refused to suppress the seized jewelry as evidence or to dismiss the FBI's charges against two Miami Beach men of receiving the stolen jewels.

Action on the motion apparently cleared the way for an early trial of the case.

Oscar Slofsky, 48, and Jack Rapaport, 44, were arrested in the Cut Rate Gift Shop, 104 S. Andrews, after FBI agents said a case containing the jewels had been delivered there by Railway Express.

The FBI said it was addressed simply to the Cut Rate Gift Shop.

FBI agents testified they had no search warrant—but that one agent was in the shop posing as a customer and talking with Rapaport when Slofsky took the leather jewelry case from the express man.

Agent Vincent Stacey told Judge Choate he had been briefed as to the kind of package that would be delivered.

When Slofsky signed for it Stacey passed the word to other agents and an arrest warrant was made out by U.S. Commissioner Roger Davis in Miami, Stacey said.

On the basis of telephoned information that the arrest warrant had been signed, arrests were made and the jewelry seized quickly after the package came, the court was told.

Stacey said he heard Slofsky tell Rapaport not to consent to a search. The witness said Slofsky then claimed to own the shop.

However, Rapaport testified he had been owner since 1957 and Slofsky, who formerly owned it, "occasionally came into the store and helped." Rapaport said he had never seen the case before and "I don't know now who sent it."

Youth Gets 5 Years For Violating Parole

Herald Bureau

FORT LAUDERDALE — William D. Nading, 20, was sentenced to five years in jail Friday after violating the probation he was placed on a week earlier.

Another offense committed in the meantime got Nading an additional two-year term. They will run consecutively.

Nading was convicted Jan. 1 on a burglary charge. Criminal Court Judge Louis Weissing ordered a pre-sentence investigation, then — on March 6 — put Nadington on five year's probation.

Another offender, Elwood Albright, was probationed at the same time. On Monday both men were charged with breaking into a Pompano Beach business.

Nading's probation was revoked for drinking beer, and for associating with Albright against specific instructions.

Nading, of 2640 NE 21st St., Pompano Beach, pleaded guilty to this week's burglary. Albright, of 6870 SW 16th Ct., Pompano Beach, pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity. Public Defender Clayton Nance said he will ask the court to arrange psychiatric examination.

In other court action, Airman William Slone, 27, pleaded not guilty to charges of kidnaping and robbery. His trial was set for March 26.

Slone is accused of robbing a Dania service station attendant, then forcing the victim to drive him at gun point to Eau Gallie.

Joseph Wheeler, 35, 363 W. Dayton Circle, pleaded guilty to grand larceny. He admitted taking $1,500 from the Davis Cafeteria where he worked as assistant manager. A pre-sentence investigation was ordered.

. . . Bettye McGarvey greets Akiko Ohta

By GREG TAYLOR

FORT LAUDERDALE — A livin' doll from Tokyo, Japan, arrived here Friday with some inside information about the widely-heralded romance between Japanese Prince Akihito and Michiko Shoda, daughter of a flower merchant.

The livin' doll is Akiko Ohto (Merry Child) who is here to appear in Bettye McGarvey's fashion show Saturday night at the Lauderdale Yacht Club. She was accompanied by Romola Metzner, New York Journal-American fashion editor.

"Michiko and I are good friends. We both went to school at Sacred Heart Convent in Japan," said Akiko, who speaks in a soft melodious voice.

"Michiko and the crown prince met after I came to America. But she came to visit us in New York and when she returned they were engaged. We think she came here to think it over."

Akiko is 21, and lives at 820 Park Ave., New York City, with her parents. Her father is director of the Bank of Tokyo.

Asked if she would like to marry a prince, Akiko said, "if one asked me to marry, I would like it for the opportunity to serve my country. It would be a great thing for a woman, for now I'm just one small girl," said the 5-foot-2 Akiko, who weighs 92 pounds.

She said there is great interest all over Japan in the royal romance.

"The marriage may keep the royal family in existence much longer. It was felt that the family eventually would fade away."

In New York, Akiko spends her time with skiing, tennis, swimming. And in December 1957 she represented Japan at the International Debutantes' Ball in New York.

While the Japanese teenagers dance to rock and roll and wear bluejeans, Akiko doesn't like that music fad. And she prefers to wear Japanese dress.

Lee Incompetent; Assault Trial Off

Herald Bureau

FORT LAUDERDALE — Robert Lee, 17, accused of raping a 45-year-old woman, will be committed to a mental institution until he is competent to stand trial.

Circuit Judge Lamar Warrens's ruling Friday followed a recent hearing which produced conflicting evidence from two psychiatrists and a psychologist.

Assistant State Attorney Quentin Long said the order he is preparing at Judge Warren's request will recommend sending Lee to the state hospital at Chattahoochee.

Lee will spend his life there unless he is released for trial on the capital charge, Long said.

"The order rules that he is incompetent to stand trial, not that he was insane at the time of the offense," Long explained.

House Probers Eye Plush Setup

Private Officers School—Why?

WASHINGTON —(UPI)— House investigators set out Friday to determine why the government is running a $700,000-a-year private school for military officers at a fashionable apartment "within spitting distance of the Pentagon."

Rep. H. R. Gross (R., Iowa) said Dr. John C. Flanagan, head of the school, will be summoned for questioning March 23 along with Defense Department officials.

Gross is a member of the House manpower utilization subcommittee investigating the school.

The congressman said he understood that Flanagan, a former Pittsburgh psychology professor, was receiving six per cent of a cost-plus contract to teach officers how to handle the military assistance program overseas.

Gross said the school was using retired high-ranking Army officers on its teaching and administrative staff.

"They are in effect being paid twice," Gross said, "because they receive a salary in addition to their regular retirement pay. If they are needed that bad to train officers, then I think they ought to be called into active duty."

The Defense Department said in reply that the Arlington Towers apartment was chosen for the school because "suitable facilities were not otherwise available." It added that employment of retired officers made "optimum use" of their experience.

It said salaries at the school ranged from an average $9,000 a year for professional employes to $4,000 for clerical help.

Gross said he believed the military should be training "its own people" in peacetime and not turn the task over to a private school located "within spitting distance" of the Pentagon and other big military installations.

Inmate, 80, Leaps to Escape From Burning Home for Aged
. . . Ezra Stiles suffered broken back

Old Folks Home Burns; 4 Missing

AURORA, Ill. —(AP)— Four persons were missing after a fire destroyed a five-story home for the aged in downtown Aurora Friday. Nine persons were injured.

Ironically, workmen were installing a fire sprinkler system in the 101-year-old building when the fire broke out. They had finished the basement installation and were working on the first floor.

Several of the 97 inmates escaped the blaze by leaping from upper windows into life nets spread by firemen.

One of those who jumped for his life was critically hurt. Seven other residents were hospitalized for shock. The other injury case was a fire captain who fractured a leg in a 30-foot fall from a collapsing ladder.

The scene of the fire was Jennings Terrace, a brick and stucco landmark built in 1857 to serve as a Methodist Girls' seminary. It had been operated since as a non-profit, non-sectarian refuge for old people.

When the blaze started in a fourth floor room, there were 80 in the building. They occupied the first four floors. On the fifth floor were 17 men residents.

The missing four and seven of the injured residents were men trapped in their top floor quarters.

Unaccounted for after the fire were Alfred Fransen, 98, oldest resident of the home; Jasper Davis, 89; Charles Bartholomew, 78, and Ernest State, age unavailable.

New Stab by U.S.

Tax Indictment Hits Gangland Host

SYRACUSE, N. Y. —(AP)— Joseph Barbara, host to the notorious Apalachin gangland convention, was indicted Friday on a charge of evading payment of $14,600 in federal income taxes.

This was a new stab at the 53-year-old former beer-distributor, who has managed to evade questioning by the numerous investigators who have sought to learn the reason 60 hoodlums and friends convened Nov. 14, 1957, at Barbara's mansion in Apalachin, a small community near Binghamton, N. Y.

Barbara, whose family contends he is too ill with a heart ailment to face investigators, has refused to answer subpenas. This week, an Appellate Court in Albany upheld the validity of a subpena state police taped to the front of his mansion when they could not gain entrance.

Last month, Barbara's son, Joseph Jr., 23, was indicted in New York City on a charge of perjury. He was accused of lying to the state investigation commission when he said his father had been too ill to leave his home since the gang meeting. The commission said the elder Barbara had made trips and the son had accompanied him.

Delegates to the convention were said to have discussed such topics as racketeering in the coin-machine industry, gambling in Cuba and slicing up the rackets empire of Albert Anastasia, a gangdom kingpin who was shot to death in a New York City barbershop in October, 1957.

State police broke up the convention but most of the delegates would say only that they were visiting a sick friend.

Barbara lost his beer-distributing license after the convention. He also sold his bottling business. His palatial, hill-top home is for sale. But he and his family still live there — a shuttered existence behind stone walls.

Gradual Warming Trend Forecast

Cold in North Florida, cool in South Florida.

That's the weatherman's outlook for the state — although we're in "a warming trend," he said Friday.

"There'll be scattered frost in North Florida, with temperatures probably in the mid-30s to low 40s Saturday night," Forecaster Philip Ackerman said.

But it'll be a sunny Saturday, and a few degrees warmer than Thursday or Friday.

Miamians will need light blankets for mid-50 degree temperatures Saturday night, Ackerman said.

"It should be a little warmer each day, and maybe by the end of the coming week we'll be back to above normal temperatures," he added.

Much of the eastern U.S., however, was digging itself out of a snowstorm that was blamed for at least 30 deaths. Many roads in New York, Pennsylvania, New England and New Jersey were blocked.

Eight persons died of heart attacks while shoveling snow and there were a number of weather-connected accident fatalities as snow fell amid high winds.

At the hospital the President also conferred again with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. It was Eisenhower's eighth visit with Dulles since the secretary was found to have suffered a recurrence of cancer.

Marshall, former Army chief of staff, was transferred to Walter Reed earlier this week from an Army hospital at Fort Bragg, N.C.

5 Million Asked for Schools

More Palm Beach News, On 1B, 1C

By ROSE ALLEGATO
Herald Staff Writer

WEST PALM BEACH — A three-year five-million-dollar construction program was proposed by Palm Beach County school officials Friday as a "must" to keep pace with the county's Topsy-like growth.

They warned they will be forced to increase taxes to finance school construction if the Legislature cuts capital appropriations for Palm Beach County.

The program to construct 11 new schools and convert two junior high schools into senior highs was outlined by Supt. Howell Watkins.

At least two School Board members said they will vote to raise the school millage on real property to finance construction if the Legislature fails to give the county assistance.

Ralph Kettler, board chairman, declared, "We need the school facilities and the money to provide them. If it does not come from the state, we need it from local sources."

Jack Horner, vice chairman, said he will vote to levy ad valorem taxes to finance the needed construction if the state fails to appropriate funds or provide new revenue sources.

School officials urged the public to urge legislators to obtain the state money.

Meanwhile the School Board dipped into its reserve funds Friday to authorize the construction of 52 classrooms to be completed by September, 1959.

The projects at 14 schools throughout the county will cost $352,700. Land will cost an estimated $260,000.

Despite this construction, Watkins said, the public school system will still be 130 classrooms short next fall. This shortage is based on anticipated increase in enrollment.

Watkins said it would cost $1,668,000 to build 130 classrooms.

The $5,051,790 program covers a three-year period and is mainly for new schools, not expansion of present facilities. The schools are in outlying residential areas springing up all over the county. Of the total, $4,048,790 would be for building, and $403,000 to acquire sites.

Of the 11 new schools, two would be junior-senior highs; seven elementary; and two junior high.

Military Funds Chief Target

Trouble Is Ahead For Aid Request

By DAVID KRASLOW
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—The foreign aid program President Eisenhower submitted Friday to Congress is in trouble even before it gets off the ground.

It will take nothing short of a political miracle for Eisenhower to get all of the 3.9 billion dollars he asked Congress to provide for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1960.

The President asked for roughly the same amount last year and Congress whacked it about 600 million. It could happen again.

Some 370 million of that cut came in the military assistance and related "defense support" items. And there are firm indications that this is where the President again will take it on the chin.

Not that he wasn't warned. The tipoff came in a letter to him last August from eight members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The signers included Sens. William Fulbright (D., Ark.) present committee chairman; Mike Mansfield (D., Mont.), assistant majority leader; John Kennedy (D., Mass.), and Hubert Humphrey (D., Minn.).

The letter condemned the administration's military aid philosophy.

The committee members expressed "our concern that we may be pursuing a pattern of foreign aid drawn by force of habit rather than one adjusted

Ticker Tape For Lemus

NEW YORK—(AP)—New York Friday hailed President Jose Maria Lemus of El Salvador with a Broadway ticker tape parade.

Police estimated more than 150,000 persons lined the sidewalks of Lower Manhattan as a motorcade bore the President from Bowling Green to City Hall. Stock market tape and confetti poured from building windows.

Cheers and applause greeted Lemus, riding in an open car in bright sunshine with Robert C. Patterson, city commissioner of commerce.

Lemus flew here from Washington where he and President Eisenhower agreed to work toward economic integration of Central America and creation of a common market there.

Rules Out 'Fortress America'

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower submitted his $3,929,995,000 foreign aid program to the skeptical Democratic Congress Friday with a blunt warning that it may be boosted to meet the Soviet threat to Europe.

He specifically pointed to the Berlin crisis, declaring it could have "perilous consequences" if Russia refuses to back down on its demands. But he said foreign aid had played a big part in enabling the free world to stand firm "in these tense moments."

The President's program promptly ran into Democratic demands that it be cut. Senate Democratic Whip Mike Mansfield of Montana, a member of the powerful Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he thought it could be reduced "drastically," to about three billion.

Foreign Relations Chairman J. William Fulbright (D., Ark.) rapped Eisenhower for showing "little disposition to tailor the program realistically to meet changes in the world situation." He said the committee "will need to engage in considerable surgery if the bill is to fully serve the national interest."

Other Democratic leaders took a show-me attitude and called for an end to "waste and inefficiency" in the aid program. Rep. Wayne Hays (D., Ohio) challenged the President's reference to Berlin. He said "not a nickel" of the new money would help in that crisis.

The President sought about $1,600,000,000 in military aid and $2,330,000,000 in economic aid to help this country's allies counter the "broad and deep" Communist challenge in the fiscal year starting July 1.

But he said a special commission studying the aid program has indicated it will recommend an increase in military aid, primarily for weapons to North Atlantic Treaty Nations. He promised to send Congress further proposals after the commission submits a report, probably next week.

All indications were that the President would have to fight even harder for his aid program this year than he did in 1958 when he seized on every opportunity — including letters to influential citizens—to plug it.

But the President fired the first round in a message to Congress which scorned the "Fortress America" concept held by some of his critics.

The U.S., sitting alone, could become the wealthiest and mightiest nation on earth, he said, and "still lose the battle

Treat Marriage as Illness, Court Rules

She Quit to Wed; Gets Jobless Pay, Anyway

ALBANY, N.Y. — (AP) — A woman who quit her job to get married is entitled to unemployment insurance, the Court of Appeals says.

The state's highest tribunal, in a 5-2 decision, said a lower court was right in allowing benefits to Mrs. Keith I. Shaw of North Tonawanda.

Mrs. Shaw quit work as a clerk-typist at an Albany insurance company in July, 1956, saying she planned to be married and move to Western New York.

He employer contested her claim for unemployment insurance in court.

The appellate division decided 3-1 in Mrs. Shaw's favor, ruling that marriage "ought to be treated as illness or other events of important personal consequence to the worker."

State law provides that a person who leaves a job "for good cause" and intends to seek other employment is entitled to unemployment pay. Industrial groups contended the court's decision meant the state would be underwriting honeymoons.

About $200 in benefits was involved in Mrs. Shaw's case.

Ike Going on Air; Topic: Berlin Peril

Adenauer. Macmillan End Talks

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eiswnhower will deliver a radio-television report to the people Monday night on the Berlin crisis and "the general security position of the U.S. and its allies." The White House announced Friday.

The announcement came shortly after the President told Congress in a special foreign aid message that the "tense" Berlin deadlock could have "perilous consequences" if Russia refused to back down on its demands.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President would speak from 9:30 to 10 p.m., EST., Monday over all radio and television networks. The prime evening hours assured him a maximum audience.

Hagerty described Eisenhower's address as "a report to the American people on the evolving Berlin situation and the general security position of the U.S. and its allies."

Besides discussing the immediate threat in Berlin, the President was expected to carry to the people his fight with congressional Democrats over the size of the armed forces. He has accused some Democrats of "hysterical" attitude toward recurring crisis.

The report also will be a prelude to the President's conferences at Camp David, Md., next weekend with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. The talks are scheduled to get underway Friday, the day after Macmillan arrives in Washington.

Macmillan concluded two days of talks Friday with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. They were said to have reached full agreement on how to cope with Russia's threatened attempt to force the Allies out of Berlin.

Adenauer had sought assurances that Britain would not agree to any Soviet plan that would leave Germany divided and West Germany defenseless against the Communists.

In Moscow, the official Soviet press burst loose with a barrage of charges that the West wanted to go to war to settle the Berlin issue while Russia was trying to negotiate a peaceful solution.

The West has proposed a foreign ministers conference on the problem. Russia has agreed, so long as Poland and Czechoslovakia are permitted to attend. However, Russia wants assurances a summit meeting will follow.

Russia also wants to limit the agenda of the foreign ministers conference to Berlin whereas the Allies want to tackle the overall question of German unification and an European security.

to current international realities."

They complained of a "serious distortion in the present relative importance attached to military and related aid on the one hand and technical and . . . economic development assistance on the other.

"Overemphasis on military assistance has tended unavoidably to involve the U.S. in situations in which our aid may have contributed to the maintenance in power of regimes which have lacked broad support within the countries we have assisted."

Then the warning:

"We write you at this time because we are aware that budgets for the mutual security program are prepared many months in advance."

It is clear that the President will have the roughest sort of time getting by Fulbright and company with his current request for over 2.4 billion dollars in military aid and defense support.

Fulbright confirmed this Friday with the remark that his committee "will need to engage in considerable surgery if the (aid) bill is to fully serve the national interest."

He accused the President of "ignoring" the letter sent him last August.

The President took indirect note in his foreign aid message of the Fulbright letter and mounting congressional criticism of world-wide military assistance.

"We do this not through choice but necessity," he said. "It is not in our nature to wish to spend our substance on weapons. We would like to see these outlays shifted to the economic benefit of our own nation and our friends abroad striving for economic progress."

Handling of the military aid program has been sharply criticized by other quarters in Congress and Comptroller General Joseph Campbell.

Congressional investigators and government auditors found that the U.S. has poured military hardware into underdeveloped countries that can't possibly absorb it.

The disappointment is certain to be expressed in terms of dollars.

2 Trapped Men Drown

SPARTANBURG, S. C. —(AP)— A flume gate gave way Friday and trapped two electricians working on a water turbine beneath the floor of the Startex Mills power generating plant at Berry Shoals. Both drowned. A foreman, above the floor, barely escaped.

The torrent of water, loosened when the 20-year-old gate broke, filled the power house and shot 75 feet into the air above it.

The victims were identified as Erneat Dillard, about 33, of the Hadden Heights section near here and Garvin Pace, about 45, of Lake Lure, N. C. Both were employed by the J. Frank Blakely Co. in Spartanburg.

of the world" as that "fantastic conspiracy" — international communism—take over nation after nation.

"It is not the goal of the American people that the U.S. should be the richest nation in the graveyard of history," he said.

Pointing to the nations gobbled up by communism in the past few decades, he said the free world must convince those people as well as the uncommitted nations that it is possible to have both "bread and the ballot."

Eisenhower called on Americans to face up to our "harsh realities" confronting them in 1959. He listed them as:

1—The free world is confronted by well-equipped standing armies of more than 6,500,000 and 25,000 warplanes of the Soviet Union, Communist China and their satellites. These are supported by atomic weapons and missiles.

2—The world is in "a great epoch of seething change" which has seen 21 independent new nations emerge from colonial status in little more than a decade. These nations are fired with "zealous nationalism" which could be harmful unless properly channeled."

3—Communism has seized control in all or part of 17 countries within the past 40 years, and is determined to push on. It continues to push on masquerading as "the wave of the future."

4—"The military position and economic prosperity of the U.S. are interdependent with those of the free world."

Several members of congress said these were convincing arguments for continuing the aid program, although not necessarily on the scale sought by the president.

Van Cliburn Off to Arizona

The 24-year-old concert pianist had been in the Hospital for Special Surgery since Feb. 23. He underwent an operation Feb. 27 for an abscess on the middle right finger.

"No nerves were affected, but my finger feels numb — there is no feeling in it," he told newsmen as he boarded a Trans World Airlines plane at Idlewild Airport. He believes that trimming the nail caused the infection.

Call Red Bluff--Taylor

Army Chief Says Firmness Needed

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor told Congress in testimony made public Friday night that he believed a "national determination" to go to war over Berlin, if necessary, would deter Russia from starting hostilities over the city.

The Army chief of staff, who recently gave the hitherto secret testimony to the Senate preparedness subcommittee, seemed to indicate that other members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff had discussed the matter and shared Taylor's view.

Taylor said he believed the best way to avoid war was to show Russia clearly that this country is ready to fight if necessary. He said the joint chiefs have plans to meet the Berlin crises and the Army has the strength — at home and abroad — to carry them out.

Taylor, whose testimony was heavily censored for security reasons, said the Army would go into any battle for Berlin with "the capability" to use nuclear weapons.

But he added that President Eisenhower would have the final voice on whether to use them.

Taylor also testified that if the total conventional military strength of Communist armies were thrown against the free world forces, the allies could not defend themselves if "we abstained from using nuclear weapons.

The Army chief also threw some cold water on the widely accepted notion that a general war fought with nuclear weapons would be over in a few days. He conceded the "decisive part" of the war might end quickly.

But he said "it might take 100 years to end the desolation and restore some form of order." He commented soberly that "there is no reason to believe that peace is going to ensue at once, except, perhaps, the peace of the dead."

Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D., Tex.), referring to a statement by Taylor that Berlin is "untenable" from a military standpoint, asked "what alternative do we have if the Communists are determined to use force?"

"In my judgment, the clear evidence of national determination to go to war if necessary for Berlin," Taylor replied. "The effect of such an attitude would deter the Soviets from having a final showdown at this time."

Taylor said that many top military leaders now regard the 1948-49 Berlin airlift as a mistake. The general said force should have been tried when the Russians blocked highways and other ground routes into Berlin.

"Instead we yielded to a challenge which may well have been a bluff," Taylor continued. "We will never know to what extent the U.S.S.R. would have gone to maintain the ground blockade by force."

Postman Al Fligge Says Goodby to Midnight
. . . a few hours before the faithful dog died

Only Death Stayed Faithful Courier

"We were planning to retire about the same time," said the veteran mailman, "but old Midnight beat me to it."

Midnight was a spry, playful two-year-old when he and Fligge first met in 1948. "He kept coming over to the relay box on the corner and I kept petting him," Fligge recalled.

Before long the dog, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Engel, was accompanying Fligge faithfully on his rounds. A strong bond grew between them. Midnight whined and brooded whenever Fligge was ill and needed a substitute.

A few weeks ago it became apparent that the dog could not live much longer. Unable to negotiate steps and unsure of his feet, Midnight stumbled to the ground often, hitting his chin.

Mrs. Engel wanted the dog at home this last day. But he fussed and moaned when the door closed behind Fligge. Mrs. Engel opened it and let the dog out. "That was what he wanted," she said.

Midnight stumbled down the front steps and tried to hurry after Fligge. The mailman stopped and waited patiently for him. Together they moved off down the street.

Midnight died a few hours later.

Tot Beater Gets Lesson

LINCOLN, England — (UPI) — Fellow prisoners were so angered at the short sentence given Patrick J. O'Sullivan for beating his six-year-old daughter they beat him so badly he was sent to the prison hospital, it was disclosed.

O'Sullivan was sentenced to two months for causing grievous bodily harm to his daughter, Norah.

Inmates of a London prison seized him while he was en route to the prison chapel, dragged him into the lavatory and mauled him thoroughly. He suffered concussion, shock, a split upper lip and scalp wounds.

One prisoner, irked at O'Sullivan's perpetual smile, was said to have muttered. "We'll put that smile on the other side of his face."

The Town Crier

BELL

THERE was a story of tragedy in Friday's Herald. The women who've worked so valiantly for Cancer Institute at Miami voted to disband and re-form as Women's Cancer Corps. They did this so that in the future they can control the money they raise, giving when and where they choose.

It isn't good. No group of women possesses the knowledge necessary to screen hospital and research activities. Neither does any lay group of men. Furthermore, ladies, the only way to raise money succesfully is hitch your wagon to a star. You need a great, successful and popular institution to which you can point with such pride that the donor will believe you. The evidence is there, unquestioned.

Your new group won't have that institution. Because by your action you've created a public impression that's not good. This is unfair to a great institution headed by Dr. J. Ernest Ayre, who is world famous and has made the institute just as well known as himself. A few days ago one of your members said she doesn't care whether women in other nations get cancer-prevention help from our institute. She's interested in Miami women. I'm sure she's sorry she showed such unconcern for humanity.

Fund raising is one activity. Operation of an institution is another. At Variety Children's Hospital we've the best flock of gals in the world, but I'd quit if they demanded to spend the money as they see fit. They won't. And our board, which does watch expenditures, gets the best medical advice first. We do the same before we build or add facilities.

In United Cerebral Palsy there's another internal hullaballo, caused mostly because heads of the women's units want to help run things, and have their backers lined up. Were they to take over fund expenditures, U.C.P. probably will go the way of Cancer Institute at Miami—.

P.S. For five years I've been chairman of Committee of 1,000, which raises $100,000 to help with the charity load at Variety Children's hospital. We don't try to tell the board or the hospital director how to spend the money. That's their job.

Police Records Altered, Call Jury--Nugent

PB Solicitor Probes Case Involving $4 Larceny Arrest

By ED PFISTER
Herald Bureau Chief

WEST PALM BEACH — County Solicitor Charles A. Nugent charged Friday that West Palm Beach police records had been altered in a four dollar larceny arrest and asked that the grand jury be recalled to consider the case.

Police Chief R. W. Milburn immediately announced "since such an inquiry necessarily will involve consideration of my action in this matter, I feel obligated to refrain from discussing" the details.

He added, however, that "I agree with the procedure being followed and welcome such inquiry by the grand jury. It will have my full cooperation."

The investigation, Nugent said, developed from reports that after a Palm Beach woman was arrested on a charge of stealing a four dollar bracelet from a downtown store, police substituted a fictitious name for her correct name.

The woman posted $50 bond through her husband under the correct name of the couple, but failed to appear in court when the case was called and the bond was estreated. Recently the estreature was set aside and a full hearing arranged.

Mayor Horace S. Miller was quoted as saying Chief Milburn had done only "what anyone who had any decency in his makeup" would do, and added he was "100 per cent behind the chief."

State Attorney Phil O'Connell said he would have to wait until he received a letter written to him by Nugent Friday, disclosing details of the case, before he could say if he would ask Circuit Court to recall the spring grand jury.

In this letter to O'Connell—copies of which were released to the press—Nugent said, "The investigation by this office has disclosed that the arrest record and three copies thereof were changed.

"The correct name of the woman arrested was Charlotte Hamel Stemmler. This name was changed by typing out the name Stemmler and typing in on top of said name the name Steiner."

Records in the case, Nugent told the state attorney, could be subpenaed from police and the office of the city clerk. His letter added that "also the home address was typed out leaving only the Town of Palm Beach."

The solicitor told O'Connell he had taken the sworn testimony of 13 witnesses. He said he invited Chief Milburn to his office and Milburn appeared Thursday, waiving any immunity that might arise during the conversation.

"During the course of my conversation with the chief," the solicitor's letter said, "I suggested to him that inasmuch as this matter or investigation involved the elective office of chief of police, it might be advisable to submit the matter of altering the records to said grand jury for investigation."

Nugent said "Chief Milburn agreed with this proposal."

Earlier Nugent said the law covering falsification of records classifies the action as a misdemeanor with a maximum penalty of a year in jail or a $1,000 fine.

Chinn Bows Out

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH—Friday the 13th was Keith Chinn's unlucky day.

CHINN

Chinn, ousted finance director, left City Hall to start his vacation — a permanent one.

His letter of resignation was released Friday, making his departure from City Hall after 12 years official. He will draw a salary until April 16 under the terms of the resignation, which was requested by the city.

In his letter, Chinn said he had had 24 days vacation coming. His vacation time was approved by City Manager James J. Mott.

Chinn stepped down as city manager last December to make way for Mott. He gave up the managerial post after more than 11 years in a bargain with city commissioners.

The bargain included making him director of a reorganized Bureau of Public Works. Instead he was handed the post of finance director — but not for long.

Monday City Commissioner L. W. Kelloway revealed that the commission unamimously wanted Chinn out of City Hall completely.

And Friday the 13th Chinn left.

Burglary Tools Lead To Arrests

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — Three Miamians — all with police records—were seized here Friday by a sheriff's patrolman on charges of possessing burglary tools.

They were identified as:

Ralph Owen Stalvey, 45, of 3075 NW 28th St.; Jack Carl Hinton, 33, of 2263 NW 98th St. and Martin Frank Englander, 26, of 789 NW 34th St.

Sheriff's Investigator H. L. Conyers said the trio was picked up on Okeechobee Rd. near the turnpike by Patrolman Jimmy Reeser. He said he saw two men standing beside their car. They told him they were out of gas, and Reeser helped them get a supply.

While the two were pouring the gas into the tank Reeser spotted a third man trying to conceal himself in the rear seat and burglar tools on the car floor.

Conyers said Stalvey admitted to arrests in Miami for armed robbery and in Fort Lauderdale for safe cracking. Hinton, he said, was recently acquitted in Miami on a safecracking charge.

Englander, the investigator said, is free on $500 bond on a charge of breaking and entering and was shot in the leg by Miami police when they seized him in that case.

Both Dade and Broward County authorities are checking into the background of the trio while Palm Beach County authorities arranged to file formal charges against the three men.

Old Teacher Advises New

'Just Don't Turn Your Back to Class'

By ROSE ALLEGATO
Herald Staff Writer

WEST PALM BEACH — Who says school days, taught to the tune of the hickory stick, are gone?

In Palm Beach County, maybe.

But a former New York school teacher vacationing in West Palm Beach can tell you a blackboard jungle tale where the hickory stick—or a modern counterpart — has its place.

Tony Carusone, now a welfare worker, says at public high schools in the Mohawk Valley region of upstate New York, teachers go forth each day with a "meet 'em, greet 'em and defeat 'em" attitude.

"They're monsters," he says of the younger generation.

For instance, he was teaching an electrical shop class whose favorite pasttime was wiring the teacher's chair with an electric charge.

And once he had a study room filled with 36 girls who all decided they were going to sing the "Mickey Mouse Mambo." They did, despite his frantic shouts of "Quiet, Quiet."

When he started teaching in 1955, an oldtimer sent him into the classroom with this admonishion: "Circle the room, never turn your back, and never get in the middle of them."

He slipped up once — he turned his back. And the kids quietly, but deftly, took all the screws out of his desk. When next he leaned on it, he fell on his face.

"They're organized too," Carusone said. "They have captains and lieutenants."

Each day when he went into class, he had to take on one of the leaders in a test of strength. If he won with Indian wrestling, he could teach, and the lieutenant enforced the discipline with a snap of his fingers.

How does it go on?

The teachers have a saying that sums it all up:

"The teacher is afraid of the principal, the principal is afraid of the Board of Education, the Board of Education is afraid of the parents, the parents are afraid of the students and the students aren't afraid of anyone."

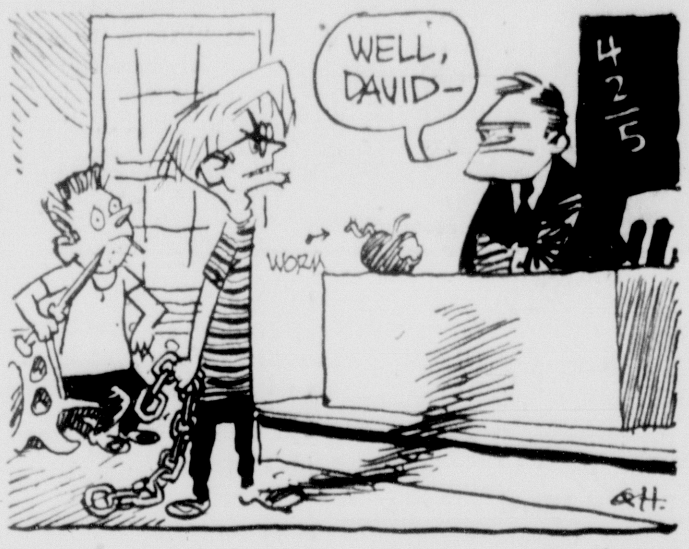
Besides coping with his own students, Carusone was called upon by the fair sex on the teaching staff for help.

The same school marm who appealed to him to help control her unruly class also ended up one day getting herself locked in a closet by her students.

"After a year, I quit," he says.

He swapped jobs with a social worker who "pooh-poohed" his tales out of school.

"In three months, she had a nervous breakdown," he said.



For Retarded

Dickinson Named to Rules Unit

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — Palm Beach County's State Senator, Fred O. Dickinson Jr., Friday was advised by Dewey M. Johnson, president designate of the senate, that he has been appointed to the powerful rules committee.

The appointment might establish another "youngest" for "Bud" Dickinson, who has been much in the spotlight since he first went to the Legislature.

He is one of the youngest men on record to serve on the rules committee.

Dickinson during his first term as a representative was voted by his colleagues as the "most valuable freshmen."

He will serve on the rules committee under the direction of Turner Davis, of Madison, who has been named chairman.

PB Port Explains Stand on Tanks

By NORVAN ROGGEN
Herald Staff Writer

RIVIERA BEACH — Port commissioners Friday said residents of Riviera Beach have a misunderstanding about the location and size of liquid petroleum tanks to be installed on the port's land by Southeastern Gas Co.

The commissioners pointed out the first tank — nine will be installed on the site — will be 150 feet east of Federal Hwy. 1.

The tanks, they said, will only be 18 feet high, the same size as many now used by homes.

According to the contract, the tanks can be removed in 10 years when the lease expires, Chairman C. Markham Langham said.

He added, however, the lease is subject to renewal on its expiration date.

A hearing on the issue has been set for March 26 at City Hall.

Terms of the contract allow the gas company 30 days to obtain the permit and start construction.

Langham said Friday the tanks will be installed according to regulations set up by the state fire marshall.

4-Laning U.S. 1 Tops List of PB Road Requests

21 Projects Outlined For SRD

By ROSE ALLEGATO
Herald Staff Writer

WEST PALM BEACH — County commissioners are putting top priority on the four-laning of U.S. 1 through Palm Beach County.

In a conference Friday, commissioners outlined 21 primary road projects they will ask the State Road Department to place in its 1959-60 budget.

Five projects involving U.S. 1 were stamped priority.

This includes four-laning U.S. 1 from Lantana to Boynton Beach. It also includes work on U.S. 1's one-way pairs through Lake Worth and West Palm Beach.

Other high priority items include rebuilding Blue Heron Blvd. from U.S. 1 east and constructing a new bridge over Boca Raton Inlet.

The county will also ask the SRD to budget funds for:

REBUILDING State Rd. 707 from Jupiter to the Martin County line.

IMPROVING the approaches to Lake Worth Bridge at Lake Worth.

CONSTRUCTING SR 7.

It will also seek to expedite the construction of Lake Worth Rd., which is now under contract.

Two projects, one of them in the Glades, head the list of secondary road requests. These are:

LEVELLING and resurfacing SR 715 from the east-shore pump near Pahokee to SR 80 near South Bay.

RECONSTRUCTION of Military Trail from Four Points northward one-mile to include the Belvedere intersection plus a short stretch to include the Okeechobee Rd. intersection.

All the projects will be included in resolutions to be forwarded to the SRD.

State to Pay?

PB to Ask $$ To Bar Mixing

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — The Palm Beach County School Board will ask the state to pick up the tab for its legal fight to block integration.

The board Friday okayed a five-point legislative program including a special bill to re-imburse the Palm Beach County system for legal expense entailed in the integration fight. Officials took the position Palm Beach County was defending the state Pupil Assignment Law.

William M. Holland, Negro attorney, brought suit in Nov. 1956 to force the School Board to admit his son to a white school. The School Board has spent about $25,000 so far in the case.

School officials also:

ASKED for an act enabling them to pay part of group insurance premiums for school personnel. They said this will put them in a better competitive position in hiring teachers.

THREW SUPPORT to a move to appropriate extra funds for yearly audits of school boards. Now audits are every four years.

ASKED permission to build portable classrooms costing less than $5,000 without calling for bids.

URGED state legislators to hold on to present sources of capital outlay revenue and to investigate new sources.

In other business, the board:

ANNOUNCED the seventh grade at Forest Hills School will be dropped and the 11th grade added next year.

APPROVED the proposed school calendar with no changes.

HEARD a report that the county will need 14 new buses next year.

AUTHORIZED the purchase of a 10-acre elementary school site in Seminole Manor west of Lantana for $2,500 an acre.

Bulk of Stolen Gems Found, Suspect Held

Herald Bureau

PALM BEACH — An insurance adjuster lured a suspected jewel thief into a police stake-out late Thursday night to solve a $46,230 theft Feb. 21.

Chief Homer Large said Friday all the jewelry taken from the home of Mrs. Lewis Kerr, 1555 North Lakeway, had been recovered except for two items.

Arrested was Harry Stock Jr. who police said met James Fagan, West Palm Beach insurance adjuster, on the pretense of unloading the stolen jewels.

Large said Stock has been turned over to the county for prosecution.

According to police, Fagan arranged a meeting after Stock answered Fagan's blind ad advertising for used jewelry.

Police from Palm Beach, West Palm Beach, the FBI and officials from the county solicitor's office staked out the meeting place at the 21st St. boat ramp in West Palm Beach.

Stock met Fagan and asked $19,000 for the jewelry. After Fagan agreed to buy it, Stock left to get the jewels. He was arrested when he returned, police said.

WEST PALM BEACH — A $200,000 damage suit growing out of a fatal accident near Jupiter Feb. 29 was filed in Circuit Court Friday. Robert E. Schooley brought the action against William J. Oakes. He alleges Oakes was negligently driving the car which struck and killed his 22-month-old son, Edward.

Teenager Arrested

Tape Recordings Trap Bomb Hoax Suspect

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — Richard C. Harrell, 18-year-old resident here, was trapped as a suspected bomb hoaxer by tape records of his voice, officials said Friday.

Harrell was arrested for reporting via phone that a bomb had been planted in a restaurant at Broadway and 54th St. 24 hours earlier.

Police said the youth, a former employe of the restaurant, was taken into custody when recordings of his voice matched those taken of the telephoned bomb threat.

He was the fourth teenager arrested in this area in a week in connection with bomb scares. Earlier two Lake Worth youths drew 30-day jail sentences and another was taken into Juvenile Court.

Lou Walters Revue Passes 100,000-Fan Mark for Season

BLAME IT on the television revival of old movies but the distributors of the new version of Fannie Hurst's "Imitation of Life" are having a hard time stressing that this is not a reissue of the 1934 hit starring Claudette Colbert, but a brand new remake, starring Lana Turner, Sandra Dee and Susan Kohner. It shows what an impression the original made. Wometco's Sonny Shepherd says this one will over-shadow it.

Merle Jacobs, former talent topper for the Nacional Hotel, has shifted his talents down the street to the Havana-Capri . . . Old Folks Home Burns; 4 Missing

AURORA, Ill. — (AP) — Four persons were missing after a fire destroyed a five-story home for the aged in downtown Aurora Friday. Nine persons were injured.

Ironically, workmen were installing a fire sprinkler system in the 101-year-old building when the fire broke out. They had finished the basement installation and were working on the first floor.

Several of the 97 inmates escaped the blaze by leaping from upper windows into life nets spread by firemen.

One of those who jumped for his life was critically hurt. Seven other residents were hospitalized for shock. The other injury case was a fire captain who fractured a leg in a 30-foot fall from a collapsing ladder.

The scene of the fire was Jennings Terrace, a brick and stucco landmark built in 1857 to serve as a Methodist Girls' seminary. It had been operated since as a non-profit, non-sectarian refuge for old people.

When the blaze started in a fourth floor room, there were 80 in the building. They occupied the first four floors. On the fifth floor were 17 men residents.

The missing four and seven of the injured residents were men trapped in their top floor quarters.

Unaccounted for after the fire were Alfred Fransen, 98, oldest resident of the home; Jasper Davis, 89; Charles Bartholomew, 78, and Ernest State, age unavailable.

New Stab by U.S.

Tax Indictment Hits Gangland Host

SYRACUSE, N. Y. —(AP)— Joseph Barbara, host to the notorious Apalachin gangland convention, was indicted Friday on a charge of evading payment of $14,600 in federal income taxes.

This was a new stab at the 53-year-old former beer-distributor, who has managed to evade questioning by the numerous investigators who have sought to learn the reason 60 hoodlums and friends convened Nov. 14, 1957, at Barbara's mansion in Apalachin, a small community near Binghamton, N.Y.

Barbara, whose family contends he is too ill with a heart ailment to face investigators, has refused to answer subpenas. This week, an Appellate Court in Albany upheld the validity of a subpena state police taped to the front of his mansion when they could not gain entrance.

Joseph Barbara

. . . 'too ill' to serve

Last month, Barbara's son, Joseph Jr., 23, was indicted in New York City on a charge of perjury. He was accused of lying to the state investigation commission when he said his father had been too ill to leave his home since the gang meeting. The commission said the elder Barbara had made trips and the son had accompanied him.

Delegates to the convention were said to have discussed such topics as racketeering in the coin-machine industry, gambling in Cuba and slicing up the rackets empire of Albert Anastasia, a gangdom kingpin who was shot to death in a New York City barbershop in October, 1957.

State police broke up the convention but most of the delegates would say only that they were visiting a sick friend.

Barbara lost his beer-distributing license after the convention. He also sold his bottling business. His palatial, hill-top home is for sale. But he and his family still live there — a shuttered existence behind stone walls.

House Probers Eye Plush Setup

Private Officers School—Why?

WASHINGTON —(UPI)— House investigators set out Friday to determine why the government is running a $700,000-a-year private school for military officers at a fashionable apartment "within spitting distance of the Pentagon."

Rep. H. R. Gross (R., Iowa) said Dr. John C. Flanagan, head of the school, will be summoned for questioning March 23 along with Defense Department officials.

Gross is a member of the House manpower utilization subcommittee investigating the school.

The congressman said he understood that Flanagan, a former Pittsburgh psychology professor, was receiving six per cent of a cost-plus contract to teach officers how to handle the military assistance program overseas.

Gross said the school was using retired high-ranking Army officers on its teaching and administrative staff.

"They are in effect being paid twice," Gross said, "because they receive a salary in addition to their regular retirement pay. If they are needed that bad to train officers, then I think they ought to be called into active duty."

The Defense Department said in reply that the Arlington Towers apartment was chosen for the school because "suitable facilities were not otherwise available." It added that employment of retired officers made "optimum use" of their experience.

It said salaries at the school ranged from an average $9,000 a year for professional employes to $4,000 for clerical help.

Gross said he believed the military should be training "its own people" in peacetime and not turn the task over to a private school located "within spitting distance" of the Pentagon and other big military installations.

Gradual Warming Trend Forecast

Cold in North Florida, cool in South Florida.

That's the weatherman's outlook for the state — although we're in "a warming trend," he said Friday.

"There'll be scattered frost in North Florida, with temperatures probably in the mid-30s to low 40s Saturday night," Forecaster Philip Ackerman said.

But it'll be a sunny Saturday, and a few degrees warmer than Thursday or Friday.

Miamians will need light blankets for mid-50 degree temperatures Saturday night, Ackerman said.

"It should be a little warmer each day, and maybe by the end of the coming week we'll be back to above normal temperatures," he added.

Much of the eastern U.S., however, was digging itself out of a snowstorm that was blamed for at least 30 deaths. Many roads in New York, Pennsylvania, New England and New Jersey were blocked.

Eight persons died of heart attacks while shoveling snow and there were a number of weather-connected accident fatalities as snow fell amid high winds.

Marshall, Dulles Visited by Ike

At the hospital the President also conferred again with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. It was Eisenhower's eighth visit with Dulles since the secretary was found to have suffered a recurrence of cancer.

Marshall, former Army chief of staff, was transferred to Walter Reed earlier this week from an Army hospital at Fort Bragg, N.C.

Citrus Dye Bill OKd; Sent to Ike

Other State News, 1B, 1C

By Herald Wire Services

WASHINGTON — The house voted Friday to allow Texas and Florida oranges to look like oranges — even if they have to be dyed.

With some good-natured bantering from California members, it sent to President Eisenhower a bill permitting Florida and Texas citrus growers to color their oranges artificially.

This is necessary, the House Interstate Commerce Committee said, because fully mature fruit from those areas "in many instances may be greenish and non-uniform in color."

The House passed the bill by a 231-94 vote. The senate passed it unanimously last month.

House opponents claimed there was danger of toxicity resulting from the coloring. Otherwise, said Rep. James Delaney (D., N. Y.), a law permitting its use wouldn't be necessary.

Californians didn't object but commented that their oranges don't have to be colored.

The Florida and Texas citrus industry has been handicapped in recent weeks by not being able to follow its customary practice of coloring oranges. The Supreme Court, at the request of the Food and Drug Administration last fall, banned the use of coloring on oranges after Feb. 28. A dye called Red 32 had been used.

The bill sent to the President Friday permits the use of a new dye known as Red 2 with lower toxicity. Use of this dye has the approval of the Food and Drug Administration. The measure also gives approval (to continued use of Red 32 dye until next May 1 to cover the transition period the growers will need to switch from the old dye to the new.

The Florida citrus industry breathed a sigh of relief. For 13 days it had gone without shipping a single colored orange and the pinch was beginning to tighten.

Former Congressman J. Hardin Peterson Sr. of Lakeland said the bill was passed just in time "to prevent a very critical situation. In the last few days there has been a regreening of Valencias which would have created a resistance to sales that always comes with re-greened fruit."

Trouble Is Ahead For Aid Request

By DAVID KRASLOW

Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—The foreign aid program President Eisenhower submitted Friday to Congress is in trouble even before it gets off the ground.

It will take nothing short of a political miracle for Eisenhower to get all of the 3.9 billion dollars he asked Congress to provide for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1960.

The President asked for roughly the same amount last year and Congress whacked it about 600 million. It could happen again.

Some 370 million of that cut came in the military assistance and related "defense support" items. And there are firm indications that this is where the President again will take it on the chin.

Not that he wasn't warned. The tipoff came in a letter to him last August from eight members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The signers included Sens. William Fulbright (D., Ark.) present committee chairman; Mike Mansfield (D., Mont.), assistant majority leader; John Kennedy (D., Mass.), and Hubert Humphrey (D., Minn.).

The letter condemned the administration's military aid philosophy.

The committee members expressed "our concern that we may be pursuing a pattern of foreign aid drawn by force of habit rather than one adjusted

Ticker Tape For Lemus

NEW YORK—(AP)—New York Friday hailed President Jose Maria Lemus of El Salvador with a Broadway ticker tape parade.

Police estimated more than 150,000 persons lined the sidewalks of Lower Manhattan as a motorcade bore the President from Bowling Green to City Hall. Stock market tape and confetti poured from building windows.

Cheers and applause greeted Lemus, riding in an open car in bright sunshine with Robert C. Patterson, city commissioner of commerce.

Lemus flew here from Washington where he and President Eisenhower agreed to work toward economic integration of Central America and creation of a common market there.

Rules Out 'Fortress America'

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower submitted his $3,929,995,000 foreign aid program to the skeptical Democratic Congress Friday with a blunt warning that it may be boosted to meet the Soviet threat to Europe.

He specifically pointed to the Berlin crisis, declaring it could have "perilous consequences" if Russia refuses to back down on its demands. But he said foreign aid had played a big part in enabling the free world to stand firm "in these tense moments."

The President's program promptly ran into Democratic demands that it be cut. Senate Democratic Whip Mike Mansfield of Montana, a member of the powerful Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he thought it could be reduced "drastically," to about three billion.

Foreign Relations Chairman J. William Fulbright (D., Ark.) rapped Eisenhower for showing "little disposition to tailor the program realistically to meet changes in the world situation." He said the committee "will need to engage in considerable surgery if the bill is to fully serve the national interest."

Other Democratic leaders took a show-me attitude and called for an end to "waste and inefficiency" in the aid program. Rep. Wayne Hays (D., Ohio) challenged the President's reference to Berlin. He said "not a nickel" of the new money would help in that crisis.

The President sought about $1,600,000,000 in military aid and $2,330,000,000 in economic aid to help this country's allies counter the "broad and deep" Communist challenge in the fiscal year starting July 1.

But he said a special commission studying the aid program has indicated it will recommend an increase in military aid, primarily for weapons to North Atlantic Treaty Nations. He promised to send Congress further proposals after the commission submits a report, probably next week.

All indications were that the President would have to fight even harder for his aid program this year than he did in 1958 when he seized on every opportunity — including letters to influential citizens—to plug it.

But the President fired the first round in a message to Congress which scorned the "Fortress America" concept held by some of his critics.

The U.S., sitting alone, could become the wealthiest and mightiest nation on earth, he said, and "still lose the battle

Treat Marriage as Illness, Court Rules

She Quit to Wed; Gets Jobless Pay, Anyway

ALBANY, N.Y. — (AP) — A woman who quit her job to get married is entitled to unemployment insurance, the Court of Appeals says.

The state's highest tribunal, in a 5-2 decision, said a lower court was right in allowing benefits to Mrs. Keith I. Shaw of North Tonawanda.

Mrs. Shaw quit work as a clerk-typist at an Albany insurance company in July, 1956, saying she planned to be married and move to Western New York.

He employer contested her claim for unemployment insurance in court.

The appellate division decided 3-1 in Mrs. Shaw's favor, ruling that marriage "ought to be treated as illness or other events of important personal consequence to the worker."

State law provides that a person who leaves a job "for good cause" and intends to seek other employment is entitled to unemployment pay. Industrial groups contended the court's decision meant the state would be underwriting honeymoons.

About $200 in benefits was involved in Mrs. Shaw's case.

Ike Going on Air; Topic: Berlin Peril

Adenauer, Macmillan End Talks

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eiswnhower will deliver a radio-television report to the people Monday night on the Berlin crisis and "the general security position of the U.S. and its allies," The White House announced Friday.

The announcement came shortly after the President told Congress in a special foreign aid message that the "tense" Berlin deadlock could have "perilous consequences" if Russia refused to back down on its demands.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President would speak from 9:30 to 10 p.m., EST., Monday over all radio and television networks. The prime evening hours assured him a maximum audience.

Hagerty described Eisenhower's address as "a report to the American people on the evolving Berlin situation and the general security position of the U.S. and its allies."

Besides discussing the immediate threat in Berlin, the President was expected to carry to the people his fight with congressional Democrats over the size of the armed forces. He has accused some Democrats of "hysterical" attitude toward recurring crisis.

The report also will be a prelude to the President's conferences at Camp David, Md., next weekend with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. The talks are scheduled to get underway Friday, the day after Macmillan arrives in Washington.

Macmillan concluded two days of talks Friday with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. They were said to have reached full agreement on how to cope with Russia's threatened attempt to force the Allies out of Berlin.

Adenauer had sought assurances that Britain would not agree to any Soviet plan that would leave Germany divided and West Germany defenseless against the Communists.

In Moscow, the official Soviet press burst loose with a barrage of charges that the West wanted to go to war to settle the Berlin issue while Russia was trying to negotiate a peaceful solution.

The West has proposed a foreign ministers conference on the problem. Russia has agreed, so long as Poland and Czechoslovakia are permitted to attend. However, Russia wants assurances a summit meeting will follow.

Russia also wants to limit the agenda of the foreign ministers conference to Berlin whereas the Allies want to tackle the overall question of German unification and an European security.

to current international realities."

They complained of a "serious distortion in the present relative importance attached to military and related aid on the one hand and technical and . . . economic development assistance on the other.

"Overemphasis on military assistance has tended unavoidably to involve the U.S. in situations in which our aid may have contributed to the maintenance in power of regimes which have lacked broad support within the countries we have assisted."

Then the warning:

"We write you at this time because we are aware that budgets for the mutual security program are prepared many months in advance."

It is clear that the President will have the roughest sort of time getting by Fulbright and company with his current request for over 2.4 billion dollars in military aid and defense support.

Fulbright confirmed this Friday with the remark that his committee "will need to engage in considerable surgery if the (aid) bill is to fully serve the national interest."

He accused the President of "ignoring" the letter sent him last August.

The President took indirect note in his foreign aid message of the Fulbright letter and mounting congressional criticism of world-wide military assistance.

"We do this not through choice but necessity," he said. "It is not in our nature to wish to spend our substance on weapons. We would like to see these outlays shifted to the economic benefit of our own nation and our friends abroad striving for economic progress."

Handling of the military aid program has been sharply criticized by other quarters in Congress and Comptroller General Joseph Campbell.

Congressional investigators and government auditors found that the U.S. has poured military hardware into underdeveloped countries that can't possibly absorb it.

The disappointment is certain to be expressed in terms of dollars.

SPARTANBURG, S. C. — (AP) — A flume gate gave way Friday and trapped two electricians working on a water turbine beneath the floor of the Startex Mills power generating plant at Berry Shoals. Both drowned. A foreman, above the floor, barely escaped.

The torrent of water, loosened when the 20-year-old gate broke, filled the power house and shot 75 feet into the air above it.

The victims were identified as Erneat Dillard, about 33, of the Hadden Heights section near here and Garvin Pace, about 45, of Lake Lure, N. C. Both were employed by the J. Frank Blakely Co. in Spartanburg.

of the world" as that "fantastic conspiracy" — international communism—take over nation after nation.

"It is not the goal of the American people that the U.S. should be the richest nation in the graveyard of history," he said.

Pointing to the nations gobbled up by communism in the past few decades, he said the free world must convince those people as well as the uncommitted nations that it is possible to have both "bread and the ballot."

Eisenhower called on Americans to face up to our "harsh realities" confronting them in 1959. He listed them as:

1—The free world is confronted by well-equipped standing armies of more than 6,500,000 and 25,000 warplanes of the Soviet Union, Communist China and their satellites. These are supported by atomic weapons and missiles.

2—The world is in "a great epoch of seething change" which has seen 21 independent new nations emerge from colonial status in little more than a decade. These nations are fired with "zealous nationalism" which could be harmful unless properly channeled."

3—Communism has seized control in all or part of 17 countries within the past 40 years, and is determined to push on. It continues to push on masquerading as "the wave of the future."

4—"The military position and economic prosperity of the U.S. are interdependent with those of the free world."

Several members of congress said these were convincing arguments for continuing the aid program, although not necessarily on the scale sought by the president.

Call Red Bluff-- Taylor

Army Chief Says Firmness Needed

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor told Congress in testimony made public Friday night that he believed a "national determination" to go to war over Berlin, if necessary, would deter Russia from starting hostilities over the city.

The Army chief of staff, who recently gave the hitherto secret testimony to the Senate preparedness subcommittee, seemed to indicate that other members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff had discussed the matter and shared Taylor's view.

Taylor said he believed the best way to avoid war was to show Russia clearly that this country is ready to fight if necessary. He said the joint chiefs have plans to meet the Berlin crises and the Army has the strength — at home and abroad — to carry them out.

Taylor, whose testimony was heavily censored for security reasons, said the Army would go into any battle for Berlin with "the capability" to use nuclear weapons.

But he added that President Eisenhower would have the final voice on whether to use them.

Taylor also testified that if the total conventional military strength of Communist armies were thrown against the free world forces, the allies could not defend themselves if "we abstained from using nuclear weapons.

The Army chief also threw some cold water on the widely accepted notion that a general war fought with nuclear weapons would be over in a few days. He conceded the "decisive part" of the war might end quickly.

But he said "it might take 100 years to end the desolation and restore some form of order." He commented soberly that "there is no reason to believe that peace is going to ensue at once, except, perhaps, the peace of the dead."

Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D., Tex.), referring to a statement by Taylor that Berlin is "untenable" from a military standpoint, asked "what alternative do we have if the Communists are determined to use force?"

"In my judgment, the clear evidence of national determination to go to war if necessary for Berlin," Taylor replied. "The effect of such an attitude would deter the Soviets from having a final showdown at this time."

Taylor said that many top military leaders now regard the 1948-49 Berlin airlift as a mistake. The general said force should have been tried when the Russians blocked highways and other ground routes into Berlin.

"Instead we yielded to a challenge which may well have been a bluff," Taylor continued. "We will never know to what extent the U.S.S.R. would have gone to maintain the ground blockade by force."

Postman Al Fligge Says Goodby to Midnight

. . . a few hours before the faithful dog died

Only Death Stayed Faithful Courier

ALBERT LEA, Minn. —(AP)— An old, limping black Labrador named Midnight followed Postman Al Fligge on his route for the last time.

"We were planning to retire about the same time," said the veteran mailman, "but old Midnight beat me to it."

Midnight was a spry, playful two-year-old when he and Fligge first met in 1948. "He kept coming over to the relay box on the corner and I kept petting him," Fligge recalled.

Before long the dog, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Engel, was accompanying Fligge faithfully on his rounds. A strong bond grew between them. Midnight whined and brooded whenever Fligge was ill and needed a substitute.

A few weeks ago it became apparent that the dog could not live much longer. Unable to negotiate steps and unsure of his feet, Midnight stumbled to the ground often, hitting his chin.

His owners decided to have him put out of his misery.

Fligge said a long, affectionate goodby to Midnight and left the Engel home to deliver his mail.

Mrs. Engel wanted the dog at home this last day. But he fussed and moaned when the door closed behind Fligge. Mrs. Engel opened it and let the dog out. "That was what he wanted," she said.

Midnight stumbled down the front steps and tried to hurry after Fligge. The mailman stopped and waited patiently for him. Together they moved off down the street.

Midnight died a few hours later.

The Town Crier

BY Jack Bell

THERE was a story of tragedy in Friday's Herald. The women who've worked so valiantly for Cancer Institute at Miami voted to disband and re-form as Women's Cancer Corps. They did this so that in the future they can control the money they raise, giving when and where they choose.

BELL

It isn't good. No group of women possesses the knowledge necessary to screen hospital and research activities. Neither does any lay group of men. Furthermore, ladies, the only way to raise money succesfully is hitch your wagon to a star. You need a great, successful and popular institution to which you can point with such pride that the donor will believe you. The evidence is there, unquestioned.

Your new group won't have that institution. Because by your action you've created a public impression that's not good. This is unfair to a great institution headed by Dr. J. Ernest Ayre, who is world famous and has made the institute just as well known as himself. A few days ago one of your members said she doesn't care whether women in other nations get cancer-prevention help from our institute. She's interested in Miami women. I'm sure she's sorry she showed such unconcern for humanity.

Fund raising is one activity. Operation of an institution is another. At Variety Children's Hospital we've the best flock of gals in the world, but I'd quit if they demanded to spend the money as they see fit. They won't. And our board, which does watch expenditures, gets the best medical advice first. We do the same before we build or add facilities.

In United Cerebral Palsy there's another internal hullaballo, caused mostly because heads of the women's units want to help run things, and have their backers lined up. Were they to take over fund expenditures, U.C.P. probably will go the way of Cancer Institute at Miami—.

P.S. For five years I've been chairman of Committee of 1,000, which raises $100,000 to help with the charity load at Variety Children's hospital. We don't try to tell the board or the hospital director how to spend the money. That's their job.

'Traps' On Bids Banned

Stricter Rules Are Laid Down

By ZOLA SWARTHOUT
Herald Correspondent

STUART — Martin County Commission Chairman Marvin H. Rowell has promised that their will be no more "booby traps" in the county purchasing department and awarding of bids.

His promise followed the appearance of Art Tyler at a recent meeting of the commission. Tyler informed the group that they were not taking advantage of saving taxpayers dollars in examining bids.

Rowell declared that from now on all county purchases will be "eagle eyed."

The commission several, weeks ago, awarded a contract for six tires. It was discovered later that the tires were second line tires. Rowell immediately started to cancel the award, only to discover that the successful bidder was notified that his bid was accepted.

Rowell said that from now on, no notice of bid acceptance may leave the commission office without his signing the acceptance.

In addition, the commission approved Rowell's suggestion that County Superintendent of Roads Ben Bryant will be the sole employe who can accept any merchandise.

Bryant told the commission that it would cost $19,157 to build the mile and a quarter road in Jonathan Dickinson Park.

Director Named In Martin

Herald Service

STUART — Rev. Allan Purdom, rector of All Saint's Episcopal Church, Jensen Beach, was elected a director of the recently formed Martin County Mental Health Committee.

The committee met this week at the Key Club Sunrise Inn to discuss various phases of organization. Although no official action was taken, it was the consensus of the majority of the committee that the group desired to operate on a local county basis.

In the few weeks, since its organization, financial assistance has already been given several patients needing care.

The committee, headed by Mrs. Frank Wacha, is operating with a $300 budget, which was allocated to the mental health group by the Jensen Beach Rio United Fund drive.

Vice-president and legal advisor Harry F. Pryor is preparing a charter for the committee.

All requests for assistance will be examined by the medical advisory committee headed by Miss Marion Tschescheck, RN with the State Board of Health, and members Dr. John M. Gunsolus, and Dr. Richard Q. Penick.

Lure Gets Stolen Gems

Herald Bureau

PALM BEACH — An insurance adjuster lured a suspected jewel thief into a police stake-out late Thursday night to solve a $46,230 theft Feb. 21.

Chief Homer Large said Friday all the jewelry taken from the home of Mrs. Lewis Kerr, 1555 North Lakeway, had been recovered except for two items.

Arrested was Harry Stock Jr. who police said met James Fagan, West Palm Beach insurance adjuster, on the pretense of unloading the stolen jewels.

Large said Stock has been turned over to the county for prosecution.

According to police, Fagan arranged a meeting after Stock answered Fagan's blind ad advertising for used jewelry.

Police from Palm Beach, West Palm Beach, the FBI, and officials from the county solicitor's office staked out the meeting place at the 21st St. boat ramp in West Palm Beach.

Stock met Fagan and asked $19,000 for the jewelry. After Fagan agreed to buy it, Stock left to get the jewels. He was arrested when he returned, police said.

Extension of Tax On Citrus Urged By Gov. Collins

WINTER HAVEN —(UPI)— Gov. LeRoy Collins Friday urged the citrus industry to seek extension of its advertising tax and to continue its efforts to improve fruit quality.

The governor, speaking at the governor's luncheon at the Florida citrus exposition, addressed some 450 leaders of Florida agriculture and members of governmental agricultural agencies.

He said, "Common sense dictates that you continue your efforts in the Legislature and through the Citrus Commission and in your own plants to strive for continuous improvement of quality."

He added, "This is not the time to slacken and regress in our advertising and promotional efforts. These efforts were largely responsible for the fact that consumers continue buying citrus in heavy volume despite higher prices."

The installation of a cobalt irradiator at the University of Florida, Collins said, "will give Florida agricultural scientists the means for developing new methods for altering plants and animals so they can be grown more profitably, with effective disease resistance mutations."

He called the Citrus Commission "an important guiding factor in the industry for 23 years (and) more clearly than ever before proved its value to the industry last winter."

Florida Citrus Mutual, the big growers cooperative, is "a truly outstanding organization" Collins said. He added that during last winter it did much "to prevent panic during the freezes by getting facts, analyzing them and spreading sound information."

Sen. Stuart Symington (D., Mo.) had been scheduled to deliver the main address, but he was detained in Washington.

Also present were Florida Sens. Spessard Holland and George Smathers.

Both the commission and Mutual this week approved legislative programs calling for extention of the advertising tax on each box of oranges and grapefruit going into commercial channels. The tax will expire this summer unless the Legislature extends it.

Gas Distribution Methods Studied By C. of C. Group

Directors Extended Invitation

By ANNE WILDER
Herald Correspondent

FORT PIERCE — Another burner was lit in the natural gas situation here Friday, when directors of the Fort Pierce-St. Lucie County Chamber of Commerce were invited to send a representative to accompany bottled gas dealers on visits to some cities having natural gas distribution.

The directors voted to accept only if Chamber representatives also accompany the City Commission teams on their visits to natural gas-using cities. Otherwise, the directors said, they might be accused of getting one-sided information.

The local situation, which is fast developing int a sizable travelogue program, arises from the question of who is to distribute the natural gas which the Houston-Texas Company will be bringing to Fort Pierce. Bottled gas dealers say they have no objection to natural gas, but do object to the city distributing it as municipal utility.

The city commissioners decided last week to visit a number of cities to get more information on the distribution question.

Bottled gas dealers asked to accompany the commission teams, but the commissioners declined. Mayor James L. Howe said it is the commission's responsibility to make the investigation and reach the decision.

In subjects unconnected with natural gas, the chamber directors Friday named Bernard Rubin as a director, replacing Stephen Misk Jr., who has resigned.

A committee headed by Howard Pore was appointed to study a proposal for a highway sign commission, with the aim of keeping traffic on U.S. 1 through Fort Pierce.

J. T. Davis, representing the Central Florida Water and Utilities Co. of West Palm Beach, asked the commission to grant rights of way for the main transmission trunk and sewage disposal for Hutchinson Island.

Davis also asked the county to approve the transfer of a 50-year water franchise from the city of Stuart to the company in the event the City Commission grants the company the right to purchase water.

Highway Extension Approved

Herald Service

STUART — Concrete action was taken by the Martin County Commission this week to start work on the proposed Pratt-Whitney Rd.

The commission and Palm Beach county officials jointly agreed to extend the road in both counties.

The Martin County Commission added the road to its 1959 State Road Department budget requests, in the secondary fund.

The commission also agreed to request a 120-foot right-of-way for the road instead of the previous 100-foot designation. This width will conform with Palm Beach County's portion of the road.

In addition, the county accepted an offer made by a group of engineers, surveyors, and architects in Stuart, who offered to donate their services to draw the technical specifications for clearing and fencing portions of the road.
